The Week.

CROSMAN AT THE MASON; "RITA" STILL AT BURBANK.

Famous Comedienne and Brand New Comedy With Music Will Liven Current Week — "Candy Shop" Continues at Morosco—Mammoth Tank at the Hippodrome Ready—Excellent Vaudeville Bills.

HENRIETTA CROSMAN, who has endeared herself so deservedly to the hearts of the American theater-going public comes to the Operahouse tomorrow night in "The Tongues of Men," by Edward Childs Carpenter, in which she scored [illegible] success at the Harris [illegible], New York. After she had [illegible] her season there, it was the [illegible] and public trend of opinion that she has the best play in which she has appeared in years.

The story of "The Tongues of Men" has to do with a famous grand opera diva, who is appearing in a piece that has some risque moments. A [illegible] young minister takes it upon himself, without having seen the performance, to criticise it from the pulpit and condemns the woman who is playing the title role, saying that she must be bad in private life to act such a part.

The opera singer happens to be present during this tirade, makes the acquaintance of the rector, and dares him to come into her world. She tells him that he does not know what he is talking about, but is merely taking the ordinary view, and that the people in her sphere are just as good as those in his—only not so conventional.

The amusing and interesting situations follow the minister accepting the dare and entering Bohemia, which proves to be quite different from his dreams. During his readjustment of ideas a number of unique scenes take place, and Miss Crosman and her brilliant supporting company are shown at their best. The cast includes Frank Gilmore, Marion Randolph, Sheridan Block, Horace Granville, Edward Lee, Laura [illegible], Katherine Presbrey, Paul [illegible] and Florence Fontyne.

Beginning this afternoon at the Burbank Theater Oliver Morosco will present for the first time on any stage the new musical comedy, "Rita's Romance." The book was written by Leo Dietrichstein and Benjamin Hapgood Burt, while the many enchanting melodies and music are by Silvio Hein.

"Rita's Romance" is composed of three acts full of enchanting songs and humorous situations. The three acts are laid in Krynhalden, a small watering place in the Duchy of Saxony, the first act being the [illegible] and spring, the second act the interior of the Corsalou, while the third act is in the hills near Krynhalden. Mr. Morosco, as in all of his productions, has spared no expense for scenery, furniture and stage settings.

The gowns alone that he has bought for the twenty chorus beauties have cost him a small fortune, while the costumes for the principals are said to be the most gorgeous array of any that he has ever purchased for any musical production.

Miss Selma Paley will have the title role of Rita Baird, and if proven a success will be the part that she will later on have in the New York production of this new piece. The success of this show means much to Miss Paley as it will be the turning point of her already successful career on the stage. In Miss Paley, a young Los Angeles girl of but two years' dramatic experience, Mr. Morosco has discovered a girl hardly out of her teens, who has already made one of the most pronounced hits registered on the local stage. She promises in the next few years to enjoy a meteoric career that will land her on the top rung of the ladder of success. Miss Paley's voice is in excellent condition and is said to be even better and sweeter than ever before.

The leading male roles will be taken by Forrest Stanley as Elliot [illegible] of New York and Arthur Burckley as Prince Alfred Er[illegible]. This new production will serve to bring back to the footlights Grace Travers, the well-known local stage favorite, who has been ill for the past fortnight. In this new role which she will create she has the opportunity to show her excellent singing ability and as a comedienne of rare worth.

Others in the cast will be Thomas McLarnie, William Colvin, Morgan Wallace, Walter Sutlett, H. S. Duffield, James K. Applebee, Florence Oberle, Beatrice Nichols, Vivian Bryson, Mary Mooney, and all the other Burbank favorites in the cast will be shown to excellent advantage. Mr. Morosco has engaged an exceptionally large cast for his latest production which will no doubt turn out to be another Morosco winner.

Morosco.

Beginning tomorrow night William Rock and Maud Fulton with their seventy singing and dancing associates, including Al Shean, Will Philbrick, Maude Beatty, Kitty Doner, Oscar Ragland, Fred Santley and their beautiful Broadway beauty chorus, will begin their farewell week in the new and latest edition of "The Candy Shop," which recently played to capacity for six weeks at the Morosco Theater.

The new edition of "The Candy Shop" is an entirely different show from what was seen on its last appearance here. Everything is new but the cast. New songs, specialties and travesties have been introduced, while William Rock and Maude Fulton have an entirely new line of their screamingly funny travesties and new songs.

On next Sunday night the final performance of the new edition of "The Candy Shop" will be given. Up to date their return engagement is unquestionably one of the most successful engagements that has ever been recorded in local stage history. The advance sale for the last week has already reached tremendous proportions, and there is every indication that in round figures the farewell week will prove even bigger than any week they have yet played to in this city.

Numerically it is doubtful if a more pretentious collection of musical-comedy stars ever visited this city as that which is in the long list of principals in this big song, music and girl success. Topping the list is William Rock and Maude Fulton, the nationally famous travesty stars who are admittedly a show in themselves. In the entire world it is doubtful if there is a team of singers and dancers [illegible]wn or in a more advanced class. Besides having been featured in the original New York run of "The Candy Shop," Mr. Rock is credited with the arrangements of the various songs and dance numbers in this production, and in company with his team-mate he figures conspicuously throughout the show.

Owing to the early bookings throughout the East and Middle West, "The Candy Shop" will positively close Sunday night. Following the return engagement of "The Candy Shop" will come the latest and newest Anderson Gaiety musical revue, Marie Dresssler, in the musical show that has proven itself a sensational success in San Francisco, where it is now playing to capacity at every performance, "The Merry Gambol."

Orpheum.

Gertrude Barnes, predicted to be "the new star of 1914," and universally called "that wonderful girl," will top the new Orpheum bill opening Monday matinee. Miss Barnes has an amusing affair called "The Trials and Tribulations of a New York Show Girl," and as she knows the ilk by long personal observation from her own prima donna position, and as she has made this exotic creature a special study, she is thoroughly in position to exploit her peculiarities, her whims and eccentricities. Miss Barnes not only has a keen sense of humor and the ability to pass it on to her audiences, but she possesses a fine voice, a special ability to gown her superb self attractively, and the means and taste to select her attire to the best advantage. Thus she not only will depict in word and action the show girl of the pampered sort, but will give a real picture of her to patrons of vaudeville.

Ann Lehr, for long a movie star, has reversed the usual order by deserting that field for vaudeville. She and a capable company appear in a new playlet, "Little California." It relates a tale of the cattle days in this region; the early days of romance and the first adjustments of relations between the old regime and the incoming "gringoes;" of strife and passion and the clash of races. Miss Lehr impersonates a little girl, first bought for a string of gold nuggets, reared amid the environs of the time, and whose maturity leads to the dramatic situation which gives the play so strong a punch. Incidentally, the "rurales" of Mexico, supposed police, but little better than bandits, figure large in the play, which thus has a strong up-to-date flavor.

Demarest & Chabot are versatile Frenchmen who play, dance and sing. Violin and 'cello are used, and really fine music produced; then the singing and dancing follow to lighten things up somewhat. Maxine Brothers & Bobby, their intelligent canine, well remembered, return for a brief visit, and will certainly be welcome.

The holdovers include Eddie Leonard and Mabel Russell, in a new repertoire; Willa Holt Wakefield, also in new songs; Dr. Herman and his electrical stunts, and Goleman's intelligent dogs, cats and birds. The motion pictures of the world's news and the orchestral concerts complete the bill.

Empress.

The new Sullivan and Considine bill which opens at the Empress Theater next week with the regular matinee tomorrow afternoon, has for its headline attraction the greatest aerial gymnasts, Adas Family, seven sensational bymnasts.

The Adas Family is a troupe of seven remarkable gymnasts hailing from Paris. They are making their initial tour of America over the Sullivan and Considine circuit. Following the conclusion of their tour they will leave San Francisco for a tour of the world, which will take them into every civilized country on the globe. The act was a feature with Barnum & Bailey's circus and iis said to furnish many thrills, and to be one of the fastest and most daring aerial aggregations ever seen on the stage.

Second on the new bill, in importance and interest among the newcomers will be the monarchs of mirth and melody, the American Comedy Four, comedians and vocalists extraordinary. They are said to be the real vaudeville monarchs of mirth and melody, while their voices, which harmonize excellently, are of unusual quality. There is a spirit of comedy injected into their quartette work that has made them more than popular in the eastern end of the circuit. The quartette is composed of Darcy, Barten, Beyer and Campbell, two of whom are graduates of the University of Wisconsin.

One of the biggest screams that ever traversed the Empress circuit, was John R. Gordon and company, in their famous one-act sketch, "What Would You Do," a season ago. So big was their success that they were immediately rebooked for a tour of the circuit, and will be a feature of the forthcoming week's entertainment. In the cast with Gordon will be found Elliott J. Simms, Leleith Belmont and Gertrude Graham.

Fourth on the new bill will be Ned Nestor and Bess Delberg, who are said to be two very clever young people, who will appear in a little musical comedy offering called "In Love." Their one-act sketch is said to be full of clever lines and funny situations, which affords the audience many good laughs. Aside from their singing, they will offer several new steps in the turkey trot.

The mile-a-minute eccentrics, the Fout Ladella Comiques, are expected to provide their share of the fun in the coming week's bill. They are billed as the funniest knockabout comedians in vaudeville. The Four Ladella Comiques have just recently returned from six weeks' engagement at the London Hippodrome, where they met with extraordinary success.

The always new and exclusive first-run Keystone comedies will complete the new bill.

Chicago Shows How Grand Opera Can Be Played With Profit—Entire Cast and Scenery to Give Opera on a Lavish Scale—Tuesday to Be Opening Night.

Saturday matinee, March 14, "La Sonnambula" and "I Pagliacci."

Saturday evening, March 14, "Lohengrin."

It is so rare to chronicle a grand opera season which paid expenses that the recent statement from the Chicago Grand Opera Company, at the end of its season recently closed in its home city, is illuminating.

The run of seventy-two grand operas during the ten weeks alloted to the season actually showed a profit of $10,000 with a little over half a million dollars of expense.

Since in Europe opera draws an annual subsidy from the government and the Metropolitan in New York represents a vast investment on the part of its backers, it is notable that Chicago should be able to show a net profit of five figures, after setting aside $140,000 for new scenery, costumes and depreciation in properties during the season.

GALLERY SEATS INCREASE RECEIPTS.

The detailed statement shows clearly where the profit comes from. The sale of boxes was smaller than last year, while the attendance in balcony and gallery was the greatest recorded in any season.

The increased receipts from the upper part of the house are the best possible confirmation of the wisdom of the company's policy in reducing the price of season tickets in galleries and balcony.

For ten, seven-fifty and five dollars it was possible, this year, to hear one grand opera a week, for ten weeks. A $7000 production should be worth from one dollar to fifty cents a seat. It is why the balconies showed capacity audiences every

"RITA" ROUNDS INTO SHAPE.

New Comedy With Music to Make Bow Today.

Rehearsals Full of Comedy for Spectator.

Staging New Production No Joke However.

BY GARDNER BRADFORD.

"Rita's Romance," a comedy with music, by Leo Dietrichstein, N. Hapgood Burt and Silvio Hein, will be given its first production on any stage at the Burbank Theater this afternoon. It was staged under the direction of Oliver Morosco and Morgan Wallace, Harry James being responsible for the direction of the music and the chorus.

It sounds simple, doesn't it, and yet beyond this stereotyped statement, which, with a few changes, might do duty in a hundred cases, are weeks of hard, grinding toil, weeks of weary "stalling around;" plenty of heartaches, and very little joy.

FASCINATING TO WATCH.

And yet there are few pastimes more fascinating than to watch a musical comedy in process of construction. In the great democracy of the rehearsal, star and super, matinee idol and chorus man are, in the eyes of the director, all alike.

"Get results." That is the slogan. And what though Selma Paley will get the lion's share of the floral tributes, she must be hypnotized twenty times if necessary, to get that essential detail of the performance down pat.

And few show shops are more interesting than the Burbank. There is Forest Stanley, curley-haired and debonair on stage, but in rehearsals almost a tramp, with rakish tilt of hat, cigars like Barney Oldfield's and with a decided lack of conviction in saying "damn," according to the notions of Director Wallace.

He is the American broker who is mistaken for a prince, and has a corking good time with a flirtatious baroness, said flirter being Grace Travers, positively emaciated since her illness.

And Grace must needs show Forest how to Tango gracefully to "stage right," while Morosco is trying to get a little pep into Burckley's attempted seduction of Selma, via a trance and a dance.

MOROSCO DOES EVERYTHING.

Morosco is everywhere and doing everything. Beatrice Nichols is to be a vaudeville agent. Incidentally, too, she has to dance, and the man who owns "Peg o' My Heart" is not averse to stepping out and showing her how.

Out in front it looks very nice, but there must be something wrong, for there is the chorus, all sound asleep, dreaming of that "twenty minutes for lunch," which is so long in coming.

After Morosco has hypnotized Selma for the 'steenth time, some one really has to wake up the girls and let them sing the wedding march for little Vivian Bryson, and they parade around most woefully bored, Billie in a fur coat traipsing after Emily in panama hat and sailor blouse.

But hark! Is that Morosco singing? It is, for a fact. "You must hold that note," he is explaining, "and let it grow before you throw it away." Then everyone waits while the note grows, and wonders why Hein wrote his score so beastly high.

SOME GOOD LAUGHS.

It is all grim hard work, with those countless repetitions, which just seem to rip the interest out of everything. But there is a lot of fun, too, if one can spare time for indulging in a bit of humor.

Bessie Tannehill, Florence Oberle and May Mooney seem to have the evening and increased the average receipts.

Three of Chicago Opera Company's stars appearing at the Auditorium this week.

Grand Opera.

The experience of Chicago is exactly the one of the Century Opera Company in New York, which starts next month to double its capacity in balcony and gallery seats.

Another confirmation of striking character, established also by figures, is that whenever the grand opera was sung in English the box-office receipts in Chicago increased to $11,000, with an average of $10,550, over 20 per cent. better than for the performances given in foreign languages.

Since it is a settled matter that Los Angeles is shortly to have a new grand operahouse, as the Temple Auditorium will be available only on occasions, the experience of Chicago should be valuable in regulating the schedule of prices for the future in that up-to-date new playhouse.

Even in the most important cities the high-priced seats do not pay the expenses of production. Here, like elsewhere, it has always been the universal rule that the balcony and gallery contributed the most dependable revenue.

With the opera last season this fact was abundantly demonstrated by the number of empty seats downstairs and in the mezzanine part of the Auditorium, while the balcony and gallery were crowded with eager, intelligent and enthusiastic auditors.

In the trivial time of three years Chicago has put grand opera on a self-supporting basis. Only in Chicago does it appear, as the result of the third season just finished, that popular support is sufficient to put opera on a self-sustaining basis. Nowhere, it should be said, is grand opera presented on a more splendid scale, and now the Chicago Opera Company is preparing each season to carry music to the Coast, and is bringing to our doors the most brilliant organization that Chicago has yet known, and has demonstrated its ability to offer to this section of the country the services of a wonderful group of vocalists and instrumentalists.

When the Chicago Company opens at the Auditorium next Tuesday night it will place before the public an equipment worth over a million dollars. Seventeen carloads of costumes, scenery, scenic effects, electrical appliances and appurtenances, properties of historic value, costumes that will bring to modern audiences scenes of the past, and vocal stories, dramatic fervor, brilliant ballets, that can aid in the presentation the greatest of modern as well as classical compositions.

CLEOFONTE CAMPANINI.

Cleofonte Campanini, general manager of the organization, and the principal conductor, came over several years ago to become the general director of the Hammerstein Manhattan Operahouse, and was termed at that time the maker of archestras, as his power of organization and direction is especially adapted to assembling and leading musicials. This is one of the secrets of the Chicago Company's artistic success.

Guiseppe Sturani, one of the Italian directors, is a composer as well as an authority on musical subjects. Marcel Charlier, who directs many of the French operas, also came over with Campanini to the Manhattan, and is recognized as a director of discretion and marked ability.

Arnold Winternitz, the German conductor, is a Viennese of unusual musical ability. This quartette of talent is a musical battery capable indeed of securing results.

MARY GARDEN.

As to the singers, the organization is headed by our own splendid American vocalist, Mary Garden, whose triumphs in the modern operas surpass that of any other artist. There is probably no singer in the world who has to her credit such great successes as Miss Garden has obtained in "Thais," "Melisande," "Salome," "Louise," "Marguerite." In the role of "Jean" in Massenet's famous lyric play, "The Juggler of Notre Dame," she gives an antipodean presentation to that of her other characters and loves the part the best.

It is in "Louise," which she will sing on Friday night in Los Angeles, a role that in one night brought her into wide prominence at the Opera Comique in Paris.

Titta Ruffo, the world's greatest baritone, who has attained triumphs in more than fifty operas, who has been a success in Italy, Spain, France, England, Hungary, Poland, Russia, Germany, Egypt, South America, whose singular versatility may be understood when it is known that he sings such widely different roles as Hamlet, Tonio, in "Pagliacci," Scarpia, Athanael in "Thais," Don Giovanni, Figaro, Christoforo Colombo, in the title role of Rubinstein's "Il Demonio." He will be heard on Tuesday night in his exceptional characterization of "Rigoletto," and on Saturday afternoon as Tonio in "Pagliacci," considered his greatest of all creations.

Ruffo's voice is remarkable; a true baritone of marvelous sweet quality and power. His execution is phenomenal and he sings the most astonishing cadenzas with brilliancy and facile accomplishment.

Julia Claussen is one of the greatest contraltos of the present day; born in Sweden, a lineal artistic successor of Jenny Lind and Christine Nilsson. Her voice is a marvelous one of exceptional range and brilliancy. She sings with equal facility such widely different roles as Delila, Brunnhilde, Kundry, and has made a success this season as Ortrude, in "Lohengrin," which part she will sing on Saturday night, with Otto Marak, considered Germany's greatest Wagnerian tenor, as Lohengrin, and who will also be heard on Thursday night as Parsifal.

Carolina White.

Carolina White, the soprano, who is one of the handsomest young singers of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, was born in Boston, and for her own satisfaction more than anything else, began studying vocally when but a girl. In a local way she distinguished herself repeatedly, but an Italian professor visiting Boston heard her and urged her to go abroad and study for opera. In less than a week she set sail for Italy, went to Naples, and for six months studied with Maestro Sebantiani, made her debut in Naples in "Aida" in 1908, scored immediate success, afterwards sang in "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Mefistofele," and, scoring a hit, returned to America for rest and further studies. Later went abroad and began her Italian season at Genoa; was called to Venice and sang the leading soprano parts in "Iris," "Manon" and "Herodiade." Soon afters Miss White was engaged for the Chicago Grand Opera Company.

When she made her debut with that company, the critics predicted that a soprano who would become one of the most famous American singers had been discovered. This prediction was fulfilled when Miss White created the role of the Girl in Puccini's new opera, "The Girl of the Golden West." Her triumph was remarkable, and both Philadelphia and New York operagoers awaited with interest the appearance of the beautiful young soprano. In both cities later the critics declared that not only was Miss White a brilliant singer, but a superb actress.

When the one-act masterpiece of Wolf-Ferrari, "The Secret of Susanne," was produced, Miss White created the role of the Countess. Since then she has added to her artistic laurels by creating the role of Maliella, which part she will sing next Wednesday afternoon in Wolf-Ferrari's "The Jewels of the Madonna," which was given its first production in this country by the Chicago company. Probably her greatest triumph was achieved in this part. Last season she added another role to her repertoire, Manon Lescaut, in Puccini's opera of that name, and this season created the role of Fleana in "Zingari," under Leoncavallo's direction.

Minnie Saltzman-Stevens for the last three years has been a valued member of the Chicago organization. In the summer she has sung the roles of Siedlinde and Kundry, with the Wagner organization at Bayreuth and at the Munich festivals. This year she sings in Salzburg with John McCormack. She comes to Los Angeles for one engagement only, singing Kundry in the "Parsifal" presentation. Clarence Whitehill is the Amfortas, Henry Scott Titurel, Allen Hinckley Gurnemanz and Hector Dufranne Klingsor. This production is to be the most magnificent given in America. Los Angeles is extremely fortunate in securing one of ten presentations of this great musical message, the last which Wagner gave to the world.

This opera will commence at 4:30 in the afternoon, the first act lasting until 6, when the pause will be given; the second act starting at 8 o'clock, the opera closing about 11. The legend of the Holy Grail is the one thing that Wagner and the world considers his masterpiece. The production by the Chicago Opera Company is made from the original scores at Bayreuth and the scenery and costumes absolutely duplicated from those which Wagner himself designed.

In presenting "Rigoletto," the Chicago company includes Florence Macbeth, an American singer, new to this section, who has made exceptional successes in Philadelphia, Chicago and London. Her voice is a remarkable one, splendidly fitted to the role of Gilda and Amina in "La Sonnambula," which part she will sing at the Saturday matinee.

Margaret Keyes, Louise Berat, Mabel Riegelman, Minnie Egener are all favorites in this organization. Carolina White, who is one of the handsomest young American singers, added to her artistic laurels last season by creating the role of Maliella in Wolf-Ferrari's "The Jewels of the Madonna," when it was given its first presentation by the Chicago company. Probably her greatest triumph has been achieved in this part. She created the role this season of Fleana in "Zingari," under Leoncavallo's direction, in Chicago.

"JEWELS OF THE MADONNA."

"The Jewels of the Madonna" will be sung at the Wednesday matinee with Louise Berat as Carmela, and Amedeo Bassi, principal support, who created the tenor role of Gennaro in America, and Giovanni Polese as Rafael.

In "The Juggler of Notre Dame" on Wednesday evening, Massenet's beautiful miracle play, Hector Dufranne will appear as Boniface, Gustave Huberdeau as the prior, Edmond Warnery, the monk poet; Henri Scott, the monk painter; Constantin Nicolay, the monk sculptor, and Armand Crabbe, the monk musician, Charlier conducting.

In "Louise" Friday evening, Hector Dufranne will appear as the father, Louise Berat as the mother and Leon Campagnola, the celebrated French tenor, as Julien—the only part in which he will apear during the Los Angeles engagement.

In the double bill Saturday afternoon, "La Sonnambula" will precede "Pagliacci," and Titta Ruffo, in the latter, will sing his greatest role of Tonio.

Jane Osborn-Hannah is one of the best known of the Chicago sopranos. Her success has been exceptional. In Leipzic she created the role of Butterfly and sang it more than thirty times. At Bayreuth she has appeared in "Lohengrin" and "Die Walkure," Sieglinde being one of her greatest roles. In Italian opera her greatest part is that of Nedda, in which she will be heard here.

To those who have not yet secured their seats for the Chicago company, it can only be said that the best works of the French, German and Italian schools will constitute the splendid repertoire which has been selected for the express purpose of pleasing the Los Angeles public. When one glances over the list, practically every opera is new to this city. "The Jewels of the Madonna," the greatest of its kind; "The Juggler of Notre Dame," the most beautiful; "Parsifal" has only been heard once before, and that in a crude way, and is the greatest consecrational play the world has ever known; "Louise" is new, and is the greatest musical romance of the French school; "La Sonnambula" was given fourteen years ago, and, although not a new opera, is practically new to the Coast; "Lohengrin" has only been heard three times in fifteen years; "Rigoletto" and "Pagliacci" are really the only operas without a new flavor, but no one can question their popularity.

The ballet is a splendid one, and will be a great feature following "The Juggler of Notre Dame" on Wednesday evening, with Rosina Galli as premiere danseuse etoile.

Gerardy Here the 16th.

Jean Gerardy, one of the greatest of 'cellists, will be in Los Angeles for one recital only at the Auditorium the evening of March 16. Music lovers will please note this date as it is not the one originally announced. Mr. Gerardy will have as his assistants Gabriel Ysaye, the gifted son of the master violinist, Eugene Ysaye, and Carl Bruchhausen, pianist-accompanist. An excellent programme has been arranged, including trios, duos and solo numbers by the three men.

Gabriel Ysaye comes of a family always intimately associated with the best in music. His grandfather was a famous conductor of opera and fifty years ago directed the performances at the famous old French Operahouse in New Orleans. At that time the southern metropolis was the home of grand opera in this country.

His father, Eugene Ysaye, is today still the giant among violinists, as the music lovers of this city will remember when recalling his splendid programmes here last year. Even such artists as Kreisler and Elman take pleasure in acknowledging him their ideal.

An uncle has gained considerable reputation abroad as a pianist and the young man himself although in his twenties, has already had considerable experience, especially as a chamber music and orchestral player, the two most difficult positions to maintain, from the musician's viewpoint. None of the Ysayes were ever in the "wunderkind" class. Eugene, the master, did not enter the career of a virtuoso until after he was thirty.

The son, Gabriel, made his first appearance in America last year, when he played in this city with the father and created a very fine impression. This season he is making a tour with his friend Gerardy, and his appearances with the great violoncellist will add much to the interest of the concerts.

Russian Music.

Mme. Estelle Heartt-Dreyfus, contralto; Dwight Defty, violoncellist; Sollie Heilbronner, pianist, assisted Bessie Irene Chapin, concert violinist, in the interpretation of a morning musical programme of Russian music and Russian folk-songs at the residence of Mrs. J. H. Miles, last Tuesday morning.

Beall Pupils' Concert.

John David Beall presented at the Ebell Clubhouse last Thursday his advanced pupils, Leon Eckles, Marco Pelletti, George Wiley, Aubrey Burns and Miss Clara Springer Hasard; Mrs. Barbara Beall, soprano, assisted and William H. Mead played the flute accompaniment to David's "Charmant Oiseau," soprano solo by Mrs. Beall.

Pascal Recital.

Julian Pascal, pianist and composer, will be heard tonight in piano recital at the Hotel Huntington.

Debussy Recital.

Misses Jessie Weimar and Claire Ruyter McGregor will give a lecture recital on Debussy's "Pelleas et Melissande" at the Hollywood Clubhouse on March 11.

Chauvenet Recital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jean de Chauvenet, pianist and soprano, respectively; Miss Myrtle Ouellet, harpist, and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Werner, violinist and accompanist, will assist in solo and ensemble numbers at the pupils' concert which will take place at the De Chauvenet Conservatory auditorium, No. 845 South Figueroa street, next Saturday afternoon, March 14, introducing De Chauvenet's latest composition, "The Dance of the Water Nymphs."

Why Liszt Quit Smoking.

[Pittsburgh Dispatch:] Liszt, the composer, is said to have abandoned the habit of smoking as a result of a misunderstanding with the Italian customs authorities. He was accustomed to smoke but one cigar a day, and on a journey to Rome had one cigar for each day of his stay in the holy city placed in his trunk. On being asked at the frontier if he had any tobacco to declare, he absentmindedly shook his head. When the trunk was examined nearly 100 cigars were found. These were confiscated and their owner fined 500 francs. As a result of this experience Liszt made a vow never to smoke again.

THE UPLIFT OF THE STAGE.

Could There Be Such a Thing, Would Anybody Want It and Who Would Furnish the Ladders to Reach It After Its Elevation Had Been Accomplished?

BY HENRY CHRISTEEN WARNACK.

SOME of us recently received a shock. It wasn't exactly electric, although its name was "Electricity." William Gillette wrote it and the Drama League published it in its quarterly, printed at Chicago by a long list of learned editors, and called The Drama.

"Electricity" is style "a drama." I reject the claim on three counts.

The author says it is a drama, which is enough to disabuse the mind of the public. You will notice that nearly all dramas of late pronounce themselves to be comedies out of the hope that somebody will go to see them and that all good comedies affirm that they are dramas with the view of making up in name for the dignity they do not possess in fact.

The Drama League says that "Electricity" is a drama and this, of course, is aganst it. The League said that "Hindle Wakes" was dramatic, whereas I only found it blasphemous and a little pathetic. My notion is that William Gillette knows that "Electricity" is a staving bright comedy and that he has consented to let it be disguised as a drama to suit the needs of the publication in which it has appeared.

My third reason for skepticism is that I read it myself without the least shock to my moral sensibilities or the slightest appeal to my abundant sentimentality. On the contrary, my funny bone, which suffers from abnormal repression and entire lack of development, took the place of every other attribute and physiological or psychological fact of my system, as I laughed through this sparkling farce

I am not saying that "Electricity" is not good, but have merely paused to comment on its being so good that I am surprised that the Drama League and its official journal ever discovered it. How pleasant it would be if dramatic sections of women's clubs and local centers of dramatic leagues would always be as happy and harmless in their choice of plays!

* * *

William Gillette seems to have been actuated by a desire to write something that he would enjoy acting and that the public would enjoy seeing and paying for. He has succeeded in this and nobody should stay away when it happens, simply because it has received the melancholy indorsement of a serious organization. It will happen in the course of time that many plays will receive a like indorsement, but the public has no business being prejudiced if it should chance to hear of this. I regard it as the stern duty of the public to go and see everything for itself, on the

This Suite Now in Our Fashion Show Windows

THIS Beautiful Chippendale Design Mahogany Suite—a Special Feature of Our Fashion Show Exhibit—to be Included in This Week's Extra Offerings at a Very Inviting Price Concession!

Someone who wishes to secure an unusually beautiful dining suite will have an opportunity not only to gratify the desire but also to do so at a saving in expenditure which cannot fail to prove an incentive to take advantage of the exceptional inducement.

This suite is a typical Chippendale design, embracing as it does adaptations from several of the leading furniture periods. Chippendale, it will be remembered, varied his productions with many practical introductions of Gothic, French and Chinese characteristics. In this instance, the ball and claw foot, an innovation from the Orient, having its inception in the pearl set in the dragon's claw, is a strong feature.

Having served its purpose as an exhibition suite, we are now willing to dispose of it at a liberal concession. We desire that the suite shall be sold complete. The reduced price is made accordingly.

If you are interested in fine furniture, it will certainly prove profitable to investigate this unusually meritorious offering. This suite is now shown in our Fashion Show window display.

DON'T STAY GRAY! SAGE TEA WIL DARKEN YOUR HAIR BEAUTIF

A Mixture of Sage and Sulphur Prevents Dandruff and Falling Hair.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur no one can tell, because it's done so naturally; so evenly. It is also splendid to remove dandruff, cure itching scalp and stop falling hair.

Preparing this mixture, though, at home is a messy and troublesome task. For about 50 cents a bottle you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use tonic called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Some druggists put this mixture up themselves, but make it too sticky, so insist you want "Wyeth's," then there no disappointment.

You just dampen a brush with "Wyeth's Sage phur" and draw it through taking one small strand at a this at night and by morning hair disappears and after plication or two becomes darkened and more glossy riant than ever. You will cover dandruff is gone and stopped falling.

In fact it is just as near being the real thing as Oliver Morosco's object lessons to Selma Paley, yet the results are electrical, and only to the observer, looking in from the dark recesses of the empty auditorium, is there any comedy in this spontaneous coaching.

PULL TOGETHER.

Everybody pulls together. That, in fact, is one of the biggest reasons why the majority of the shows at the Burbank are successes. Even Kitty Gordon, coming in as a stranger, caught the Burbank atmosphere after a week or so, and straightaway you could see the effects in the boom of "Pretty Mrs. Smith."

Selma Paley is slated to star in Rita, and naturally the piece pivots about her, but she is no maharina at rehearsals. To the contrary, she is a much-amused little person, singing and dancing and dancing and singing most of the time, the butt of every new idea which emulates from the powers that be during the crystallizing of the piece.

But all this makes for perfection, and if "Rita's Romance" does not receive a perfect production Sunday afternoon, it will not be the fault of Oliver Morosco, Morgan Wallace or Harry James.

Unusual interest centers in the new piece. It brings back Selma Paley, phoenix-like, from the ashes of a great failure, apparently better than ever from the severest refining process ever a young girl was called upon to suffer.

Then, too, "Rita" will bear the brand "made in Los Angeles," and if it goes big, will have a New York hearing.

And, moreover, as near as one can judge from fragmentary rehearsals, "Rita's Romance" will be decidedly interesting of itself.

Attractions at the theaters this week.

talked-of playhouse in Los Angeles during the past week, is to be retained as the feature of the coming week's programme. Nothing could more forcibly illustrate the grip this social masterpiece has taken than this fact, for in the four years that Pantage's Theater has been open to the public, only two other acts have played there for two consecutive weeks.

The report of the Chicago Vice Commission, barred from the mails by order of the Postmaster-General, is the basis of this playlet. It tells the life story of the white slave traffic, as narrated to the commissioners. Nothing more startling has ever been presented in dramatic form, and nothing that touched the consciences of so many "men of the world."

The thousands who have seen "Vice" at Pantages during the past week will be its most powerful advertisement for the coming seven days. Those who are looking for the sentimental will be disappointed in "Vice." It is not an American version of "Camille," or "Sappho," but a presentment of the ugly facts of our social system which none but cowards will fear to face, and none but hypocrites will deny.

With the exception of "Vice" there is an entire change of programme starting with Monday's matinee. Monahan, the famous roller skating expert, will be an added attraction. Lillian Watson, a clever soubrette who is new to western vaudeville patrons, brings new songs, and a charming personality. Millard, Kennedy & Christie, the famous singing, comedy trio, are also promised. Billy and Laura Dryer, bring a happy combination of comedy and pantomime. The Uyeno Japanese troupe of acrobats and balancers have long been promised and are at last announced for this week.

Hippodrome.

One of the most sensational acts in the history of the show business, and one which it has cost the Hippodrome considerably more than a month's receipts at that popular playhouse to secure, will be the feature of the new bill which opens Monday afternoon.

This wonderful act is Dr. Carver's diving horses, and their daring riders, and in addition to being a thrilling act of themselves, they will serve to introduce to Los Angeles the mammoth tank which has just been completed, and which is the largest one in this country with the exception of the New York Hippodrome.

It is forty feet long and thirty wide and nearly twenty feet deep, and the horses dive into it from a forty-foot take-off. It is the first time that the act has ever been presented indoors, and marks a new epoch in Los Angeles vaudeville.

It was the construction of this tank which made the Carver act so expensive for the Hippodrome, but it is believed that the enterprise, expensive as it was, will more than repay the management, as it will permit of the showing of other acts almost as stupendous as the diving horses, and make the Hippodrome the most-talked-of show palace in Los Angeles.

The act, by the way, when given outdoors, runs two hours. At the Hippodrome it lasts but fifteen minutes, a fact which means that the wonderful horses and daring beauties who ride them will do new stunts almost every day.

Of course the rest of the bill will be up to the usual Hippodrome standard, the list of attractions including La Selle Bros., superior acrobats; Agnes Burr, singing and talking comedienne; Thornton and King, in "The Greater Price;" Dailey's Village Youngsters; the Seven Sicilian accordionists and Tom Maguire, the wonderful balladist, just back from a trip around the world.

Republic.

So successful has been the initial vaudeville engagement of Miss Florence Stone, the talented emotional dramatic actress, at the Republic during the last two weeks that the Bert Levey management has decided to retain her as a headline feature extraordinary for two more weeks. Her work in "The Chameleon" has been of such remarkable order and the playlet has been endowed with such a punch that a second week was considered, but later rejected as Resident Manager Al Watson decided to follow out to the letter the Levey policy of an entire new show each week.

Tomorrow afternoon Miss Stone will appear in "Mercury," a highly dramatic playlet, fresh from the pen of the famous author and war correspondent, Richard Barry. The playlet was written as a direct result of the number of suicides which have been attempted by the use of bichloride of mercury recently. The idea is new and novel; the situation tense and thrilling; the action speedy, and the characters remarkably human. Miss Stone will be supported by an all-star cast in this production, the ranks of the Little Theater Stock Company having been invaded for talent.

Several other feature acts will be on the Republic bill. The Chipola twins and bear will furnish a highly-diverting singing and dancing act; Rose and Stuart will have a German comedy act as a laugh producer; Prince Ludwig, who measures thirty-two inches in height, and is said to be the most perfectly formed and smallest midget in the world, will appear; Querry and Grandy will furnish a hair-raising trapeze act; Cycling Crane will present a novel act in his line; Fred and Eva Hurley are billed as refined entertainers, and some excellent new motion pictures will complete the bill.

Majestic.

No one could possibly have predicted the sensational success of the remarkable photoplay, "Traffic in Souls," which will be presented at the Majestic Theater beginning this afternoon, with afternoon performances daily at 2:30 and each evening at 8:30 o'clock. This series of films, the total length of which is said to be more than one and one-third miles, is so filled with stirring incidents that audiences have been moved not merely to applause, but demonstrations probably never before witnessed in any theater where film plays have been shown. This intense interest on the part of those who witnessed the play may possibly be explained by the deep significance attaching to the story that is so vividly told.

To those whose home lives are ideal and whose daughters observe the careful teachings of their parents "Traffic in Souls" presents a gratifying picture, since they realize their very own have been launched upon the sea of life properly safeguarded against the myriad of pitfalls that are ever at hand and entice young girls to lives of frightful character. This photoplay is not merely the creature of an ingenious author's brain. It is based upon actualities. When Mr. Rockefeller set apart a large sum of money to be expended by a carefully-selected committee for an investigation of this most insidious of evils familiarly known as the "white slave traffic," following the enactment by Congress of the Mann law, few people realized the enormity and widespread character of the "trade."

The revelations of the report of that committee, almost immediately substantiated by the sensational raids conducted by Dist.-Atty. Whitman's intrepid squad, awakened the public to a condition almost unbelievable. The authenticity and striking verity of the film play has never been questioned. It is being shown from Boston to the Pacific Coast, and everywhere has excited an interest and attracted audiences photo drama has never been known to do.

Heretofore, whenever policemen or other public officials were to be shown, actors engaged for the purpose impersonated them. It remained for the Universal Film Manufacturing Company, however, to obtain not only the consent but the co-operation of members of the New York City police department and members of the United States immigration service. Not a single scene in which a policeman appears, and they are shown in more than half a hundred in this singularly interesting play, but is participated in by uniformed members of the "finest."

Woodley Theater.

With the Mutual Girl and a splendid K. B. film as the star attractions, the bill for the Woodley Theater on Broadway, opposite the Majestic Theater, for the first half of the week promises to be one of the best yet shown at that popular playhouse.

The Mutual Girl is pulling some stunt this week. She has finally gotten the tango craze, and when she takes to anything it is a safe bet that everyone with whom she comes in contact follows suit. Even auntie gets the fever, and there is fun galore all through the film.

The K. B. feature is called "The Path of Genius," and is a decided sensation, one of the best of the up-to-date products of this big concern. It tells a gripping story that is well worth attention.

Of course there is a classy comedy, too, and some short films which complete the picture part of the programme.

The music programme will be immense, C. Percival Garratt will introduce some of his own compositions, especially adapted to the mammoth Woodley pipe organ, and some of the descriptive music he has arranged is really wonderful and well worthy the attention of the music fiend as well as the movie patron.

Clune's.

"The Sacrifice of Kathleen," a dramatic two-reel Vitagraph special which has been headlining the bill at Clune's Broadway Theater for the week-end, will be shown for the last times today and tonight, and tomorrow the sixth installment of the famous jungle series of the Selig Polyscope Company in "The Adventures of Kathlyn," will commence a three days' showing.

"Three Bags of Silver" is the title of this latest adventure of the fair Kathlyn, and for thrills, throbs and heart interest it is said to be the peer of any of the installments that have been shown so far at Clune's.

Having rescued the stolen sacred elephant and restored it to its devotees, Kathlyn and her party are captured and held for ransom. Kathlyn, lashed to the cage of a famished tiger with death at her back and facing death, makes a marvelous escape.

Miller's.

"Judith of Bethulia" is the masterpiece film offering at Miller's Ninth, Spring and Main-street Theater for the entire week beginning Monday. This sensational picture is based on the book of Judith, in the Apocrypha and on the poem and tragedy from the same source, by Thomas Bailey Aldrich. It is a free rendition, in which the siege of Bethulia by Holofernes and the storming of the walls are given spectacular importance. The heroic defense of the city of Bethulia by the Jews and their final conquering of the immense army of Nabuchodonosor, through the artful cunning of a woman, makes a story that for intensity and dramatic strength outshines even "Quo Vadis."

Among the striking scenes in this remarkable picture are those showing the battle outside the city, the assaults on the massive walls, the scenes of famine within, the unsuccessful attempt of the Jews to regain the walls, the tragic death of Holofernes at the hands of Judith, and the final destruction of the Assyrian camp. Strictest attention to detail in costume, weapons and instruments of war, customs of the people and correct scenic backgrounds, are manifest throughout.

This wonderful film sensation was produced by the famous Biograph with an immense cast and at a stupendous outlay of money and time. Miss Carrie Hetherington, who has charge of that wonderful musical combination, "The Fotoplayer," has arranged a beautiful musical programme to enhance the beauty of this wonderful picture classic.

Announcement

Owing to transportation delays, both east and west, much of our spring stock has been tardy in reaching us. Tomorrow, however, we will be better equipped to satisfy all. Assortments this season will be larger than ever before, complete to the last detail, and styles, fabrics and colors are positively charming.

Our endeavor will be to show larger assortments in all lines of ready-to-wear; to show styles for both the ultra-stylish and the conservative, models for the stout as well as the slender. Garments of all classes have been marked at a smaller margin of profit than ever before; the difference we expect to make up in the greater volume of business.

Suits $25 to $150

Silk Dresses
$25 to $175

Coats $15 to $100

Parisian Millinery

Nearly every noted milliner of Paris has contributed to this display of Spring Hats. Many are original models, many others are adaptations and ideas gathered from the French by our own artists; scores of others are original creations from our own workrooms. Assortments are wonderously large and varied, making the usual task of choosing a real pleasure.

Surprisingly good looking styles are shown at $12.00—$15.00 and $25.00.

Embroideries for Spring

Embroideries will be employed for entire gowns as well as for decorative purposes this season, and they will be used for the trimming of taffeta as well as lingerie materials.

Among the new flouncings are the glass muslins, plain and novelty crepes, voiles and various combinations of each of those materials. Filet, baby Irish, French and ratine effects are quite the vogue. Widths 27 to 45 inches; prices $3.50 to $10.00.

Bands to match at 75c to $2.50.

White, ecru, pink and blue are shown.

Junior Suits and Coats

The Suits and Coats for Juniors this season are as "Frenchy" looking as are those shown for grown-ups—possess the same elements of style and newness of material, color and lines. Those who have seen them say they are the smartest ever produced.

The Suits in many instances show the short coatee or the modified Norfolk; the tunic, peg-top or draped skirt are favored models. Shepherd checks, mannish suitings, plain Bedford cords and serges are the materials most seen. Prices range from $18.50 to $30.00.

The Coats are the most charming styles seen in many seasons. A new collar is introduced and a new sleeve—the Chinese sleeve—the extension hips hang in plaits, the belt is broad. Then there is the Balmacaan coat, a coat and cape combined, thoroughly English in cut and material. Plaids, English tweeds, diagonals, tricots and serges are the chief coating materials. Smart styled coats from $12.50 to $27.50.

Imported Woolens

The thoughtful woman chooses her spring dress material early, while assortments are fresh and complete. That time has now arrived.

Here are many colors in English broken checks, the shepherd and pin-head checks and the host of multi-colored plaids; some for entire suits, some for separate skirts, some for combination skirt and coat—all strikingly new and fashionable. $1.50 to $3.50 yard.

Sevillana Crepe $1.25

A new loom effect in all wool crepe for gowns or suits. Navy, Balkan, wistaria and black. 48-inch, $1.25.

Household Necessities

Compare the assortments, the styles, the qualities and the prices of our Home Furnishings with the best you have known. That will tell you where to buy!

$27.50 Body Brussels Rugs $18.95

25 of them in patterns we wish to discontinue; good designs and colors. 8.3x10.6 and 9x12. Choice, $18.95.

Crex Grass Rugs $2.95

Good wearing grass rugs for porches or bedrooms—ideal summer rugs. 4.6x7.6, Monday—$2.95.

Sunfast Draperies 75c

50-inch genuine sunfast draperies in a complete color line of plain and two-toned effects, suitable for any room. Monday, 75c yard.

25c and 35c Scrims 13c

40 pieces curtain scrim, dozens of patterns, nearly every color scheme. Regular 25c and 30c grade. Monday 13c.

Dramatic Reviews.

seen at Tally's Broadway again next week in a four-act picture written by herself. The unique story tells of the life and love of two castaways on a deserted South Sea Island, powerfully set forth with scenic impressiveness, and centered about the personality of Mary Pickford as the heroine, these are the characteristics of "Hearts Adrift." The name of Mary Pickford is enough to guarantee its cordial reception from all her admirers. The story, in its solution, reminds one of "Madame Butterfly." In both dramas an innocent and unsophisticated girl is absorbed in the love of a man whom fate has brought her, only to realize, when his wife appears, that she is an interloper, with no rights to be respected.

Mr. and Mrs. Kellar, who made such a decided hit last week, will be heard again in some new and pleasing selections from grand opera, with pipe organ and orchestra accompaniment.

Century.

"The Traffic," which has scored nothing less than a sensation in Chicago, and which played to five record-breaking weeks here last season at the Lyceum Theater, will play a return engagement at the Century Theater beginning Sunday matinee, March 15.

At first the critics of Chicago, admitting the power and truth of "The Traffic," doubted its sincerity of purpose, and of its author, Miss Marshall, a young woman who has spent the greater part of her life leading reform movements, and whose investigations of the terrible conditions attendant upon the white slave traffic were responsible for her writing "The Traffic" in an effort to open the eyes of the general public to the conditions as they exist and flourish in many of the largest American cities; in the hope that it might arouse sufficient interest to bring forth legislation that would bring an end to such terrible conditions.

The play has succeeded in arousing the people of Chicago and has been highly indorsed by Lieut.-Gov. O'Hara of Illinois and a number of earnest reformers, who, while admitting that it is rather frank and severe, nevertheless indorse it as a powerful lesson and warning to all young women.

"The Traffic" goes straight, without any delicate short cuts, to the causes, the methods, the motives and results of prostitution.

Its fascinating and pointed truths disclose the industrial reasons that start so many girls on the road to the brothel. Poverty, sickness and dirt, all caused by insufficient pay for honest work, constitute the home and environment of many ignorant and innocent girls, and they are soon made aware that there is a way—one way only as they see it—by which they can get a share of the world's one standard treasure—money.

STORK STORIES.

Mrs. Emma B. Mosier of Charlotte, Mich., has given birth to three sets of twins.

The birth of a twenty-one-pound baby was reported to the State Health Department at Sulphur, Okla., by its parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Chaffin.

The wife of Albert J. Woolcott, a Chard (Eng.) blacksmith, recently gave birth to three daughters. An application will be made for the King's bounty ($15.)

The stork for the eleventh time has visited the home of Constable William Jones and wife of Beaver, Mo., leaving a son. Nine of the eleven children are living and are a bright and healthy group. Mr. and Mrs. Jones have been married twelve years. Each is 32 years old.

Mrs. Mildred Williams of Lakeview place, L. I., recently became the proud mother of a perfectly formed one-pound baby girl. The stork brought the little one three months ahead of time. Dr. W. H. Nammack, astonished at the size of the new arrival, quickly started artificial respiration by blowing his breath down its little throat, when he found that it showed no signs of life. Before long the baby let out a lusty yell.

If the son of Mrs. Joseph Golaski of Calverton, L. I., who was born last week, would like to be six feet tall he will have to add only four feet to his present height. If he has ambitions of weighing 200 pounds, he'll only have to gain 184 pounds. In fact, if he'd care to be a Samson, he hasn't so far to go as most infants. He came into the world with fifteen and one-half-inch shoulders. The circumference of his biceps is the same as that of the calves of his legs—five and one-half inches. Not only that, but if the youthful Golaski should ever desire to develop his brain, he has a proper skull to do it in. It measures sixteen inches the shortest way round. To cap the climax, besides being, according to the doctors, the sturdiest newly-born they've ever seen, he's also his 35-year-old mother's ninth child. And nine has always been a lucky number.

NOTES ABROAD.

Russian figures place the average number of occupants of a house at eight in London, forty-eight in Vienna, fifty in Berlin and fifty-two in Moscow and St. Petersburg.

Within an area only 8 per cent. larger than Rhode Island the English county of Lancashire supplies the world with 70 per cent. of its cotton manufactures.

The population within a radius of fifteen miles of Bristol, Eng., is 2,500,000 and within a radius of 100 miles, 10,000,000.

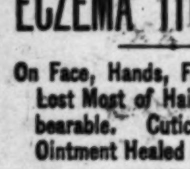
The German police of Africa are mounted on the backs of zebras, and these animals have been found to be very successful as mounts.

According to the new ruling of the London Health Department, babies in that city are not allowed to be rocked.

The always mysterious Dead Sea in Palestine is providing a new puzzle for scientists, as it seems to be drying up.

COULD NOT REST ECZEMA ITCHED SO

On Face, Hands, Feet and Knees. Lost Most of Hair. Almost Unbearable. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Healed Quickly.



R. F. D. No. 2, Box 153B, Ontario, Cal.—"Ten years ago eczema first made its appearance on my face in the form of a little yellowish blister on my nose. It itched and burned so I thought it was a spider bite. Since then I have been subject to attacks on the face, on my hands, feet and knees, and have lost most of a luxuriant head of hair. The eczema itched and burned so I could not rest day or night. Sometimes my eyes were swollen almost shut, then the fever would go down a little leaving ugly scars which were a long time in healing. It spread into my hair. At times it would break out on my hands and knees and the lower part of my legs. If I became a little bit too warm it would itch almost unbearably.

"I tried many treatments which did not seem able to heal it up. At last I began to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment which healed it up quickly and I have not had an attack since. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are restoring my hair which had all dropped out and was very gray." (Signed) Mrs. Edwin Cadd, July 12, 1913.

A single cake of Cuticura Soap (25c.) and box of Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are often sufficient when all else has failed. Sold throughout the world. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

ANTY DRUDGE

Anty Drudge as a Teacher

Anty Drudge—"There is a sum that is as true as 2+2=4."

Mrs. Savework—"But you have forgotten to subtract several things, professor."

Anty Drudge—"I know my dear. When you use Fels-Naptha Soap you can subtract hot fires, hard rubbing, yellow-white clothes, steam-soaked homes on Mondays, sickness resulting from hot water washing and many other disagreeable things."

that will get you through a whole day's wash before noon.

Your clothes—your health—your strength—so much depends upon the soap you use, that you can't be too careful in choosing.

If you do the wash in the old-fashioned way—with soaps that require boiling water and much hard rubbing, you can't blame the clothes for wearing out so quickly.

And it's natural that the exertion should tax your strength and that the steaming soapy suds should "stuff-up" your head and ruin your skin.

But Fels-Naptha Soap requires no boiling water, no hard rubbing.

And it contains nothing harmful to the finest fabrics.

From a water color by Anna A. Hills.

one in which many technical difficulties have been triumphantly overcome, is the small canvas entitled "Terminal Island." The foreground is a vast and level stretch of sand enclosing and encircling, like a cup, the liquid turquoise treasure of the sea. We look over the sand, and behold, at an immeasurable distance, the wooded land. Above is a lovely clouded sky. An extremely simple subject which would have been uninteresting in bungling hands.

Come we now to the pastels, three of which are very beautiful. In a tilted brass pan with copper handles are arranged flaming grapes from Tokay, the whole making a vividly beautiful study. Miss Duvall's painting of brass is masterly. In another picture the same brass bowl, or pan, tilted in very much the same way, displays the delicious vermilion of cut and uncut pomegranates, tumbled over a white cloth and seen against a gray wall that is full of color. In "Peacocks" three of these gorgeous birds, looking like "Circassion women, favorites of the Sultan," parade proudly on a wall and across a sunlit lawn.

A pastel of unusual delicacy and charm is the one picturing an old street in Moret, France. Sunlight falls on the yellow-gray stones of the buildings, reflecting purple and pale brown in the shadows. Beyond the arched portal it lies, warm and pleasant, on foliage and shuttered windows.

By the Two Montalboddis.

Raffaello Montalboddi and Ida Mellish Montalboddi, both of Pasadena, are jointly exhibiting thirty-three oils and water colors in the Blanchard gallery. The oils are by Montalboddi, with one triptych, "The Little Lake," in pastel.

All but two of Mrs. Montalboddi's water colors are portraits, the two exceptions being flower studies, "Hydrangea" and "Magnolia." Her handling is remarkably free and vigorous, and apparently all the portraits are excellent likenesses—you feel that they are instinct, with character, especially her portraits of women. Her titles for the various pictures are quaint and original, not at all suggestive of the portrait—"The Lace," "The Litle Lady," "Girl in Blue Velvet," "Dreams," "Glass of Wine," "Black Silk," "Old Pipe," "The Violinist," "California Poppies," "Official Guard," "Pioneer," and the like.

Raffaello Montalboddi shows some interesting studies of physiognomy, calling them "physiological studies," one of them being a triptych picturing the human facial expression in "Desire of Pleasure," "Pain of Pleasure," and "Disgust of Pleasure." Another "physiological study" is entitled "The Dominating Thought."

The exhibition closes March 14.

Foster's Illustrations.

Twenty-four of the recent magazine and book illustrations by Will Foster are now being exhibited in the rooms of the Sketch Club, Copp building.

Will Foster's pre-eminence as an illustrator is so well established that any comments on his merits seems like a task of supererogation. Though a young man, he has been before the public for a number of years, contributing regularly to the best among our magazines, as well as making striking illustrations for many popular novels. Many of these illustrations are now being shown for the first time, the artist having sent them out to his brother, who lives in Los Angeles. They are all for sale.

Foster is a fine draughtsman, with a perfect knowledge of the human figure. Note how superbly he draws the hand—the most difficult part of the human anatomy. His compositions are good, and no matter how many figures he uses—and he often places many in his group—each is thoroughly individualized and alive. Each seems to be moving—there is no "posing," no arrested action.

Fine Art Gallery.

Affairs are humming in the new fine arts gallery in Exposition Park. Apparently, Everett Maxwell, curator, does not intend to let the grass grow under his feet—except in the park outside, where it is so luxuriant that clucking lawn mowers are rolling over it all the time.

Maxwell left for San Francisco, Sacramento, Carmel and Seattle, a few days ago, to be gone a month. He is on the search for good pictures. In San Francisco he will inspect the pictures sent in for the coming Panama Exposition in 1915. He will pick out 150 of the best of these, and in June, 1914, they will be exhibited in the fine arts gallery, Exposition Park, Los Angeles, long before the rest of the world will have the opportunity of seeing them. Isn't that interesting news for the calamity howlers who say we have no interest in art in Los Angeles?

He will also gather up the best things he can find in Seattle and Sacramento, and he will visit the colony of painters in Carmel with predatory intent, returning with his booty and exhibiting it in April.

Meanwhile, a collection of water colors, among the best done in America, sent out by the American Federation of Art, is on the way hitherward, to be hung in the gallery next week. So, you see, you can't afford to neglect Exposition Park in your quest for beauty, for you will find new stacks of it every week or two. There are many new ones now, oil paintings of unusual worth from this country and Europe, representative canvases by Irving Cause, Antonio Rocco, Huitt Halliday, Benjamin Brown, H. O. Tanner, Charles Warren Eaton, Jean Mannheim, Cullen Yates, Frederick Waugh, Leonard Ochtman, Hamson Puthuff, William P. Silva, Franz Bischoff, Edgar Keller, Norman St. Clair, N. De Neal Morgan, Max Wieczorek, William Ritschel, Ivan A. Olinsky, Jack Gage Stark, William Mouncy, Dudley Hardy, G. J. Sijthoff, Helena Dunlap, Jules Pages, Elmer Wachtel and Granville Redmond.

Art Notes.

Owing to numerous requests the present exhibition at the Friday Morning Club of the pictures of Jean Mannheim and William Wendt will be continued during the month of March. The paintings of L. H. Sharp will be exhibited during May.

A testimonial loan exhibition of the landscape and figure paintings of Benjamin Chambers Brown will be given by the Pasadena Music and Art Association at Thropp College, opening tomorrow and continuing to March 21. A sumptuously printed catalogue, with reproductions of four of Brown's landscapes, has been issued. Admission to the exhibition is free on Sundays.

In the new Harvey gallery, Figuroa street near Pico, pictures by William Wendt, Stanley Griffith, and J. Bond Francisco, will be shown during the coming week.

Ernest Browning Smith sketched at Catalina last week, bringing with him eight excellent studies. He reports the island to be more harmoniously beautiful than it is even in summer. He will hold an exhibition in about a month.

Next Wednesday afternoon, at 2:30, Mabel Packard will speak before the Art Committee of the Friday Morning Club on the subject of "The Art of Miniature Painting, Past and Present." Some of her own fine miniatures will be exhibited.

The Palette Club of the Los Angeles School of Art and Design met last Tuesday evening, the subject of discussion being the paintings of Turner. Hamilton Wolf gave a talk on English painting of the Turner period.

The neat sum of $500 was netted at the recent auction sale of sketches by the California Art Club. This money will go toward defraying the expenses of future exhibitions held by the club.

IN THE LIMELIGHT.

Andrew D. White, at 83 years of age, will not be able to attend the coming meeting for the promotion of a third peace conference at The Hague, because of failing strength. He was president of the United States delegation to the peace conference at The Hague in 1899.

Joseph W. Folk, former Governor of Missouri, has resigned as solicitor of the State Department to accept the position of counsel for the Interstate Commerce Commission at $10,000 a year.

Maj.-Gen. Joshua L. Chamberlain, one of the best known officers of the Civil War, an ex-Governor of Maine, and formerly president of Bowdoin College, died recently in Portland, Me. Gen. Chamberlain was breveted brigadier-general at Little Round Top for heroism on the field of battle, and at the close of the war was breveted major-general.

Charles A. Prouty, Interstate Commerce Commissioner, has been asked to run for United States Senator from Vermont as the successor of Senator Dillingham, and has expressed his willingness to enter the contest.

Vincent Astor of New York has been appointed chairman of a commission to study the State and Federal food and drug acts. He will have as associates on the commission men and women of national prominence in the pure-food movement.

OVER THE SEA.

Maxim Gorky is back in Russia after eight years' exile, perhaps to die of consumption before another summer, his physicians say. Officially the Russian writer is still at Capri, where he has lived since banishment, while bodily he is at Mastamjaki, Finland, whence he may later proceed to Moscow. His return is generally a secret in Russia, the government desiring to take every precaution against irritating demonstrations by his admirers.

Princess Louise, daughter of the late King Leopold of Belgium, will receive about $300,000 as her share of her father's estate.

Miss Hogarth, who was the original of the character Agnes, created by Charles Dickens in David Copperfield, is still living in London.

Miss Sarah Purser has been appointed by the lord lieutenant to be a governor and guardian of the National Gallery of Ireland.

Mrs. John Ward, daughter of the late Whitelaw Reid, has acquired from the trustees of Richard Cloudesley's Charity a site on their estate at Islington on which to erect an institute as a memorial to her father.

BITS OF VERSE.

The Lost Trail.

Green woodland heals the ancient scar;
 Spring after spring, through still unresting years,
In little saplings and the tufted pine,
 The old trail disappears.

Forbidden vine and fern-brake come once more;
 Brown leaves have hid the secret deep and well;
Only the scattered blaze-marks, blurred and dim,
 A fading message tell.

One coming here might seek for it in vain;
 There is no sign above the guarded gate
To point the path, to where the still wood keeps
 Its heart inviolate.

The old path fades, forgotten; only guessed,
 And scarcely found and once more lost again.
No record serves to show the long-healed wound
 Of havoc and of pain.

God send all trails forgetfulness as this!
 Such healing pity of the kindly years,
That no swift-footed memory may find
 Lost places of old tears!

—[Arthur Ketchum in Atlantic Monthly.

De Profundis.

Below the dark waves where the dead go down
 Are gulfs of night more deep;
But little reck they whom the waves once drown
 How far from light they sleep.

But who, in depth of sorrow though he be,
 Fears not a deeper still?
Would God that sorrow were as the salt sea,
 Whose topmost waters kill!

—[F. W. Bourdillon in the Living Age.

The Kingdom.

Spend not thy soul in wastings of desire for glories destined never to be thine;
 Go not in thirst of an Elysian wine
When living streams give all thy needs require.
Crave not the songs of a seraphic choir
 When men are speaking near thee; nor repine
 For golden streets and ramparts crystalline
While dawn and sunset burn their daily fire
 For thine enrichment.

 But if thou art driven
With purpose to attainments yet unknown,
 Claiming the highest good that can be given,
Seek for it first within thy soul alone;
 There is the prize, or thou hast vainly striven,
And there the quest. We have what is our own.

—[Arthur L. Salmon in Pall Mall Gazette.

Chief Inspector Hobden, who retires after thirty-nine years' service in the Metropolitan police force, the last fifteen of which he has been in charge of the special uniformed police at Buckingham Palace, was received by the King on the 7th ult. and was decorated with the Royal Victorian medal as a recognition of long and satisfactory service to the sovereign. In presenting the medal to Inspector Hobden, His Majesty wished him in cordial terms long life and happiness in the years of his retirement from active duty, and added that he had had a "very successful career" at Buckingham Palace.

The Plymouth
BRIGHT FINISH

This attractive design has been specially prepared to meet the insistent demands for a flatware pattern to be used with the popular Gorham Plymouth line of Dinner and Tea Ware.

The rich effect of the square edge, the simplicity of outline and refinement of decoration result in a pattern which harmonizes perfectly with the Plymouth line of Dinner Ware, and is appropriate with any other Colonial or Old English bright finish ware.

The bowls of the fancy pieces, while in accord with the spirit of the design, are attractively novel in construction and appearance.

Made in Sterling Silver only, and stamped with the Trade Mark: Lion Anchor and letter G

The Summary—
Of the Fashions of Spring!
Telegraphic!

—Straw in Fabric Weaves;

SOFT straws in the new ratine effect; and straws in basket and diagonal "fabric weave" design;

The quaint "Niniche" hat—a poke bonnet effect, ribbon streamered and caught with tiny nosegays;

The English Garden hat, droopy, often lace edged,—and usually with a band or streamer of black velvet; and hats so newly old fashioned that they might have been inspired by Godey's book of fashions feminine.

—Taffeta and Lace;

Afternoon gowns and gowns dansant,—of taffeta and of lace and of taffeta and lace. The taffeta always of the pussy willow or pompadour sort—fresh, crispy, suggestive of Spring—and yet wonderfully soft.

Afternoon gowns and wraps early Victorian in their fashion tendencies;—

Wraps that are very nearly capes—and some frankly capes—puffed and embroidered,—daintily.
Apron-effects, of shadow lace—on evening gowns.

—Velvet and Lingerie;

DAINTIEST lingerie gowns of real lace—and embroidered—with bands of Nattier blue velvet—or Gold moire;

Quaintly simple dansant frocks—the skirt much puffed and oddly draped; the bodice—just a lacy puff of shadow;

Bouquet clusters—especially good in vivid "tango" colorings on soft colored taffeta; pompadour designs, rose and blue on backgrounds of violet and the sweet pea colorings.

—Boleros and Basques;

BOLEROS—basques and flares a la Godet; Shepherdess Dance Frocks—in Taffetas very soft and delicately tinted;—the Orchid shades, Absinthe—Flesh.

The Sweet Pea Colorings—Japanese Blue—Apricot and Roman Gold—new colorings.

Crepe de chine—Canton Silk Crepe—crepes washable and crepes "nettoyable"—wool crepe suits—Georgette crepe blouses;

Ripple effects in wool and silk weaves—Cascade d'eau lovely spring silks!

—Over Spring Coiffures;

Hats of Spring—to accentuate at least one color of the costume (surely the most becoming);—

Soft "fashioned" hats—of moire and soft hemp, of Silk Bengaline and straw of the same shade.

—Quaintly Old-Fashioned;

FEW of the strictly "tailleur" suits; many more of the soft draped and puffed models. Quaint afternoon costumes of supple moire silk and silk poplin;—the skirts very bouffant in pouch and bustle effects.

Collars, Medici,—newly called Gladstone and Calla-lily;—stand-offish, becoming.

Washable Duvetyn for tennis skirts and Sports Costumes. Old Fashioned Blues—newly named Echo, Sapphire and Nattier.

Flesh colored nets and mousseline de soie.

More under-muslins; crepe silk wear; suede cloth corsets.

The Uplift of the Stage.

chance that there has been a mistake.

There are moments when college professors and chronic dramatic students are entirely human and every play is entitled to this doubt whether the college professors and chronic dramatic students are extended the same gentle charity or not.

Personally, I would even accept a good play or actor produced by a dramatic school, not that I ever expect to be called upon to do either, but just to show how far I am willing to put away predjudice and face the facts of life at any surprising angle from which they might spring out at one, I make this confession.

Of course, I say this with the full mental reservation that everything in the world is generally divided between two classes of persons, the ones who do things and the ones who make theories about them. In the schools the teachers and students feel that to be right, a thing should start from them, whereas the people out of the schools go hammering away at the practical demonstration, never worrying about its crudity as long as it gets over.

A man is a good actor, regardless of the theory of schools, if he brings atmosphere, feeling and realization to what he does and he is a good playwright if he can write things that will act well and will bring people under strong conviction, or give them a high sense of having beng well entertained. If he has learned some things in a school that will make him get to the top quicker when once he is out in the world, he is lucky for the chance of saving himself the extra knocks and the clumsy years that the outside man often passes through before he catches the trick of good technique; but the man with the man with the stuff in him is going to arrive whether he ever had an academic boost or not.

I would like to see the schools and the world respect each other more, but they sometimes seem to me to be an unnecessarily great ways apart. How you learned a thing is never important. The only thing that counts is your ability to do something and to get others to recognize that you are doing it.

William Gillette can act and write and he knows a great deal about what the people want. He, perhaps, knows nothing in the world about electricity or socialism and that is why he has probably written a play on these subjects. It is always well to laugh at something we know nothing about, especially if we do not laugh with bitterness.

Gillette knows something about a woman and he tells us about her in a jolly way when he introduces us to Emily Twimbley. If it is true that women have to be learned one at a time, it is just as well to know Emily, especially, as she is only on paper, so that one may master her in an hour, instead of taking a whole lifetime for the job. She seems to reveal one thing about herself, which is likely to be true of nearly all women, and that is that her theories of her ideal man, her great work and everything else are liable to suffer a complete revolution when she meets the fact of love.

Emily hates her dad because he has become rich through a big corporation and she is anxious either to go to work herself and earn her own living or to be the cook of a man who will go out and earn it for her. The heir of a railroad president has seen and loved Emily, but she has not seen him. He takes the place of an electrician in the house of the Twimbley family for two or three days with the hopes of winning her sympathies as a laborer. He does not win her heart, but in the meantime she makes a sad mess of it by calling on the family of the laborer whose name the lover has taken along with his clothes and she discovers that very naturally there is as much feeling and hatred on one side as there is on the other. She is glad enough to take her lover in spite of his money and breeding after she has suffered ten minutes of jealousy over the real laborer's girl, the only compromise being that the lover volunteers to go to work in earnest by entering business with the man whose place he had taken. Of course, the laborer then becomes a proprieter and both men are back into the system of profits. The girl is not obliged to live then on the fortune made by her father or that accumulated by her husband's father, but all they do is to set to work to build up a new fortune in a different line and nothing is actually changed in any way.

I do not imagine that Gillette meant to laugh at attempted social reform and I can't see that he has helped it, but he has written a good farce without offending anybody and perhaps that is what a successful actor and playwright wishes to offer to the manager of a theater and what the manager of a theater wishes to buy and offer to the public.

It was entirely with this idea in mind that I had my laugh in the headline of this article about uplifting the stage, and in the introduction about the Drama League trying to become an intellectual derrick with greased mental pulleys and good taste for traction power.

It is immaterial to me whether you decide that the stage makes its audience or that the audience is going to command the stage. Probably neither view would stand. The fact seems to be that people do get what they want and I doubt if any set of people can convince the rest of us that we want what they want us to want and that our only trouble is that we haven't known it.

You cannot make us want better drama without also giving us better bread, better clothes and better poultry.

No poet can write a better poem than his mother makes custard. A stage manager's plays will be exactly as good as Pittsburgh's quality of iron and will have to stop exactly at the point at which the latest process for making steel has stopped.

When big private companies and the reclamation bureau of the government start out to control the Colorado River and irrigate the land around it then the playwright and the blacksmith take a new grip on their work from a fresh angle. The architects then begin to design better houses and Edison improves his phonographs.

It will all have to come together. There is and must always be a balance of activities. The whole scheme moves together with a divine unity none the less real because unconscious. It is not aware of itself because it is itself.

When the hand, the heart or the liver set up a howl about themselves there is something wrong with them. Health is a body unconscious of its parts in their separate function.

There is no objection to society functioning through different organizations. If different circles want to study all kinds of plays in order to pick out their pets, it is no more than individuals do when they pick out the sort of shows they want to attend. Circles do not hurt anybody else and perhaps they amuse and instruct themselves.

We have in Los Angeles a sort of astronomers' club or class and as long as its committee do not advise us against Venus and in favor of Mars or destroy our illusion in the pleasantness of the sun because it has spots on it, I am glad to think of it as a thriving organization.

The local branch of the Audubon Society has had no visibly bad effect on wild birds and if its members feel edified for belonging, I cannot see where the public has a quarrel with them. Besides, when they are out nature-faking they are really taking needed exercise and the wild birds go on mating just the same.

If they ever try to pass a law saying what kind of eggs the wild birds shall lay or what sort of songs they shall sing it will be time for the rest of us to protest. I am unalterably opposed to a bill that will limit or increase the number and the color of spots on humming birds' wings.

I would be just as prejudiced against the association of local astronomers if they wanted Congress to repeal any of the stars.

The poultry association is also welcome to its place in the social scheme as long as it does not recommend the underfeeding of hens in order to increase the over-soul of eggs.

Personally, the only thing I ever joined was the grand and unamalgamated dissociation of baseball fans at Washington Park. All through the summer when I get a pass I sit in the shade of the grand stand, and the days that I buy my ticket I take the sun and the small boys on the bleachers. I notice that when a good team meets another good team out there I have to go early if I get a seat and when the teams are rank the best seats would be empty if everybody goes free. I imagine that theatrical managers know this pretty well by now. If their houses are filled they care little for what us high-brows think and if the play is not good the people will care as little as the management for our indorsement.

The kind of uplift the stage wants is the ability to make a good guess at the tastes of the average man. We do not need Little Theaters with big prices and high-brow plays. We need big houses, little prices and faithful plays with plenty of steam, some thought and lots of color.

In the meanwhile, the Drama League is not so much in the minority as I have pictured it because this is the day of the published play.

The opportune time

—for choosing "Unique" fashions is now, at the height of the season.

Present displays justify immediate selection of—gowns of uncopied designs, stunning two and three-piece suits, exquisitely dainty frocks, afternoon and street dresses of serge and taffeta combined, coats in striking French colors and loose effects.

Blouses—are here of crepe, chiffon and shadowy, filmy laces—many featuring the new drop shoulder. Our Street-floor is resplendent with them.

For popular prices

—The Unique, this season, is stronger than ever—but quality is never sacrificed to obtain them. Every garment is the result of a special effort to obtain "value" as well as style distinction and perfect workmanship. Suits, dresses and dance frocks are splendidly attractive—beginning at $25.00—coats at $19.50 and blouses at $5.00.

Costs Only One Cent Per Hour for Heat

SIMPLE

Everything works automatically. Nothing to get out of order. Generates its own vapor and supplies just the right quantity to the burner. Can be attached to any stove, range or furnace in few minutes by the purchaser himself. No special arrangement necessary.

SAFE

No storage of oil near burner. A child can operate it with perfect safety. Surplus or unused oil returns to the tank and does not accumulate near burner.

ECONOMICAL

Costs for maximum heat only one cent per hour. Maximum heat can be had at once without the necessary waste of "firing up." Just turn a valve and the greatest amount of heat is secured at once.

WOMEN'S UNION HAS INNER WAR.

Quarrels Among Pankhursts Threaten Their Rule.

Control Over the Militants Practically Ends.

"Suffra-Jitsu" Is New Art of Being Obstinate.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONDON, Feb. 21.—Dissensions within the Pankhurst family threaten to end its leadership of the militant suffragette army, according to assertions by some of the younger members of the organization, known formally as the Women's Social and Political Union. It is said that the dissensions are rife in the inner circles of the union, and that the outcome may result in crippling the elaborate campaign which the war cabinet of the militant organization had planned for this year, at the same time ending the sway which the Pankhursts have exercised over the society since the Pethick-Lawrences were forced out of its ranks last year.

It has become an open secret that Christabel Pankhurst is anxious to end her long exile in France, for she knows that her mother is not well enough to take up the arduous duties of commander-in-chief, and it is even doubtful if Mrs. Pankhurst is able to return from Switzerland for several months. Christabel knows that she can return to England as a free woman only on condition that she discard the extreme principles of militancy of which she has been chief exponent. She is said to believe now that such militancy has run its course and that the future appeal must be made on moral grounds.

Sylvia Pankhurst, a later recruit to the militant field, is not yet ready to abandon it as a lost cause, and she is particularly anxious to test her East End "peoples army" in a Parliamentary demonstration, or in raids like those she made last autumn on the Prime Minister's house in Downing street. Hence, the friction with her sister, and what promises to be a break in the autocracy of the society. Sylvia does not believe that the government will give the vote until the country is on the verge of revolution, and she believes that she can start the revolt in the East End. Other leaders share her belief and that revolution could be started in the congested East End, but they are not at all sure that, once started, it could be controlled in favor of votes for women. They prefer their own elaborate schemes for making the lives of public men uncomfortable, and, while not objecting to violence, prefer to keep its use within their own hands. The failure of the Pankhursts to give the forward command for this new plan of campaign has made several members of the war cabinet restless, and the overthrow of the Pankhurst triumvirate may be imminent.

In spite of the peaceful attitude of the Women's Social and Political Union, the destruction of property continues, and the fear is now expressed that the organization has lost control of its more desperate members. Among the latest sufferers from the activities of firebrand type of militant is Mrs. Archibald Mackardy, who has been making severe attacks on Christabel Pankhurst in her paper, "Mackirdy's Weekly." No sooner was her intention of attacking the militant movement made known than her house was burnt down with the loss of some of her most precious possessions. Since the burning, Mrs. Mackirdy has received many threatening and abusive letters, many of which she has published in her paper. Mrs. Mackirdy is an enthusiastic suffragette and has often expressed her sympathy for the heroism and suffering of the militants.

"SUFFRA-JITSU."

The latest development of suffragette militancy is the art of "suffrajitsu." Militans who are assigned to political meetings and to get in a word for suffrage are being coached in the new art, the chief feature of which is ability to twine arms and legs around a chair or pillar in such a way that it would take a small army of ushers or policemen to pry the disturbers loose. The system worked well on its recent trial at a meeting addressed by John Burns in Streatham, until the head of the local government board ordered the stewards to remove the chairs, as well as their occupants, from the hall.

The labor party, which, in spite of its advocacy of equal suffrage, is being attacked because of its alliance with the Liberal government, has hit upon a novel plan to meet this latest move of the suffragettes. Husky women stewards are being employed to deal with the interrupters, and, as one labor leader explained, the plan is a distinct success, because on account of a subtle point of militant psychology, the sense of martyrdom is less comforting when one is ejected by a member of one's own sex. At a recent demonstration the militants cried despairingly: "Why don't you send your men to put us out?"

WOMEN BARRED AS TEACHERS.

Vienna City Council Adopts Radical Measures.

Issue of Female Labor Is Serious in Austria.

Schools Established to Teach Household Work.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

VIENNA, Feb. 21.—Women have been shut out, temporarily at least, from any new places in the teaching staffs of the Vienna public schools. Theory of unjust discrimination has been raised, and the whole question of women's employment in Austria is under review.

The exclusion of women candidates for teachers in the public schools is taken by the Vienna City Council on the ground that "so few vacancies exist that no further applications for employment of women teachers will be received until further notice." Nothing is said, however, about men teachers.

Since the population is increasing steadily and new schools are constantly required, the Council's action is regarded as extraordinary. Some trace it to the agitation among women teachers for pay on equal terms with men.

At present women teachers are paid on a far lower scale than their male colleagues, although they perform the same work, and have been required to go through exactly the same course of preparation and to take the same examination as the men. For some time past they have been voicing their complaints at this treatment, alleging that nearly all the best positions in the schools are reserved for men. The Christian Socialist majority in the City Council, however, argues that as women are not heads of families with children dependent upon them for support they have no claim to be paid as high salaries as men. The women deny that this has anything to do with the case, and say that even if it had they too are often called upon to support aged parents or younger brothers and sisters.

Throughout Austria the employment of women in professional and commercial occupations is increasing steadily. Young women are generally willing to work for lower wages and they are constantly crowding out the men. Many of the ticket clerks in the railway stations are women, and government offices and banks are constantly adding women to their staff.

So serious has the inrush of women into those fields of labor heretofore regarded as exclusively masculine become that the Austrian Ministry of Public Works is trying to offset the consequences by establishing a number of high schools for instruction in household economy. The first of these will be opened at the beginning of the next school year in September. The curriculum will be especially directed towards training women in domestic science to enable them to occupy administrative positions as superintendents or heads of public institutions, such as hospitals, sanatoriums, asylums, orphanages, schools, hotels and boarding houses. The course of instruction will extend over three years and will include all kinds of special classes as well as evening classes for young women engaged in earning their living in business during the day. It is claimed that there will not be a single subject in the plan of instruction which will not be of service to future wives and mothers.

The women's employment question has also been engaging the attention of the Ministry of Education and the Vienna educational authorities. Efforts are being made to keep the children leaving school from entering upon "blind alley" occupations as so many are doing at the present time. An Employment Council has been organized in Vienna which will keep the public school teachers informed regarding the conditions of labor in various branches, and it will be the duty of the teachers to advise the pupils, and also the parents, of the facts, and to urge that they be taken into account in selecting the future occupation of the child. It is hoped that this will not only benefit the individual children but will also tend to improve the whole national economic situation.

HAND TUSSLE WITH ALLIGATOR.

Hunter's Narrow Escape from Becoming Food for the Fourteen-foot Monster He Had Stirred Up.

[New York Sun:] F. W. Anderson recently had a thrilling experience capturing a fourteen foot alligator at Clear Lake, near Houston, Tex. The alligator hunter saw the big 130-year-old alligator go under a floating island. He jumped on the island and started to prod the American representative of the genus crocodile so that it would be forced to come out in the open, where it could be lassoed and pulled onto the shore.

The monster became vexed, so he started clawing at the pole and the under part of the floating island until the dirt of which the island was composed caved in to the water, and Anderson found himself face to face with the fourteen foot alligator in water which was nearly neck deep.

In telling of his experience Anderson says that for a time it was a question of whether he would capture the alligator or whether the alligator would get him. They wrestled around, now the alligator hunter getting an advantage and then the alligator. A few feet from where the grapple for life took place was water which was considerably over Anderson's head. If the alligator had succeeded in getting his enemy into the deeper water there would be one less alligator hunter in the world.

At the moment when it appeared as though the big alligator was going to win the battle reinforcements appeared. It was none other than Pete Cobb, another hunter. When he saw that his side partner was about to be conquered by the fourteen-foot monster he procured a long lasso.

While the man and alligator were struggling to see whether the alligator would be placed on exhibition or whether the man would provide "grub" for the alligator Cobb gave his lasso a clever swing. The loop fell over the head of the giant and lodged itself securely between some of the alligator's long teeth. It was all up with Mr. Alligator. The "forty-second cousin" of Ty Cobb "heaved-ho" on his lasso and it was only a question of a minute or so before the dweller of Clear Lake was brought high and dry on the shore, where he was strapped to a long plank.

Try Food on Rats.

[Pittsburgh Dispatch:] Rats as pure food detectives is the latest innovation of the city of Cincinnati, which is going into the white rat and mouse business on a large scale. A nice home is to be furnished for rats and mice on the refuge farm, where they will be permitted to raise large families. The refuge boys will have charge of the rat and mouse farm, and they will be allowed to sell those the city cannot use.

As soon as the rats and mice get large and fat enough the health department will take them down town and let them feed on foodstuffs which the health department suspects are unfit for human beings to eat. If the rodents die, or get sick, then the food they sample is condemned.

"SLOW DOWN IN ULSTER;" RUDYARD KIPLING SIGNS IT.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, March 7.—Lord Roberts, Viscount Milner, Baron Balfour of Burleigh, Rudyard Kipling, Prof. Albert von Dicey and Sir William Ramsay, and a score of less prominent persons, today issued an appeal to their fellow-countrymen to follow their example in signing a declaration which is milder in form than the Ulster covenant, by which they hold themselves, in case the Irish home rule bill became a law without first being submitted to the judgment of the nation, "justified in taking or supporting any action that may be effective to prevent it being put in operation."

The signatories of the appeal are careful to point out that by signing the declaration "no man will pledge himself to take any particular action of which his conscience or judgment does not approve."

The Doctor's Advice
by Dr. Lewis Baker

"Distress" writes: "My hair is so oily and straggling I wish you could tell me something to make it soft and fluffy. It makes me positively homely. I also have a great deal of dandruff."

Answer: Many women would be more beautiful if they had soft, fluffy hair. I can tell you a very simple remedy, one that will make your hair soft and fluffy. It will overcome dandruff, itching scalp and lusterless and falling hair. Ask your druggist for a 4-ounce jar of plain yellow minyol and use according to directions, and you will be surprised to note the difference in your hair.

"Fred W." writes. "I suffer with headache, indigestion, nervous debility and am also thin almost to the danger point. What can be done for me?"

Answer: You can vesy readily overcome these difficulties by using 3-grain hypo-nuclane tablets. They are put up in sealed cartons with full directions. These are highly recommended by physicians, and if used according to direction you will soon be rid of headache, your indigestion will be gone and you will gain from 10 to 30 pounds. These tablets should be taken regularly for several months and I am confident you will gain in flesh.

"Lee" writes: "I have tried so many remedies for rheumatism that I am almost afraid to try any more, but if you can tell me a sure remedy I will try it."

Answer: Do not be disheartened because you have not been able to find something that would overcome your rheumatism, for you can be relieved if you will take what I tell you. Get from the drug store: Iodide of potassium, 2 drams; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; wine of colchicum, ½ ounce; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 ounce; comp. essence cardiol, 1 ounce, and syrup sarsaparilla, 5 ounces. Mix and take a teaspoonful at mealtime and again before going to bed.

"Fern" writes: "I have suffered with a bad cough for some time and I am also weak and tired most of the time, which I think is due to the severe coughing. Can you give me a remedy?"

Answer: Yes, your weakness is due to the coughing but you should be well relieved by using the following: Get a 2½ ounce package of essence mentho-laxene and make according to directions on the bottle, then take a teaspoonful every hour or two until the cough is cured. This makes a full pint of the very best and safest cough syrup. If your druggist does not have mentho-laxene, have him order it for you of the wholesale firms.

"Mrs. W. W. C." asks: "Can I take off 40 pounds of fat? I weigh 180 pounds, too much for my height."

Answer: Yes, you should by taking as per the directions which accompany, 5-grain arbolone tablets, put up in sealed tubes and sold by well-stocked druggists. They are very good for any fleshy person to

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers should apply to any case of a similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Building, College-Ellwood streets, Dayton, Ohio, enclosing self-addressed, stamped, envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Doctor: What can I take for a bad case of indigestion. I have suffered with it for many years and nothing I take helps at all. I am also bothered with constipation."

Answer: You should not neglect indigestion and constipation, as it leads to more serious trouble; very frequently appendicitis is caused by this neglect. Begin at once and take tablets triopeptine. These are packed in sealed cartons with full directions for taking.

"P. H. C." writes: "When a man is down and out, with such symptoms as loss of appetite, insomnia, vertigo, weakness, nervousness, irritability and a listless, tired feeling even after a night's rest, what can be done to restore oneself to good vigorous health?"

Answer: Right living and a powerful harmless invigorating tonic, such as three grain cadomene tablets should cause new life forces to accrue to your great benefit. Your recuperative forces will gradually improve and health return.

"Anna R." writes: "I have taken medicine from several doctors for liver and kidney trouble and constipation, but it does not seem to help me at all. My skin is sallow. I have constant headaches and dizzy spells. What shall I do?"

Answer: The best remedy that I know for your trouble is 3-grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur tablets.') These are packed in sealed tubes with full directions. Most of the remedies only aggravate, but if you take the sulphurb tablets regularly for a few weeks you should be well. This will purify the blood and your skin will lose that sallow look.

"Busy Mother" —Bedwetting can be easily controlled in children by giving them the following: Tincture cubebs, 1 dram; tincture rhus aromatic, 2 drams, and comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz. Give from 10 to 15 drops in water an hour before each meal.

"Doctor: I have a very bad case of catarrh of the head and my stomach, bowels and blood are affected. I suffer greatly and would like relief."

"A. G." —Local treatment should be used as follows: Get 2 ozs. of antiseptic vilane powder. Use a half teaspoonful to a pint of warm water; snuff the water from the palm of the hand through the nostrils two or three times a day. Then make a catarrh balm by mixing a level teaspoonful vilane powder with 1 ounce of vaseline or lard and apply to the nostrils as far up as possible. Also take a teaspoonful four times daily of the following: Syrup sarsaparilla comp. 4ozs.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; fluid ext. buchu, 1 oz. Mix and shake well.

"Geo. W." writes: "More than a year ago, I received lasting benefit from one prescription you gave me, and now my trouble is due to kidneys, so am writing for advice. Lately I have had swelling under eyes, and of the feet and ankles, also am feverish, thirsty and weak, while my head aches and the urinary passage is attended with pain and bad odors."

Answer: I have found that balmwort tablets are the most beneficial treatment that any one can use, who is afflicted with disordered kidney and bladder. Obtain in sealed tubes with full directions.—[Advertisement.

A WAY TO CLUB TOBACCO TRUST.

Drastic Remedy Found by German Interests.

Penal Code May Be Used to Punish Americans.

A Government Monopoly Is Under Consideration.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

BERLIN, Feb. 7.—A drastic and unsuspected anti-trust remedy by which promoters and members of trusts and syndicates unfavored by the government may be sent to prison for two years without the option of a fine has been revealed in the course of the campaign against the Anglo-American tobacco interests in Germany. The foreign company which some time ago invaded the German cigarette industry has gained control of a large number of leading factories and established such a chain of retail stores that independent manufacturers and dealers in Germany united in a general protective league and appealed to the government for assistance. Simultaneous searches were instituted in the premises of more than thirty firms in Saxony and Bavaria known or suspected to be connected with the Anglo-American trust and all suspicious correspondence, agreements and contracts were seized.

Proceedings were taken, it was learned, upon complaint of a "secret association" lodged under sections of the general penal code dealing with political societies and never before conceived as applicable to business affairs. The sections in question read as follows:

"Participation in an association, the existence, aims or constitution of which is to be kept secret from the government or in which obedience to unknown superiors or unconstitutional obedience to known superiors is promised, is punishable with imprisonment up to six months for members and from one month to one year for organizers and officials. Participation in an association which aims or attempts to interfere with or impair by legal means the administration or execution of the laws is punishable with imprisonment for members up to one year and for organizers and officials of from three months to two years."

It is reported that the searches have disclosed the fact that numerous supposedly independent concerns unsuspected of any connection with the tobacco trust are secretly enrolled in the ranks of the organization. Great curiosity is felt as to the next move by the authorities. It may take the form of criminal prosecution under this statute against the persons interested in the trust or the information gathered may simply be used in the government inquiry promised some time ago by Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg. Predictions are made that the result of this inquiry may be a bill to establish a government cigarette monopoly along the lines of that proposed for the petroleum industry and for the same purpose, to drive out foreign invaders who threaten to establish a private monopoly.

The Germany tobacco industry is, even without the invasion of the American interests, in a serious condition, according to complaints of a recent convention of tobacco men. It was reported that the consumption of cheap cigars, made from German tobacco and retailing at from 1 to 3 cents, is steadily decreasing, smokers turning more and more to cigarettes which cannot be made from German tobacco. "Chain smokers" as those cigar fiends are called, who smoke the day through, lighting each successive cigars from the stub of its predecessor, are demanding on their cigars imported wrappers, the price of which is prohibitive.

German business is arming itself against another threatened American invasion. The new attack is centered upon the stores which establish 5 and 10 cents as their maximum selling price of any article. Upon the report that an American is about to establish a chain of such stores in Germany business men in Leipsic have held a meeting of protest, have called upon Chambers of Commerce throughout Germany to take defensive measures, and have, as usual, appealed to the government for assistance.

LACES ARE CHEAP.

Thistle-Patterned Scotch Laces Have Been Introduced by Two Lassies from the Heather Land.

[New Orleans Times Democrat:] Very familiar are the handsome Irish crochet patterns, bleached snow white on the green grass of Erin; and familiar also are Italian and Spanish laces, made by the peasant women of those countries or by nuns in the many convents. Not so familiar, however, are heather and thistle-patterned Scotch laces, and two pretty young Scotch women who have recently come to America with a stock of hand-made Scotch lace are reaping a rich harvest. The laces are extraordinarily cheap—far too cheap, would protest the merchant who has to deduct several expenses between customhouse and counter—but the Scotch lassies seem well satisfied with the prices they get. Not having had time to master the problem of American money, they have bit upon the happy idea of counting only in "quarters." The laces are priced at "two quarters" the yard, "three quarters the yard," and so on; or one may have a special bargain—a whole remnant of five yards for "ten quarters." Since twenty shillings constitute the English pound, and likewise twenty quarters go to the making of the American five dollars, this simple and ingenious way of handling currency is to be commended.

The Scotch laces are not pure white like the Irish specimens, but have a delicate string color. The patterns resemble handsome Cluny patterns, except that the thistle and the heather appear as the favorite motifs. The Scotch lassies are most irresistible with their soft, coaxing voices and their rich Scotch burr. "Now, look at this bonnie bit o' banding," says one, "twill make ye such a bonnie blouse wi' a bit o' linen lawn—an' only three-quarthers the yarrrd!" And the quarters fairly leap out of your purse to be exchanged for the fascinating laces.

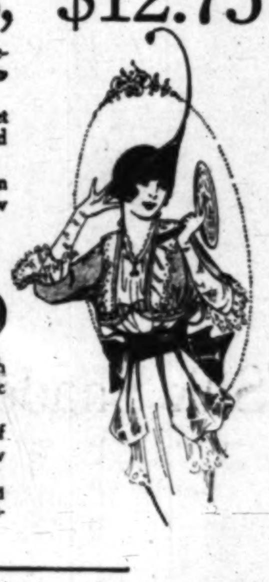
A Fascinating New Style Note

Bolero Blouses, $12.75



—The captivating little bolero has invaded Blousedom and found a cordial welcome in Paris, in New York, in Los Angeles.

—The model illustrated is of gold-colored silk net over flesh-tinted chiffon; bolero effect fronts and sleeves are cut in one.

—The vest, full draped over the lining is of cream silk net and touches of pink taffeta intensify the glow of rosiness most charmingly.

Another Spring Novelty

Angel Blouse, $8.50

—A touch of black and a tiny cluster of French roses add interest to the trimming. Note this chic style.

—Of cream shadow lace over a lining of flesh-tinted net, with full draped sleeves in the new "angel" effect.

—Frills of embroidered net finish the sleeves and the neck is boned in the back to give a chic suggestion of the "Margot" collar.

—The very soul of the springtime animates our newly enlarged Daylight Garment Section and finds expression in a myriad of variations in form and texture, tint and trimming scheme.

—The masters of the modes have spoken—their most cherished style secrets are now revealed to fashionable Los Angeles at Hamburger's.

—It's a comprehensive exposition—a Fashion Show in itself—with style as the dominating keynote,—a triumph for Hamburger acumen—Hamburger ability to select the best and most artistic of the season's modes from the profusion of designs put forth by the style arbiters of the world.

—They bring a breath of the Rue de la Paix, many of them, others bear the hall mark of Fifth Avenue. Many of the most adorable models show Parisian inspiration with the added chic of American practicality and appropriateness—there's a style for every individuality.

—And the New Fitting Rooms Are An Unalloyed Delight; We Are Proud of Them.

—In tones of blue and soft French gray, their mirrored walls reflect a background wonderfully harmonious and well calculated to bring out the good points of figure, costume and complexion. To try on a garment in one of these dainty apartments is to eliminate all uncertainty as to its becomingness.

Women's and Misses' Suits

—At $35.00—Suits of moire silk and silk poplin, those two favorites of Queen Fashion, serges, poplins, diagonals, crepe poplins, neat pin stripes and shepherd checks.

—Novelty vests, lace frills, taffeta ruffles and skirts of the flounced or tiered type—fashion's best.

—At $45.00—Crepe poplins, ripple crepes, honey comb checks and the much desired taffetas. Dominating shades are mustard, rose, navy, Copenhagen, reseda, tango and back. Short dressy coats and skirts with ruffles and flounces.

—At $57.50 — Exquisite models of beautiful fabrics in which the new crepe weaves figure prominently. Coats are the dressy, beruffled type and skirts show several flounces or tastefully draped tunics. Other handsome and exclusive Hamburger modes, $60.00 to $125.

FRENCH WOMEN MAY SOON VOTE.

Spring Election to Decid the Suffrage Question.

Limitation to Local Affair an Important Issue.

Victor Hugo's Tooth Thrown Into the Fire.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

PARIS, Feb. 14.—Women in France will probably have the ball in local affairs before the end of the present year, according to Ferdinand Buisson, president of the Universal Suffrage Commission, which is composed of forty members of the French Parliament, and which has reported favorably on the subject to the Chamber of Deputies.

The general parliamentary elections this spring will decide whether suffrage will be extended to women and if so whether to the full extent of national suffrage or with limitation mainly to municipal affairs. The question will be one of the first to come before the new Chamber of Deputies.

When the question was brought before the Chamber last fall, M. Buisson alone was delegated to draw up a report on the subject and his report has since met the entire approval of the commission. It is in part now before the Chamber. It includes translations of large portions of the debate upon the same subject in the United States Senate and three maps of the United States showing the progress of the women's movement there in recent years. It points out that in all the countries where total or partial woman's suffrage has been in force during the last ten, fifteen or twenty years, there is not a single case of an attempt to revise or restrict the rights already granted.

"I think I can prophesy with certainty," says M. Buisson, "that there will be a majority in the new Chamber in favor of giving the vote to women in France. We already have some 250 certain votes in the Chamber as it is constituted even at present, and I feel confident the general elections will return the extra fifty votes necessary for us to carry the house."

M. Buisson's report, besides dealing with the controversial side of the question of votes for women, supplies the machinery, approved by the commission, for bringing woman's suffrage into force. This merely consists of the addition of the three words "of both sexes" to an article of the French Suffrage Law of 1884. An additional article limiting the vote will be placed before the House for consideration, if desired. It reads: "The modification of the preceding article does not apply to the election of Deputies for which male electors only are eligible."

"The adoption of the second article," says M. Buisson, "will restrict woman's suffrage to so-called municipal affairs. It will, however, give women much more power in France than is generally realized. They will, for instance, vote for the Conseil Municipal, Conseil General, the Conseil d'Arrondissement and have a say in electing the electors of the Senate. The only right not given to them would be the right to vote in the election of Deputies.

"I should be ready to vote for the immediate granting of universal suffrage to women, but if municipal suffrage only is passed by the Parliament I shall be satisfied for the present. Universal suffrage is bound to come later."

VICTOR HUGO'S TOOTH.

Victor Hugo's tooth has disappeared from the Hugo Museum in the Place des Vosges. The Prefect of the Seine was startled to learn this from a paragraph in a satirical weekly journal, and immediately demanded an explanation from the chief inspector of the museums department, who in turn requested one from the director of the fine art section, who asked for one from the director of the museum. From the reports of these various officials on each other's action the Prefect was relieved to learn that no thief had operated unobserved in the museum under his charge. The relic, a somewhat dilapidated molar of heroic proportions, had been presented to the museum by a former director, Victor Koch, a nephew and fanatical admirer of his distinguished uncle. M. Koch died at an advanced age and was succeeded by M. Henri Planes, who, while greatly admiring his predecessor's devotion to the memory of his glorious relative, considered the exhibit tasteless and trivial, and simply threw it into the fire.

TO RESURRECT GUNS.

The French Ministry of Marine has invited bids for raising the 100 brass guns which have lain undisturbed for 222 years in the bay of La Hougue on the English channel. The point was the scene of the five days' battle of La Hougue in May, 1692, when seven warships were sunk. The combined British and Dutch fleets, under supreme command of Admiral Russell, afterwards Earl of Orford, consisted of eighty-two ships of the line. The French fleet under Admiral Count de Tourville numbered forty-four large ships and a number of brigs and gunboats. After their defeat by the allies twelve French ships with a number of transports were cut down and burned by a boat expedition under Sir George Rooke, better known as the captor of Gibraltar. A salvage contractor recently asked permission to raise the great number of brass guns which went down with these ships, and it was his offer which has prompted the Ministry of Marine to invite bids.

Beyond the Atlantic.

but this will not now take place, unless the Unionists are successful in preventing the government from establishing a Parliament in Ireland.

Like all members of the Connaught family, Prince Arthur is extremely popular, and besides, it is considered that he would make an able and responsible Viceroy, while his nearness to the throne and his personal intimacy with the King would have a great effect in soothing Unionist susceptibilities in Ireland. It would be difficult for Irish society to boycott a Viceregal Court held by the first cousin and the niece of the sovereign, especially after the latter had visited Dublin in person to open the first Irish Parliament, which he will do if that Parliament is ever summoned.

There is little prospect, however, of the home rule bill becoming law early the coming summer, as Nationalists and Liberals have often declared would be the case. It is now predicted that Ireland's fight for self-government will not be over before next fall.

At best nothing can be done with the home-rule bill until April, for financial affairs will take up all of March, and now that Premier Asquith has promised to make liberal concessions to overcome the objections of Ulster, it will probably take most of the summer to reframe the bill. No one is seriously displeased at the delay, for it is believed it will work to a better understanding. The government will have time to consider thoroughly its proposed amendments and to determine whether they will have the desired effect of promoting peace.

The alterations involved in the present bill would be enormous, and some portions would have to be redrafted if any of the amendments are adopted. The exclusion of Ulster would require a complete modifications of the financial clauses, and home rule within home rule would be quite as complicated.

Premier Asquith will be very sure of his ground before placing any of his suggestions on paper, but during the next few weeks various suggestions will be submitted to the Unionist leaders. If no agreement results, the government will simply introduce its modifications and let the House and public opinion judge. There are some irreconcilables, who will fight the bill to the bitter end, while from other quarters there will come very severe criticism of details. The irreconcilables hope the government will produce a scheme, which will be satisfactory to the majority of Unionists and Liberals, but which will meet with the disapproval of the Nationalists. Mr. Asquith is not at all likely to do that. He has staked the political fortunes of himself and his party on the home-rule bill, and it is very well known that his great ambition is to carry out the desires of his old chief, Gladstone, and bring contentment to the majority of Irishmen.

The procedure to be followed is very clearly stated in the Parliament Act. After the bill has been read a second time, the government will come forward with their suggestions, and a long series of debates may be expected in the Commons. The Unionists will doubtless oppose them, but it may be inferred that what Lloyd George said in the debate on the speech from the throne, that the government will persist in them, and will send them to the Lords. It is then that the real fight will begin, and it may be weeks before the struggle is finally decided.

Fate of Sub-Mariners.

According to testimony of members of the crew of the destroyer Pigmy, which was on the spot when the submarine A 7 disappeared off Devonport, in January, the occupants of the ill-fated vessel must have lived for at least an hour after the submarine sank, and during the greater part of that time were engaged in the hopeless task of trying to bring her to the surface. The crew of the Pigmy saw during that time, periodical cone-shaped upheavals of water growing gradually less until they ceased. This, say the experts, proves that an effort was being made to restore buoyancy by blowing out the trimming tanks until the last ounce of compressed air was exhausted. How the surplus buoyancy, which every submarine retains when diving, was lost, is a question which may never be solved. It might have been caused by a mishap to the tanks or failure of the torpedo-tube door to operate.

There is now little hope of ever bringing the A 7 to the surface. She lies in twenty-seven fathoms of water, while no submarine has yet been raised from a greater depth than seven fathoms. Besides, the boat lies with her nose tilted at an angle of 30 degrees, and her quarters buried in the mud to the base of her conning tower, so it would be almost impossible to get a grip on it.

Omnibusses Chicken Houses.

The thousands of horse-drawn omnibusses, which were a familiar sight in London a few years ago, are now serving as chicken houses, as woodsheds, or cottages at the beaches. There are now only about a dozen of the horse busses left in service, those being used to connect up street-car lines, which do not cross the bridges over the Thames. The omnibus companies have been disposing of the old vehicles for $7 a piece, a rate so low that the demand has been greater than the supply.

Welsh Disestablishment.

Unionist society women have started a novel campaign against the Welsh disestablishment bill. When the idea was first mooted, the proposal was to hold Wednesday afternoon social functions during March at the two houses of four peeresses, each gathering being attended by one of the Welsh bishops. Other peeresses however, have indicated their willingness to lend their houses to the public in the cause of the establishment, and these will be utilized on Saturday afternoons, when their owners are out of town for the week-end. The privilege of roaming through the homes of the aristocracy is expected to attract a great many people, and the gatherings will be announced as great musters against the bill.

IN DENMARK.

Danish Agriculture.

Maurice Francis Egan, Minister from the United States to Denmark, announces that he will visit America during April and May to lecture in the Southern States on Danish agriculture. Beginning in Virginia and going as far as Louisiana, he will speak before several legislative committees, with the idea of interesting them in agriculture improvements.

His special scheme will be the necessity of rotation of crops in the cotton States and the consideration of how the farmer can be held to realize his best plans through the assistance of the States. Mr. Egan will co-operate as far as possible with the Agricultural Department and explain the principles of co-operation and their practicable effect as applied in Denmark.

In an interview, Mr. Egan said: "While a money trust has great danger, a land trust is immensely more to be feared. It would be a great pity if the southern farmers were taught to look to the Federal government for aid, instead of depending on their own resources and the local pride of their States."

The Minister is a strong advocate of agricultural co-operation. He has also accepted invitations to deliver lectures at Harvard and Columbia universities and to hold illustrated conferences on agricultural subjects in Chicago and Dubuque, Iowa.

IN AUSTRIA.

A Husband's Rights.

The judge of a civil court in Vienna has decided that a husband cannot prevent his mother-in-law from coming to his house to see her daughter.

The decision was given in a case where a railway official named Michna wrote a letter to his mother-in-law forbidding her to enter his house. She disregarded the communication and Michna brought an action charging her with disturbing him in the peaceful possession of his own home, and asked for a judicial order prohibiting the lady from making any further visits.

It was urged on behalf of the mother-in-law that the wife had the right to receive her mother in the common home of her husband and herself, and that the husband's application was illegal.

Rejecting all the evidence as irrelevent, the judge ruled that a husband could not forbid his wife to receive her own mother in the home, and that in accepting her daughter's invitation to come there, the mother was performing no arbitrary act, and therefore, was not interfering with any rights of quiet possession.

IN GERMANY.

Schleswig-Holstein Unreconciled.

Half a century of effort to Prussianize the Danish population of Schleswig-Holstein, which has been passing in review with the semi-centennial celebration of the conquering of the province, is being generally considered as a failure.

The Danish people of Northern Schleswig are today more unreconciled and more anti-Prussian than ever. Although the younger generation knows nothing at first hand of the days when the province was Danish, the thousands of Danes have declined to participate in the celebrations which are being held.

By the treaty of Prague, which terminated the Prusso-Austrian War, Austria renounced all claim to Schleswig-Holstein, but insisted that there should be a plebiscite in Northern Schleswig, and that if the inhabitants of any defined district should vote in favor of remaining Danish subjects, such territory was to be ceded back to Denmark. Twelve years later, at the Vienna conference, this paragraph was secretly revoked. Not until February, 1879, was the fact made known, as the result of which over 60,000 Danes left the province. But Northern Schleswig from the borders of Denmark as far south as Flensburg is still occupied by over 160,000 Danes. Practically the only German-speaking persons in the district are the Prussian officials.

Efforts of the authorities to prevent the Danes from coming together in associations or other gatherings, manifested particularly in threats of governmental displeasure to the owners of suitable halls, have been met by the Danes through the erection of some fifty assembly halls in various towns. They still refer to themselves as "must-Prussians," Prussians by compulsion.

Much of the same state of affairs exist in East Prussia and Posen among the Poles. Despite the fact that, unlike the Danes, they do not occupy any considerable territory exclusively, they have firmly resisted the Prussian efforts to wean them from their mother tongue and their own customs. Prussia has expended nearly $250,000,000 in expropriating Polish landowners and settling Germans on the land thus acquired, but the Polish landowners are probably larger today than ever before.

There are manifold indications that Pussia's treatment of alien races subject to her is to be much severer in the future. The Prussian authorities of a small Danish town have just refused to permit the president of a Danish university to make a public address in the Danish tongue on methods of combatting the housefly. Permission to give a concert has been refused on the ground that Danish songs appeared on the programme beside songs from German composers. It is but a few weeks since Roald Amundsen was forbidden to lecture in Norwegian, a prohibition later rescinded in face of public sentiment. A series of six addresses in Alsace by prominent French public men was to have been completed by an address by the editor of a Paris paper. This address has just been prohibited, undoubtedly in compliance to instructions from Berlin.

Teachers as Hunters.

The Minister of Education of Saxony has just issued an order permitting school teachers to take out hunting licenses. The teachers of the kingdom have been excluded from the joys of the chase since the issuance of the "general articles" of January 1, 1580.

Cardinal's Nephew Sentenced.

Giovanni Vannutelli, a nephew of Cardinals Seraphim and Vincent Vannutelli, has been sentenced to serve two years in prison for inducing a friend to steal and pawn his mother's jewels.

Marconi Addresses the King.

William Marconi delivered a lecture in the ancient Circus of Augustus in Rome, before King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena, and all the notables in Rome. Marconi's theme was the progress of radiography. He predicted the early success of radio telephony, saying the human voice could be projected across the ocean by this method more quickly than a message could be sent by cable. King Victor Emmanuel warmly congratulated Mr. Marconi at the end of the lecture.

IN SPAIN.

Riot in a Garrison.

One man was killed and seventeen men were injured in the riot at the garrison in Escorial. Peasant conscripts attacked a number of students of the government engineering college who are doing military service in the same regiment with them because the students refused to treat the peasants to a drink in conformity with tradition. The officers of the regiment were forced to use firearms to protect themselves against the peasants.

France in Latin America.

Henri Halphen, general secretary of the French Trans-Atlantic Steamship Company, has given to the Ministerial Commission representing the various states which is considering the requirements of the French merchant marine and the utilization of the Panama Canal, the result of several months of study which he personally made in Panama and South American countries upon the economic consequences of the opening of convinced that France would have a preponderant position in Latin-American commerce owing to the similarity of races, tastes and requirements.

WHAT DEFECTS ARE IN YOUR FACE?

Some Face Deformities, Natural and Accidental, That Are Really Overcome by Our Chief Surgeon of the Viennese Facial Institute.

The following pictures illustrate better than words the changes that turned Homeliness into Beauty, Deformity into Symmetry:

In some cases the life of the person was turned from timidity and shrinking from the society of others into that self-confidence that only comes with the feeling of personal attractiveness and equality.

Women especially can appreciate the difference between being becomingly gowned and looking shabby. How much greater, then, is the difference between a homely mouth and a pretty one — a crooked nose and a straight one—a dingy, oily skin and a skin like a sea shell.

All these and many other Facial Defects are painlessly overcome by the Viennese Facial Institute. We have graduate physicians who have devoted many years to this special work, both here and in Europe. With a hand mirror you can watch your defects disappear and dictate your own facial corrections. Our methods are immediate, no massaging, no rollers, no plasters. Massaging does not remove wrinkles. Your face will be made pleasing and attractive, and just the way you would like to have it. The methods employed by us are painless, will not interfere with your usual duties, are very inexpensive. If you cannot call in person, write the Viennese Facial Institute, at 309 Title Guarantee Building, corner 5th and Broadway, for any information you wish. Your letter will be treated with the strictest confidence and answered fully at once. Remember, there are very few persons in this world gifted with the skill to do these delicate operations, and they all acknowledge the Viennese Facial Institute as the leader. We have been doing this work for twenty years. And this is the only Dermatological Institute in the State of California that has licensed and graduate physicians of the leading colleges here and abroad.

Prices so moderate that they are within the reach of every person. We can also give a slower treatment—thirty treatments for Five Dollars.

SAY JERUSALEM IS UNHEALTHY.

German Scientists Call It Worst Place to Live.

Malaria on the Increase, as Is Also Tuberculosis.

United Efforts Are Favored to Improve Condition.

[SPECIAL FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

BERLIN, Feb. 15.—About the worst place in the world in which to live is Jerusalem, according to Prof. Dr. Nocht, chief medical adviser and director of the Seamen's Hospital and the Institute for the Study of Ship and Tropical Diseases in Hamburg. Dr. Nocht read a highly-interesting paper at the meeting, in Berlin recently, of the German Association to Combat Malaria. Dr. Nocht said:

"The investigations of Prof. Muehlens and Dr. Bruenn show that malaria has made alarming inroads in Jerusalem. Muehlens, who is the head of the department of ship and tropical diseases at the Hamburg Institute, investigated during his first expedition in 1912, probably 10 per cent. of the total population of the Holy City. Examination of the blood showed that of all those investigated 28 per cent. are victims of malaria. In special cases, particularly in the schools, he discovered that half of all whom he examined were infected with malaria. This astounding increase of malaria in Jerusalem amazed even the practicing physicians of the city who at the same time, however, had admitted that 60 per cent. to 80 per cent. of fever cases in the hospitals and polyclinics were malarial cases.

"Malaria is the main cause of the anaemia, the impoverishment of the blood and general invalidism of the inhabitants of Jerusalem. Malaria explains also why at certain times of the year schools have to be closed because there are so few pupils to attend the classes. Muehlens's investigations make it appear highly probable also that many other serious seizures of disease ascribed to malaria are really phases of abdominal typhus and that this malady, too, is much more frequent than had been suspected before.

Muehlens also discovered many cases of recurrent fever in Bethlehem, Naenus, Bethsaba and also in Jerusalem. Malta fever also appears, and in the year 1912, Jerusalem suffered an epidemic of danger fever.

"For the purpose of studying the growth of tuberculosis in Jerusalem, the German committee in connection with the Tuberculosis Institute, of Hamburg, sent Dr. Much to Jerusalem after Dr. Muehlens had made it clear that tuberculosis had grown to be a popular menace in Jerusalem, and that in certain elements of the population, for instance the Jewish, whole families were ill of the disease. Much verified these reports and made many interesting observations of the receptability of portions of the population and made preliminary studies to combat the malady.

"As widely spread as tuberculosis in Jerusalem is the disease of the eye called trachoma. Not only nearly all the natives of Jerusalem are victims of trachoma, but many Europeans who come there, fall prey to the disease. As a result of the neglect of this disease on the party of the natives many cases result in blindness and frightful distortion of the eyes. Until recently the population were entirely unconcerned about the terrible infection with trachoma.

"Lientery, or dysentery, is endemic to all Palestine. It may be that the rapid spread of this disease in Jerusalem during certain periods of the year is connected with the plague of flies that visits the city.

"Lyssa, or hydrophobia, is also a disease not infrequently found in Jerusalem and Palestine. Until recently persons bitten and likely to develop the disease were sent to Cairo for treatment; but in those cases the treatment usually came too late. The German expedition established the first station to vaccinate against the disease in Jerusalem in March, 1913.

"Leprosy is comparatively less frequent, but there are two leper asylums in Jerusalem. But unfortunately the lepers cannot be made to stay in these places. Many of them frequent the streets during the times of the pilgrimages to beg for alms.

"The reports of Dr. Muehlens on all these matters show that only with united efforts on an international basis can conditions be improved in Jerusalem. An effort is being made to unite the forces of improvement and therefrom has come into being the International health office of the Holy City. It is supported from three sources for the time being, namely, by the German Committee to Combat Malaria in Jerusalem, by Mr. Nathan Straus and by the Association of Jewish Doctors and Scientists of the Sanitary Interests of Palestine."

KNEW OF FORMER LIFE.

Peculiar Story of a Woman Who Apparently Proved Her Former Existence and Death.

[New York Times:] An extraordinary knowledge of a former life is claimed to have been possessed by Mme. Laure Raynaud, whose death has just occurred in Paris.

Mme. Raynaud, who was 45 years old, was a nurse in a private hospital in Passy. A few years ago she told a doctor that she knew she had died at the age of 19 many years before. She described the town and house in which she had lived. It was a foreign town, although Mme. Raynaud had never been out of France.

The doctor thought the town might be Siena, in Italy, and from the mayor of that place procured a collection of photographs. In one of them he recognized a house and a church exactly like those Mme. Raynaud described. She gave many details, among others that she died in 1840, and that her death was due to consumption.

Without telling her where she was going the doctor took her to Siena. The first day she arrived she walked straight to the house she had described and from there to the church. Then she went to the tombstone of a girl who died of consumption in 1840 at the age of 19, and fell on it in a fainting fit.

Mme. Raynaud refused to make money out of her peculiar gift, though she had a strange magnetic power which enabled her to effect cures of certain nervous maladies, she always refused payment. Her death was due to cancer.

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS

BY SYDNEY FORD.

THE announcement from Santa Barbara of the nomination of Mrs. H. A. Cable for the presidency of the Los Angeles district federation, occasioned great surprise among Los Angeles club women. "Who is she?" was the question on the lips of many as the word was passed along.

Mrs. Cable came here four years ago from Denver and a year later joined the Averill Club, an organization of about forty, founded by and named for the late Mrs. Anna S. Averill. The following year Mrs. Cable was elected its president and has since held that office. Last year she was made chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Los Angeles district federation and as such, came into close touch with Mrs. Charles Farwell Edson and immediately on the arrival of Mrs. Edson in Santa Barbara the candidacy of Mrs. Cable for district president was launched.

When the president of the State federation, Mrs. James W. Orr, of San Francisco, was here last week I heard her remark in an after-luncheon talk before the directors of the largest club in the State, that, really, it is the smaller clubs that make up the federation. The large clubs are literally federations within themselves as it were and need no particular help or suggestion from the outside.

In harmony with this theory that the federation belongs more fully, in the sense of assistance, to the small club, the district has selected as its president one who has presided over one of the smallest in Los Angeles, and it is worthy of notice that the Averill Club takes pride in the fact that it has furnished more capable federation women than any other club of several times its size. It grew from a group of women who banded themselves together years ago to make a serious study of literature under the leadership of Mrs. Anna S. Averill, and it is to her wise and splendid training that the members of the club attribute its remarkable record of efficiency.

Mrs. Cable is a woman of dignified and pleasing appearance and fine executive ability and will doubtless make good in this larger office to which she has been called.

Largest District in State.

Some interesting facts were brought out regarding the strength and influence of the women's clubs of California the other day at Ebell, when the State president, Mrs. James W. Orr, addressed the board of directors in an after-luncheon speech preceding the regular meeting and again in her fifteen-minute platform talk preliminary to the address by Ernest K. Coulter, founder of the big brother movement.

There are now 380 clubs in the State federation which stands fourth in the list of States having the largest number of federated clubs. Massachusetts leads, New York is second and Illinois third. Our own Los Angeles district has the largest number of any of the seven districts in the State, more than 100 federated clubs being to our credit. Since the beginning of the present year twenty clubs in California have joined the federation and doubtless many more will come in before the State convention comes off at Riverside April 28 to May 2.

Mrs. J. E. Cowles in her introduction of Mrs. Orr referred to her as a class by herself in that she is one of fifty—for there are just fifty State federations in this country, including that in the District of Columbia—where there are but half a hundred State presidents.

Mrs. O. Shepard Barnum, chairman of a division of the general federation, who was a guest at the luncheon, gave a brief talk on her department. She announced that Dr. E. R. Snyder, the well-known educator, will be at Riverside at the State convention next month and that the speakers in this department at the biennial in Chicago next June will include such educational leaders as Ella Flagg Young, Jenkin Lloyd Jones and Carrie Chapman Catt.

Mrs. William Read's response to what Ebell stands for was one of the most comprehensive, exact and finely worded five-minute speeches I have listened to in many a day. Not a superfluous word—and every word of weight. She referred to the honors that have been shown past presidents of Ebell, one of whom, Mrs. W. J. Hole, has been made president of the Y.W.C.A., and another, Mrs. E. C. Bellows, president of the Woman's City Club. She emphasized fact that Ebell is not a political machine—but rather a club where women are helped to find themselves. It wrestles with civics and delves deep into subjects of public interest, but wisely keeps out of politics.

Mrs. Lavinia Graham in her talk concerning the relationship of the press and the club spoke of the good comradeship and understanding which exists and the sympathetic attitude of newspaper women toward their sisters in the club.

Whose Dog?

I write to inquire whose dog it is that regularly attends the meetings of a certain club and makes things lively for the ushers? He is a handsome bull dog, with a delightfully curious nose and a playful curiosity which leads him to cavort joyfully up and down the aisles of the clubhouse. He regards the patio as his legitimate playground and his cheerful bark or mournful yelp makes eloquent the pauses in the programme.

Possible Presidents.

The name of Mrs. George P. Thresher has been suggested as a candidate for the presidency of Ebell. As head of the Programme Committee of the club during the past year Mrs. Thresher has certainly shown rare discrimination and given us excellent entertainments. She has a faculty for "putting things through" when she gets started and that quality alone is inestimable in a president.

Then there's Mrs. Thomas B. Stowell, the little white-haired woman who has made such an efficient curator during the past two years. The wife of Dr. Stowell, who was the head of the department of education in the University of Southern California, she has been all her life closely associated with college work and she lends an enthusiasm to her department that is contagious. Mrs. George A. Brock is another who would undoubtedly make good, and Mrs. James Warren Holder is another and—but I might go on indefinitely. There's lots of good presidential timber among Ebell women—if only they could be induced to run.

The Influence in Philippines.

The progress made by the natives of the Philippines since the islands came into the possession of the United States was vividly brought out by Mrs. Margaret Frick in her illuminating and deeply interesting talk before the travel section of the College Women's Club last Wednesday. Mrs. Frick has recently returned from a trip through the Orient, which she made in company with Mrs. Fred Wood. They landed at Manila with the intention of staying five days and became so interested and fascinated with these islands of ours that they tarried for a month.

Whereas, in 1901 there was not a single road in the Philippines that was passable in winter, there are now 1600 kilometers of first-class, permanent roads and 600 miles of railroad, with 500 miles more projected. In 1902 the deaths from cholera in Manila alone totaled 3560 and 77,072 in the provinces. The death rate had fallen in 1912 to but forty-two in the provinces and not one in Manila.

When our troops went there in 1898 less than 10 per cent. of the natives could speak Spanish, and there were sixteen different dialects spoken, no one understanding the other. Now there are 530,000 students in the public schools, all of whom speak English. The summer session of the normal school in Manila which Mrs. Frick visited numbered 1500 students. She explained in detail the educational system and exhibited a fine display of the handiwork of the pupils—exquisite needlework, basketry, the beautiful woven straw mats, etc. An interesting feature of the exhibit was the group of dolls dressed as models of the Philippine women as they appear on the streets, their voluminous skirts trailing and the inevitable "panuela," a kimona-like garment, without which the true Philippine lady would as soon be caught in public as without her shoes and stockings. This garment is made of thin stuff and, to be strictly au fait, the sleeves and shoulders must stick out at just such an angle.

We were surprised to learn that, in the whole city of Manila there is not a single glass windowpane. A thin, semi-transparent shell is used for this purpose, which admits the light but offers no temptation to see the sights outside as it is opaque.

Illustrated with maps and a collection of fine photographic prints this lecture of Mrs. Frick's is brimfull of the sort of information we all ought to have in regard to the habits and customs, the sources of income, the government, sanitation and a hundred other details of interest concerning our islands in the Orient.

Women Educator Here.

Miss Grace Lyman, for seven years professor of philosophy and psychology in the Western College for Women at Oxford, O., is spending some time in Southern California. On Saturday she addressed the junior social and missionary society of the Orchard-avenue Baptist Church. Miss Lyman is co-operating with Dr. Lewis Terman of Stanford University in applying the Vinet intelligence tests to children of the public schools.

To the Far North.

The Ebell books and conversation section journeyed into the far North Thursday morning and, under the guidance of a woman who has lived in Northwest Alaska for three years—Mrs. Edith Harvey—came near getting their noses nipped in a temperature of 53 deg. below zero, which she described so vividly that we shivered in our seats. And yet, if you are properly dressed in furs to withstand this kind of weather you will suffer less than in a Southern California flood when you are trying to make true the fallacy that we don't need any artificial heat in our houses here during the rainy season.

Mrs. Harvey told us about the excitement of claim-jumping, which is the principal New Year's entertainment up there, and about the peculiar grub-staking law, and the reindeer industry, and expressed her personal satisfaction that Congress has just appropriated that $35,000,000 to build a 1000-mile railroad reaching up into the coal fields in the region where she used to live.

After this Zoe Ballard Fuller read us some poems by Robert Service, who came over to Canada from England when a youth of 18 and traveled up and down the Pacific Coast from Canad to Mexico for five years—a victim of wanderlust. Then he settled down as a bank clerk in Victoria, and finally drifted to Dawson—and began to write his poems. Now he is known as the Kipling of the Northwest and the Poet of the Yukon. Mrs. Fuller read selections from his "The Spell of the Yukon," and from his latest volume, "Rhymes of a Rolling Stone," published in 1912. That same year he was sent as war correspondent to Turkey and he is now sojourning in Paris with a villa in the south of France—which seems like a far cry from the frozen wilds of Alaska and, as the curator of the section, Mrs. W. S. Bartlett remarked, indicates that his poetry has paid well.

Mrs. J. W. Van Cleave reviewed "Dr. Luke of the Labrador" as the final part of the programme, and this was followed by a brief discussion led by the curator, Mrs. Bartlett. Afterward the topics of the morning were informally considered at the luncheon which followed, and which was in charge of Mrs. W. S. Cross.

Juvenile Protective Association.

The above association will meet tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in Symphony Hall at the Blanchard building. The programme will be in charge of Mrs. L. C. Torrance, chairman of the Industrial Conditions Committee.

To Regulate the Arroyo.

The Highland Park Ebell passed strong resolutions at its meeting last week regarding the control of the rambunctious river that cavorts through the Arroyo Seco, and did such tremendous damage during the recent flood.

The programme of the day was in celebration of the tenth anniversary of the founding of the club. Mrs. John M. Grant, at whose home the first meeting was held; Mrs. S. C. Wing, the first secretary, and Mrs. R. L. Hood gave personal anecdotes and incidents. The Rambler Section furnished the musical programme, Mrs. Geo. E. Jones and Miss Hopperstead giving vocal and whistling solos and Mrs. Joseph Kazinsky contributing several numbers. Next Tuesday evening will occur the annual reception to the husbands and friends of the members. There will be music and light refreshments.

The Truth About Women.

A generation ago our mothers would have pronounced the book by the above name unfit for review excetp in a medical clinic. Not so today. Women are distinctly "sitting up and taking notice," and the average woman's club is not afraid to discuss anything before its members.

Do you remember that scene in "Milestones" which we heard last week, where the little, gentle old grandmother who had celebrated with her husband their golden wedding, suddenly sprunted up under the example of her granddaughter of the present generation, and, in answer to her husband's "Sh', Sh', my dear," spiritedly replied:

"I won't 'Sh', Sh'—I've 'Sh', Shd' all my life, and I won't do it any more."

That's the way with the women of the present day. It took some courage to review a book so pronounced and so perfectly frank in its statements as this "The Truth About Women," but Mrs. E. K. Foster did not shrink from the task, and she did it honestly and fearlessly.

Mrs. Eliza Tupper Wilkes, who has recently returned from an eight months' sojourn in England, gave a splendid talk concerning several subjects now uppermost there, chiefly politics and militantism. First, however, she told her experiences in visiting the women's clubs in London, which are distinctly different from our own, and more like the men's clubs in many features, notably in that the best room in the house looking out on the balcony is reserved as the smoking-room, and here the English women members meet and calmly smoke their cigarettes while discussing affairs of state—and suffrage. It may be said in passing, that in this one respect, however they may be otherwise downtrodden, the English women enjoy a greater degree of freedom from social amenities than do we American women—and they are quite welcome to it.

At the luncheon which followed, Mrs. George M. Millard, recently of Chicago, but now of South Pasadena, gave an interesting talk concerning her recent trip to England, when she chanced to be on board the same steamer that took Mrs. Pankhurst back, and was an eyewitness to the arrest of the noted militant as the Majestic reached Liverpool. Her description of the five strong men, the two warships, the government lighter and all the British paraphernalia called into requisition for the arrest of one small woman, called out peals of laughter.

Other guests at the club included Mrs. Homer A. Miller of Des Moines, ex-president of the Iowa State Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Carrie M. Hawley, also of Des Moines, whose poems and essays have found their way into prominent magazines.

Miss Laura Grover Smith, who has been abroad for a year, was warmly welcomed back to the club, having returned last week.

Averill Club Meets.

Mrs. Mary Etta Fairbanks, a missionary, who has just returned from India, addressed the Averill Club at its meeting in Cumnock Hall last Tuesday, giving an interesting account of the misson schools there and of the ways of the women of India. Mrs. J. A. Rogers spoke of the life and work of Ella Flagg Young, Chicago's woman superintendent of schools, and Mrs. D. A. Denker, who was teacher under Mrs. Young for a period of eighteen years, gave many personal reminiscences and incidents which added to the interest of the occasion.

D.A.R. Musicale.

Two musicians, Miss Mary Olive Gray and Mrs. B. Buckner Ringo, presented a delightful programme of music before Eschscholtzia Chapter of the D.A.R. last Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Ringo is a Los Angeles girl, educated at Mills College, and will soon go abroad to further cultivate her fine soprano voice. She gave two groups of songs—one of classic selections from Brahms, Wagner, Bizet and other foreign composers—and the other, the simple little songs in English that everyone likes. In the audience were a number of guests—friends of the singer, who had know her as a girl—and she's not more than that now, although she has entered the ranks of matrons.

Miss Gray is a charming pianist, her pleasing personalty being most attractive and the loving way in which she leans over the piano and caresses the keys, indicates that passionate love of music that is so well shown in her performances.

A bit of business was transacted preliminary to the musicale, the regent, Mrs. H. C. Dillon, reminding the members of the gift of $3 per capita asked from northern chapters as a contribution toward establishing and keeping up headquarters during the Panama-Pacific Exposition, which will extend over a period of ten months. She suggested some ways and means of raising the money.

Collegate Alumnae to Meet.

The association of Collegiate Alumnae will meet next Saturday at Hotel Green, Pasadena, under the auspices of the Pasadena members. Mrs. Seward A. Simons will preside and luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock. Miss Mary P. Putnam will speak on "The Hague Peace Conference" and Miss Edith M. Jordan, daughter of Dr. David Starr Jordan, will speak concerning the Philippines where she recently visited.

Will Give Public Programme.

Next Tuesday afternoon the drama section of Ebell will give a programme, to which are invited the members of the club and their friends as especial guests. Unusual efforts have been made to provide an exceptional programme. Two groups of songs will be sung by Mme. Michel de Kvapishevaska, who will appear in a gown worn by the late Mme. Modjeska, who was a warm frend of the Kvapishevska family in Poland, in "As You Like It." The first group will be sung in Norwegian and the second in English. In addition to this, Mrs. Alfred Allen will read Sudermann's "Frederika" and Mrs. Ross T. Hickox will give "Lady Frederick."

With the Cliff Dwellers.

Dr. George Cole, who has spent years in the study and exploraton in the country of the Colorado Cliff Dwellers, delightfully entertained the California Chapter at its meeting last week with an informal lecture, illustrated with stereopticon views taken by himself and many interesting relics. The meeting was held at the residence of Dr. Cole, No. 921 West Fifty-sixth street.

Woman's City Club.

Francis Hichbarm of San Francisco will speak before the Women's City Club tomorrow on "The Red-light Abatement Act."

MEN AND EVENTS.

Mrs. John Smith, who died recently in Brighton, Eng., at the age of 84 years, had thirty-two brothers, her father having married twice.

Leo Blough has resigned from the office of Town Treasurer in Elkhart, Ind., because he learned that the salary was not $1200, as he supposed, but $12.

Leo Gilleran, a boy in Auburn, N. Y., had an eyetooth extracted and shortly afterward found returning to him the sight of one eye, which he lost some time ago, without any apparent cause.

A case of wine was the wedding fee offered to Magistrate Pennock of Philadelphia, when he married John Canado to Miss Sarah Armstrong. The magistrate did not care to accept the wine, and it was given to Constables John J. Brady and Edward S. Carver, who witnessed the marriage.

Ruth Elliott, daughter of Lucius P. Elliott, a wealthy Racine (Wis.) manufacturer, is to take up the tango as a profession. This became known when it was announced by the Hotel Pfister that she will make her debut as a tango dancer in company with Robert Archer Bowlby of Boston.

When Squire Taylor called at the home of John Havriluyk in Martzville, Pa., to marry him to Miss Nelka Batatuka, he found the would-be groom helping his bride-to-be washing clothes. After Miss Batatuka had put on her wedding dress, the ceremony was performed.

When Rev. A. Edwin Keigwin, of a New York church, announced that he intended to go to Washington for a two weeks' vacation, about 300 members of his congregation liked the idea so well that they decided to go with him. A special train was secured and a guide hired to show them the city.

SCIENTISTS, EDUCATORS.

W. Cameron Forbes, former Governor-General of the Philippines, will head a bird-collecting expedition in Central and South America for Harvard University.

Science has its heroes, and high on this list is a scholar who risked his life in a daring adventure to delve into the secrets of Arabic learning and mysticism. He is Dr. C. Snouck Hurgronje, professor of Arabic in the University of Leyden, Holland, who will be the guest of the University of Pennsylvania.

Miss Mary L. Benton, for seventeen years connected with Smith College a sinstructor and professor of Latin languages and literature, has been made dean of Carlton College, Northfield, Minn. President Burton is said to have expressed great regret at losing Miss Benton, while rejoicing that a new field and enlarged usefulness is opening for her.

Sir Archibald Geikie, the famous classical and theological scholar and geologist, has celebrated his 78th birthday shortly after retiring from the highest office which an English scientist can hold—the presidency of the Royal Society. In 1911 he was president of the classical association, and has been president of the Geographical Society and British Association. The position he has attained of first rank authority in the worlds of both science and letters is almost unique, and is the fruit of an extraordinary intelligence and scholarship. Of Scotch origin, he was originally intended for a career in a bank, and served for a short time in that business. But nature called him, and while he was still a boy he wrote articles on the geology of Arran for a newspaper. This led to his being appointed to the geological survey of the United Kingdom, and this was the beginning of his career.

A DEBUTANTE'S LETTER.

LOS ANGELES, March 7.

Emmeline darling:

I do hope you have arrived in Houston safely. That French Countess is a dear. Give her my very best love, won't you, and tell her to please ask me again next time. I know I shall adore a visit up there. We made great friends at Del Monte last year and I want to meet her again.

I have a particular recollection of her wonderful dresses; she goes to Paris every year for the express purpose of replenishing her wardrobe. When one is condemned to Houston for eight months of the year, one can understand it.

But, really, she could do as well in Los Angeles, couldn't she? As regards the dresses, I mean. You just missed the spring Fashion Show, cherie, and it is all that a fashion show could be. Quite the strongest and most effectual antidote against the dress reform movement. Which of us is strong enough to see a fashion show—and desist? I have already mentally purchased half a dozen new frocks and can picture myself quite irresistible in all of them.

There is a strong 1860 trend about all the innovations and we shall soon be living in the second act of "Milestones." Many of the dominant styles are already in. That ducky little polonaise effect opens up such fascinating possibilities if we can escape the bustle.

That majestic Mrs. B. sprang a striking gown on us at the M.'s little dinner party the other evening. She got it for the bachelor's ball three weeks ago and then got huffy and stayed at home. Another difference of opinion with her youthful mother-in-law! But it's a wonderful dress. The underskirt is of cloth of gold and all of the over draperies of a red-gold tulle, with the cleverest little chemisette of gold embroidered fine net. A great broad band of gold round her left arm, and that quaint antique filigree gold necklace of hers were her only jewels. She wore gold shoes and stockings and a yellow rose in her hair. She looked absolutely radiant. Had we not known how sad her life really is, I expect we should have envied her, but as it was, we only marveled at her pluck.

I do really think the white embroidered dresses, on the finest of lawn, are about the sweetest things this year. There is one idea that calls for a soft pale blue sash somewhere round the feet which will be adorable to wear and horrible to walk in. But I can imagine what an absolutely naive, piquant, intelligently innocent debutante I should look in it. A tricky, little close-fitting round white hat with a cascade of blue ribbon a mile high will complete the effect—if I can coax it out of the mater, who is getting dreadfully economical lately.

Blossy says she is going to flaunt all red this year. Declares it's the one color that makes her feel thoroughly alive. She specializes in girlish vivacity, as you know, and red certainly does suit her. Of course, she is clever enough to affect plain styles with a color like that, and plenty of white near her face. I should look vulgar and a bit mad in the things she wears. She is having that fawn suit of hers dyed, too, and will keep to red in her entire wardrobe. It is a good idea to stick to one color because, besides being individual, it is so economical for the etceteras—petticoats, stockings, hats, sashes, sunshades and so forth.

Edmund, brave soul, turned up at the dance in a dark-red dress coat the other evening — just out of bravado. It really looked thoroughly nice and I think the tailors ought to be grateful to him for showing the men how well they will look. The men were chaffing him horribly, of course, and called him a "manikin," but he is good-looking enough and popular enough to "stand the gaff."

We were very amused at the L.'s tea—poor old L. making such earnest and painstaking endeavors to do the right think. His majestic spouse kept issuing orders whenever he appeared in sight, and, as usual, he could do nothing to please her. He is desperately fond of music and little Mrs. D. asked him to play. He chose something soft and melodious and was just beginning to feel happy, when orders came for him to desist at once. No one wanted music, he was informed, and he was annoying the company! But later, with reckless bravado, he tried it again, some of us ostentatiously declaring we liked it of all things . . . but we suspect that he had a painful accounting after we were all gone.

That Orphans' Cottage at Manhattan Beach is really being built at last—you remember the debutantes have taken the orphans under their wing. The girls are still very keen about it and will certainly have something to show for their seal. Katherine and Juliet, Marjorie, Aileen and Daphne seem to be the prime movers just at present, and Lenten abstentions from frivolity are giving them more time for it.

Talking about Lenten abstentions, official parties and dances are few, but there is, as a matter of fact, just as much fun going on. The Symphony concerts are, however, enjoying rather more attention than usual—there seems to be a general impression that to go to a Symphony concert is as good as going to church. The E. T.'s had a gorgeous party there, as a finale to a very smart dinner party.

The Hamiltons are back, and Viola is looking splendid. They seem to have had a sumptuous trip. Saw her at Mrs. B.'s party, which was in her honor. Blanche was also there—doesn't she grow prettier all the time? There is class about Blanche.

So you heard about the capsized boat, too, did you? It has so far escaped the knowledge of the person most concerned—or else he's playing possum. The cavalier took her over to Santa Ana and kept her there until she was nicely dried up and then went back and reconnoitered. Hubby had come home in the meantime and was making inquiries. But final strategy and explanations appear to have been efficient. The trouble is, they live at that quiet little beach expressly for her health—and the ducking didn't improve things at all. I suppose there really isn't enough to do down there—to keep her out of mischief.

Well, dearest, write and tell me all about your visit.

Love, from BETTY.

Bride-to-Be Complimented.

A luncheon and surprise miscellaneous shower was the pleasure planned by Mrs. Le Roy Jones Wednesday afternoon at her home, No. 1809 South Burlington avenue, complimenting Miss Anne Caswell, who has chosen the month of April for her wedding to Jack Mellon. The luncheon tables were adorned with baskets of violets and fresias, and favors were small kewpies. Before leaving the luncheon tables the little son of the hostess, Le Roy Jones, Jr., presented Miss Caswell with a large white basket, the handle tied with a big fluffy bow of pale blue tulle, containing the shower. Games of Five Hundred filled in the afternoon, and prizes fell to Mmes. Murphy and Eberle.

THE FASHION SHOW demonstrated the superiority of Marvel Millinery values to a marked degree. Vast throngs visited our store, and the trend of conversation seemed to center on the wondrously moderate prices at which our beautiful millinery creations are being sold.

Of special interest are the hats of Marvel conception and manufacture. In addition to these we show a remarkable line of high-grade ready-to-wears including such famous hats as Crosby, Phipps, Atchison and Burgesser. These are the very finest of ready-to-wear hats. Also we show untrimmed shapes from Seybel—the best hat maker in the world. All these hats are very modestly priced—in fact, they are the greatest hat values in the city. Our stock of fancy feathers, stick-ups and flowers is very complete. The season's new jet trimming is here in many designs, such as stick-ups, cabachons and novelty effects.

New dresses---delightful affairs

—There has been no season before which has found dresses of such exceptional beauty and "difference" nor has any season found as many of them as await this spring of nineteen hundred and fourteen!—

—And Monday we bid you come and see the new dresses—scores of them will be out of their wrappings for the first time!

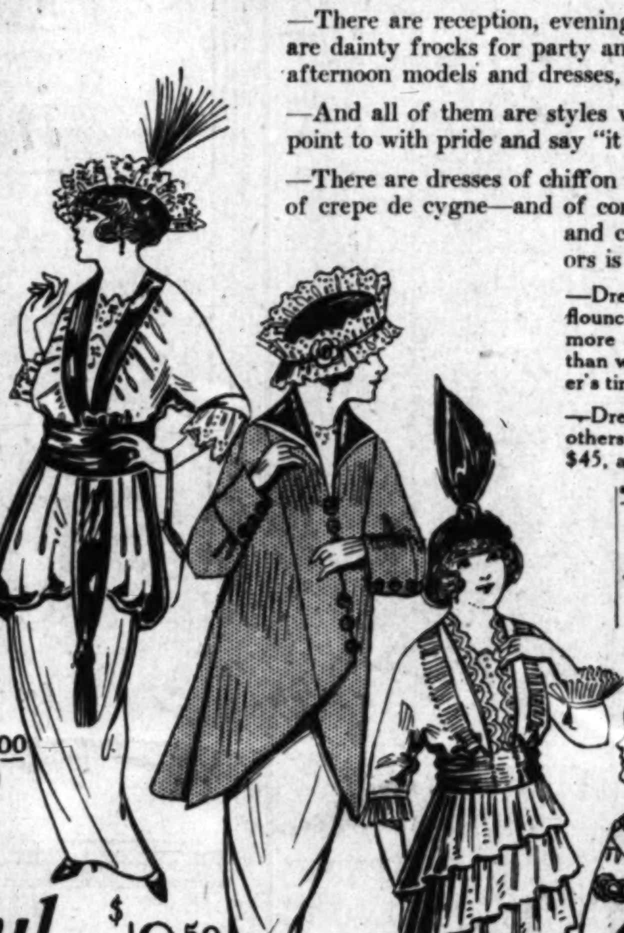
—There are reception, evening and dinner gowns—there are dainty frocks for party and dancing wear—there are afternoon models and dresses, too, for street wear—

—And all of them are styles which any designer might point to with pride and say "it is mine"—

—There are dresses of chiffon taffeta—of crepe meteor—of crepe de cygne—and of combinations of lace and silk and chiffon. The range of colors is prodigal.

—Dresses that are ruffled and flounced and draped in an even more delightful and entrancing way than were the dresses of grandmother's time!

—Dresses—some at $15.00, and others at $19.50, at $25, at $35, at $45, and on up to $150.



The new suits

with their ruffles & flounces

—Suits that are so bewilderingly different that one hesitates to attempt a description!

—Some of them are so extreme that one might easily think the bustles of years gone by had been brought out from grandmother's packing box—

—Suits of silk—rich heavy silks in such wonderful in-between tones that one wonders what fairy artists did the blending—suits of soft woolen weaves that make the woolens of yesterday seem like the homespuns of Puritan days!—Suits of woolens and silks combined—entrancing affairs!

—Suits with blouse coats and quaint little Eton jackets—suits that are frilled with delicate lace and made rich with vari-colored embroideries!

—Suits—of course, there are plain models, too—worlds of them in every good fabric and color!—

—Suits—the very one you want—no matter whether you would pay $19.50, $25.00 or $39.50, up on up to $100.00.

—Particularly we want you to see our special line of suits at $25.00—we believe they'll win many firm friends among those who compare them with other $25,00 suits!

—Third Floor—

Many new Corsets

—have just come!

—Among them are the popular C. B. models—

—Let our expert corsetieres fit your model to you on Monday—Private fitting rooms—Second Floor.

French crepe—an exquisite wash weave 65c

—And it's one of the prettiest of all the delicate new fabrics that have been created for spring and you!—

—It's a pretty crepe voile with small designs or ratine stripes neatly embroidered—it comes full 40 in. wide—

—Finesse printed crepe—a soft, clingy weave in the prettiest of Dolly Varden patterns and in twenty-four different color combinations—25c yard.

—A New Ratine—full 42 in. wide—one that will prove to be one of the most popular of the season's favored ratines—it's priced 85c yard.—

Mezzanine.

Rarely beautiful embroideries

—And it's to be an exhibit such as you had little dreamed of seeing in these early days of Spring—The embroideries—ah!—they fairly sing a song of loveliness—of waists and frocks of more beauty than those of any season which has gone before—and then cuddled in between the rich flouncings and allovers and bands—are the daintiest little baby pretties that have come from fairy needles—

—There will be shown—

—44-in. crepe and voile flouncings with all white needlework—with lacy trimming—or with colored embroidering or [illegible] worked on in gorgeous patterns—all with bands and edges to match.

—New glass cloth edges and insertions.

—New crepe camisole embroideries.

—44-in. ratine crepe—embroidered in quaint Japanese and [illegible] designs. This is priced very specially at 85c yard!—

—Swiss corset cover embroideries that are 'way under worth at 29c yard!—

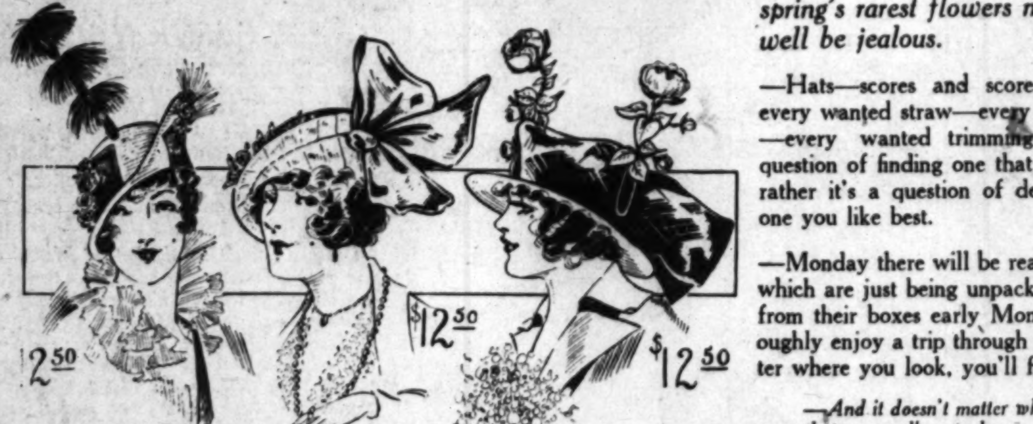
—A little world of baby flouncings and edges and insertions in the most exquisite patterns!—

—Make it a point to see the new embroideries on Monday whether or not you are ready to make the new clothes for spring—they'll suggest prettier frocks and waists than all the style books combined! Booth—Center Cross Aisle!—

And what wonderful new hats are ready!

—Just one peep at the great second floor millinery store—and one knows that spring is here!

—And with such hats—surely women will not be sorry to know old winter has gone! Why! Many of the hats with their delicate flowers nestled around the brims or peeping up over the crowns, are rivals of which the spring's rarest flowers may well be jealous.

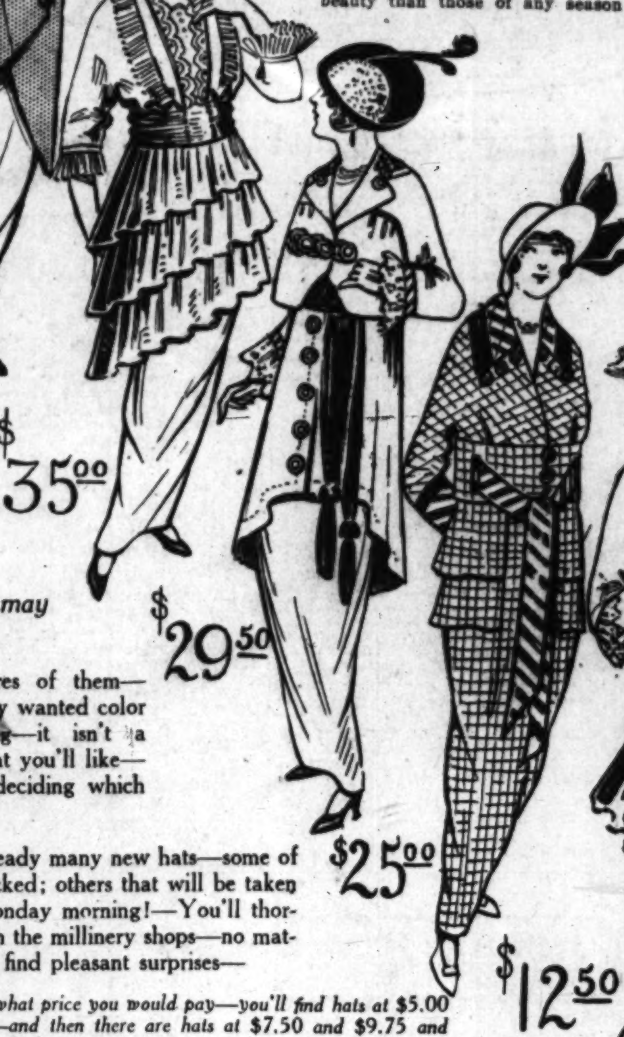


—Hats—scores and scores of them—every wanted straw—every wanted color—every wanted trimming—it isn't a question of finding one that you'll like—rather it's a question of deciding which one you like best.

—Monday there will be ready many new hats—some of which are just being unpacked; others that will be taken from their boxes early Monday morning!—You'll thoroughly enjoy a trip through the millinery shops—no matter where you look, you'll find pleasant surprises—

—And it doesn't matter what price you would pay—you'll find hats at $5.00 that are really wonders—and then there are hats at $7.50 and $9.75 and $12.50 and on up just as high as you care to pay—

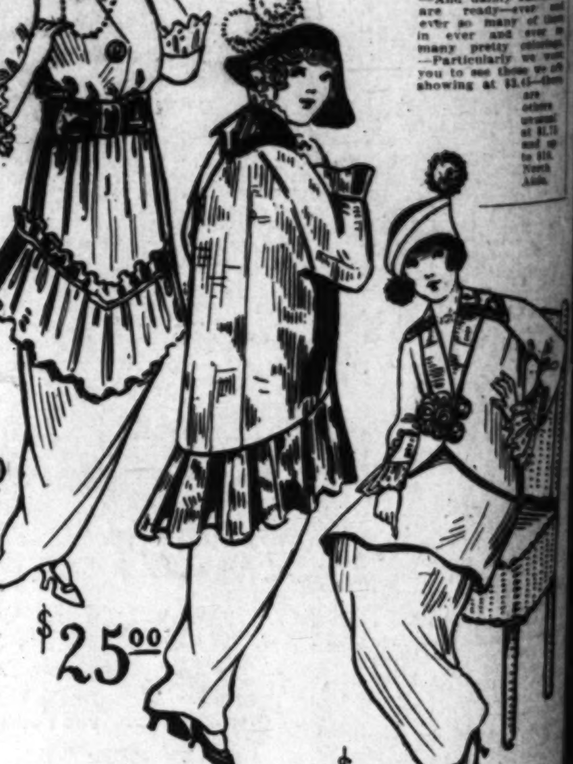
—See the window display of hats today—they'll have a great story to tell—



Sun shades

—Old Sol is creeping up in the sky so high, and he has polished himself up so bright, that a sunshade is quite a necessity now even though the spring is hardly here!—

—And dainty sunshades are ready—ever and ever so many of them in ever and ever so many pretty colorings. —Particularly we want you to see those we are showing at [illegible]—there are others [illegible] at $1.75 and up to [illegible]. North Aisle.



Gorgeous 21-in. plumes $5.95

—How these splendid plumes came to us to us to sell at this low price would make a very interesting story to tell—but there isn't room in this small advertisement—so we merely announce that the plumes are here—and the plumes themselves will tell a story that will arouse extraordinary enthusiasm!—

—They're all of selected male stock with wide open flues and graceful swaying French heads.

—The color range includes Tango—Russian green—Chartreuse—Emerald—New Blue—Delft Blue—Purple—Light Cherry—Mustard and Black and White.

—Some of these will be in one of the windows for you to see today—a great showing of them will be ready on the second floor Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

Waists--bewildering creations of soft laces and of rich silks

—You should have seen them as they were being taken from their boxes yesterday—each one that was unpacked was just a little prettier than the one that came before—all of them were delightful with their ruffles and flowers and drapes of lace—many of them have gorgeous colored silks that peep out from under the laces much like the early spring flowers peep out from under the grass!

—And particularly you will want to see the new "bag" blouses of crepe de chine. They're delightfully different.

—The color range is prodigal—and the range of prices is so broad that every woman will find one to suit her exactly. Fourth Floor.

Monday is to be the last day of that great clearance of women's and misses' winter coats and suits—hundreds of garments, all are ½ and less at................ $5.00

Basement.

Sale of hand bags—all half price or less............ $1.00

—Think of brand new seal, morocco and novelty leather bags at ½ price and less (in some cases the bags are now marked at but ⅓ to ¼ what they were made to sell for.) —The new tango bags are among them—others in the new Pannier effects and too, there are the staple shopping styles—some are moire—some leather lined—many are fitted with coin purses and mirror. South Aisle.

Bed spreads, $1.85

—Will interest many women who have had an idea that it was impossible to find the kind of spreads they like for less than $2.50 or even more. —These are splendid heavy crocheted spreads, some with neat hemmed edges, others are fringed and have cut corners. They're great big affairs—full 82x96 in.—values that will arouse intense interest—$1.85. Basement.

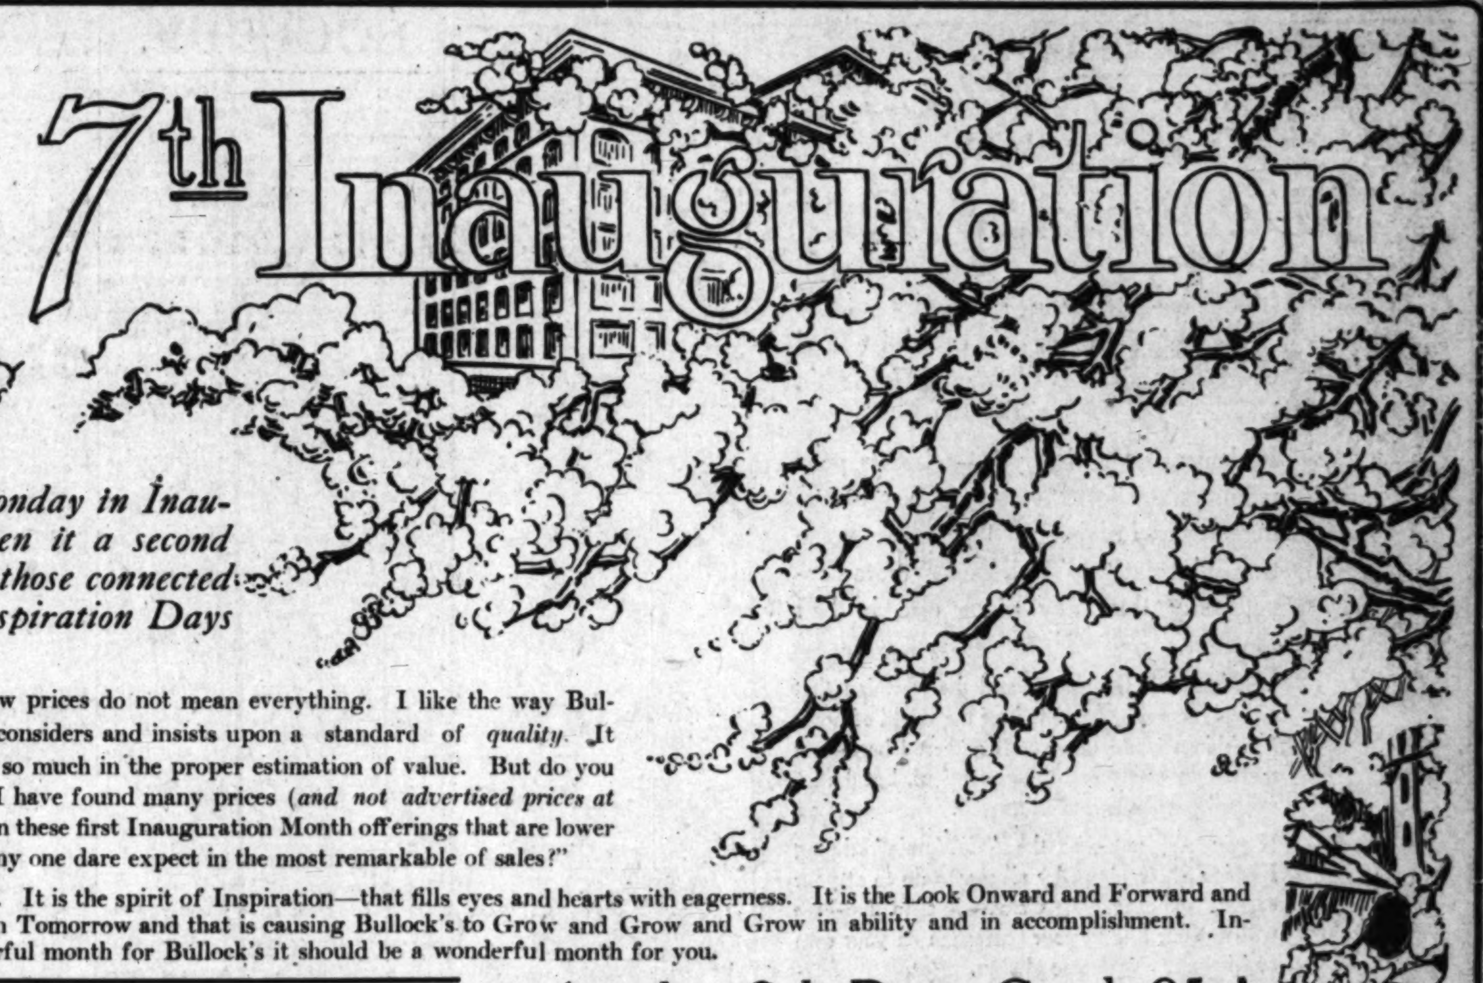
Bullock's 7th Inauguration



"Monday!

—"I certainly am going to Bullock's—It's the first Monday in Inauguration Month—'Inspiration Month,' they have given it a second name—Indeed it is an Inspiration Month, not only for those connected with the business—the past 4 days must have proven Inspiration Days for the thousands of buyers that have filled the store—

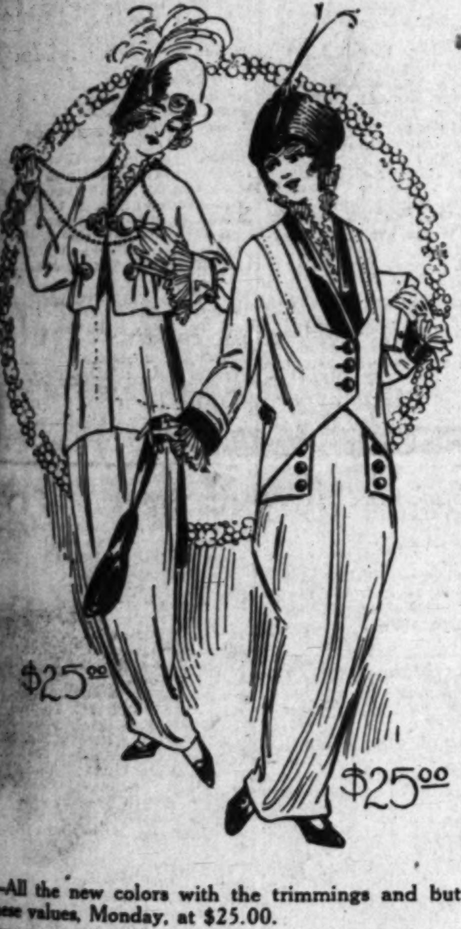
—"It's such a different month from most months of a similar nature—just as Bullock's is such a different store—

—"Instead of emphasizing remarkably low prices, Bullock's has been concentrating emphatically upon new merchandise, upon values that are worth while and upon service—looking forward and considering the possibilities of the future—rather than backward toward what has been done in the past.

—"Low prices do not mean everything. I like the way Bullock's considers and insists upon a standard of quality. It means so much in the proper estimation of value. But do you know I have found many prices (and not advertised prices at that) in these first Inauguration Month offerings that are lower than any one dare expect in the most remarkable of sales?"

—The spirit of Inauguration Month is the spirit of Spring, and of the New Year. It is the spirit of Inspiration—that fills eyes and hearts with eagerness. It is the Look Onward and Forward and Upward spirit that recognizes that the Good in Today may be made the Better in Tomorrow and that is causing Bullock's to Grow and Grow and Grow in ability and in accomplishment. Inauguration Month is a wonderful month for Bullock's, and because it is a wonderful month for Bullock's it should be a wonderful month for you.

"Oh, Just See the Suits at $25



—"Look at the styles! Aren't they pretty—and so new!—and different!—At $25.00! Don't they almost make you rub your eyes and look again to see if you haven't made a mistake in reading this news?"

—And the materials and the tailoring are every bit as attractive as the designing. It's an important feature of Inauguration Month, this suit event at $25.00—A feature that has been planned upon and prepared for with so much care—that, for a time, it was a question whether we would be successful or not. The specifications that Bullock's representative put before the makers (and he would only put them before a few) were of such a character that for a time they merely shook their heads and said, "Impossible!" But Persistency won—together with an explanation of Inauguration Month and its purposes—and then thru the co-operation of a very few, selected from the best suit makers of the world—several score of the most unusual suits we have ever been able to offer at $25 have just come by express to be put forward in a Great Inauguration Event on Monday morning.

—Suits in the new styles, with ruffles, frills, tassels, ornaments, unusual sleeves and smart collar effects—"Different" Coats—Bolero fronts with coat backs—Eton—hip-length styles, some much shorter in front than in back—quaint little shirrings on some, confining the coat at the extreme edge—others with pleats below the smart little back belt—

—An unusual effect in an almost plain tailored model is a wide sash of black moire on the extreme edge of coat in back, with collar and cuffs of same material. There are belted semi-Norfolk and semi-short styles with belt all around, long shoulders and big, loose short line effect—

—Other coats in simple, plain tailored styles with rounded corners, almost straight cut. Some have patch pockets and long revers; others in very plain styles.

—The skirts have double and single tunics, novelty cut tunics and simulated tunics—new peg drapery with deep yoke; others have plain tailored skirts with modified peg-top or straight drapery—

Materials are the new wool crepes, new wool brocades, light weight roughish granite weaves—hard finished serge, fine French serge, new corded weaves, wool repps, hard finished diagonal, figured novelty weaves and novelty crepes—black and white, plain and broken checks—mannish checks in green and brown or navy and green—many unusual black stripes with narrow, medium or wide line, some with a very decided white line—others with broken rough white line—Men's wear gray suiting with indistinct white line—

—All the new colors with the trimmings and buttons in contrasting colors—Also staple navy and black—It's a great offering. Share these values, Monday, at $25.00.

"'Another Sale Dress Goods 95c'

—"It's at Bullock's—an Inauguration Event—They say 'The Values will surpass those in the sale of two weeks ago'—I bought a dress pattern then that I know to be worth more than twice the price I paid."

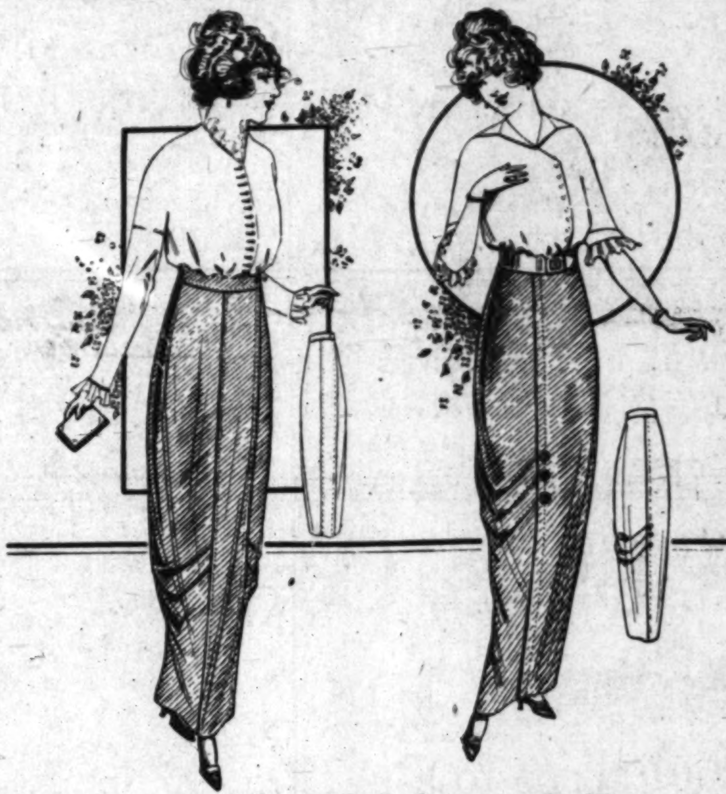
—Yes, indeed, many pieces in this 1267-yard lot are worth more than double the price they are to bring on Monday.

—High grade Woolens—the weaves and weights and shades in demand right now—

—Diagonals, Crepes, Panamas, French Serges, Storm Serges, Bedford Cords, Ratines, Poplins, Brocades.

—Mannish Stripes and Mixtures, 44 to 54-inch widths—

—The color range includes olive, myrtle, bronze, biscuit, taupe, rose, gray, tan, brown, Copenhagen, navy and black.



A Great Skirt-Making Offer

For this first Monday of Inauguration Month

—A man-tailored skirt from any of these fabrics at 95c—will be made to your measure for

"$1.45 for the Making"

—and a slight additional charge for the necessary findings.

—The tailoring will be just as well done as though you paid full regular price for the cloths—nothing will be slighted—fit and workmanship must satisfy the customer before the garments leave the store.

—Several new models from which to choose—Second floor.

"Ottoman" 15c

—27-inch corded Ottoman of firm weave in the three-cord stripe pattern — Solid colors — A splendid fabric for one-piece dresses and children's wear.

—27-inch Crepes, 20c—A sheer, gauzy crepe in every wanted spring color, 20c a yard.

—Crepe Voiles, 15c—The 34-inch width in delicately set patterns.

"'1500 Yds. of Floral Batiste 20c'

—"If it is equal to the batiste I saw a few days ago at 20c I should think that 1500 yards would be too small a lot to last long"—

—Considering the great value of this fabric, it is extremely fortunate that Bullock's was able to get this 1500-yard lot—White and delicately tinted grounds overspread with small floral designs in dainty shadow effects—20c a yard.

—And here's another exceptionally strong Inauguration Month value:

—100 boxes nainsook at $1.35. Exceedingly sheer and delightfully soft nainsook, such as mothers delight to work into babies' clothes—10 yards, neatly boxed—$1.35.

Bullock's Basement Store

"'Sale of Men's Shirts at 89c'

—"Even if they're the shirts they ordinarily sell in the Basement Store at 89c, they deserve a more prominent mention than this——And they're a great lot of very special values—

—Coat style negligee shirts at practically half their average value—the truth of which statement would be recognized at once if the makers' names were mentioned—

—Strictly high grade shirts, mark you—shirts that will appeal to men who are in the habit of paying twice the price quoted—89c. Big assortment of patterns and sizes.

Stockings 5c

—100 dozen pairs for women—

—Black ribbed cotton with double toes and heels and elastic hem tops—just as good as you ordinarily get at double that price, except for little flaws in the knitting, which you can easily fix—

—A limit to purchases, and no 'phone orders.

Lace Curtains 89c

—Brussels and Filet lace designs in curtains that measure 45 inches by 2½ yards — Sounds incredible doesn't it? Eighty-nine cents a pair.

Silk Waists at 69c

—"How can a silk waist be made to sell for 69c?"

—They were NOT made to sell for 69c.

—They are radically underpriced at 69c because they are slightly soiled from handling——Made from messaline, American pongee and brocaded material—Mostly low neck models, some with long sleeves, some with short—Some piped and frilled—69c.

Aprons at 25c

—Bib aprons of percale—

—A new model with lapels over shoulders and straps that cross in the back—Splendid value at 25c.

Sale Men's Balbriggan Underwear at 15c garment, Monday.

Bullock's Basement Store is a great center for Inauguration Month features—This list of items serves to illustrate.

"'36-Inch All Silk Pongees 50c'

—"Why, real silk pongees of that width usually cost about twice that price—This must be another Inauguration Month surprise"—

—It is. Never mind how it happens—just get here early on Monday and profit by the best offering the Basement Store Silk Section has been able to make in many a month—

—36-inch all-silk pongee of high quality in the present season's most favored shades—apricot, coral, lilac, Copenhagen, light mulberry, cerise, brown, Danish blue, black, natural—50c a yard.

"'Bullock's $5 Trimmed Hats'

—"If the Inauguration Month values are any better than those I saw there last month—they're wonders."—

—See them, Monday—Judge for yourself—

—There are new turban models of olive green hemp, prettily trimmed with ribbon, jet quills and small tailored bows—their shape and the artistic trimming giving them the appearance of far more costly hats.

—Many other smart models in the $5 line, of course.

Values! Spring Dresses $7.95

—Attractive, yes—they're cut in spring's most approved models.

—Serviceable, too—they're made from sturdy serges and crepes, most of them in navy blue, although there are plenty in brown, Copenhagen and black. Peg-top skirts, plain cuts and tiered effects.

—Nothing gaudy, nothing pretentious—just sensible, serviceable garments in pleasing styles at a price you will be pleased to pay—Buy them Monday at $7.95.

New "Balmacaan" Coats $8.95

—This season's most pronounced novelty in coat styles—made from black and white checks, fancy cloths and smart mixtures—$8.95—A surprise.

"Allover Laces 59c

—"There's many a chance to save half"—

—34 to 42-inch allovers from the Zion mills—dozens of dainty patterns intended for waists, yokes, guimpes, etc.—White, cream, ecru and black—An Inauguration month offering at 59c a yard.

Camisole Laces, beauties, 19c

—Flouncings, 35c—15 to 17-inch shadow flouncings suitable for summer waists, 35c a yard.

—Silk Edges, 10c—2½ to 4-inch widths in neat designs—black and white—10c yd.

Union Suits 35c

—Men's cotton ribbed garments sharply underpriced to effect a quick stock adjustment—35c a suit.

Dresses at 49c

—For girls of 2 to 6 years—

—Percales and ginghams in styles that are practical as well as pretty—splendid values at 49c.

Petticoats $1.95

—Silk of course—a splendid quality of messaline in gray, blue, black, pink, pale blue, yellow, tan — and some in two-tone effects—Carefully made, have well stitched seams, pleated or tucked flounces—Strong values at $1.95.

Wash Suits 50c

—For boys of 2½ to 10 years. New styles in chambray, percales and linene, neatly finished with collars, cuffs and belts of contrasting color, 50c

Better Suits, Coats and Dresses for $15
Than You'd Expect to Buy for $20 or $25

The Empire's reputation as the largest upstairs cloak and suit house in the country is being strengthened this year with the exceptional lines of goods which we are showing. Imagine a beautiful imported French serge suit, peau-de-cygne lined, trimmed in the latest style, cut along the very smartest lines, with the short coat and the clinging skirt,—imagine, we say, getting such a suit as this for $15! And yet we're selling such suits every day, not only in serge, but in the newest fabrics and in the latest shades.

Coats

The coats in smart short lengths. In all of the new imported weaves, richly woven, richly colored, splendidly made, faultlessly tailored. A full range of sizes, of course.

Dresses

The dresses in silks, in woolens, in all of the fabrics that appeal to discriminating women for Spring wear. In all colors, and in sizes from 14 misses to 44 bust.

Best Suits On Earth $25

More of those suits. A bigger line than we have ever shown before. Better styles than we have ever shown. Better values than we have ever shown. And you who are familiar with the Empire store realize that invariably we have shown $35 and $40 values for $25. If these present values are better, what a wonderful opportunity is yours!

Auction Bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter McClelland of No. 811 Burlington avenue were host and hostess Thursday evening at an auction bridge complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Warden Ballinger Roberts of Spokane. Below stairs a spring garden scene was formed of peach blossoms and other flowers, while above stairs everything was in carnations and ferns. Score cards were hand decorated with girls' figures, and five prizes were awarded. An elaborate supper was served at midnight. Mr. and Mrs. McClelland were assisted by their daughters, Mrs. Francis Earle Brown and Miss Willie McClelland.

Invitations were accepted by Dr. and Mrs. Henry Sharp Cheney, Dr. and Mrs. Cecil R. Luton, Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Oakley, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Rosher, Mr. and Mrs. William Booth Guyton, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Blake Griffith, Dr. and Mrs. John Y. Oldham, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Fitzgerald, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Foster, Mr. and Mrs. George Easton, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Haas, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ford Howland, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brush, Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Marcher, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sumner Kent, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Ballantine, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McCubbins, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Finley, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O'Donnell, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Harby, Col. and Mrs. J. T. Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sherer, Mrs. T. E. Patterson, Mrs. R. J. Hancock, Mrs. Norton D. Whitley, Miss Bernice Marcher, S. P. Bartlett, J. L. Dabbs and Richard Oakley, Jr.

At Hotel Huntington.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bailey of Cleveland, accompanied by their sister, Miss Vera Bailey, are passing the winter at the Huntington in Pasadena.

Orphans' Outing.

An outing was given recently to the children of the Jewish Orphans' Home by the guests of the Hotel Germain. They were taken to Pasadena for a ride, where refreshments were served at the Chocolate Shop, after which they visited the Busch Gardens, passing a very pleasant and enjoyable afternoon. Automobiles were furnished by Mrs. E. Firth, Mrs. G. Isaacson, Mr. Russakov, Mrs. Sharp, Mrs. Driesbach, Mr. Klatscher, Max Newmark, Kasper Cohn and Mrs. J. Schlesinger. The hostesses were Mrs. I. Brown, Mrs. H. J. Livingston and Mrs. I. Ginsburg.

Coming Party.

An affair which a choice circle of young people are anticipating with pleasure is the dance which Mrs. William Dieterle is giving Saturday night, March 14, in honor of Miss Marcella Mahan. It is to take place at the fine old Dieterle home, The Jungles, Nr. 237 Pasadena avenue. Seventy invitations are out. Mrs. Alice B. Mahan will receive with Mrs. Dieterle.

Picnic Party.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Smith entertained a picnic party at their suburban home in Glendale last week, honoring friends from Iowa. At the large table set beneath the trees there were places for Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Huttenbocker, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Provolt, Miss Githens, Miss Hildebrand, Miss Smith, Miss Thompson, Mrs. Julia Walker, Mrs. Barhydt, Mrs. Byers, Mrs. Perhius, Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Nelson.

Hill-Delano Wedding.

At the home of the groom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Teachout, of No. 347 Eagle Rock avenue, was held a wedding of interest, February 26, when Miss Ethel Maud Hill of Nebraska was united in marriage with Frank Louis Delano of Surrey, Cal. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Dan Amos Trundle, pastor of the Highland Park Christian Church. For the occasion the home was elaborately decorated.

Ocean Voyage.

Los Angeles people who left San Francisco Tuesday on the Oceanic liner Sonoma for Australia, include Mr. and Mrs. Burpey Bird, Mr. and Mrs. R. Denney, Robert Harper Denney, A. Mennel, Mr. Telfer, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. St. John, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ball, H. M. Best, Mr. Llewellyn, Mrs. Emma Poplin, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Cornell and Miss Portia Poplin.

Five Hundred Party.

A Five Hundred party was given a day or so ago by Mrs. Maude Pearring, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Crissey of No. 1802 North Wilton place. Mrs. E. F. Shimerda, sister of the hostess, who recently came here from South Dakota, to reside, was present as honored guest. The hospitality was shared by Mrs. Dorsey Whitelaw, Mrs. Bernard Wessel, Mrs. Lawrence Stoll, Mrs. Keith Koons, Mrs. Armond A. Normandin, Mrs. Lloyd Green, Miss Margaret Stoll, Miss Helen Hickson, Miss Rose Mary O'Conner, Miss Stella Graham, Miss Cora Baird, Miss Esther Olson, Miss Hazel Sparling, Miss Elizabeth Cunningham and Miss Conroy.

Mrs. Stoll Presides.

Mrs. Lawrence Stoll of No. 1843 Loma Linda street, had as guests last week members of the Du Belle Card Club, whom she entertained at her home.

Dancing Party.

Miss Nell Howard Murray entertained with a dancing party at her home, No. 2248 West Thirteenth street, Monday evening. The rooms were filled with spring flowers and a buffet supper was served. The hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. F. H. Murray, and Mrs. M. H. Thompson.

Enjoyable Affair.

A progressive dinner was enjoyed Tuesday evening by a party of ten, who gathered at the home of Mrs. Lewis Head of Manzanita avenue, for the cocktail course. The rooms were bright with pink cherry blossoms. Mrs. D. D. Ringo entertained with the soup course and decorated her table with a moud of violets and ferns.

The meat and salad course was given by Mrs. Fred W. Ross and Miss Helen Dickey at the home of the latter, No. 1812 Berendo place. Here a red, white and blue scheme was carried out. The table centerpiece was an immense group of red and white carnations tied with a large blue tulle bow. Smilax was festooned from the chandeliers to the corners of the table. Small American flags were used for the place cards and red and blue candles completed the decorations.

Delicious desert was enjoyed at the home of Miss Viroque Baker, of Vine street. Yellow shaded candelabra lighted the table while a mass of yellow mustard constituted pretty table flowers. Candles lighted the entire house, casting a beautiful glow over the rooms. The young people were conveyed about in automobiles and later went to the home of Miss Helen Dickey and spent a merry time dancing.

Card Party Successful.

Flags were used to decorate Wilcox Hall, Tuesday afternoon, when the members of the Hollywood Woman's Auxiliary to the Children's Hospital entertained with a benefit card party from 2:30 to 5 o'clock. Forty-seven tables were placed for cards. The prizes were dainty teacups and saucers, one being given at each table. Punch was served by Marjory Lindsay, Rosa Sanberg, Elizabeth Brown and Helen Stern.

Bride-elect Honored.

Mrs. Frank D. McDowell and Mrs. Gail M. McDowell presided last week at an afternoon affair at the home of the later, No. 946 North Mariposa, honoring Miss Louise Heneningsen of Lyons, Iowa, who will be married here in April.

A bowl of acacia blossoms constituted the table centerpiece. All appointments were attractively carried out in a yellow scheme. The little nut basket, hand-painted with cupids, were favors of the occasion.

P.E.O. Meeting.

A pleasant afternoon was enjoyed by members of the Hollywood Chapter of the P.E.O. Society, Thursday, when they were entertained at the Huntley apartments by Mrs. Percy Lane. A most enjoyable musical programme, in charge of Mrs. Boothe, was given.

Those taking part were Mrs. Christopher Eccles, Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. Harry W. Hanson, Mrs. C. Weston Clark and Miss Anna Hoff. Mrs. Boothe concluded the programme with readings of a clever musical parody on "A Symphony."

D.A.R. Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Hollywood Chapter of the D.A.R. was held at the residence of the president, Mrs. L. Frank Baum, of "Ozcot," Cherokee avenue, Hollywood. Mrs. Ida J. Walker assisted the hostess and Mrs. G. G. Detzer gave a reading. A delicious luncheon was served at 2 o'clock.

Sorority News.

Members of the Alumnae Chapter of the Beta Phi Sorority of the University of Southern California were hostesses to the active members and pledges recently, entertaining at the home of Miss Mary Fall. Several musical numbers were rendered by Mrs. C. H. Keefer, Miss Virgie Lee Moore, Miss Nina Robinson and Miss Frances Mallory.

Two Bridge Parties.

The home of Mrs. Edwin O. Palmer of Yucca street, Hollywood, was the scene of two pretty parties last week when Mrs. Ella M. Hoar and Mrs. P. Palmer entertained with bridge. Assisting the hostesses Friday were Mrs. James Carpenter, Mrs. Lucinda Levenworth, Mrs. James Morgan, Mrs. L. G. Somers and Mrs. Weber. First, second and third prizes were awarded Mrs. Hunt, Mrs. R. P. McJohnson and Miss Winstanley.

Saturday the following friends assisted about the rooms: Mrs. Albert Walker, Mrs. Charles Robert Paul, Mrs. Walter E. Deering, Mrs. Eugene Parker, Miss Clara Palmer and Miss Blanche de Longpre. Prizes went to Mrs. E. F. Bogardus, Mrs. Collier and Mrs. Frank W. Hance.

Birthday Dinner.

Mrs. Charles E. Toberman of No. 1761 North Harvard boulevard gave a birthday dinner party last evening honoring the tenth birthday of her daughter, Miss Janette. The table was attractively decorated with red baskets, George Washington hatchets and flags. The guests played games from 4 until 5:30 o'clock.

Favors and place cards were laid for Margaret and Katherine Woodside, Lois Stratton, Elizabeth Lippincott, Merriam Hanson, Janet Clarke, Griselda Cochran, Edith Davis, Homer Toberman and Katherine and Janette Toberman.

Miss Sparling Honored.

Mrs. Bertha E. Welfare of Alhambra was hostess recently at a dinner-dance with which she complimented Miss Hazel Dean Sparling, who will soon become the bride of George Albert Tilton, Jr. Jonquils in the dining-room and peach blooms in the drawing-room formed a pretty setting. Dainty slippers filled with rice marked covers for eighteen.

From Iowa and Napa.

Mrs. G. W. McClary and Miss Opal McClary of No. 4611 Clarissa avenue, Hollywood, are entertaining as house guests Mrs. Anna Goodenough of Iowa and Mrs. E. B. Carhart of Napa, Cal.

Birthday Surprise.

In celebration of the birthday anniversary of James Payne Clark, Mrs. Clark entertained with a surprise stag dinner at their home, No. 429 St. Andrews place. The hostess, who was assisted by Mrs. Alfred Burns, used violets and jonquils in decorating the table. Covers were arranged for Edmund Mitchell, James North, Thomas Robinson, Howard Robertson, Alfred Burns, William Mackie, Dr. P. Stoner and Frank Bryand. A huge birthday cake was a pleasing feature.

Club Affair.

Mrs. W. Steele of La Salle avenue had as guests, at a recent meeting, members of the White C Club.

Doffelmeyer-Watson Wedding.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Doffiemeyer of No. 2913 La Salle avenue was the scene of a prettily-appointed wedding a day or so ago, when their daughter, Miss Gladys, changed her name to Mrs. Ernest A. Watson. The ceremony was in charge of Dr. W. Davis and the guests included intimate friends and relatives. The bride was given away by her father, and she was attired in white lace and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley. Miss Mildred Harriman assisted as maid of honor, and Miss Genevieve Beck presided at the piano. Leroy V. Shafer was best man. At the end of a honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs. Watson will reside upon their ranch at Santa Ana.

"Hoodoo Party."

South Pasadena.

ONE of the thoroughly enjoyable and largely attended functions of the week was the tea dansant and auction bridge party given at the Woman's Clubhouse Friday afternoon by Mrs. Robert Gortner, Mrs. W. D. Newerf and Mrs. William H. Harrison for the benefit of the furnishing fund of the new clubhouse. Assisting ladies were Mrs. B. F. Huntington, Mrs. Norman Foote Marsh, Mrs. George C. Bush, Mrs. Otis Byers ...ster, Mrs. Grace Hudson, Mrs. ... I. Bishop, Mrs. George F. ..., Mrs. Mary L. Stringfellow, Mrs. J. P. Whitmore, Mrs. Charles ... and Mrs. Frank Stephens. The feathery yellow acacia and calla ... combined with potted palms and ferns were used in an effective decoration, making a fitting background for the handsome gowns of those attending. Games of auction bridge were enjoyed from 2 to 4 o'clock, and those not caring for cards, brought needlework. From 4 to 6 o'clock the tea dansant was in progress, with dainty refreshments served. Handsome prizes were awarded for the games of cards and 300 guests were included.

Mrs. Wilfred Frye of Camden, N. J., is the house guest of her aunt, Mrs. E. L. B. Godfrey. Yesterday Mrs. Godfrey with her niece and Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Godfrey enjoyed a motor trip to Riverside, where they will stop at the Glenwood Inn, until Monday, and then motor through that valley before returning home.

Mrs. Carl McStay entertained with a luncheon at her home Tuesday afternoon, honoring the members of the Las Amigas Auction Bridge Club. Crystal baskets filled with fresias centered the small tables at which luncheon was served. and placed about the rooms were peach blossoms and scrub oak branches. Tables were arranged for games of cards, following luncheon, and Mrs. Harrison was high score winner. Mrs. Lionel Redpath was a special guest of the afternoon, and members present were Mrs. Robert Gortner, Mrs. Ernest V. Mrs. Elizabeth Pazmino of Atlantic City, Miss Kathryn Brierling of Pittsburgh, guests in Los Angeles, Mrs. Mary Stringfellow and Mr. and Mrs. William Boothby Stringfellow, formed a congenial party, that are spending the week end at Hotel Metropole in Avalon. Mrs. Pazmino has just returned from South America, her native country, while Miss Brierling will be married to Robert McAfee of Pittsburgh, upon her return to that city. Next week the ladies will take a trip to Mt. Lowe and then journey to San Diego, where they will spend a week at Hotel Grant, Mrs. Mary Stringfellow, accompanying them.

The fourth of the series of dancing parties given in the Women's Clubhouse by the Oneonta Dancing Club occurred Friday evening and hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. David A. Vail, Mrs. Clarendon Foster, Mrs. Albert Doerr, Mrs. Charles Bennett, Mrs. George Wardman and Mrs. John Machin. The clubhouse was most attractively arranged with masses of golden acacia and potted ferns, while in the dining-room, where refreshments were served at intermission, the tables were enlivened with low bowls of jonquils. Presiding at the coffee urns were Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Doerr.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Thompson are entertaining a number of relatives and friends who are passing a month in this city. They include Mr. and Mrs. George B. Thompson and two children of Spokane, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Dickson and baby of High River, Can., and Messrs. Alex J. Kelly and Roy L. Green of Alberta, Can.

Wednesday saw a pretty display of delicately-tinted wild flowers of every color and sort used in the decoration of the home of Mrs. John N. Hunt, No. 1300 Lyndon street, when she entertained the members of the Wednesday Kensington Club and a few special guests with a luncheon. The luncheon was served on trays which were coolly attractive with corsages of violets, intermingled with maidenhair fern. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. F. M. McKinney, Mrs. Harry Hunt and Miss Grace Hunt. The special guest of honor was Miss Caroline Barrett of Urbana, O., who is the house guest of Mrs. Sarah E. Hunt, No. 1133 Meridan avenue, and Los Angeles guests were Mrs. W. G. Cochrane, Mrs. H. H. Hill and Mrs. A. Cable, and members Mrs. John W. Moore, Mrs. Rebecca Cairns, Mrs. Thomas Gifford, Mrs. Z. L. Monrovia.

AMONG the pleasant social events of the week may be numbered the delightful luncheon given Tuesday by Mrs. Eva Rehrman at her home on West Palm avenue to a number of friends, complimentary to a visitor from Mendota, Iowa, Mrs. Bowen, mother of Mrs. H. Russell Greaves of this city. The luncheon was a yellow and white affair, sprays of acacia being effectively employed in the decoration of the dining and living-rooms, while yellow daffodils were used to form the centerpiece on the luncheon table. Dainty favors of yellow baskets filled with delicious home-made candies completed the decorative scheme. Following the luncheon Mrs. Rehrman's guests were entertained with a number of piano selections by Miss Eva Rehrman, and the afternoon spent in an informally social way, while the guests busied themselves with their needlework. The list of guests included Mrs. Bowen, Mendota, Iowa; Mrs. H. Russell Greaves, Mrs. John Greaves, Mrs. Nettie M. Wickham, Mrs. F. A. Dupar, Mrs. George Lord, Mrs. Mary Dyer and Mrs. B. S. Davies.

Mrs. Claude Chess was hostess to the members of the Octo Club at her home on West White Oak avenue on Thursday afternoon.

Miss Eleanor Hornby, who spent her childhood in Monrovia, was a guest last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bovee, and on Thursday evening was complimented with a charming party given by Mrs. Bovee and her daughter, Mrs. Howard Irwin. The guests included the members of the S.H.R. Club. A pleasant evening of music was passed, at the conclusion of which dainty refreshments were served. Miss Hornby recently graduated from the University of Michigan School of Music, and has already won many friends in the musical world by her charming voice, which is a big, clear soprano.

The Orange-avenue Parent-Teacher Association tendered Principal Thompson, now head of that school, an informal reception on Friday evening.

Miss Helen Gillogly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Gillogly, celebrated her seventh birthday by inviting a number of her friends to a lawn party at her home on West Palm on Tuesday afternoon. Children's games passed the time quickly, and delicious refreshments, in which a great birthday cake figured prominently, closed the pleasant occasion.

Mrs. M. E. Spellicy was hostess to the ladies of St. Luke's Guild on Wednesday afternoon. Lenten work occupied the members of the guild, and a start was made on a box of clothing for the Indians of the Tanana Episcopal Mission in Alaska.

Mrs. Julia Moore gave a pleasant dinner party in honor of Mrs. H. A. Key and Mrs. Estes and Miss Estes, old friends from the East. Pink roses and ferns were used in the table decorations and covers were laid for eight.

Miss Dorothy Beath entertained the O.F.F. Club Saturday evening. Cherry blossoms and flags were the decoration used throughout the rooms. Several interesting games were enjoyed during the evening. Miss Stella Huestis, Miss Truman, Miss Anna Megilligan and Miss Purle Gillette were the fortunate winners. Later in the evening the guests were invited in the dining-room, where an appetizing luncheon was served. Those who attended were: Misses Mary Richardson, Purle Gillette, May Doty, Anna Megilligan, Stella Huestis, Beryl Jeter, Alice Hoyt, Marguerite and Lucile Burch, Mrs. Gee and Miss Mason.

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Carle Phinney was the scene of one of the most delightful events in the history of this city, when, on Thursday evening, the members of the Twentieth Century Club celebrated their founders' day. The entertainment for the evening was in the form of a course cabaret dinner. The first course had just been finished, when a chord on the piano announced the first number on the programme. Great was the surprise of the guests when they saw ten charming waitresses file into the room and give a pretty drill before going to their separate tables. These young ladies were: Misses Purle Gillette, Ellen Galpin, Frances and Erna Heerzog, Lois Candee, Anna Megilligan, Comfort Hemstreet, Marguerite and Lucile Burch and Mrs. Gee. After the drill Mr. Truman rendered two songs. The next number came at the end of the second course. It was several steps of the tango, danced by Mrs. H. L. Rhodes and Mrs. James Gray. Between the third and fourth courses the Misses Erna and Frances Herzog sang two beautiful duets. Then followed the club song.

Hope For Bald Heads

Well Known Politician Nearly Bald, Now Has Heavy Growth of Hair.

Tells How He Did It.

A western politician, well known on account of his baldness and his ready wit, surprised his friends by appearing with a heavy growth of hair. Many of his friends did not know him, and others thought he had a wig. On being asked how he did it, he made the following statement: "I attribute the growth of my hair to the following simple recipe, which any lady or gentleman can mix at home: To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth oz. of glycerine. Apply to the scalp two or three times a week with the fingertips. It not only promotes the growth of the hair, but removes dandruff, scalp humors and prevents the hair from falling out. It darkens streaked, faded, gray hair and makes the hair soft and glossy. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost and mixed at home."—[Advertisement.

Many Operations Avoided

WHILE of course there are serious cases of feminine ills that nothing but a surgical operation will remedy, the indisputable fact remains that hundreds of operations have been avoided by the wonderful medicinal virtue of

and the very best proof of this is the unsolicited and grateful letters of the recovered ones themselves. By special permission we publish here four of them out of hundreds we have:—

Logansport, Ind.—"My baby was over a year old and I bloated till I was a burden to myself. I suffered from female trouble so I could not stand on my feet and I felt like millions of needles were pricking me all over. At last my doctor told me that all that would save me was an operation, but this I refused. I told my husband to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I would try it before I would submit to any operation. He did so and I improved right along. I am now doing all my work and feeling fine. I hope other suffering women will try your Compound. I will recommend it to all I know."—Mrs. DANIEL D. B. DAVIS, 110 Franklin Street, Logansport, Ind.

Decatur, Ill.—"I was sick in bed and three of the best physicians said I would have to be taken to the hospital for an operation as I had something growing in my left side. I refused to submit to the operation and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and it worked a miracle in my case, and I tell other women what it has done for me."—Mrs. LAURA A. GRISWOLD, 2300 Blk. East William Street, Decatur, Ill.

Cleveland, Ohio.—"My left side pained me so for several years that I expected to have to undergo an operation, but the first bottle I took of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of the pains in my side and I continued its use until I became regular and free from pains. I had asked several doctors if there was anything I could take to help me and they said there was nothing that they knew of. I am thankful for such a good medicine and will always give it the highest praise."—Mrs. C. H. GRIFFITH, 7305 Madison Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine.

Charlotte, N.C.—"I was in bad health for two years, with pains in both sides and was very nervous. I had a growth which the doctor said was a tumor, and I never would get well unless I had an operation. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I gladly say that I am now enjoying fine health."—Mrs. ROSA SIMS, 16 Winona St., Charlotte, N.C.

It would seem wise before undergoing an operation to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

RELIABLE TESTIMONY.—All our testimonials are guaranteed to be genuine and truthful. They came to us entirely unsolicited and are sincere expressions of gratitude for actual benefits received from the medicine.—THE LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. CO., LYNN, MASS.

SWELLDOM SUITS ARE AUTHENTIC REPRODUCTIONS OF PARIS MODELS

At $25 to $65

Serge Wool Crepe

All the New Silks

Premet's Suits are much admired by the Younger Generation because they have so many little touches that stylish women like—for instance, curious bone buckles, box pleating on tunics, and the most fascinating of collars.

However, Paul Poiret's new suit, with the cord-laced armholes, will surely become a favorite. It is unique and it is feminine.

Then, too, there are productions of the best models from the collections of Bernard, Callot, Piper, Martial et Armand.

Sure Way to Regain Robust Bloom of Youth.

A smooth, velvety-soft skin, with a delicate peach-like bloom, is one of the Creator's most exquisite works. When the first blush of youth is over, this beautiful tint and satiny luster are rarely seen. How to preserve them—that's the question. Famous beauty experts abroad long have known that ordinary mercolised wax works wonders in this direction. It actually gives a new surface to the skin, restoring that marvelous girlish color and softness in a remarkable manner. An ounce of this wax, procurable at any drug store, will convert a faded, freckled, worn-out or discolored complexion into one of captivating loveliness in less than two weeks. No special skill is necessary in applying the wax, it being smeared on at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning.

To remove wrinkles, or delay their formation, a face bath made by dissolving 1 ounce powdered saxolite in ½ pint witch hazel will be found wonderfully efficacious. This tones up relaxed skin, causing it to remain firm and smooth

Information for All Lung Sufferers

Would you like to know more about a remedy for Lung Trouble which has brought about many complete recoveries? The makers of Eckman's Alterative are in receipt of many really wonderful reports, and will be pleased to forward to you copies of original letters and also booklet on diet and proper care needed in recovering health. Investigate this case:

1619 Susquehanna Ave., Phila, Pa.

"Dear Sir: For two years I was afflicted with hemorrhages of the lungs, and in February of 1902 I was taken with a severe attack of pneumonia. When I recovered sufficiently to walk about the house I was left with a frightful hacking cough, which no medicine I had taken could alleviate. It was at this time, March, 1902, that I started taking Eckman's Alterative. In a short time my cough was gone and I was pronounced well. I cannot speak too highly for the good it has done."

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Sold by The Owl Drug Company and leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.

SOCIETY.

shortly for San Francisco and an extended trip through Northern California.

Mrs. J. T. Mason gave an informal Sunday night tea on March 1 at which twenty-five guests were present.

Harry E. Coffey of La Vegas, Nev., arrived here last Friday and spent several days with his sister, Miss Annis B. Coffey, who is now residing on Central boulevard.

On Wednesday, March 4, Thomas Lambert entertained the Sierra Madre tennis aggregation. Many sets of tennis were played by the local experts and many amateurs patronized the game. Light luncheon was served.

Miss Annis B. Coffey, who is known in this section as one of the most interesting and charming social leaders, attended a meeting of the Cliff Dwellers' Association at the residence of Mrs. George Cole of Los Angeles. An interesting lecture with illustrations was given by Dr. George Cole, the well-known archeologist of Michigan, who, for sixteen years has been excavating the ruins of the Cliff Dwellers of Colorado and Arizona in the interest of several colleges and schools. Germany has purchased one of the collections of 3800 pieces of pottery, baskets and other ware, which Dr. Cole obtained in these ruins.

The Woman's Club House is being altered for the flower show next month. Many house parties are being arranged for this event and great preparations are being made for a dance and concert on the final evening of the exhibition, April 4.

Miss Gertrude Tucker left here last week for a visit of several weeks' duration with relatives in Portland, Or.

Mrs. Frank Gresham and daughter arrived here from San Francisco to remain at the home of her mother and brother for a short stay.

Rev. Dr. George H. Cornell, rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Ascension, is holding Wednesday night services with a full surpliced choir in attendance. A series of short addresses are being delivered.

Tropico.

A LARGE audience attended the vaudeville show given by the Tropico Thursday Afternoon Club Wednesday evening. It was the first appearance of the Lyric Club, of the music section of the Tropico club, and the selection rendered received a generous encore. The programme consisted of numbers by A. J. Van Wie, Miss Ethel Baker, Miss Katherine Hobbs, Frances Boothe, Harriet Barnes, Ferdinand C. Regali, Owen Rhodes and Mary Jane Darline. Mrs. Elinor Lincoln Brown and company, who staged the vaudeville performance, closed the programme with a farce, "Behind the Curtain." Dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

Tropico added another woman's club to the many that now are attended by the literary, musical and progressive women of this city. The latest one to be launched will be known as the Kensington Club, and will meet monthly. The club originated among the members of the N. P. Banks Women's Relief Corps and the first meeting was held at the home of Mrs. L. S. Jenkins Wednesday afternoon. The hostess was chosen as president and Mrs. Julina Hayes secretary and treasurer. The membership includes Mrs. David H. Imler, Mrs. George Peck, Mrs. M. R. Heafke, Mrs. Nathan Burlingham, Mrs. W. R. Light, Mrs. Fred Spear, Mrs. C. A. Augustus, Mrs. Elizabeth Spafford, Mrs. Jack Hammond, Mrs. Abbie Haskell, Mrs. W. A. Hough, Mrs. J. H. Dibbern, Mrs. Will Tiffany, Mrs. Delia Hapgood, Mrs. Mary Borthick, Mrs. Burt Burlingham, Mrs. D. F. Richards, Mrs. J. H. Neal, Mrs. C. F. Taylor and Mrs. H. G. Morehead

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Ayres entertained with a dinner party Sunday complimentary to relatives from Nebraska, who are passing the winter in Southern California. The table decorations consisted of delicately-tinted peach blossoms. Seated with the host and hostess were M. O. Ayres, brother of the host, who is a retired banker of Dakota City, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs. George Carter, Cody, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs. Homer Skeen, Omaha, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar S. Ayres, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Mosher, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Ayres, Stuart Ayres, Merton and Robert Mosher.

Announcement has been received of the marriage of Marion A. Banker of Tropico and Miss Linda Rugge of Spokane, Wash. The wedding occurred at the home of the bride in Spokane, Thursday. Mr. Banker, who is connected with the United States Navy, with headquarters in Spokane, is a scion of two of the oldest and most highly respected families of this section of Southern California, being a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Ayres of Tropico and nephew of Joseph Banker of Glendale.

Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Bahrenberg, of "Twin Pines," West Park avenue, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bahrenberg, at the home of the latter in Los Angeles, Wednesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bahrenberg leave for their future home in Redlands the latter part of the week.

Mrs. Mary J. Bollom returned Wednesday after a four-months' visit with relatives and friends in Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas.

Mrs. L. C. Rice of Lindsay, who has been visiting here, left Wednesday evening for her home. She will later go to Sacramento with Mr. Rice for an extended visit.

Glendale.

IN CHARMING style Mrs. A. Lucas Smith entertained twenty-five eastern friends at her home, No. 305 Adams street, Tuesday afternoon, the affair being given in the form of an "orchard luncheon." A long prettily-appointed table was erected in the garden and was attractively decorated with an abundance of spring blossoms and oranges. A large cluster of fresh-cut flowers served admirably as a centerpiece. Mrs. Smith was assisted in entertaining by her daughter, Miss Van Tyne Smith. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Provolt and daughters, Misses Bessie, Mattibelle and Claire, and Mrs. Archer of Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hottenmocker and Miss Githens of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Fish, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Marshal, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Marshall, Mrs. W. Barhyte, Mrs. Major Bowers and Mrs. Thompson of Des Moines, Mrs. W. Walker and cousin, of Illinois, Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of Lincoln, Neb., Mrs. D. H. Perkins of Monrovia and Mrs. H. Nelson of Santa Ana.

At the regular annual meeting of the Glendale lodge of Elks held Monday evening, the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year: Exalted Ruler, William Herman West; Esteemed Leading Knight, Stephen C. Parker; Esteemed Loyal Knight; Dr. H. G. Martin, Esteemed Lecturing Knight; George Melford, Secretary; L. D. Clements, Treasurer; Herman Nelson, tyler, B. A. Kendall; Trustees, for three years, George Payne; delegate to Denver convention, Peter L. Ferry; Alternate, L. D. Clements.

Under the auspices of the Glendale Tuesday Afternoon Club a "Scotch and Irish folk lore and song" programme was given Thursday evening in this city by Miss Harriet Kemp of Los Angeles. Mrs. E. D. Goode, vice-president of the club, presided. Other members of the club who assisted were Mrs. Freeman Kelley, Mrs. William Herman West, Mrs. H. D. Goss, Mrs. Wayland Brown, Mrs. Dan Campbell, Mrs. F. W. Pigg, Mrs. David L. Black, Mrs. Greely Colts, Mrs. C. J. Newcomb, Mrs. J. R. Barrows, Miss Laura Wilford Brown and Misses Martha and Elizabeth Porter.

One of the most pleasant affairs of the week was the late tea given by Mrs. Edward M. Lynch. Violets and ferns were used in the pretty decorations of the various rooms. Among the guests present at this affair were Mr. and Mrs. Jordan Neil, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Neil, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Tower, Miss Gwendolyn Sargent of Pasadena and Harry B. Lynch.

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the Glendale Tuesday Afternoon Club, Mrs. William Herman West and Mrs. Fredrick Baker of No. 109 North Maryland avenue, left Tuesday morning for Santa Barbara, where they are representing the Glendale Club at the Federation of Women's Clubs convention which is being held there.

Mrs. E. S. Dourte entertained recently with a well-appointed dinner party complimentary to her son, Bruce Dourte. The affair was a complete surprise to the young man, and the guests besides the guest of honor, included Messrs. George Marsh, Verne Nyman, William Rees and Edward Seay.

An enjoyable event was the meeting of the Double Five Art Club at the home of Mrs. S. W. Corwin recently.

Mrs. C. F. Parker has just returned from a week's visit with friends in San Bernardino.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Hogue entertained several friends at dinner Tuesday evening. Pale pink Cherokee roses in gorgeous profusion were used in the decorations of the various pretty rooms, these being supported by a quantity of ferns. The table also was florally decorated. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. George B. McCarthy of Emmetsburg, Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. L. Williams of Rex Arms, Los Angeles, Mrs. Charles Brown of Chicago, and Mrs. Thomas Williams.

Dr. Jessie A. Russell of this city went to Santa Barbara early this week to represent the Tropico Thursday Afternoon Club at the convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs which is being held at that place.

—o—

Alhambra.

THE March meeting of the Music Study Club of Alhambra will be held next Saturday evening, March 14, when the members will be entertained by Miss Charlotte Burns and Miss Bernardino Whalen at the home of Miss Burns. The evening's programme will be devoted to a study of negro music, with sketches of plantation life and negro melodies and stories.

A most delightful social afternoon was enjoyed by twenty-five ladies on Tuesday, when Mrs. Matthew Algie and her mother, Mrs. M. V. Bartlett, entertained the members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Methodist Church of Alhambra at their home on South Chapel street. An afternoon was spent in games and music, everything carrying out the celebration of St. Patrick's Day. The guests were given pretty booklets in green, which they used in securing the signatures of all present. Following this a medley of old songs was played, the prize for the best answers being won by Mrs. Lewis.

An informal affair of the past week was the luncheon given by Mrs. W. H. Bahn, when covers were laid for Mrs. Joseph Harker of Bairdstown, Mrs. H. W. Grensted, Mrs. William Harker, Mrs. Harry F. Harker, Miss Muriel Grensted, Miss Lou Harker and the hostess. The afternoon was spent with needlework.

In celebration of her twelfth birthday anniversary Miss Lucile Doty entertained a company of young friends. The afternoon was spent in playing games, after which bountiful refreshments were served, including a gayly-lighted birthday cake with its twelve candles. Those who were present to assist Miss Lucile in her celebration were Miss Myra Thompson, Miss June Carr, Miss Edith Myren, Miss Kathleen Pattison, Miss Grace Johnson, Miss Myrna Stinebaugh, Miss Rosalind Thrall, Miss Constance Clavell and Miss Helen Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. V. G. North have had as their house guests recently Senator and Mrs. W. C. North of Wisconsin and E. B. Owens of Baltimore, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Beckwith of Ramona Park gave a delightful dinner party Thursday, when covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. John H. Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Jacobs and son Edgar, all of Pasadena, and the host and hostess. The affair was in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mr. Beckwith.

The last meeting of the Alhambra Whist Club was held at the beautiful new home of Mrs. Nellie Hatch on North Almansor street, when five tables of whist were played. Prizes for the evening were won by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pike. Following the games delicious refreshments were served by the hostess in the dining-room.

A pretty wedding was that at the home of Mrs. Benzel, when her daughter, Miss Lulu Benzel, was united in marriage to William Thomas Walker of Pasadena. The bride was attended by Miss Jennie Henry of Pasadena, while Glenn Middleton of Glendale served the groom as best man. The service was performed by Rev. H. T. Chisholm, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

The Alhambra Round Table enjoyed an exceptionally pleasant afternoon last Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Sexton on South Garfield avenue, the Grecian entertainment under the supervision of Miss Sarah J. Brierley, the president of the club, and the club entertainment committee, Mrs. Elizabeth Sparks and Mrs. F. H. Joyner, proving a delightful success. Among those present were Mrs. A. Quantrell, Mrs. R. D. Johnson, Mrs. F. R. Cummings, Mrs. J. P. Seay, Mrs. C. D. Wilson, Mrs. T. B. Downer, Mrs. V. V. Bartlett, Mrs. Mary A. Deuel, Mrs. Agnes M. Mercer, Mrs. Nellie E. Hatch, Mrs. G. M. Cameron, Mrs. L. H. McDonald, Mrs. Bessie C. Cope, Mrs. Edith M. Scott, Mrs. G. P. Waring, Mrs. Rose B. Kurtz, Mrs. S. W. Doty, Mrs. C. A. Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Algie, Rev. and Mrs. Charles D. Lewis, Miss Anna Beutler, Miss Mabel Locke, Jean Wilson and Bob Downer.

Santa Ana.

THE "house beautiful" of Mrs. George R. Smith and her daughter, Miss Ella Fyfe, was hospitably opened for the last meting of the Ebell music section, and with members and guests the spacious, inviting parlors were taxed to their capacity. An out-of-the-ordinary programme was presented as the afternoon's topic, "Origin of Vocal Form of Music," took the singers and auditors back into the period between the ninth and sixteenth centuries. Palestrina was the composer uppermost in the programme. A Gregorian chant was sung by a male quartette, Messrs. Maurice Phillips, Harry Garstang, F. C. Rowland and Fred Rafferty, who were guests of the section. A Palestrina number, "Ave Maria," was rendered by Miss Irene Balcom, Mrs. Fyfe, Miss Havens and Mrs. Rafferty. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Rafferty, Mrs. Fyfe and Mr. Phillips sang an Arcadelt (1514) number, "Thy Glory I Sing," and "Matora, Lovely Maiden" (1520.) Mrs. Fyfe read Walter's prize song, "The Meistersingers," and Miss Charlotte Dresser gave a charming talk on a visit she had paid to the home of Hans Sachs, the greatest of the Meistersingers, during a recent European tour.

Mrs. E. H. Darling proved a charming hostess at a small dinner party given Tuesday evening in honor of the birthday of her husband's mother, Mrs. H. S. Gordon. The South Broadway home of the Darlings was made especially attractive by the use of the fairy-like sprays of the wild mustard that adapts itself so happily to decorative schemes where delicacy is sought. White and gold were the tints employed in the elaborate chicken dinner menu and in the table appointments. Yellow tapers adorned the richly-frosted birthday cake when it appeared on the table, the number of the candles corresponding to the number of guests. Pretty remembrances were given to Mrs. Gordon, and dinner covers were laid for the honoree and her husband, Dr. H. S. Gordon, Miss Hope Trickey and Marion Halwk, besides the host and hostess. The evening following was spent in an informally social way.

Mrs. Hugh Hill was hostess at a recent pleasant meeting of the Clover Club, the house having been made doubly charming for the guests by the profuse use of ferns. Pretty bits of needlework provided employment for busy fingers during the afternoon, which terminated hospitably with the serving on individual trays of the collation, which is really the crowning feature of the Clover Club reunions. Fern sprays adorned the trays for each course of the menu, which included cream asparagus tips with hot biscuits and olives, fruit salad with wafers and coffee, followed by a marshmallow course. Individual candelabra of fern green with clover leaf scratchers in the same color were on each tray, and each lady toasted her own share of the marshmallow confections. This club numbers just a round dozen, and all but one member were present at this meeting, including Mmes. Frank Miller, E. L. Eckley, Will Elliott, Fred Blauer, E. A. Bell of Santa Ana, Mmes. Sylvester, Park, Truman Knight and Clyde Newton.

The return of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Watson, whose recent marriage was a Los Angeles event, taking place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Doffemeyer, has been awaited with much interest by the friends of the groom and those who fondly hope to become friends also of the bride, who is a stranger here. A reception for the young couple was given last night by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Watson, at their handsome home on Bush and Seventeenth streets, on the return of the bride and groom from their honeymoon trip. It was entirely an informal affair, the future neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Watson being the guests. A dinner introduced the charming bride, and the evening following was given over to social intercourse. The senior Watsons are people of affluence, who came here a few months ago and invested heavily in valuable residence property in Santa Ana, and in citrus ranches near the famous Red Hill section about

Nurse Proclaims Skin Cure

Myrtle Hahn Says D. D. D. Prescription is Worth Rockefeller's Millions to Her.

"Ten years I suffered with eczema —three years of that time I could not appear in public. My entire body was covered with the disease. I could not eat. I could not sleep. I could not live. I have at last found the great Prescription D. D. D. My body is clean, smooth. If there were one bottle only of D. D. D. in the world and I had it, Mr. Rockefeller's millions could not buy the golden fluid."

Nurse Myrtle Hahn (in care Watts' Hospital, Durham, N. C.)

How about you?

If you have any skin blemish or a little rash, do not let it develop into something more serious. Remember D. D. D. Prescription has been recognized for fifteen years as the standard skin remedy. It always helps, and if used according to directions, it should cure in a short while.

All druggists sell this standard remedy, but if you come to us, we will offer you the first full size bottle with the guarantee that unless it stops the itch at once we will refund the purchase price.

Ask also about D. D. D. skin soap, containing the same healing ingredients. It keeps the skin always clean and healthy.

Corns Go, Sure Pop If You Use "Gets-It"

Simple As A B C—It's the New Way of Curing Corns and Calluses.

If you have corns now the chances are you have never used "GETS-IT," the biggest seller among corn cures ever known. It is the new way, does away with all trouble, pain and fussing in treating corns.

Get the Corns Off Your Feet, and the Corn Wrinkles Off Your Face. Nothing Can Do It Like "GETS-IT."

Thousands who have puttered with old corns for years, have gotten rid of them right off, with a few drops of "GETS-IT," applied as quick as you can spell your name. Corns just love to be cut, picked, filed, gouged and pulled. Quit it. You've tried cotton rings that cause shooting corn pains, greasy salves that spread over the toe and make it raw and tape that sticks to the stockings—now try "GETS-IT." It has none of the drawbacks of the old style corn cures, eases pain and never fails on any corn or callus.

"GETS-IT" is sold by all druggists, 25c a bottle, or sent direct, by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

"GETS-IT" is sold in Los Angeles by The Owl Drug Co.

PE-RU-NA
LAXATIVE-TONIC

Since taking Peruna my bowels have become perfectly regular. I was hardly aware that I was taking a laxative at all. I commenced taking the Peruna for its tonic qualities. It seemed to me I was in need of a tonic. Peruna acted as a splendid tonic in my case, and to my surprise it also regulated my bowels. I am in splendid condition. I am three or four times as capable for business today as I was a month ago. I am sure that the whole credit is due to Peruna.

Those who object to Liquid Medicine will find Peruna Tablets a desirable remedy for CATARRHAL CONDITIONS.

Glendora.

THE marriage of Miss Flora Josephine Jones, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Atlas Jones of Glendora, and Rev. Floyd Jay Seaman was solemnized Sunday at 4 o'clock at the Woman's Clubhouse, in the presence of about 300 guests. A short musical programme preceded the ceremony, and then, to the strains of the Lohengrin Bridal Chorus, the bride passed down the aisle to the chancel, where she was met by the groom. The impressive ring service was used. The bridal couple left to the triumphant music of Mendelssohn's Wedding March. The officiating clergymen were: Rev. Charles B. Dalton, pastor of First Church, Pomona, and a college friend of the groom, and the Rev. Dudley B. Snudden. The bride was gowned in white brocaded satin made en traine and garnitured with lace and rhinestones. A tulle veil, held in place with filets of lilies of the valley, completed the costume. The bride carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The bride was preceded to the altar by her niece, Thelma Jones, as flower girl. She was daintily dressed in white with yellow ribbons, and carried a flower basket filled with jonquils.

The clubhouse was decorated for the occasion in California wild flowers, with yellow as the predominant note. The ushers were Messrs. Keith Suydam, Harold Needham, Hugh Gordon and Raymond Strange. Miss Margaret Higman of Los Angeles presided at the piano, and Thomas Trevor, also of Los Angeles, sang.

Mrs. Seaman is a graduate of the University of California and a post-graduate of Boston University, and is a well-known club woman. The Rev. Mr. Seaman is a graduate of Baldwin University and Drew Theological Seminary, and is at present pastor of the York Boulevard M. E. Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Seaman will be at home to their friends after March 15 at No. 4940 York boulevard, Los Angeles.

Long Beach.

ANNOUNCEMENT of the date of the wedding of Miss Mabel Vale to Charles Hunter was made at a smart affair at the home of Mrs. S. J. Spaulding of the Seward apartments Tuesday afternoon. Miss Vale is to wed April 15. Members of the Phi Beta Phi sorority were guests at the affair. Complimentary guests were Mrs. W. L. Cooper of Des Moines, Iowa, and Mrs. S. S. Burberry of Indianola, Iowa. Mrs. E. T. Hatfield will entertain for Miss Vale at her home on April 1. Many other prenuptial affairs are planned for the popular bride-elect.

Fiends of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sedgewick surprised them Monday evening on the fifteenth anniversary of their wedding. As they were sitting on their front porch, happily contemplating the years of their married existence, the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march were heard, and four little girls bearing baskets of flowers approached.

In commemoration of two wedding anniversaries, a picnic was held at Bixby Park. It was the forty-first anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Flewell, and the eighteenth hymeneal anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Flewell. The guests were old friends who knew the four in South Dakota. William Sandy presided as toastmaster, and each guest responded with an anecdote of one of the principals.

Iowa friends of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Colvin were handsomely entertained Tuesday evening at the Louise. Carnations and other California blossoms were used extensively. The Iowans contrasted the conditions here, where flowers blossomed in March, to their former homes in the Middle West, still bleak and snow-covered hills and vales.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Forster of the Eulilia apartments celebrated fittingly their fourteenth wedding anniversary with a jolly gathering in their apartments. Cards, music and games were enjoyed and refreshments were served. More than a score of friends enjoyed the affair.

Miss Sadie Hough, a bride-elect, was the recipient of a delightful surprise, members of the club of which she is a member presenting her with many gifts after they had appeared unannounced. Refreshments were served.

Miss Georgia Sumner and Miss Julia Lamber were hosts at an excellently appointed luncheon given at the Alexander Cafe roof garden, to a small group of friends. Later the dinner party occupied a box at the Boston Theater.

Mr. and Mrs. Seth Brown celebrated the fourth anniversary of their wedding this week by entertaining a group of friends and relatives in a charming way at their home.

The Alamitos Library Association members held an interesting social session in the library Thursday, the St. Patrick's Day motif predominating. Mesdames Stebbins, Wood and Holloway were hostesses.

Mrs. J. T. Musgrove of East Seventh street entertained the members of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Central M. E. Church Friday afternoon. Mrs. F. B. Holland of Greeley, Colo., conducted a study of Japan.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Aylesworth entertained as week-end guests Mrs. George Aylesworth, Mrs. Martin Shepard and Mrs. H. H. Coan of Los Angeles and Santa Monica.

Venice.

ONE of the social events of the winter season here was the marriage of Miss Eleanor Kopta Wednesday to Eddes Darst, son of a wealthy Salt Lake man. The wedding was at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wenzell Kopta, on Westminster avenue. The service was read by Justice Rennie. Only relatives and close friends were present. The bride wore a traveling frock and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. After a long wedding trip, the couple will settle in Edom, this State. The bride was one of the most popular girls here and her friends vie with one another in giving parties in her honor.

The Seaside Club members celebrated the seventh anniversary of the founding of the club the past week by playing cards at the clubhouse. The organization was started by the late Mrs. Abbot Kinney as the Venice Five Hundred Club, but it is now known as the Seaside Club. After playing cards, the ladies adjourned to a near-by cafe for luncheon. This was followed by a visit to a moving-picture house.

Miss Lucy Hindley and Miss James of the domestic science class gave a Colonial lunch at the Union High School. The table, with its centerpiece of red carnations and candles, made a charming appearance. There were handsome hand-painted place cards. A luncheon was served.

Mrs. Richard Preece entertained the past week at her home on Dorothy avenue. The rooms were decorated in yellow and white. In the card game Mrs. Harry Miller and Mrs. F. E. Barron won the first and second prizes respectively. Mrs. Park Prentiss and Mrs. Walter Lyons were awarded consolation prizes.

The military ball given Tuesday night at the pavilion by Co. E, Seventh Regiment, N.G.C., was a great success. A large contingent of National Guardsmen came from Los Angeles and near-by cities.

Mrs. Innes Kinney entertained a party of friends at the home of her father, Abbot Kinney, during the past week. The rooms were handsomely decorated with smilax, jonquils and violets. Covers were laid for sixteen guests. It was the last of a series of showers and receptions for Miss Eleanor Kopta, the fifth member of the Beta Gamma Alpha Sorority to be married here during the past year.

Santa Monica.

A SERIES of exclusive dances given under the auspices of the Kitchen Committee of the Santa Monica Bay Woman's Club began Friday night at the Pier avenue dancing pavilion. The hall was lavishly decorated for the occasion and the society folk of the bay district turned out. The hops will be given the first and third Fridays of each month until a sum sufficient to stock the

SURE WAY TO END RHEUMATISM

Ease Stiff, Sore Joints and Muscles. Makes Pains and Backache Promptly Vanish.

It is needless to suffer any longer with rheumatism, and be all crippled up, and bent out of shape with its heart-wrenching pains, when you can surely avoid it.

Rheumatism comes from weak, inactive kidneys, that fail to filter from the blood, the poisonous waste matter and uric acid; and it is useless to rub on liniments or take ordinary remedies to relieve the pain. This only prolongs the misery and can't possibly cure you.

The only way to cure rheumatism is to remove the cause. The new discovery, Croxone, does this because it neutralizes and dissolves all the poisonous substances and uric acid that lodge in the joints and muscles, to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism, and cleans out and strengthens the stopped-up, inactive kidneys, so they can filter all the poisons from the blood and drive it on and out of the system.

Croxone is the most wonderful medicine ever made for curing chronic rheumatism, kidney troubles and bladder disorders. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It matters not how old you are, or how long you have suffered, it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find relief from the first few doses and you will be surprised how quickly all your misery and suffering will end.

An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle at any first-class drug store. All druggists are authorized to sell it on a positive money-back guarantee. Three doses a day for a few days is often all that is ever needed to cure the worst backache or overcome urinary disorders.

All mattresses sold on this or any other day are guaranteed to be exactly as represented. We will show stocks and materials on the first floor on Mattress Day, but while you are here it would be a splendid time to visit our Carpet and Drapery Departments.

TUESDAY, MARCH TENTH, WILL BE MATTRESS DAY AT PEASE BROS.' On that day, and that day only, mattresses will be sold at the lowest prices this city has ever seen.

You can well afford to destroy that old uncomfortable mattress and take advantage of this splendid opportunity.

Our bedding department is a source of great pride with us and it is this pride that prompts us to feature this department by practically giving mattresses away on MATTRESS DAY.

Tuesday, March 10

Spring house-cleaning time is the logical time to buy a new mattress and especially so when such prices as we quote are obtainable. When you move your bed out on the sleeping porch, by all means take a pure, fresh mattress with it.

Even if the old mattress will do for a while, it would be well to have it made over. We do that work, too, and at a low cost.

We fully expect to sell 500 mattresses on MATTRESS DAY and can sell but 3 to one person. Observe our quotations. Be here early Tuesday morning, March 10th. The first orders receive the first attention.

Mail orders from out of the city postmarked not later than March 10th will be accepted when accompanied by a check.

TAKE A GLASS OF SALTS TO FLUSH THE KIDNEYS IF YOUR BACK HURTS

Advises folks to overcome Kidney and Bladder trouble while it is only trouble.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backaches and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

We Are Painless Dentists

And yet there are people who go to their dentists, wait in an agony of apprehension for their call to his chair, and sit in justified fear and trembling while he probes and grinds and cleans and scours and hurts, hurts, HURTS! Simply because they have not been made to appreciate to the full how absolutely unnecessary is any pain. Yale Dentists, 444 South Broadway, Third Floor, Parmelee-Dohrmann Building.

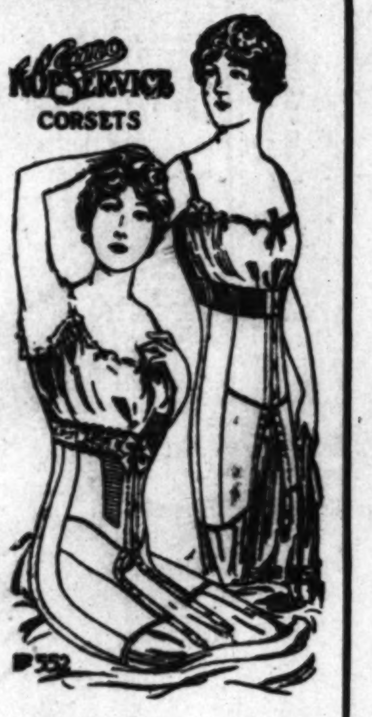
Nemo KOPSERVICE CORSETS

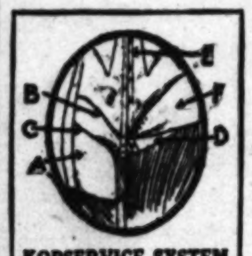
THE wish to be stylish is a worthy feminine trait. No doubt most women would like to have the so-called "corsetless" figure. Many have tried to attain it, and given it up in pain and disgust. Why?

Because, until now, all corsets intended to give the "natural figure" have been mere makeshifts—uncomfortable, physically dangerous; and, if worn for some time, sure to distort the figure permanently.



Nemo Kopservice Corsets Have Solved the Problem

Their newly-invented and novel construction, with double-front device (see diagram below) and the liberal use of the durable Nemo semi-elastic fabrics, produces a perfect "corsetless" effect, while retaining all the hygienic support that has made the Nemo world-famous.



KOPSERVICE SYSTEM
DETAILS OF CONSTRUCTION

A.—Detached skirt as worn.
F.—Turned back to show supporting feature (D).
B.—Seam joining the outer skirt to corset-body.
C.—Showing how skirt conforms to natural figure.
E.—Nemo "bridge."

Every woman, from slight to stout, may now have a rational "corsetless" figure without discomfort, health-peril, or danger of spoiling her figure beyond repair.

Two Models for Stout Figures }
Two Models for Slender Figures } $5

The liberal use of the durable NEMO semi-elastic fabrics gives these superb up-to-date models all the comfort of the old short corsets with the long, easy lines of present fashion.

Ask your dealer to show you the NEMO KOPSERVICE Corsets. They will prove a revelation—they're NEW and wonderful!

How You May Throw Away Your Glasses

The statement is made that thousands wear eyeglasses who do not need them. If you are one of these unfortunates, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear "windows" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription filled at once: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optona; fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water and drop in one Optona tablet. With this harmless liquid solution bathe the eyes two or four times daily, and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many who have been told that they have astigmatism, eye-strain, cataract, sore eyelids, weak eyes, conjunctivitis and other eye disorders, report wonderful benefits from the use of this free prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it; you may so strengthen your eyes that glasses will not be necessary. Thousands who are blind, or nearly so, or who wear glasses, would never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes before it is too late! Do not become one of these victims of neglect. Eyeglasses are only like crutches and every few years they must be changed to fit the ever-increasing weakened condition, so better see if you can, like many others, get clear, healthy, strong, magnetic eyes through the prescription here given.—[Advertisement.

SOCIETY.

kitchen of the new clubhouse is secured. The committee, of which Mrs. W. H. Parker is chairman, has undertaken to provide the culinary department with all its furnishings. Instead of asking donations, the committee decided to secure the money by the series of dances. The Chair Committee of the same club will give a ball the 13th inst. The committee in charge consists of Mmes. Arthur E. Jackson, W. H. L. Symington, F. J. Wagner, Edward Dales, H. J. Engelbrecht, R. M. Miller, R. C. Silvermale.

Complimentary to Miss Mayme Kegley of Chicago, who is visiting her brother, Frank C. Kegley of No. 831 Third street, Mrs. Kegley held an enjoyable party Thursday afternoon. Cards were played, followed by a dainty luncheon. The house was tastefully decorated for the occasion with potted plants and cut flowers.

Mrs. W. H. Anderson and Mrs. George Merritt Jones will give an elaborate party at the new Merritt Jones Hotel, March 19. The ground floor will be lavishly decorated in color schemes to correspond with the various rooms. An elaborate lunch will be served by the hotel management. Suites have been engaged for the use of the guests.

A. A. Peterson, president of the Crescent Bay Bachelors' Club, was host to a charming box party given at the dancing pavilion last week. Many of the society buds of the season were present and the younger set was well represented.

On St. Patrick's Day the Vacation Home League will give an Irish cabaret dinner at the Merritt Jones Hotel. There will be a lavish menu with especial attention to dishes favored in the Green Isle. There will be after-dinner speaking and a varied musical programme. The receipts will go to the fund which provides short vacations at nominal expense for shop girls who otherwise could not afford to go to the beach.

Redondo Beach.

THE Wednesday Club was entertained at a 1 o'clock luncheon by Mrs. E. L. Christman. The color scheme, which was very cleverly carried out, consisted of pink and white carnations which gracefully adorned the tables; favors of small baskets filled with bonbons were also of pink and white. After the luncheon the afternoon was devoted to social chat. Those who attended were Mmes. Matteson, Luxford, Erickson, Brady, Hills, Wells, members of the club, besides Mmes. F. C. Smith, Fred Fehrenson, Nate Hill and Addie Haugh of Los Angeles.

A quiet wedding was solemnized Saturday in Los Angeles at the West Adams Methodist Church, when Miss Esther Stewart and C. H. Pendleton were united in marriage. Miss Stewart was becomingly gowned in a gray silk poplin dress trimmed with gray moline, a hat of the same shade to match.

A joint birthday dinner was given Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Sprinkle Saturday evening in honor of W. F. Sprinkle and W. R. Albee, whose birthdays occur on the same day of the month. The center of the table was adorned with a handsome birthday cake decorated with small candles indicative of the age of these gentlemen. After dinner the evening was devoted to music and games. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Albee, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Sprinkle, Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Gipe, Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Cox.

For Rough, Wrinkled, Freckled, Pimpled Skin

As March winds, flying dust and dirt, are apt to injure any complexion, this information will be of special value right now. If you have any cutaneous blemish, don't use paint, powder or anything else to cover it up. Too often this only emphasizes the defect. Besides, it's much easier to remove the disfigurement with ordinary mercolized wax. Applied nightly, the wax will gradually remove freckles, pimples, moth patches, sallowness, red or yellow blotches or any surface eruption. The affected cuticle is absorbed, a little each day, until the clear, soft, youthful and beautiful skin beneath is brought wholly to view. Ask the druggist for one ounce of mercolized wax and use this like you use cold cream. Remove in morning with soap and water. Many who have tried this simple, harmless treatment report astonishing results.

If bothered with wrinkles or furrows a wash lotion made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel will prove wonderfully effective.—[Advertisement.

Many Recoveries From Lung Trouble

A medicine for Throat and Lung Troubles which has been thoroughly tested for many years, and which has been instrumental in restoring complete health to a large number of sufferers should be thoroughly investigated by every one. While no undue claims are made for it, nor any guarantee that its use will restore health, Eckman's Alterative has been given the full credit in saving lives in many cases. Read this case:— Wilmington, Del.

"Gentlemen:—In January, 1908, I was taken with hemorrhages of the lungs. My physician, one of the leading practitioners of Wilmington, Del., said that it was lung trouble. I took eggs and milk in quantities, but I got very weak. Mr. C. A. Lippincott, of Lippincott & Co., Department Store, 306 to 314 Market street, Wilmington, Del., recommended to me Eckman's Alterative that had done great good, and upon his suggestion I began taking it at once. This was about June, 1908. I continued faithfully, using no other remedy, and finally noticed the clearing of the lungs. I now have no trouble with my lungs. I firmly believe Eckman's Alterative saved my life."

(Affidavit.) JAS. SQUIRES.

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Sold by The Owl Drug Co. and leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.

Among the larger events which will do honor to the St. Patrick season is the at-home with which Mrs. M. A. Shumate, Mrs. R. H. Summers and Mrs. I. M. Knopsnyder will entertain on Thursday afternoon, March 12. The affair, for which about sixty invitations have been issued, will take place at the Shumate residence.

Charming in its appointments was the social afternoon indulged in Thursday by the members of the Pastors' Aid Society, and a large company of friends, within the interior of the First Presbyterian Church, decked for the event in poppies and potted plants. A happy little musical programme gave entertainment, while the ladies sewed upon their fancy-work. Later on the hostesses, namely Mrs. C. Morton, Mrs. T. C. Lanier, Mrs. M. P. Cheney, Mrs. V. E. Parr, Mrs. H. Kaiser, Mrs. W. E. Axup and Mrs. L. M. Abel, served chicken salad, sandwiches and coffee.

Mrs. E. F. Harford opened her spacious home Thursday to the members of the Methodist Missionary Society and their friends, having as assistant hostess Mrs. James Stolliker. Mrs. W. R. Bruce, Mrs. E. C. Hines and Mrs. C. H. Pepper assisted Mrs. D. D. Phillips in presenting the subject of "China" as the literary portion of the afternoon's programme, which was augmented by some half-dozen delightful musical numbers. Refreshments completed the pleasure of the gathering.

Miss Leah Combe and Miss Mary Colliver, teachers in the Los Angeles schools, were week-end guests of Miss Estella Ross, teacher of art in the schools of Colton.

Oxnard.

MISS ETTA WILLIS entertained a number of friends of Mrs. Walter Lemmon of Denver with a pleasant afternoon party and luncheon Wednesday. Mrs. Lemmon, who is visiting in Oxnard, has many friends made in earlier visits, who enjoyed the hospitality of the hostess and renewal of friendship with the honor guest.

The seventy-second birthday of Charles Griffee was the occasion of a pleasant gathering in his honor at the Hueneme home of his niece, Mrs. C. I. Gilmore, Tuesday evening. A dozen guests were invited by Mrs. Gilmore.

"All Tangled Up" is the title of a clever playlet given under the direction of Miss Marion Strathearn by a number of Simi young people Saturday.

The monthly social afternoon of the Oxnard Monday Club was enjoyed this week with Mmes. Thomas Gill, Charles Rowe and B. F. Pitts as hostesses. A programme of music and readings preceded a delicious luncheon, tastefully served.

El Monte.

THE members of Mt. View Shakespeare Club present at Covina Monday Afternoon Club's "at home" day, March 2, in response to a general invitation to the El Monte club members, included Mmes. Drake, Fazakerly, Farrington, Williams, Thurman, Coggswell, Shugg, McMichael and Wood. Mrs. Wood of Mars and Mrs. Duston of Toronto, Can., were among the party.

Dr. Wood and wife of Greencastle, Mass., are guests of their son, R. L. Wood, and will remain until May 1.

Miss Emma Shobe went to Venice Wednesday to visit her sister, Mrs. Milton Kauffman.

Miss Emily Belcher has been with friends at Santa Ana and Tustin for ten days.

Tustin.

THE Robert E. Reid home presented a most alluring aspect Wednesday afternoon. It was decked with a wealth of ferns, laurestina and lilies, Mrs. Reid's fastidious taste uniting these charmingly, in honor of guests invited to meet her cousin, Mrs. Kleinschmidt of Indianapolis, who is spending the winter in Southern California. Auction bridge was played, with Mrs. Will Spurgeon winning first prize, Mrs. J. P. Hatfield, second, and Mrs. James Willis Rice, consolation. Other players were Mmes. Sherman Stevens, John McFadden, Arthur Lyon, John Tubbs, Frank Remsberg, Alice Harris, Fred Parsons, Robert Shafer, Fred Case, William Malone, Charles Kelley, J. R. Porter, H. D. Connell, B. E. Turner, E. R. Mauzy, W. E. Winslow, Frank Case, P. R. Reynolds, James S. Rice, Miss Boyd and the complimented guest, Mrs. Kleinschmidt. St. Patrick's Day emblems and colors were carried out in the dainty refreshments served after the progressions.

Upland.

FANCY-WORK clubs seem to be the order in Upland. Mrs. J. F. Sawyer entertained the Fancy-Work Club with a four-course luncheon Thursday at 12 o'clock, the afternoon being devoted to fancy work. Mrs. Sawyer was assisted in serving by Miss Saidee Sawyer. The ladies enjoying Mrs. Sawyer's hospitality were Mrs. George Cable, Mrs. LeRoy Bradley and sister, Mrs. A. L. Palis, Mrs. R. C. Norton, Mrs. S. G. Moore, Mrs. M. F Palmer, Mrs John Rarick, Mrs. R. B. Bordwell and Mrs. J. B. Goodrich.

Thursday afternoon Mrs. N. L. Hamer entertained the "G.T." Club in her apartments, the rooms being decorated in poppies and numerous potted plants. Refreshments were served to the following ladies: Mrs. M. L. Thompson, Mrs. Charles Allen, Mrs. Bert Spicer, Mrs. John Short, Mrs. Wilbur Spicer, Mrs. Charles Roberts, Mrs. H. O. Biehm, Mrs. Earl Maurer, Mrs. R. R. Wisely, Mrs. N. G. Pehl, Mrs. W. C. Reynolds, Mrs. W. B. Stewart, Mrs. S. S. Sampson, Miss Mable Myers, and Mrs. William Tuttle.

Claremont.

THE Poinsettia Club met at the home of Mrs. E. V. Decker of Pomona last Wednesday afternoon at which a number of Claremont ladies were present. A very enjoyable luncheon was served at noon and the meeting was held afterwards. Those from Claremont who attended the meeting were Mmes. P. J. Neilly, H. F. Peck, S. O. Baughman, J. L. Tomlinson, G. C. Griswold, I. W. Baughman, E. A. Henzle, F. W. Miner, C. W. Ingham. At the same time new officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year. These were president, Mrs. C. W. Ingham; vice-president, Mrs. P. J. Neilly; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. L. Tomlinson.

Mrs. Martin Abernethy was hostess at a delightful social event Friday afternoon in honor of Mrs. J. F. C. Atsatt of Los Angeles.

Mrs. James B. Vaile complimented her cousin, Mrs. W. W. Dake, of Pasadena, with an auction bridge party last Friday afternoon. Light refreshments were served at the close of a very pleasant afternoon.

Highland.

MRS. C. A. SHERROD entertained with a delightful matinee party given at the San Bernardino Operahouse Saturday to see "Adele." Following the charming opera a delicious collation was enjoyed at a near-by confectioner's. Mrs. Sherrod's invited guests included Mrs. C. H. Draper, Mrs. G. W. Beattie, Mrs. J. Ethan Allen, Mrs. C. L. Frazer, Mrs. G. W. Parsons, Mrs. G. W. Prescott, Mrs. W. E. Nye, Mrs. James E. Cram, Mrs. Alfred A. True, Mrs. John L. Yarnell, Mrs. M. M. Randall, Mrs. F. H. Weston and Mrs. Robert Bosworth.

Mrs. John A. Reily entertained the Ladies' Bridge Club Tuesday afternoon at her home on the State Hospital grounds. The afternoon hours were delightfully spent, with bridge whist, after which delicious refreshments were served at the small tables. The congenial company included Mrs. G. W. Parsons, Mrs. Rhone, Mrs. G. M. Webster, Mrs. Franklin Wilcox, Mrs. Clapp, Mrs. Edwin Wayte, Mrs. E. L. Patterson, Mrs. Penzotti, Mrs. H. L. Story, Mrs. J. H. Bagwill, Mrs. John Yarnell, Mrs. Martin Randall, Mrs. Lawrence J. Mosely, Mrs. Josephine Russell, Mrs. W. E. Nye, Mrs. James E. Cram, Mrs. Robert Bosworth, Mrs. Guy L. Frazer, Mrs. V. Z. Argo, Mrs. G. W. Prescott, Mrs. Florence M. Orton, Mrs. Edwin Eugene Carwin, Mrs. Alfred A. True, Mrs. J. Ethan Allen, Mrs. N. T. Henrickson, Mrs. C. L. Hayes and Mrs. Reily.

Mrs. H. H. Linville gave a handsomely-appointed luncheon Wednesday at Linda Vista. Covers were laid for Mrs. Robert Thompson, Mrs. P. F. Coy, Mrs. John Hedley Evans, Mrs. M. M. Randall, Mrs. John Yarnell, Mrs. Thomas A. Ewing, Mrs. George Thompson, Mrs. Gratz Barnes, Mrs. Fred Atkinson of San Bernardino, Miss Eunice York of Boston, and Mrs. Linville.

Pomona.

THE members of the Union Whist Club were entertained Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Abbott. Following the matched games of whist a supper was served.

Miss Bertha Weber was hostess to a company of friends Monday evening at a musicale. The guests included Misses Susan D. Pierce, Margaret Dills, Bessie Murphy, Mattie Lindsley, Gertrude Leadingham, Alice Humphrey, Estella Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Campbell, Dr. Lorena Breed, Messrs. R. Knox, Clinto Evans, Al Persons, M. Tadigan and Dr. L. E. Lepper.

Mrs. Julia Marugg celebrated her seventy-first birthday anniversary on Tuesday with a family dinner at her home in North Pomona. The guests were Messrs. and Mmes. N. C. Pedley, J. E. Henderson, Mmes. C. Gillette, Anna L. Chase and Belle Warner.

Mrs. John Yeend entertained the members of the Friendly Five Hundred Club at her home, No. 546 East Holt avenue, on Monday afternoon. The prizes were won by Mmes. Clyde Gates and Wash Hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmo C. Bichowsky entertained the members of the No Name Club at dinner at their home on Tuesday evening, following which cards were enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Crabb of No. 350 Columbia avenue had as their guests on Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Arza Crabb, Mrs. C. T. Sacre and Miss Clara Crabb of Los Angeles.

Misses Mary Nesbit and Olive Robbins, entertained friends Friday evening in honor of Miss Marguerite Kyger.

John Parsons and Miss Juliet Parsons returned Wednesday from a visit to Oroville, and left Thursday for New York City.

Mrs. Fred Maag and daughter-in-law, Mrs. W. A. Maag, of Huron, S. D., are visiting C. E. Maag of Illinois street.

Mrs. Fred Reynolds of No. 544 East Pasadena street entertained Wednesday afternoon at luncheon in honor of her mother, Mrs. H. A. Brown, who is visiting here from Michigan.

Downey.

GEORGE BUTLER of Needles was a visitor this week at the home of his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Covina were the guests of Judge Rives and family the past week.

Miss Ruth Ardis had as her guest for the week-end Miss Vera Wasly, the sloyd teacher in the Artesia school.

Mmes. Georgia Darby, Williamson, Carrie Scott, Charlotte McKellar, Sanderson, Frankie, James Rives and Miss Moores left Tuesday for Santa Barbara, where they will attend the Federation of Clubs. They went for the week.

THE ADVENTURES OF KATHLYN.

BY HAROLD MAC GRATH.

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS CHAPTERS.

Kathlyn Hare, believing her father, Col. Hare, in peril, has summoned her, leaves her home in California to go to him in Allaha, India. Umballah, pretender to the throne of that principality, has imprisoned the colonel, named by the late King as his heir, because he fears the American may insist on his royal rights.

Upon her arrival in Allaha, Kathlyn is informed by Umballah that her father being dead, she is to be Queen, and must marry him forthwith. Her refusal infuriates him, but as Kathlyn's beauty and spirit have made a strong appeal to the people, he yields the point for the time being. A priest announces that no woman may rule unmarried, but because the young Queen is not conversant with the laws of the state, she will be given seven days to decide.

When Kathlyn reiterates, at the expiration of the week of grace, her refusal to marry Umballah, she receives sentence from the supreme tribunal that she is to undergo two ordeals with wild beasts. If she survives, she is to be permitted to rule without hindrance.

John Bruce, an American and fellow-passenger on the boat which brought Kathlyn to Allaha, saves her life. The elephant which carries her from the scene of her trials, becomes frightened and runs away, separating her from Bruce and the rest of the party.

After a ride filled with peril, she takes refuge in a ruined temple. The holy men and villagers, believing her to be an ancient priestess risen from the tomb, allow her to remain as the guardian of the sacred fire. But Kathlyn's haven is also the abode of a lion, and she is forced to flee from it, with the savage beast in pursuit. She escapes and finds a retreat in the jungle, only to fall into the hands of a band of slave traders, who bring her to Allaha to the public mart. She is sold to Umballah, who, finding her still unsubmissive, throws her into the dungeon with her father. She is released by Bruce and his friends.

CHAPTER X.

THE ESCAPE.

KATHLYN flung herself into her father's arms. "Dad, dad! To leave you alone!"

"Kit, you are wasting time. Be off. Trust me; I wasn't meant to die in this dog's kennel, curse or no curse. Kiss me and go!"

"Curse? What do you mean, father?"

"Ahmed will tell you. In God's name, go, child!"

"Come, Miss Kathlyn," Bruce called anxiously.

Kathlyn then climbed up to the window, and Bruce lifted her into his howdah, bidding her to lie low. How strong he was, she thought. Ah, something had whispered to her day by day that he would come when she needed him. Suddenly she felt her cheeks grow hot with shame. She snuggled her bare legs under her grass dress. Till this moment she had never given her appearance a single thought. There had been things so much more vital. But youth, and there is ever the way of a man with a maid.

Now, Kathlyn did not love this quiet, resourceful young man; at least if she did, she was not yet aware of it; but the touch of his hand and the sound of his voice sent a shiver over her that was not due to the chill of the night. She heard him give his orders, low voiced.

"Do not lift your head above the howdah rim, Miss Kathlyn, till we are in the jungle. And don't worry about your father. He's alive, and that's enough for Ahmed and me. What a strange world it is, and how fate shuffles us about! Forward!"

The curse; what did her father mean by that? It seemed to Kathlyn that hours passed before Bruce spoke again.

"Now you may sit up. What in the world have you got on? Good heavens, grass! You poor girl!" He took off his coat and threw it across her shoulders, and was startled by the contact of her warm flesh.

"I cannot thank you in words," she said faintly.

"Don't. Pshaw, it was nothing. I would have gone—" He stopped embarrassedly.

"Well?" Perhaps it was coquetry which impelled the query; perhaps it was something deeper.

He laughed. "I was going to say that I would have gone into the depths of hell to serve you. We'll be at your father's bungalow in a minute or so, and then the final stroke. Umballah is not dependable. He may or may not pay a visit to the cell tonight. I can only pray that he will come down the moment I arrive."

But he was not to meet Umballah that night. Umballah had won his point in regard to having his prisoners flogged; but, oriental that he was, he went about the matter leisurely. He ate his supper, changed his clothes, and dallied in the zenana for an hour. The rascal had made a thorough study of the word "suspense;" he knew the exquisite torture of making one's victim wait. For the time being his passion for Kathlyn had subsided. He desired above all things just then revenge for the humiliating experience in the cell; he wanted to put pain and terror into her heart. Ah, she would be on her knees, begging, begging, and her father would struggle in vain at his shackles. Spurned; so be it. She should have a taste of his hate, the black man's hate. Two should hold her by the arms while the professional flogger seared the white, soft back of her. She would soon come to him begging. He had been too kind. The lash of the zenana, it should bite into her soft flesh. He would break her spirit and her body together and fling her into his own zenana to let her gnaw her heart out in suspense. She should be the least of his women, the drudge.

First, however, the lash should bite the father until he dropped in his chains; thus she would be able to anticipate the pain and degradation.

And always there would remain the little dark-haired sister. She would marry him; she would do it to save her father and sister. Then the filigree basket heaped with rubies and pearls and emeralds and sapphires! As for the other, what cared he if he rotted. It gave him the whip hand over the doddering council. Master he would be; he would blot out all things which stood in his path. A king, till he had gathered what fortune he needed. Then let the jackals howl.

Accompanied by torch bearers, servants, and the professional flogger, he led the way to the cell and flung open the door triumphantly. For a moment he could not believe his eyes. She was gone, and through yonder windows! Hell of all hells of Hind! She was gone, and he was robbed!

"Out of your reach this time, you black devil!" cried the colonel. "Go on. Do what you please to me. I'm ready."

Umballah ran to the tabaret and jumped upon it. He saw the trampled grass. Elephants. And these, doubtless, had come from the colonel's camp. He jumped off the tabaret and dashed to the door.

"Follow me!" he cried. "Later, Col. Hare, later!" he threatened.

The colonel remained silent.

Up above, in the palace, Umballah summoned a dozen troopers and gave them explicit orders. He was quite confident that Kathlyn would be carried at once to her father's bungalow, if only for a change of clothes. It was a shrewd guess.

As the iron door clanged upon the sill, Col. Hare leaned against the pillar and closed his eyes, praying silently.

At the bungalow Pundita fell at Kathlyn's feet and kissed them.

"Memsahib!" she cried brokenly.

"Pundita!" Kathlyn stooped and gathered her up in her arms.

After that Ramabai would have died for her under any torture.

"Now, Ahmed, what did my father mean when he said 'curse or no curse?'"

"It's a long story, Memsahib," said Ahmed evasively.

"Tell it."

"It was in a temple in the south. The Col. Sahib took a sapphire from an idol's eye. The Guru, a very wise and ancient priest, demanded the return of it. The Colonel Sahib, being a young man, refused. The Guru cursed him. That is all."

"No, Ahmed; there must be more. Did not the Guru curse my father's children and their children's children?"

"Ah, Memsahib, what does the curse of a Hindu amount to?"

"Perhaps it is stronger than we know," glancing down at her dress.

Further discussion was interrupted by one of the armed keepers, who came rushing up with the news that armed soldiers were approaching. Bruce swore frankly. This Umballah was supernaturally keen. What to do now?

"Quick," cried Ahmed. "Get the howdahs off the elephants." It was done. "Hobble them." It was immediately accomplished. "Into the bungalow, all of you. Memsahib, follow me."

"What are you going to do?" asked Bruce.

"Hide her where none will dare to look," answered Ahmed.

He seized Kathlyn by the hand and urged her to run. She had implicit faith in this old friend, who had once dandled her on his knees. They disappeared behind the bungalow and ran toward the animal cages. He stopped abruptly before one of the cages.

"A leopard, but harmless. You'll know how to sooth him if he becomes nervous. Enter."

Kathlyn obeyed.

This cage was not a movable one, and had a cavity underneath. The heavy teak flooring was not nailed.

The soldiers arrived at the bungalow, boisterously threatening the arrest of the entire camp if Durga Ram's slave was not produced forthwith.

"You are mistaken," said Bruce. "There is no slave here. Search."

"You stand extreme danger, Sahib. You have meddled with what does not concern you," replied the captain, who had thrown his fortunes with Umballah, sensing that here was a man who was bound to win and would be liberal to those who stood by him during the struggle.

"Search," repeated Bruce.

The captain and his men ran about, but not without a certain system of thoroughness. They examined the elephants, but were baffled there, owing to Ahmed's foresight. They entered the native quarters, looked under the canvases into the empty cages, from cellar to roof in the bungalow, when suddenly the captain missed Ahmed.

"Where is the Col. Sahib's man?" he asked brusquely.

"Possibly he is going the rounds of the animal cages," said Bruce, outwardly calm, but shaking within.

"And thou, Ramabai, beware!"

"Of what, captain?" coolly.

"Thou, too, hast meddled; and meddlers burn their fingers."

"I am innocent of any crime," said Ramabai. "I am watched, I know; but there is still some justice in Allaha."

"Bully for you!" said Bruce in English.

The captain eyed him malevolently.

"Search the animal cages," he ordered.

Bruce, Ramabai and Pundita followed the captain. He peered into the cages, one by one, and at length came to the leopard's cage. And there was the crafty Ahmed, calmly stroking the leopard, which snarled suddenly. Ahmed stood up with a fine imitation of surprise. The captain, greatly mystified, turned about; he was partially convinced that he had had his work for nothing. Still, he had his tongue.

"Thou, Ramabai, hast broken thy parole. Thou wert not to leave thy house. It shall be reported." Then he took a shot at Bruce: "And thou wilt enter the city on the pain of death."

With this he ordered the soldiers right about and proceeded the way he had come.

"Ahmed, where is she?" cried Bruce, who was as mystified as the captain.

Smiling, Ahmed raised one of the broad teak boards, and the golden head of Kathlyn appeared.

"Ahmed," said Bruce, delighted, "hereafter you shall be chief of this expedition. Now, what next?"

"Secure files and return for my master."

"Wait," interposed Kathlyn, emerging. "I have a plan. It will be useless to return tonight. He will be too well guarded. Are you brave, Pundita?"

"I would die for the Memsahib."

"And I, too," added Ramabai.

Ahmed and Bruce gazed at each other.

"What is your plan, Memsahib?" asked Ahmed, replacing the board and helping Kathlyn out of the cage, the door of which he closed quickly, as the leopard was evincing a temper at all this nocturnal disturbance.

"It is a trap for Umballah."

"He is as wise as the cobra and as suspicious as the jackal," said Ahmed doubtfully.

"Reason forbids that we return tonight. Umballah will wait, knowing me. Listen. Pundita, you shall return to the city. Two men will accompany you to the gate. You will enter alone in the early morning."

Pundita drew close to her husband.

"You will seek Umballah and play traitor. You will pretend to betray me."

"No, no, Memsahib!"

"Listen. You will demand to see him alone. You will say that you are jealous of me. You will tell him that you are ready to lead him to my hiding place."

"No, Miss Kathlyn; that will not do at all," declared Bruce emphatically.

To this Ahmed agreed with a shake of the head.

"Let me finish," said Kathlyn. "You will tell him, Pundita, that he must come alone. He will promise, but by some sign or other he will signify to his men to follow. Well, the guard may follow. Once Umballah steps inside the bungalow we will seize and bind him. His life will depend upon his writing a note to the council to liberate my father. If he refuses, the leopard."

"The leopard?"

"Yes; why not? A leopard was the basic cause of all this misery and treachery. Let us give Umballah a taste of it. Am I cruel? Well, yes; all that was gentle and tender in me seems either to have vanished or hardened. He has put terror into my heart; let me put it into his."

"It is all impractical," demurred Bruce.

"He will never follow Pundita," said Ahmed.

"Then shall we all sit down and wait?" Kathlyn asked bitterly. "At least let me try. He will not harm Pundita, since it is I he wants."

"She is right," averred Pundita. "A woman can do more at this moment than a hundred men. I will go, Memsahib; and, more, I will bring him back."

"But if he should hold you as a hostage?" suggested the harried Ahmed. "What then?"

"What will be will be," answered Pundita with oriental philosophy.

"You shall go, Pundita," said Ramabai; "and Durga Ram shall choke between these two hands if he harms a hair of your head."

"And now to bed," said Ahmed.

Well for Kathlyn that she had not the gift of clairvoyance. At the precise moment she put her head upon the pillow her father was writhing under the lash; but never a sound came from his lips. Kit was free, Kit was free!

"Tomorrow and tomorrow's tomorrow you shall feel the lash," cried Umballah when he saw that his victim could stand no more. "Once more, where is the filligree basket?"

Feebly the colonel shook his head.

"Tomorrow, then! Up till now you have known only neglect. Now you shall feel the active hatred of the man you robbed and cheated. Ah, rubies and pearls and emeralds; you shall never see them."

"Nor shall you!"

"Wait and see. There's another way of twisting the secret from you. Wait; have patience." Umballah laughed.

And this laughter rang in the colonel's ears long after the door had closed. What new devilitry had he in mind?

The next morning Kathlyn came into the living-room dressed, for the first time in weeks. She felt strangely uncomfortable. For so long a time her body had been free that the old familiar garments of civilization (are they civilized?) almost suffocated her.

"You are not afraid, Pundita?"

"No, Memsahib. Ahmed will have me carried to within a few yards of the gate, and after that it will be easy to find Durga Ram. Ah, Memsahib, if you but knew how I hate him!"

After Pundita had departed Ahmed brought in the leopard. Kathlyn petted it and crooned, and the magic timbre of her tones won over the spotted cat. He purred.

And now they must wait. An hour flew past. Kathlyn showed signs of restlessness, and this restlessness conveyed itself to the leopard, who began to switch his tail about.

"Memsahib, you are losing your influence over the cat," warned Ahmed. "Go, walk; go talk elephant; and you, Bruce Sahib, go with her. I'll take care of the cat."

So Bruce and Kathlyn went the rounds of the cages. She was a veritable enigma to Bruce. Tigers lost their tenseness and looked straight into her eyes. A cheetah with cubs permitted her to touch the wabbly infants, whereas the keeper of this cage dared not go within a foot of it. By the time she reached the elephants a dozen keepers were following her, their eyes wide with awe. They had heard often of the Memsahib, who calmed the wild ones, but they had not believed. With the elephants she did about as she pleased.

"Miss Kathlyn, I am growing a bit afraid of you," said Bruce.

"And why?"

"I've never seen animals act like that before. What is it you do to them?"

"Let them know that I am not afraid of them and that I am fond of them."

"I am not afraid of them and am also fond of them. Yet they spit at me whenever I approach."

"Perhaps it is black art." The shadow of a smile crossed her lips. Then the smile stiffened and she breathed deeply. For the moment she had forgotten her father, who stood chained to a pillar in a vile cell. She had put her hand over her eyes and swayed.

"What is it?" he cried in alarm.

"Nothing. I had almost forgotten where I am."

"I, too. I am beginning to let Ahmed think for me. Let us get back to the bungalow."

He loved her. And he feared her, too. She was so unlike any young woman he had ever met that she confused his established ideas of the sex. The cool blood of her disturbed him as much as anything. Not a sign of that natural hysteria of woman, though she had been through enough to drive insane a dozen ordinary women. He loved the fearless eye of her, the flat back, the deep chest, the spring with which she measured her strides. Here at last was the true normal woman. She was of the breed which produced heroes.

He loved her, and yet was afraid of her. A wall seemed to surround her, and nowhere could be discover any breach. Vaguely he wondered how the Viking made love to the Viking's daughter. By storm, or by guile? Yes, he was afraid of her; afraid of her because she could walk alone. He locked up his thoughts in his heart; for instinct advised him to say nothing now; this was no time for the declaration of love.

"It is best," said Ahmed, "that we all remain inside the bungalow. Ramabai, have you any plan in case Pundita does not return?"

Ramabai's beast swelled. "Yes, Ahmed. I have a thousand friends in yonder city, ready at my call. Only, this is not the time. Still, I can call to them, and by tomorrow there will not be a stone of the palace upon another. Be not alarmed. Pundita will return, but mayhap alone."

So they waited.

Now, Pundita, being a woman, was wise in the matter of lure. She entered the city unquestioned. She came to the palace steps just as Umballah was issuing forth. She shivered a little—she could not help it; the man looked so gloomy and foreboding. The scowl warned her to walk with extreme care.

He stopped when he saw her and was surprised into according her the salute one gave to a woman of quality.

"Ah!"

"Durga Ram," she began, "I am seeking you." Her voice trembled ever so little.

"Indeed! And why do you seek me, who am your enemy, and who always will be?"

"A woman loves where she must, not where she wills."

Umballah seemed to ponder over this truth.

"And why have you sought me?"

"A woman's reasons. My husband and the Memsahib—"

"You know, then, where she is?" quickly.

"Aye, Durga Ram; I alone know where she is hiding."

He sent a shrewd glance into her eyes. Had she wavered, ill would have befallen her.

"Tell me."

"Follow."

He laughed. Nearby stood two of the palace guards.

"All women are liars. Why should I trust you?"

"That is true. Why indeed should you trust me?" She turned and with bowed head started to walk away.

"Wait!" he called to her, at the same time motioning to the guards to follow at a distance.

"If I lead you to the Memsahib it must be alone."

"You say that you alone know where she is?"

"I meant that I alone will lead you to her. And you must decide quickly, Durga Ram, for even now they are preparing for flight, and this time they will go far."

"Lead on."

"Send the guards back to the palace."

Umballah made a sign with his hand, but another with his eyes. The guards fell back to the palace steps, understanding perfectly that they and others were to follow unseen. Umballah knew instinctively that this was a trap. He would apparently walk into it unsuspectingly; but those who sprung the tray would find no rat, but a tiger. And after the manner of hungry tigers he licked his chops. A trap; a child could have discerned it. But having faith in his star he followed Pundita. Only once during the journey did he speak.

"Pundita, remember, if you have lied you will be punished."

"Durga Ram, I have not lied. I have promised to lead you to her, and lead you to her I shall."

"Durga Ram," he mused. She did not give him his title of prince; indeed, she never had. She was really the rightful heir to this crown; but her forbears had legally foresworn Ah! the Col. Sahib's camp. Good. He knew now that in Kathlyn's escape he had the man Ahmed to reckon with. Presently.

"She is there, Durga Ram."

"And what more?" ironically.

His coolness caused her some uneasiness. Had he, by means unknown to her, signed to the guards to follow?

Umballah entered the living-room of the bungalow. It was apparently deserted. He cast a quick glance about. The curtains trembled suspiciously, and even as he noted it, Bruce, Ramabai and Ahmed sprang forth, carrying ropes. Umballah made a dash for the door, but they were too quick for him.

Struggling, he was seized and bound; but all the while he was laughing inwardly. Did they dream of trapping him in this childish fashion? By now twenty or thirty of his paid men were drawing a cordon about the camp. All of them should pay the full penalty for this act. What mattered a few ropes? He was rather puzzled as to the reason of their leaving his right arm free.

Next, the curtains were thrown back and Kathlyn was revealed. Near her a leopard strained impatiently on the leash. Uhballah eyed her wonderingly. She was like the woman who had arrived weeks ago. And yet to him she seemed less beautiful than when he paid five thousand rupees for her in the slave mart. He waited.

"Umballah, write an order for my father's release."

"And if I refuse?" Umballah wanted to gain time.

"You shall be liberated at the same time as this leopard. You have had experience with leopards. Do you not recall the one my father killed, sav-

The Home Beauty Parlor
by Betty Dean

Dearie: Yes, I believe men all recognize a "made" complexion. Throw away your powder and rouge and use a plain spurmax lotion. Then you will have a complexion of which you can feel justly proud, because it will be real as well as beautiful. To prepare it, dissolve four ounces spurmax (which you may get from your druggist) in one-half pint witch hazel or hot water. This lotion cannot be detected when on and its regular use banishes lines, blotches, pimples, blackheads and sallowness. The spurmax lotion is delightful for spring months, as it protects the skin from the winds.

Dora: You can make your eyes sparkling and clear by this simple home treatment: Dissolve an ounce of crystos (get at drugstore) in a pint of water. One or two drops in each eye every day will be all that is necessary to make them feel strong and look bright. If the lids are red or inflamed, try soaking dabs of absorbent cotton in the tonic and laying them on each eye.

Juanita: The sagginess of skin which you write about is disfiguring and you will soon be wrinkled past help if you neglect it. But try this simple treatment and I'm sure it will work wonders. Mix an ounce of almozoin (from the drug store) in one half pint cold water and add two teaspoonfuls glycerine. This cream jelly will cause the skin to contract slowly until the healthy firmness is restored. Keeps your complexion clear and free from blemishes. Also removes blackheads.

Eugenie: Your yellowness doubtless means that your liver requires a regulator and I would suggest a plain kardene tonic. This will cleanse the blood and give tone and strength to the liver and kidneys and when these organs are in a healthy condition you will be free from the bilious attacks, the obstinate headaches, and the pains in small of back and groin. To prepare this tonic I get one ounce kardene from druggist and put it into one half pint alcohol (never use whiskey), then add one-half cupful of sugar and hot water to make a quart. The dose is a tablespoonful before meals. The kardene tonic is excellent to clear the skin of pimples, blotches and sallowness and its timely use frequently saves doctor's bills.

Chloe: I have found the most beneficial shampoo for the scalp and hair can be made at home by dissolving a teaspoonful canthrox in a cup hot water. This is unusually soothing and cleansing to the itchy, dandruff-laden scalp and quickly corrects over-oiliness and other scalp-upsets. My shampooing with canthrox has restored an even color, rich gloss and soft fluff to my hair, which was becoming dull and brittle. It seems to have encouraged a vigorous and luxuriant growth.

P. S. The styles point to a continuation of the slim figure effects and as you show signs of an added waist line you should take steps to reduce your weight. Make this preparation at home and before each meal take a tablespoonful: Get four ounces of parnotis from your druggist and dissolve in one and one-half pints of hot water. Strain and cool the mixture before using. This is inexpensive and will be welcome to the woman who does not want strenuous diet or exercise.

Lorraine: Your faded hair is not necessarily dying, though it is in danger. Here is a home-made hair tonic, costing little, which I know is of great value to scalp and hair: Into one half pint alcohol put one ounce quinzoin (which I get from the druggist's), then add one half pint water. This gives you a full pint. I have found it very soothing and it banishes the dry, harsh, unhealthy condition of the scalp, invigorating the hair roots so a beautiful growth is certain to result.

TO STOP HAIR LOSS AND RID YOUR SCALP OF DANDRUFF, USE NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

Do you have dandruff? Does your hair fall out? Is it getting thinner and the parting more pronounced every day? If so, we advise you to start the use of Newbro's Herpicide right away or before it is too late.

We are not trying to scare you. We are simply telling you the truth. If you would ward off chronic loss of hair you must check that hair loss and rid your scalp of dandruff.

Don't resort to the use of an untried, off brand hair preparation when genuine Herpicide costs no more. You are liable to disappointment if you experiment. Start right and start now with the right remedy and stick to it—Newbro's Herpicide.

Use Herpicide daily for a while, then three times a week will be sufficient. Watch the change which takes place in the condition of your hair and scalp. The scalp is clean and free from dandruff. The hair looks strong and healthy and does not fall out. There is vigor and snap where before the hair was dead, dull and brittle. The itching which is so annoying stops and you enjoy a feeling of coolness and cleanliness hitherto unknown.

GOING!
GOING!!
GONE!!!

Any dealer will sell you Newbro's Herpicide in 50-cent and $1.00 sizes and guarantee it. If it doesn't do as promised, if you are not satisfied he returns your money. But you'll be satisfied. The first application will convince you that Newbro's Herpicide is the very thing for the hair. Its odor is delightful.

Applications may be obtained at the better barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

WILD IMAGININGS.

DARKNESS AND DAWN. By George Allan England. Small, Maynard & Co., Boston.

THIS is undoubtedly the freakiest novel of many months, perhaps of years. There is not a probability in it; the author assiduously plucked from the plot anything that sounded possible and evidently set himself to write a tale that would send the ghost of Verne into a jealous rage. But ghostly energy need not be wasted.

"Darkness and Dawn" contains, so the publishers say, some 225,000 words, and the elephantine size of the book bears evidence that the number must be somewhere around a quarter of a million. It is split into small chapters and each chapter has a sensation.

Those who care for a protracted orgy of the imagination would do well to make Mr. England's acquaintance. He works hard to please, but the strain is rather severe, and even the most complacent reader is apt to look askance at an author who lets the hero and heroine tumble with an aeroplane for 500 miles and escape minus a scratch. But that little adventure is only an episode in this remarkable book, which begins a thousand years hence, after all the white race has perished, after cities have become jungles and after a terrific cataclysm has jarred the earth out of alignment with the North Star.

In the year 2900, or thereabouts, Stern, who is a civil engineer, and Beatrice, his stenographer, awaken after a sleep of a thousand years in their office on the forty-eighth floor of a New York skyscraper. The city is a wilderness, wild beasts and wild men roam about. But "our" hero and heroine have a grand time plundering stores and collecting such things as seem useful.

It is somewhat remarkable how everything has perished beneath the touch of time excepting those very things that are indispensable to the needs of Stern. Guns and cartridges work fine, even an aeroplane is pressed into service and they go scouting around over the face of the United States, meeting with adventures and experiences every hour or so. Among other things, they are married by a phonograph, battle with barbarians, descend into a maelstrom, and find a lost race. We leave them happy, prosperous and perfectly contented, and in a fair way to re-establish civilization.

The first half of the book is by far the more interesting; perhaps it is the novelty of the plot, which wears off with reading, but it seems that the subsequent adventures are more of the clap-trap, throw-in-hurriedly sort.

From a literary point of view there is nothing fine about it. It is purely a wild tale of adventure written in about the same manner as "Diamond Dick" and "Jessie James" weeklies.

FATUOUS CONVERSATION.

THE RED EMERALD. By John Reed Scott. J. B. Lippincott Company, Philadelphia.

WITH nothing in particular to write about, Mr. Scott has constructed a novel which he chooses to call "The Red Emerald." With due consideration we must say that this book is an imposition; it is filled with fatuous conversation—that is all. Mr. Scott can write good stories; it is his fault if he does not; he has taught us to expect them. "The Colonel of the Red Huzzars" is a book of good metal and design.

First, the author resorts to the amateurish trick of forcing a number of characters to pay lavish compliments to Mrs. Tremaine, who may be considered as the heroine—or who would be the heroine if it were necessary for anyone to show even a faint degree of courage. Secondly, practically the same thing is done with Orme Vendome. Behind his back everyone pays him compliments. The disgusting thing is that neither Mrs. Tremaine nor Vendome does anything that entitles them to consideration—except intrude and exercise their insipid verbosity.

Practically the entire book is between quotation marks—that is, the story is told through the medium of conversation; and it is dull, tedious, padded conversation. And there is no plot to speak of; several men love Mrs. Tremaine, who is divorced from her husband, but remains on good terms with him. A medium tells Vendome that at Land's End, Va., a certain number of feet from a certain tree there is a cave, and in that cave are jewels. Vendome investigates, finds that the medium knew of what she was talking, and the "red emerald" is found.

Several other characters are introduced—none of them worthy of attention.

"A LIVING WAGE."

THE CLUTCH OF CIRCUMSTANCE. By Leighton Graves Osmun. Sully & Kleinteich, New York.

"THE CLUTCH OF CIRCUMSTANCE" is the name of the book, written by Leighton Graves Osmun, a Los Angeles author. The story is simply told. It presents nothing new or startling, nor does it analyze an accepted condition in a new or original manner. It is actually a variation of "The Easiest Way."

A simple, innocent, New England girl, reared and disciplined in the straight-laced confines of Harbury, is transplanted in New York, where she fails to find the work she expected to find in order to support her helpless grocer-husband and his aged mother. Her husband is injured in a runaway and a blood clot on the brain deprives him of the co-ordination of faculties. While he is lying in a stupor, apparently beyond all redemption, the family purse empties and Ruth leaves for New York "to make money." That is her chief reason for going and if it had not been for a sophisticated chorus girl friend she never would have found it, for when she is on the verge of despondency, Lory revives her hope and introduces her to "the great" theatrical manager. It so happens that Ruth is beautiful and can sing. She fascinates the manager and he makes her the star of his latest production. Of course, she captures New York as she captivated its biggest producer.

When Ruth is at the height of her fame she finds that it was all a trap and in order to continue she must submit to the demands of her manager. This she refuses to do until she is warned that her husband is to be sent to an asylum and his mother to the poorhouse. For their sake she enters a compact with Rudolf, the manager. Plenty of money is forthcoming and an operation restores her husband's reason and the big situation of the story follows at once.

Generally, the story is an attack upon the industrial system that fixes remuneration for feminine employment even below the actual living wage. What some women have to do in order to meet the difference between the amount in their pay envelopes and the sum to be paid the landlady of their boarding-house is told very plainly. The theme is overworked. It has long since lost its attraction as a fascinating novel or theatrical production, and, like many others of its kind, "The Clutch of Circumstance" offers no remedy.

BETWEEN TWO LOVES.

BENJAMIN THE JEW. By L. P. Gratacap. Thomas Benton, New York.

THIS is an unusually carefully written and painstaking work of fiction—a work into which the author has infused deep thought, and has graphically set forth conditions in Russia which have been and still are the cause of the emigration of Jews in great numbers. He then takes up the story of the life and adventures of a highly cultured Jew, Joseph Nassi, his trials on his journey, his arrival in America, his troubles in his business career, and his final remarkable success. The son of this Jew, Benjamin, is the real hero of the story. His character expands and develops under western influences, although he remains true to his traditions, and his ambition to restore the ancient glory of Jerusalem.

Benjamin is affianced to a sweet, modest maid of his own race. But a splendid, voluptuous animal specimen of Christian humanity—also a young girl of wealth and position who has never really loved before, but who knows no guide but her own desire—casts her eyes upon the young man, adores his beauty, and determines to possess him. The sensual awakens in Benjamin, and he is tempted. The struggle between the two loves—one representing the best part of his nature, the other the male being's tribute to animal beauty—harrows the young hero through many pages. And when he feels that he has mastered conditions, the temptations are renewed, until he drops from the balcony of the determined young woman's boudoir, and infuriated, she shoots and wounds him.

The closing scenes of the story are laid in the Holy Land.

LOVE AND POETRY.

OLD VALENTINES. By Munson Havens. Houghton, Mifflin Company, Boston and New York.

THERE is something about this story that is peculiarly charming, although it has not the technical build of the best of fiction—that is, in the way of symmetry. It does not come well to its climax, and it drifts pleasantly along for some time after the story is entirely told. The story is, however, sweet and wholesome. The younger son of a noble family marries a young girl of the theatrical profession—a good and bonnie lass, but branded as everything she should not be by the enraged family of the young artist bridegroom. But it results in several years of the most rapturous honeymoon, even after the small Phyllis has appeared upon the scene. And then, one tragic day, the lovers are drowned together under the sail of an overturned boat on the coast of Norway, and little Phyllis is taken to the baronial home of her noble uncle in England. Of course she winds herself about the old man's heart, and then breaks it by a love match with a settlement worker and poet, whom she runs away to marry. The marriage begins the story instead of ending it.

There is a delightful chapter about the old book shop, among the treasures of which the reader will take pleasure in loitering. The old book dealer himself is a character not at all unfamiliar, who takes quite an important part in the untangling of some of the hard knots when difficulties arise. The "old valentines" also play an important part. They are a rare collection of Valentines which were given to Phyllis's mother, whose name was Valentine, by her devoted husband and lover.

It is a dainty story, without very much plot, but possessing heart quality.

SHORT STORIES DE LUX.

SILENT SAM. By Harvey J. O'Higgins. The Century Company, New York.

HERE is a volume of short stories the peer of which does not often come into the hands of the reader. The perfect architectural finish of the tales, combined with the real, spontaneous substance of them, is highly satisfying, doing away with those little nagging imperfections of construction that mar many a good plot. These stories are a series of sketchy pictures, mostly of East Side life in New York City. Humor treads upon the heels of pathos, and pathos on the heels of humor. The author never preaches, but he pictures in vivid colors some of the crying wrongs under which individuals suffer through corporations and the "machine." He enters intimately into the very mentality of his characters, portraying them with an accuracy which may best be appreciated by those who have peeped into "top-story" life in New York. "In the Matter of Art" is a little gem concerning the doings of a recalcitrant little actress, who runs away from laurels to "live" her life, in a suburban home with the man she loves, on $25 a week!

O'Higgins's probing of human weakness is done in a way to create sympathy and a good-natured smile, rather than cynicism.

PATH TO A THRONE.

BIANCA CAPPELLO. By Mary G. Steegmann. Norman Remington & Co., Baltimore.

THE story of Bianca Cappello, the Venetian maid of the sixteenth century, and later Grand Duchess of Tuscany, is full of stirring incident in the recounting in Mary G. Steegmann's historical romance. Bianca was one of the remarkable women who may almost be said to furnish the color to an epoch of their own—women of great passion, beauty, charm, magnetism and ambition, qualities which seem to choke out in their exotic bloom the more delicate virtues usually ascribed to femininity. Bianca, the maiden confined and almost persecuted by her homely stepmother, is certainly free of evil intentions. She is simply a girl with a longing for life, experience, romance—which longing being suppressed she is an easy victim to the first young rogue who finds the opportunity to whisper words of love into her ear. After her elopement with him to Florence she finds him to be of mean birth, and, moreover, of mean character. It is all very different from her dream. She has wanted freedom, the opportunity to go about and dress her hair beautifully, to charm and to be charmed by people. But she is compelled to live in a humble home in seclusion for fear of the Venetian authorities. When she does peep forth it is to look into the eyes of the eldest son of the Duke of Tuscany, who is at once smitten by her beauty; and after her child is born he takes every means to intercede for her, and change her fortunes. And so she climbs eventually to the seat beside the ruler of the realm. It is a remarkable tale of a time of intrigue, secret assassinations and danger in places of power, as is proved at the end of a remarkable, adventurous career. It is a story more satisfying than fiction because it is real, and yet told with the art of the romancer.

RARE KNOWLEDGE.

THE CURIOUS LORE OF PRECIOUS STONES. By George Frederick Kunz. J. B. Lippincott Company, Philadelphia.

MEN—and more especially women—have ever been attracted to precious stones. In addition to the intrinsic value, at different periods in many lands, certain gems have been accorded a medicinal, a talismanic and a religious value.

Dr. Kunz has assembled a great quantity of superstitious and scientific information in his book on "The Curious Lore of Precious Stones." He is one of the greatest living experts on gems, vice-president of the firm of Tiffany, in New York, and the chief authority on jewels in this country.

He goes into interesting detail, and a charming literary style saves the book from being a mere work for reference. We are told that during the seventeenth century the turquoise was the popular stone among the men, and that this stone, suspended from a thread held between the thumb and forefinger, would correctly strike the hour; that the diamond was considered to have sex and to have originated from gold; that the lapis-lazuli, which was in high favor among the ancients, was a cure for melancholy; that coral protected ships on the seas; that amethysts were effective in curing drunkenness—and any number of other striking and peculiar fancies.

Among other curious things that are recorded is this: "The pearl fishers of Borneo are said to preserve carefully every ninth pearl that they find, and place them in a bottle with two grains of rice for each pearl, believing, in spite of all evidence to the contrary, that these particular pearls have the power to engender and breed others. Custom and superstition require that each bottle shall have the finger of a dead man as a stopper."

Regarding the chrysoprase, which, if the following is true, would be in great demand among our modern rogues, this is said: "Wonderful things are told of the virtue of the chrysoprase, for Volmar states that if a thief sentenced to be hanged or beheaded should place this stone in his mouth he would immediately escape from his executioners."

Dr. Kunz admits—perhaps with some regret—that during his long experience and close study of gems he has never discovered any magical properties, but he believes that we are justified in prizing and collecting precious stones for their intrinsic beauty and durability.

The book is illustrated with color plates, cuts in doubletone line drawings, and is an artistic and valuable work.

EUGENE WALTER NOVELIZED.

FINE FEATHERS. By Webster Denison. A. C. McClurg & Co.

THIS story is novelized from the tragic drama of the same name by Eugene Walter, with ten illustrations from photographs of the "all-star" cast, which included Robert Edeson, Wilton Lackaye, Max Figman, Lolita Robertson, Rose Coghlan and Amelia Sumners. The story is certainly not lacking in strong and intense plot—a plot that could not fail to interest. One could read the story for the sake of the plot alone. The book has not the same artistic finish as a book that the play has as a play. The dialogue, of course, is good, being taken so largely from the play itself. But the book, as a whole, could not be called distinctly literary. The bridging paragraphs are somewhat spectacular, and not always couched in the best of English.

The story is, of course, more or less known, as many readers may be already familiar with the play. The opening scene is the suburban bungalow of the Reynolds, not very long married, and trying to secure a home on $25 a week. The husband is wildly enthusiastic over truck gardening and chickens and fresh country air—an enthusiasm which his young wife does not share. Being a woman of particular charm, she is ardently fond of pretty clothing and the luxuries, although she sincerely loves her husband, and tries to make the best of conditions. But this does not prevent her from using the money left her to pay the market bill to purchase a new and becoming hat. And the worshiping husband does not protest.

There is a friend, too, who loves these young people—a man who is sterling and honorable in the same way that the young husband is. When the husband rejects with scorn the opportunity to make a fortune by a dishonorable turn, he is heartily indorsed by his friend. But Jane, the wife, is disappointed. She does not seem to realize the dishonor of the transaction, and surreptitiously plots with the millionaire who has offered the temptation to bring her husband to look favorably upon it. The millionaire knows well the power of the blandishment of a luxurious limousine and little advance payments for her services in the business transaction. The husband is eventually drawn into the web, and at the last he pays the price of his wife's folly.

MAGAZINE NOTES.

The Graphic (English publication) for February contains a special Canadian supplement, well illustrated, with articles on the different Canadian provinces. A picture that, with conservative expression, may be called "madly imaginative," presents "Fighting for the Possession of the Panama Canal—What Might Happen if the United States Went to War," and shows an attack upon the Gatun locks, with a dreadnought's nose banged into the concrete gates and soldiers scattered all over the scene. The "armament fever" in Scandinavia is discussed at length.

The Atlantic Monthly for March has even more than the usual number of essays, and one of especial interest by Henry L. Mencken on "Newspaper Morals," in which the position is maintained that the newspaper must address itself to the intelligence of the public. Agnes Repplier writes on "The Repeal of Reticence" and points out the new freedom with which certain once-taboo topics are discussed.

Scribner's Magazine for March features "Breaking Into the Movies," by Richard Harding Davis, being an account of the dramatization of "Soldiers of Fortune" for the silent drama. The article gives us a glimpse behind "the scenes." A story of more than usual interest is "Cormac O'Brien," by Amanda Mathews, which tells of an old Irish piper who played the pieces dear to the people of the Emerald Isle.

The Delineator for March shows Maude Adams as a farmer; tells of the women who are taking part in the Mexican war, and allows a young man to tell "How I Don't Want Her to Flirt"—as well as many other things of absorbing interest to women. There are the usual number of fashion notes, hints for the homes and recipes of things that men enjoy eating.

L'Art de la Mode for March contains the April fashions, and shows what style and cut of dress and hat will be proper for Easter, as well as the afternoon frocks and dresses, and afternoon and night coiffures. The color plates show a "deft combination of color and materials making charming dancing dresses." The number is full of patterns and ideas.

McClure's Magazine for March contains the most interesting chapter that has yet appeared of "My Autobiography," by S. S. McClure, and deals with the beginning of the syndicate, and the meeting with Robert L. Stevenson, Kipling, Conan Doyle, Rider Haggard and J. M. Barrie. It is a great story that Mr. McClure is telling. C. N. and A. M. Williamson have another tale about Monte Carlo and call it "The Plot of the Prince's Birthday." The number contains a large amount of fiction this month.

The Pall Mall Magazine (English publication) for March has an article of especial interest to Americans who fancy that our cities are the only ones that never sleep o' nights, called "The City Without Night: Berlin 'Twixt Dusk and Dawn,'" and describes the variegated life of that somber city after night fall. H. de Vere Stacpoole, Oliver Onions and W. J. Locke are among the fiction contributors. This number brings forward a new department called "Pell-Mell," in which notes and comment not serious enough for other passages are confined.

Physical Culture for March discusses the tango and finds no fault, as it is healthful and helpful. Now watch the ladies who have called Bernarr Macfadden a "crank" falling about his neck; "To Marry or not to Marry," by Upton Sinclair, is rather indefinite, as the author believes in marriage but does not approve of the way in which it is done. Horace Fletcher writes on "The Mouth—the Gateway of Health," and Bernarr Macfadden tells his "Life Story."

The Sunset for March shows Rufus Steele at his best in "Through the Golden Gate of Romance," being an article that will please any Californian and send all San Franciscans into paroxysms of joy. Peter B. Kyne has a story on "Shipmates;" William Lloyd Osborne describes "The Boudoir Scene," and "The Five Dollars Fine," by George Pattulo—and all of these writers have won a place for themselves in contemporary fiction. The magazine devotes much space to the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

REVIEWS IN BRIEF.

SIMPLE SIMON. By A. Neil Lyons. John Lane Company, New York and London.

This is the story of a young man whose family and other associates look upon as eccentric if not something worse; but who, in his own odd way, fathers and helps poor, stumbling, blundering humanity. The book shows how a philanthropic institution forgets its main purpose in arguments over new carpets, and other such impedimenta, and which, while organized for the purpose of uplifting and relieving the unfortunate, is ever ready to club them down to servile positions, and cast them off entirely when the little human errors have crept in. The pathos of it is relieved by a quaint humor of expression.

STUDIES IN STAGECRAFT. By Clayton Hamilton. Henry Holt & Co., New York.

This is an academic volume which might prove useful to one who is interested in the abstrusities behind the philosophy of stagecraft. But it is the work of an academician rather than of one who is really acquainted with the craft from any practicable standpoint. In other words, it is strictly theoretical stagecraft of which the book treats, by a system of philosophy which might be applied safely to almost any art, without necessarily defining the difference between that art and any other.

THE COLOUR OF THE EAST. By Elizabeth Washburn. Frederick A. Stokes Company, New York.

The author of this book has brought into interesting sequence sketchy accounts of her travels through the Suez Canal, over the Red Sea, through the Sahara, the Himalayas, touching Singapore, Manila, Cebu, Mukden—and various other points. The sketches are impressionistic, full of vital touches a little different from other travels which one has read, and above all full of sweeps of color—passionate color, the love of which in the author flings itself over everything.

HYGIENE OF THE SCHOOL CHILD. By Lewis M. Terman. Houghton, Mifflin Company, Boston, New York and Chicago.

This is a good book for every parent and teacher of children not only to read, but also to study. It contains information which every adult in any way responsible for the welfare of children should have. This book goes to show that the child must be well and normal physically before much may be expected of it otherwise. The plates with which the text is illustrated are both interesting and instructive.

RURAL LIFE AND EDUCATION. By Ellwood P. Cubberley. Houghton, Mifflin Company, Boston, New York and Chicago.

The evolution of rural life in the matter of homes, agriculture—and its relation to commercialism—society and institutions, schooling, transportation, and, in fact, everything that pertains to suburban environment and its improvement, is set forth in this book in an attractive way. The book is illustrated with maps, diagrams, and plates made from photographs of modern suburban school classes—particularly those devoted to agricultural training—in operation. The volume will afford some surprises.

GREEK IMPERIALISM. By William Scott Ferguson. Houghton, Mifflin Company, Boston and New York.

This book is composed of seven lectures, six of which were delivered at the Lowell Institute in Boston during February, 1913. They contain a discussion of the theory and practice of government in the empires of Athens, Sparta, Alexander, the Ptolemies, Seleucids and Antigonids. The writer impresses the continuity of constitutional development in Greece during the transformance of city-states from ultimate to constitutional political units.

LITERARY CHIT-CHAT.

By Genevieve Farnell-Bond.

What sort of books takes the quickest hold, and which have the most lasting hold upon the heart and imagination of the reader. This is the sort of book that every publisher is looking for, and the sort that every author is trying to write. This curious thing about it all is that a number of different books, constructed along absolutely varying lines, are able to fill the bill—and they are utterly unlike one another in the final result. The main requisite is that every line, every paragraph, and every chapter be tingling with life—its own peculiar kind of life, true unto itself, whether it be an ethical thesis, a volume of instruction, as to how to raise cabbages, a love romance, or a novel with a "purpose."

I thought of all this when I had Zane Grey's first book manuscript in my hands. Life, life, life! It scintillated with life from the first page to the last—not hysterically or melodramatically, but with a fine, restrained enthusiasm that sparkled like gold through a veil. And Zane Grey's personality is very like his writings. And he was in love with his wife, which may have had much to do with it all.

I knew another author, who was not in love with his wife—or rather, I should say, the two recognized that they were not exactly harmonious, and theoretically agreed that two people could live very contentedly as husband and wife even under these circumstances, each allowing the other perfect liberty to seek other companionships—of course, mentally. We—a party of five writers—were summering in a Connecticut village, a dear old place whose every ancient house had a history, and whose tombstones recorded the seventeenth century. The husband of the lady also painted. The red-headed poetess—not his wife—called him "Cazin." She had a voluptuous figure, and constant vivacity. The red-headed girl could sing, and she was the only one who could make Cazin smile. He wrote verses full of glooms, and his principal belief was unbelief. While acknowledging the delicate beauty of his work, you felt like squirming away from it. Even the red-headed girl got to believing in celibacy, and divers other reversals of nature's laws. And as to Cazin—he never wrote anything that gripped, that lasted. He dwelt too much on decay, and forgot the vernal side of nature. The "team work" was not perfect. And Zane Grey—well, every book he writes seems to outdo the one preceding. He writes about real things in a real way, still with that little reserve that suggests rather than expresses mystery.

And here is Thomas Hardy, who within the same six months consummated his second marriage, and brought out his book of short stories under the significant title of "A Changed Man"—for the better, of course. Weddings or attempted weddings, and marriage ceremonies are the theme of seven out of twelve of these stories, and one is a philopena—two weddings with the same bride, which take place on two succeeding days! There you have it! The blind little god and genius! Although Edwin Markham declares

"Defeat may serve as well as victory
To shake the soul and let the glory out."

But genius burned in blessed solitude for Miss M. P. Willcocks, when she wrote "The Will to Live." "It was mainly composed during a lonely summer," she says, "spent in a one-roomed hut in a wild valley of Dartmoor. The hut itself, once a weigh hut for a quarry, had been fitted with sleeping bunks and an open fireplace." Here, beginning each day by a dip in the "moor" stream, she wrote most of the chapters, to be routed out at last by the eerie hooting of owls through the summer nights. That was courage, as far as it went—and it went a good way. And genius was quite sufficient to herself, without the presence of the little blind god.

I knew two author folk who had married each other and who remained unfashionably in love. But after their dainty, chatty home breakfast together, they went to their appointed tasks. They lunched separately, and although in the same house made no incursions upon each other's time excepting to gain information upon some literary point. There was a ground glass in her study door, and at a certain hour of evening she would see his shadow thrown by the light behind, broadening up the hall. There was a glad, foolish five minutes, a-grabbing for wraps, and an excursion to a certain little red room, where they had their special table in the corner. Then there was eager chatting, comparing of notes, and much giggling, and surreptitious squeezing of hands under the table, and flirting of eyes. Were they a success? If money is a measure, they were.

I think that I have mentioned the fact that an author is never too famous to feel the warmth creep up when he meets with appreciation of his work. It is told that Alexander Irvine overheard a woman in a New York book shop ask for "My Lady of the Chimney Corner." Receiving an affirmative reply, she next asked: "How many copies have you?" There were only five left in stock. "I'll take them all," she announced. A pardonable approbativeness at once got busy in Mr. Irvine, and he stepped up to the lady, modestly announcing himself, and offering to autograph the books for her, if she would care to have him. Of course she would care. It made every copy worth its weight in gold to the happy lady.

During the writing of "The Treasure," Kathleen Norris came upon one of her maids reading the manuscript. Now "The Treasure" has to do with a home problem, the servant question being represented.

"Why, this here has a lot about servants and running a kitchen in it, hasn't it, ma'am?" exclaimed the servant.

Mrs. Norris acknowledged the corn with due modesty, admitting that the book presented "some modern phases of an old subject, with a suggested solution."

"Well, you certainly ought to be able to make it vivid—you had enough trouble with servants." But the eyes of the maid were perfectly artless.

SOCIETY.

Hemet.

MRS. WILLIAM ALVAH HILL and Mrs. Alger Fast were hostesses of a reception to meet Miss Katherine Gregg at the Fast home last Saturday afternoon. Miss Gregg is the guest of Mrs. Hill at Hotel Hemet. Mmes. Daniel Drayton Whitten and John M. Clayton assisted in receiving and ushered the guests to the dining-room, where Mrs. Jennie Fast poured and was assisted in serving the dainty luncheon course by Miss Gertrude Rives and Mrs. George Boalich. Mrs. Raymond Ricard and Miss Edith Weston were at the punch bowl. The receiving rooms were decorated in pink and white, large masses of peach and apricot blossoms being used to create the pretty effects. More than a hundred ladies took advantage of the pleasant opportunity thus offered to meet Miss Gregg.

Faculty Club members of the Hemet High School were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Hanna last Saturday night. The guests numbered sixteen. After a discussion of modern school methods by Miss Rosa Waugh, the hostesses served an enjoyable luncheon course.

Perris.

REV. AND MRS. J. B. LONG, Mrs. J. F. Hook and Miss Tina Hook motored to Claremont Tuesday to attend a lecture given by Dr. George Palmer of Harvard University.

Miss Margery Reynolds and two young men of Upland were week-end guests of Miss Virginia Greenleaf.

Miss Lily Thompson of Ontario was an over-Sunday guest of Mrs. J. B. Long.

Miss Genevieve Stewart was hostess at a week-end house party. The guests were Misses Florence Belcher, Gaile Wisdom, and Ethel Gibson, Messrs. Arthur Cocking, Clinton Campbell and Wallace Beebe.

Brawley.

ONE of the prettiest weddings ever seen in Brawley was performed Sunday afternoon, when Miss Anna Louise Gay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Gay, was united in marriage with Roy Franklin Rae of Imperial. The ceremony was performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Dunn and was a violet wedding, the scheme being carried out in violet and green. With the curtains drawn and the lights showing through the violet shades of the electrolier on the ropes of smilax and asparagus plumosus tied with violet tulle, the effect was very beautiful. After the guests had assembled Cecil Franklin rendered, "Oh, Promise Me," which was followed by the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin," played by Mrs. Mary Cooke, as the bridal party approached. From the left down the stairway, came Mrs. D. L. Morse, the matron of honor, dressed in a pale yellow gown of crepe de chine. Mrs. Morse carried a bouquet of yellow acacia tied with violet ribbon. Following the matron of honor came the bride, escorted by her father, George C. Gay. The bride's dress was of handkerchief linen, handsomely embroidered with garnitures of Irish crochet. For her shower bouquet she carried delicate pink stock tied with white ribbon.

Mrs. Mary Cooke, assisted by Miss Reece, entertained at dinner Monday evening, complimentary to "Dolly" Stark, the noted baseball star, whose generalship enabled the Brawley team to win the season's pennant. Covers were laid for Messrs. Stevenson, Hobgood, Alley, Franklin, Carter, Meeks, Kendall, Stark, Johnson, D. Whittenberg, Roy Stilgenbaur, Ralph Stilgenbaur and Neil Combs.

Ontario.

DELEGATES from Riverside, Redlands, Highland, Rialto, Chino, Cucamonga, Ppland, Pomona, Colton and San Bernardino to the number of nearly 150 enjoyed the reciprocity day meeting and luncheon at which the members of the Current Events Club were hostesses Tuesday afternoon. The women first gathered for a social hour and exchange of greetings after which all adjourned to the dining-room of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, where on tables beautifully decorated in dainty pink peach blossoms, a tempting luncheon was served in courses. Following the luncheon Mrs. G. Ben Henke, soprano, favored the gathering with three vocal selections and Mrs. Ralph G. Spencer pleased with a number of readings. Delegates from each club responded by telling what their particular club had accomplished during the year, and ways and means for the betterment and financial prosperity of the various organizations were discussed at length. On the Reciprocity Committee, which was largely responsible for the success of the affair, were Mrs. C. Y. James, chairman; Mrs. E. P. Millard, Mrs. Lewis Hugo Mertz, Mrs. Oliver D. Chapman, Mrs. Charles Crombie Allen, Mrs. Nathaniel L. Mitchell, Mrs. Peter Thatcher, Mrs. Isaac Jones, Mrs. Josiah S. Huntoon, Mrs. John S. Armstrong, Mrs. Charles L. Lampkin and Mrs. George B. Sell.

Prominent among the pretty events of the early Lenten season was that of Tuesday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. May entertained in compliment to their house guest, Mrs. C. W. Whitman. The color note of the decorations was green, and the same plan was carried out in refreshments, which followed a tournament at Five Hundred. The first prizes were captured by Miss Josephine Wackerman and George B. Sell, while the consolations fell to Mr. and Mrs. C. Y. James. Mrs. Whitman was awarded the guest prize, a souvenir spoon of Ontario, in sterling silver. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. C. Y. James, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Berg, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Rayner, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Garbutt, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fallis, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Sell, Mrs. Whitman, Mrs. Ira Otis Middaugh, Mrs. Tritt, Miss T. Wackerman, Miss Josephine Wackerman, Harvey S. Abbott and Elwin A. Magill.

Elsinore.

THE Art and Travel Study Club continued its study of Rome at the meeting Monday evening at Miss Drake's studio. Miss Drake gave a talk on modern Rome—from the standpoint of art—the Vatican and art galleries being described in a most interesting manner. Miss Beatrice Clark continued her synopsis of Hawthorne's "Marble Faun." Refreshments of punch and cake were served.

The Elsinore Woman's Club never before gave a more enjoyable evening than Friday evening, when they played "David Copperfield" for their husbands and a few friends at the home of Mrs. J. A. Crane, the club president. The Murdstones, Mr. Barkis, Mr. Peggoty and dear old Peggoty, the Micawbers, Uriah Heap, Betsy Trotwood, David, his mother, Stetreforth, Emily, Mrs. Heap, Miss Mowcher, Dr. Strong and Anna, Mrs. Marhelhim and Dora and Agnes were given. After the play Mrs. Frances D. Frothingham gave a scene from "The Tempest."

Fresno.

MR. AND MRS. HARRY AUSTIN WHITE entertained at a delightful evening of bridge Tuesday evening, in which over a score of friends participated. The living-rooms were made attractive with a profusion of peach blossoms, jonquils and roses. At the close of the games tempting dainties were served. Those who enjoyed Mr. and Mrs. White's hospitality were: Messrs. and Mmes. Jesse Blattenberger, Felix Loher, Robert N. Peterson, H. E. Patterson, Mrs. J. C. Ford, Misses Julia Harris, Martha Harris, Edna Baldwin, Gladys Baldwin, Mildred Hicks, Elizabeth Nayson, Lieunna Gilbert, Zoe Glascoe, Ilma Perrin, Minnie Marshall, Margaret Clark, Marcia Edwards, Messrs. Jack Cullum, Francis Paul Burk, Sanford Rich, Jake Phillips, Will Marshall, George Whitman, Ben Brown, Ranken, Herbert Levy and Reed Schaeffer.

Complimenting Miss Olive Williams of Los Angeles, Mrs. John Bartram entertained Tuesday afternoon at her home on L street. The hours were spent in cards. After the scores had been summed up and the prizes awarded, a dainty luncheon was served at a prettily-decked table. The guests included: Miss Williams, Miss Bess Havner, Jessie Bernham, Beulah Litscomb, and Mmes. W. P. Bowen, Fay Bartram, L. A. Bobo, J. I. Southwick, C. E. Barnhauer and John Bartram.

Dr. Neil Jorgensen has returned from a several months' sojourn spent in Europe, where he took a course in medical research.

Duarte.

SEVERAL delightful parties have been given recently, at which Duarte's society maids and matrons have been pleasantly honored. Friday afternoon of last week Mrs. Milford L. Hutchinson opened her home at the Swiss chalet in honor of a group of friends, who were entertained at Five Hundred, followed by a collation. The Duarte ladies present were: Mmes. Arthur Church, Andrew Ryder, Joseph Fowler, C. H. Sarwine, Bruce Radabaugh, Walter K. Shaw and J. Allan Munro.

Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Langsdorf have been entertaining Mrs. Langsdorf's brother, David S. Tappan of Hinan Province, South China, and on Sunday gave an informal family dinner in his honor.

The thirty-five ladies of the Duarte Reading Circle were tendered a prettily-appointed March reception by Mrs. Ludie Gerhart Cross at her ranch home, Tuesday afternoon, between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock. During the afternoon Mrs. C. Henry Sarwine contributed readings, and at 4 o'clock tea was temptingly served in the dining-room by the hostess.

The Buena Vista Whist Club, one of the oldest card organizations in the San Gabriel Valley, met Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ryder were the host and hostess of the twenty-four members.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Piper of Ft. William, Can., were the honored guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Rutledge and Miss Hammond on Monday at a dinner party.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ryder entertained Tuesday evening a score of guests, who go under the caption of the Azusa de Duarte Card Club.

PROF. C. IRVIN ALTHOUSE,

NOTED ASTROLOGER AND PALMIST OF NATIONAL FAME AND REPUTATION.

STUDIO PARLORS, 539½ S. BROADWAY.
A RESIDENT OF LOS ANGELES 30 YEARS.

PROF. ALTHOUSE is an experienced practitioner in the science of modern ASTROLOGY, by which he has made many REMARKABLE PREDICTIONS. The horoscope shows the powerful influence of the planets in ALL AFFAIRS OF LIFE. It shows diseases, deaths, love and marriage, financial affairs, investments, changes, talents, environments, about children, relatives; when and where to travel, what to seek or avoid; when in danger of losses, troubles, etc., etc.; also your good periods coming—GIVING DATES of these events for the FUTURE.

PROF. ALTHOUSE read E. H. Sothern, Nat Goodwin, Schumann-Heink, Gadski, Admiral Schley, David Starr Jordan, ex-Gov. Pardee, ex-Senator Clark, Senator Smoot, Baron Rothschild, Gen. Chaffee, Edison, Sousa, Modjeska, Sembrich, Julia Marlowe, Anna Held, Jefferson, Capt. Hobson, Lillian Russell, Calve, Admiral Evans, H. E. Huntington, etc.

EXPERT PALM READING. READINGS BY MAIL.

DR. J. A. LARSON writes: "Your reading was the most satisfactory I ever had in my life. I know a great deal about these sciences, and I consider your work the most THOROUGH and RELIABLE of any reader in the United States."

PROF. ALTHOUSE'S wonderful proficiency in the casting of HOROSCOPES and in HAND reading has brought him a LARGE and SUCCESSFUL PRACTICE. The most private confidences are reposed in him, and his advice is sought in the most difficult and critical circumstances. Personal attention given. STRICT PRIVACY. HIGHEST GRADE OF WORK that skill and many years of experience can produce. HIGH CLASS PATRONAGE solicited.

Daily and evenings, Sunday, 10 to 4.
STUDIO PARLORS, 539½ S. BROADWAY.

PERSONAL—

MRS. MASON,

the noted palmist of London, England, may be consulted at 322 S. SPRING ST., by those desiring CAREFUL, CONSCIENTIOUS AND SCIENTIFIC HAND READINGS, FROM ONE OF THE FOREMOST PALMISTS OF THE DAY.

The earnest student and thinker will soon learn in his investigations along psychological lines that that which pertains to occult phenomena proper can readily be distinguished from crude and oft-exposed SLEIGHT-OF-HAND TRICKS, the most common of which is the telling of the subject's name, age, etc., AFTER HE HIMSELF HAS WRITTEN THAT information.

PALMISTRY HONESTLY PRACTICED WILL NOT tell you your name, but it WILL give you information of considerably greater value in every-day life.

Your vocation, your present line of work, matters of health and domestic life, financial conditions and ways and means of climbing out of a rut of ill luck into wide paths of success and prosperity, can all be told you through scientific palmistry, WITHOUT A SINGLE QUESTION, WRITTEN OR VERBAL.

MRS. MASON DOES NOT APPEAL TO IGNORANT SUPERSTITION, BUT TO THE FINEST INTELLIGENCE.

HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.

PERSONAL— PERSONAL.

Address Y, box 358, TIMES BRANCH OFFICE.

WANTED—AN AMBITIOUS, EXPERIENCED MAN.

A successful and established corporation, that chiefly deals in farm lands, wants an experienced and successful man to add to their working organization. We desire a man of large experience in the land business in California, particularly farm lands. He must be able to point to several years of successful effort, either in his own behalf or for others. Reputation for dependable integrity, ability to handle men, to personally close sales and to go into the field and demonstrate to a salesman how "to do it," must be established.

This is an excellent opportunity for one who has, perhaps, reached the limits of success in his present surroundings and is big enough for our work. The work will be a combination of sales making and executive duties—practically, of official standing, with pleasant environment. We are willing to pay well for the right man's services. Write for appointment, giving complete details. Address V, box 391, TIMES BRANCH OFFICE.

WANTED—

Are you a salesman?

Can you sell anything?

Are you willing to work?

Technical experience not necessary. Good recommendations, energy and personality wanted. We have the opportunity. You can make more money in this office than any place in Los Angeles with the same amount of effort. Call between 8:30 and 9 o'clock Monday morning and ask for Mr. Armstrong, 901 STORY BLDG., Los Angeles.

WANTED—SEVERAL LIVE, ENERGETIC, NEAT-appearing salesmen. To qualify you must have pleasing personality and be able to interest housewives immediately. This is not a house-to-house proposition of the ordinary character. The work is in connection with the largest mercantile institutions in Los Angeles and only the highest type of salesmen can qualify. We want the very best and will pay salary and commission, both of which are liberal and intended to attract the type and character of salesmen we need. Call at 214 GROSSE BLDG.

WANTED—

MAN TO MAN.

Are you satisfied, really contented, with your present work? No? What's the matter? Are you not doing as well as you know you are capable of doing? Do you want the chance of doing better? If you do, I will give it to you. Are you a farm-land salesman, or are you a man who wants to learn the profitable vocation of selling first-class farm lands, the highest-paid branch of the real estate business? A man should not care whether he is earning 1 per cent. or 50 per cent., so long as the amount of money he has coming at the end of each month is more than he ever earned before. If the land you are now selling is not selling fast enough, come in and let me put you against the biggest, best, livest-selling farm-land subdivision in Southern California. Any time after 8 o'clock a.m. Ask for MR. REHBEIN, The JAMES R. H. WAGNER CO., 631 S. Spring st., Second Floor Realty Board Bldg.

PROFITABLE CROPS
GOOD MARKETS AND SHIPPING FACILITIES

We have a body of good land for rent, 48 miles east of Los Angeles, in the south end of the celebrated Fontana tract.

This is good, rich, mellow soil. Abundant water, delivered in concrete conduits. Good domestic water supply.

There is a line of crops which can be planted on this land this spring and make good money. A man with little capital can start himself owning his own productive farm.

Spring is here—there is plenty of time—but no time to waste. TOMORROW—RIGHT AWAY.

FOR SALE—
ARE YOU GOING TO BUY AN INCUBATOR?
If so, it would be well to follow the men that make hatching a business and that have had years of experience. During the last two months we have sold and delivered incubators to the following hatcheries—NO OTHER INCUBATOR EVER OFFERED AT ANY PRICE HAS EVER EQUALLED THIS RECORD.
Write to any of these men and ask them what they think of the "Pioneer" Incubator:
The Schellville Hatchery, Sonoma, P.O., Cal.
Hosford Magnolia Hatchery, Riverside, Cal.
Arlington Chick Ranch (T. G. Richard, Prop.) Arlington, Cal.
Oswald D. Robertson, Arlington, Cal.
Hubells' 10,000-Hen Ranch, Van Nuys, Cal.
A. G. Rowe, Inglewood, Cal. (Success Hatchery.)
Hayward Hatchery, Hayward, Cal.
Poultry Judge J. D. Yates, Modesto, Cal.
Roodden Hatchery, Campbell, Cal.
A. Worel's Hatchery, Napa, Cal.
J. Nasse's Hatchery, Santa Rosa, Cal.
Payson Poultry Farm, Payson, Utah.
These men have purchased these machines in lots of as many as 30 at one time, others order 20, another man 11 and another 5, all of them being the 540-egg size latest "PIONEER" Incubator.
If you want a real incubator, and the highest-class hot-water incubator on the American market, we have it. Free 32-page catalogue to all who send or ask. THE PIONEER HATCHERY, 113 East Eighth.

MINING—

DOWN IN PIMA COUNTY, ARIZONA, WE ARE OFfering the Black Prince Group at what we call a sacrifice. The ore is Steel Galena carrying copper, silver, lead; one car shipped by present owner gave gross returns of $44 per ton. This property is near the Ajo Mines and near the Horseshoe Basin of Placer fame and is within six miles of the E.P. & S.W.R.R. survey, said to be building from Tucson to the Ajo Mines. The ore has been opened up on these claims in five different places. No workings over thirty feet; vein in places measures fifteen feet on top of ground. If you want what we term the best undeveloped grass-root property where wood and water is easily accessible, come and see us in preson for full particulars. We will also guarantee that you find the property as we represent it or we pay all expenses of trip in full.
We also have a complete ten-stamp gold mill of the Allis Chalmers equipment, modern and up-to-date with power for twenty stamps. This mill was run only eight days and has been looked after by watchman all the time. Will sell this mill and its equipment including concentrating and slime tables with crushers, bins, plates and everything up-to-date at a complete sacrifice. Call or address,
HAZELWOOD BROTHERS,
Home Phone F7944. Suite 420 California Bldg.

OKELL CORE DRILLS DO THE WORK PROPerly and economically, and test your ore bodies. If you really want to know the truth about that property and what it contains, get one of the machines to extract a core that is five inches in diameter, and you need not guess one minute. Write us for particulars.

AMERICANS IN MEXICO CITY ARE ARMED FOR DEFENSE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

VERA CRUZ, March 7.—Following the recent disappearance from this city to the British and German legations in Mexico City of machine guns and squads of trained gunners, arrangements have been made to place in the hands of all Americans capable of bearing arms weapons for self-defense in the event of an uprising in the Mexican capital.

A shipment of 1000 rifles and a large amount of ammunition arrived recently by steamer from the United States. Of the rifles 250 were sent to the capital. The remaining 750 were placed on board the flagship Florida for disposal at the discretion of Admiral Fletcher.

The shipment was made with the concurrence of the Mexican govern-

MEXICO FEDERAL BANK.

Bankers Oppose the Plan and Cabinet Members Discuss Question of Abandoning the Idea.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MEXICO CITY, March 7.—Abandonment of a proposed plan to re-establish a Federal bank through which the government could issue its own currency, was discussed today at the palace.

The idea, it is said, met with the opposition of Adolfo de la Lama, Minister of Finance, and the antagonism toward it by the regular banks was undisguised. The announced intention to establish the Federal bank was one of the reasons for the high rate of exchange today, although there were some evidences that the increase was artificial. The National Bank was one of the heaviest buyers of exchange.

The exchange rate stiffened toward the closing of the market, when the selling rate dropped from 350 to 335.

Light fighting north and west of Torreon was reported to the War Department today by Gen. Velasco, who said that he had repulsed the enemy in both directions.

Supporting the rumor that President Huerta intends temporarily to leave the Presidency and assume command of a division of the army, Gil Blas, a Spanish newspaper, today devoted much space discussing the probability of such action by the Executive.

Secretary of State Bryan has instructed Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American Charge d'Affaires, to urge the government to release Inocencio Benavides, said to be an American resident on the frontier, arrested several days ago by Federal troops and charged with being implicated in the rebellion.

This affair promises to develop into an important incident, since the authorities appear to have no information concerning the whereabouts of Benavides and the Embassy has been unable to find him.

ART IN BANKRUPTCY.

But that Is Not Saying that Art Even in the "Loop District" of Chicago Is Bankrupt.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, March 7.—Receivers for the art firm of Moulton & Ricketts began search today for valuable paintings said to have been disposed of by the bankrupt firm when it realized that failure was inevitable. The involuntary bankruptcy disclosed liabilities of nearly $1,000,000 and assets of about $200,000.

Rob Roy Ricketts, head of the defunct firm, admitted today before the referee in bankruptcy that he had shipped nearly 100 paintings to creditors during the last three weeks. He also admitted sending pictures as gifts to friends. Some of these paintings were the work of old masters.

A similar investigation in New York City is said to have disclosed the fact that a large number of canvases were removed at night, March 6, from the eastern branch galleries of the concern.

ONE GERMAN IN PARIS.

There Are Others There, Too, But This One Blocked Traffic in a Certain Boulevard.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, March 6.—Traffic was brought to a standstill in one of the boulevards today when a tall German, attired in a long black gown, appeared in the roadway, shouting in a loud voice: "I am the prophet Daniel, hear ye."

The man then displayed a large sheet of calico, on which was printed in red letters:

"A great wind will fall upon Paris and every one will be swept to the clouds—above all, above all, the inhabitants of the Boulevard Saint Germain."

I. AUGUSTUS STANWOOD.

Man Who Caught Idea of Making Paper From Wood by Watching Hornets, Dies at Brooklyn.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 7.—I. Augustus Stanwood, who, watching hornets hunt their nests half a century ago, conceived the idea of manufacturing paper from wood, and thus became, it is said, the first producer of paper from wood pulp, is dead at his Brooklyn home. Before his discovery, paper was made chiefly from rags. Mr. Stanwood was 75 years old.

THE OIL LEASING BILL.

Representative Church Is Expecting a Number of Californians to Make Themselves Heard About It.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 7.—Representative Church is looking for a number of oil men from his district to attend the hearings on the leasing bill before the House Committee on Public Lands March 25. He said today he expected opposition from the oil producers to the provision that would permit owners of pipe lines to lease oil lands. He thinks the bill, as it stands, would permit pipe line owners to do this. Representative Stephens was advised today the hearings on the leasing bill would last a week.

FACT AND COMMENT.

The building ordinances of Los Angeles, even with the numerous amendments added in the past few years, contain many provisions that invite criticism. It is interesting and agreeable to note, therefore, that steps are being taken to correct some of the faults still existing, and that the city is waking up to the necessity for certain improvements to meet present requirements.

One of the changes just introduced has to do with the construction of fire escapes. The amendment, which will go into effect on March 25, will do away with an old law that allowed practically no latitude in the designing of the railings and ladders making up the average fire escape and will permit a builder to introduce a little variety in the makeup of these structures. The fire escapes of the future will not be any less safe and serviceable, but it is a foregone conclusion that they will be generally more ornamental.

The average Los Angeles fire escape today is about as beautiful as an iron truck or a piece of rusty machinery. It constitutes a defacement on otherwise attractive buildings and is the despair of architects generally. Time after time builders with a sense of the artistic have attempted to design fire escapes along lines other than the straight rod and support type demanded by law, only to run up against the ordinances. Others have tried to hide these [illegible] with elaborate balconies and ornamental devices and [illegible] nights puzzling out ways and means of overcoming the handicap to beautiful and artistic designing imposed by the legal fire escape. A glance at most of the important buildings of Los Angeles will reveal how [illegible] these efforts have been.

Under the amended ordinance it will be possible to vary the shape, [illegible] arrangement of the different portions of the fire escape, allowing for originality and possibly even [illegible] ingenuity bordering upon the [illegible]. The plans for such structures will, it is true, have to be passed upon by the Board of Public Works, but this is just, in view of the fact that the first requirement of a fire escape, ugly or sightly, is to [illegible] safety for the occupants of a building. The possibilities of wrought iron and steel in the field of ornamentation are practically limitless and the new amendment is an encouragement to architects and metal workers to demonstrate their ability [illegible]. The amended fire escape ordinance may mean much in working out of the city beautiful—more, in fact, than would be [illegible] from a casual consideration.

It looks as though after many years of disappointment and delay, Sunset boulevard might be in a fair way to being completed. False hopes have been raised before and those who have labored to bring about this improvement have, ere this, folded their hands restfully and waited for the work to go ahead, but this time it appears likely that even the expected protests from the kickers against the improvement will be in vain.

The City Council revealed a commendable spirit when its members went in a body last Thursday to study conditions existing in the boulevard [illegible] district. That visit will probably be an epochal one in the history of the Sunset boulevard improvement, marking, as it apparently does, the end of the whole sorry tale. The boulevard work had dragged on for so long that all but the bravest spirits had almost given up hope of the undertaking's ever being carried through.

The completion of Sunset boulevard will mean more than the mere carrying out of an enterprise of great benefit to Los Angeles. It will redeem the city from a situation that may only be described as disgraceful. That any city, let alone Los Angeles, which is commonly supposed to be a live place with metropolitan aspirations, should have started a project of such far-reaching and demonstrably beneficial effects, and have brought it almost to completion and then have lain down on the work is, in plain English, disgusting.

Once finished to the Plaza, the usefulness of the boulevard will be enormously increased. Automobilists instead of being forced to turn off at the Sister's Hospital, bump along over a bit of rough street and then pour down the west side of Bunker Hill to clog up the Third-street tunnel and the already congested intersections of Sixth street, will be enabled to enter Spring, Broadway and Main from the north end of the business district. Thus will Sunset boulevard be serving the purpose for which it was intended and relieving a traffic condition that has become intolerable.

The next thing on the programme of north-end improvements should be the opening of a tunnel or cut from Temple street to Sunset boulevard paralleling the Pacific Electric line to Hollywood. This tunnel, already under discussion, will divide the boulevard traffic in such a way as to greatly facilitate entrance and exit between the downtown district and all the northwest above Temple street. It will furthermore mean everything to the advancement of Hill street.

VAN NUYS HIGH SCHOOL.

Los Angeles Architects Commissioned to Draw Plans for Splendid San Fernando Valley Edifice.

The architectural firm of Allison & Allison has been commissioned to prepare plans for the $120,000 Polytechnic High School group to be built at Van Nuys and for which the people of the progressive San Fernando city recently voted bonds. Several buildings will be constructed and these will probably be of brick. The architects are now preparing sketches.

The contract for the erection of the buildings of the projected Inglewood High School group, plans for which were recently drawn by Norman F. Marsh, has been let to Nance & Phelps. The structures will be of brick construction and are to be modernly appointed. A perspective of the group was recently published exclusively in The Times.

CLOSE-IN IMPROVEMENTS.

Plans Under Way for Four-Story Hotel on Sixth Near Figueroa and Apartments Near Fourth.

Plans are being drawn by Arthur S. Heineman for a four-story brick store and hotel building to be erected by Herbert J. Goudge on Sixth street near Figueroa. W. S. Heineman has the contract to construct the building, which will contain two stores on the ground story and sixty rooms on the upper three floors. The site is 46x150 feet in size.

A. S. O'Neil, of Webb & O'Neil, is having plans drawn for a four-story brick apartment-house, which he will erect on Figueroa street near Fourth. The building, it is annuocnde, will contain 110 rooms and will be 50x150 feet in size.

WHOLESALE LEASE.

The W. Ross Campbell Company, through L. H. Buell of its leasing department, reports having leased to B. F. Kieruif, Jr., & Co., an electrical equipment house, a portion of the third floor of the Aristo building, at Nos. 751-61 South Los Angeles street. The lease is for a number of years and involves a given rental consideration for the term of $20,000.

Here's a Broadway Lease Snap

—a progressive location
—a sure-fire money maker
—very reasonable rental

Read this Description

This is a handsome white terra cotta, seven-story building and basement which was built especially for commercial purposes and which is right in the heart of the fastest-growing, most active section of the advanced business district.

It stands on a frontage of 50 feet and extends back 85 feet to an alley. Large windows and the absence of obstructions at front, rear or sides give it exceptional light.

This structure is equipped with two commodious passenger elevators near the entrance and a spacious freight elevator opening to the alley. The interior is finished throughout in white and is very attractive. Each floor is provided with well-appointed washrooms and lavatories. A clean, bright basement covers the entire ground space.

Broadway soon will be opened from Tenth Street to Pico. This alone will directly and immediately influence values and leases in this section of the city, making it an exceptional bargain NOW. We wouldn't venture to say what the increase will be in the next FEW Years.

This lease can be secured for 15 years, the first five years at nominal rental, the second at a slight increase and the third five years in proportion.

The building is suitable for high-class salesrooms, manufacturers' agents, tailoring, etc. We would suggest that you get in touch with us quickly, as somebody with a well-developed bump of foresight is surely going to quickly see the present and future possibilities of this lease. Rosenheim was the architect.

North-End Deals.

VALUABLE BUNKER HILL SITES SOLD.

IMPROVEMENTS WILL FOLLOW REALTY TRANSFERS.

Northeast Corner of Fifth and Hope and Lot on Flower Street Near First Bought by Two Local Investors — Total Consideration Over Hundred Thousand.

W. W. Mines & Co. report two close-in transfers representing an aggregate consideration of $125,000. In both instances the deals involved properties in the Bunker Hill district, where there is now said to be a considerable inquiry for real estate.

The larger of the deals was the sale for E. T. Pierce to a local investor of the northeast corner of Fifth and Hope streets, comprising a site 65x144 feet in size, partially occupied by a three-story apartment-house. The consideration is given at $65,000. The purchaser contemplates building an addition to the improvement now on the property.

The other transaction was the sale for F. W. Braun to a local investor of the property at No. 141 North Flower street. The site is 50x165 feet in dimensions and is improved with a three-story frame apartment-house. The price in this instance is reported at $60,000.

SOUTH FIGUEROA SALE.

Investor Buys Close-in Site and Will Build Substantial Improvement. Cottage to Be Removed.

Leon A. Conklin, who recently opened an office for himself at No. 812 Hellman building, after having withdrawn from the firm of Conklin & Mahoney, reports the sale for A. R. Mains to D. D. Sayer, of the property at No. 1223 South Figueroa street. The consideration is given at $50,000.

The site is 50x150 feet in size and is now occupied by a cottage. This will be removed to the rear of the lot, the front of which will be substantially improved as soon as a deal for a tenant can be closed.

LEASES OWN PROPERTY.

Owner of Young Apartments at Seventeenth and Grand Buys Back Management from His Tenant.

W. F. Young, owner of the Young apartments at the northwest corner of Seventh street and Grand avenue, has purchased the lease, furniture and equipment of the property from R. L. Chapin, his lessee. Chapin secured a ten-year lease on the Young about two and a half years ago from the agency of E. M. Whilton at a given rental of $170,000. This lease was made at the beginning of the construction of the building, which was beautifully and completely furnished, when completed, by Chapin.

The Young was planned by R. B. Young & Son, is one of the finest and most substantial structures of its kind on the Pacific Coast. It is of fireproof construction, being of the reinforced concrete type. The frontages are faced with pressed brick, and the trim is of terra cotta. The building is five stories high over a full basement and fronts 141 feet on Seventeenth street and 61 feet on Grand avenue. It contains 170 rooms, divided into two three and four-room apartments, and is richly finished throughout.

Young gives as his reason for purchasing from Chapin the lease and furniture contained in the building owned by him the fact that he considers that his investment would be better if he had complete control of the entire property. Young has selected Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Clough, formerly of Boston, as managers of the apartments. Clough came to Los Angeles about four months ago and took the position of assistant manager of the Rex Arms. He is an experienced hotel man.

The deal was closed through Whilton & Hahn, who also report leasing to Mrs. Grace M. Terry of this city a forty-room apartment-house just completed at the northwest corner of Fourteenth and Magnolia streets. The house is a two-story and basement brick building and is owned by Milton K. Young. The lease is for ten years and calls for a given total rental of $36,000.

FOR TEN-YEAR TERM.

New Apartments on Hollywood Boulevard Leased to Hotel Company—Now Ready for Occupancy.

Involving a given total rental consideration of $110,835, the new Hollywood apartments, Garfield place and Hollywood boulevard, was last week leased for ten years to the Hollywood Apartment Company, Robert Marsh & Co. acting for both parties to the transaction.

The Hollyood is the newest of the many new Hollywood apartment buildings, contains 135 rooms, and is equipped with all up-to-date built-in features. It is built around a spacious court. Negotiations were conducted by F. W. Parker, of the leasing department of the Marsh company.

TO LOCAL CAPITALISTS.

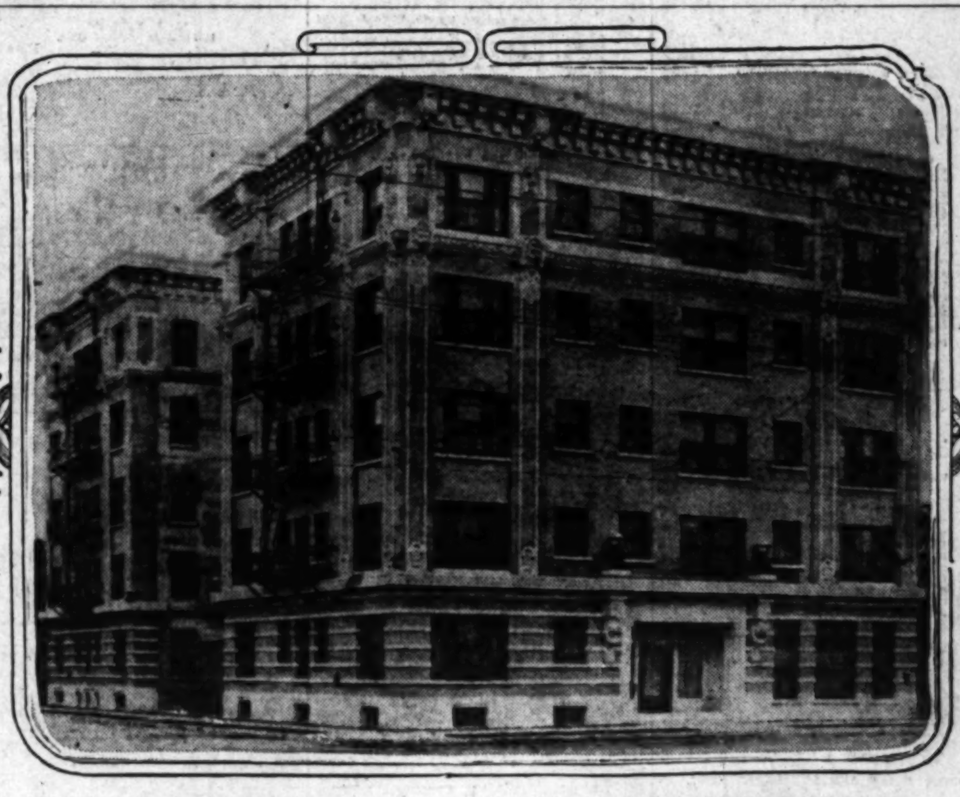
The Gilbert-Kirby Company reports the sale of a plaster house of the Spanish type in Westchester place to W. C. Thornton of Los Angeles, who made the purchase for a permanent home. The residence consists of twelve rooms and three baths, also segregated servant's quarters. The interior is in hardwood throughout. The lot has a frontage of 130 feet on Arlington street and is terraced and set with choice tropical plants. The consideration is reported at $25,000. A sixty-foot lot on Jefferson street, near Figueroa was taken in at a valuation of $200 a front foot. C. H. Scoby, a capitalist, formerly of Cincinnati, has purchased through the Gilbert-Kirby Company a highly-improved three-acre place between Wilmington and the new industrial city of Torrance.

ORANGE AND UNION.

W. F. Staunton has just sold to W. H. Willin, an eastern capitalist, the northwest corner of Orange street and Union avenue. The property has a frontage of 120 feet on Orange and a depth of 135 feet on Union. There is an attractive twelve-room residence on the lot. The purchase price is given at $36,000. John P. Holland of the John P. Holland Company represented both parties to the transaction.

PLAN ADDITION.

The Stetson-Barrett Company is having plans prepared by Edelman & Barnett for a five-story brick addition to its present building at Second street and Santa Fe avenue. The addition to the big wholesale grocery house will be 78x107 feet in dimensions and will correspond in design to the present structure.



Young apartments, Seventeenth street and Grand avenue.

Splendid fireproof property just leased through agency of Whilton & Hahn.

OUR idea of a home is one both PRACTICAL and ARTISTIC. By careful thought we manage to instill certain INDIVIDUALITY into each home.

It quite frequently happens that the PROSPECTIVE BUILDER'S IDEAS and PURSE do not correspond. In such cases our PRACTICAL knowledge comes to the rescue, and often where others have hopelessly FAILED, WE SUCCEED.

We build homes from the modern five-room cottage, at $900, to the most elaborate dwelling. It rests with the INDIVIDUAL entirely, what his home will cost. By concentrating our PURCHASING POWER, combined with our PRACTICAL knowledge, and being in a position to DISCOUNT our BILLS, we can, for a given quality of work, discount our competitors' prices.

We build either by contracts on a fixed fee of 10 per cent. of estimated cost of work, or on our own lots in Los Angeles, Hermosa Beach and San Pedro, on easy terms.

We make no additional charge for our Architectural services if we build, or if we fail to satisfy you both as to price and design.

Our REFERENCES are PEOPLE for whom we HAVE BUILT, who FREELY indorse us.

We make liberal building loans.

SPECIALS.

Just being completed on west side of Serrano, modern seven-room bungalow. Will sell on easy terms. A beauty. See it.

We have two high lots in Garvanza on which we will build to suit on easy terms.

WHAT IS A BARGAIN?

$2950.

A classy little home of 6 rooms, on a restricted southwest street, with hardwood floors and strictly modern finish and appointments. It's about like new, and located only a block from Adams st. You'll know a bargain when you see this. But the owner must sell quickly.

ASK THE BRIGGS COMPANY.

BIG VALUE HERE.

$5750.

This Wilshire bungalow of 7 rooms is located near Gramercy place and Third st. It belongs to a man who is leaving the city for good. You have the chance of a year to buy at low value a home worth a thousand dollars more money. The house is almost brand new. It has hardwood floors throughout, breakfast-room, furnace, 3 full bedrooms, garage and every complete comfort. It's the prettiest house in the block.

ASK THE BRIGGS COMPANY.

FINE WILSHIRE BUNGALOW.

$6800.

We believe this property to be well worth your attention. It compares favorably with anything offered today at $7500, and it has beauty as well as value to give you for your money. There are eight rooms, including a fine big upstairs sleeping-room with dressing-room adjoining. The appointments include all hardwood floors, breakfast-room, furnace and garage, and every room in the house is excellently planned. There is only one like it.

ASK THE BRIGGS COMPANY.

SOMETHING WORTH WHILE.

$8000.

Do you like high ground? And the closer-in Wilshire section? This handsome 8-room home is located almost on Normandie Hill, but half a block from car line, and surrounded by many of the best properties in the city. It is new, very complete, has every interior modern idea and finish, and is mighty good to look at outside, too. The lot, 50x150, has been artistically laid out and entirely planted to lawn. Buy it on terms if you like.

ASK THE BRIGGS COMPANY.

ON ST. ANDREWS PLACE.

$11,500.

No ten-room property in the city offers more to the discriminating purchaser than this house on St. Andrews place. The lot is 60x150, well improved, with garage, shrubbery, etc. The house is of the handsome chalet type, somewhat modified, with large porches and cement columns. The interior finish is oak and mahogany, the best of hardware, and every room large and sunny. In addition to living-room, library and dining-room, there are breakfast-room and maid's quarters below stairs. There are four bedrooms on the second floor, two baths, hardwood floors throughout, attic, furnace, automatic water heater, etc.

ASK THE BRIGGS COMPANY.

WHY NOT SAVE MONEY?

$18,750.

What we mean is this: If you buy without seeing this splendid home you will miss the chance to save $5000. You may save that sum because this house is offered just that much under value. It is only a block from Wilshire blvd., a fine, impressive, white cement plaster residence of 12 rooms, and built like a church. We know the builder. He has put his heart into this beautiful home; but he must sell it. The finish is in choice hardwoods; the rooms throughout are excellently planned; there is nothing lacking to a careful buyer's inspection; every comfort, every necessity is there. The house itself holds two baths, and there is another with two servants' rooms, in the garage.

ASK THE BRIGGS COMPANY.

AN UNUSUAL HOME.

$25,000.

We have on Normandie Hill a very high-class home to offer the man who wants comfort and solid value rather than showiness, and to whom location and completeness of detail in construction are better than the latest fad. There are fourteen rooms in all, a fine big lot, garage for several machines, etc. You may buy it furnished, if desired. We think enough has been said. We shall enjoy the privilege of showing you.

ASK THE BRIGGS COMPANY.

THE RESIDENCE BEAUTIFUL.

$32,500.

The last touch of the builder's art has been put upon this striking residence. It is of white cement plaster, with dull red tiled roof, the artistic lines being reminiscent of the French chateaux. It stands upon a fine corner, where an outlook may be had down two streets of handsome homes. The interior finish is of selected hardwoods, with every wall canvased and hand decorated. The tiles of the roof are laid in rubber cement upon heavy malthoid roofing. (Does this tell you anything of construction?) The lower floor contains drawing-room, library, billiard-room, dining-room, pantries and domestic apartments; the upper floor, five sleeping rooms and three baths. In addition, there is a two-story garage, with a bath and two servants' rooms on the second floor. We could fill this column with interesting facts about this house, but we will have to show you in person.

FOR SALE—
A corner lot 94x220, improved with a practically new 8-room bungalow. Strictly modern. Located within three blocks of Oneonta station, South Pasadena. Two years ago $12,500 was paid for this place. There has been some improvements since then. My client will now take $10,500 for it. There is a bank loan of $7000 on it, which is pretty good evidence that this price is way below value. $3000 cash will handle this.

FREMONT PLACE.

FREMONT PLACE.

FREMONT PLACE.

Fifty acres on a high ridge in the Wilshire district, cut into only 48 lots. In the best part of the best residence section, but with all the spaciousness of country life. The owners bought the land about eight years ago, at the low prices then prevailing, and this is the reason their prices can be relatively low.

The building protection ranges from $7500 to $15,000.

The improvements are the best and most complete, without exception, ever installed in this city. Sewers, water and gas, with lot connections, were laid before the asphalt pavement. There are four systems of underground conduits for telephones and electricity, avoiding poles in Fremont Place. A complete system of underground drainage avoids all surface ditches across street intersections.

So well planned and executed were these improvements that no damage resulted from the recent excessive rainfall.

Twelve hundred trees and shrubs, of seventy kinds, mostly rare, have been planted on the lots, as well as along the broad parkings.

Fremont Place extends along the high ground between Wilshire boulevard and the new hundred-foot private boulevard, Country Club Drive.

The streets are private. Each address is simply Fremont Place, with the lot number.

Over half of the building sites have been sold. The personal environment of your home is important. Call and see who have bought in Fremont Place.

Do not think, because of its beauty and completeness that the price is beyond you. Telephone for interview or inspection.

FOR SALE—
Builder, badly pinched for money, authorizes us to sell a block of lots bought by him for building purposes at a great sacrifice. This is an opportunity for an investor to double his money within the next few months, as the lots can be had as low as $400, and it does not take a great deal of money to handle. This price is from $200 to $400 under price of surrounding lots. Neighborhood well built up, all improvements in. Block fronts on Main st., with 5c car fare.

SPRING STREET BUY.

WITHIN THE PAST FEW WEEKS, JUDGE CONREY DECIDED THE VALUE OF THE SOUTHEAST CORNER OF SPRING AND SIXTH STREETS (80x150 FT.) AT $8333 PER FRONT FOOT, BASED UPON THE TESTIMONY OF EXPERT APPRAISERS IN HIS COURT, IN THE SUIT GROSSE VS. BARMAN. SO WE SPEAK BY THE CARD, AND WE DEFY ANY AGENTS TO APPROACH THE BARGAIN WE OFFER ON SPRING ST. IN PROBABLY THIS, THE BEST BLOCK ON THE STREET, WHEN WE REFER TO NO. 631-35 SOUTH SPRING (50x155 FT. TO AN ALLEY, WITH A SIX-STORY BUILDING WITH BASEMENT.)

THE PROPERTY IS OFFERED AT $325,000, OR PRACTICALLY $6000 PER FOOT (BUILDING COST $100,000;) LEASED FOR OVER SEVENTEEN YEARS AT 6 PER CENT. NET ON THIS PRICE. IT IS NOW WORTH, HOWEVER, $425,000, AND BY THE TIME THIS LEASE EXPIRES WILL BE WORTH $600,000, IN OUR OPINION.

ASSURED PROFIT IN LAND.

The population of America is growing rapidly, will ever continue thus, increasing demand for LAND products at same ratio approximately same percentage increase in price thereof.

So many acres of LAND in America, there can be no more; wise therefore are they who invest in LAND, especially "cheap" land.

Any good productive LAND, in any State, will yet command over $100 per acre; irrigable land in California will exceed $150.

In view of which, note the following: Three sections of the best land in San Joaquin Valley. Last season produced 35 sacks barley. Price $60 per acre. Will furnish tenant at $8 per acre, SECURED lease, for 5 years, or preferably 10 years; lessee pay TAXES. No doubt will command at least $150 per acre within five years.

FOR SALE—
THE REAL
LITTLE LANDERS
MOUNTAIN VILLAGE.

We are a colony of 300 families, forming a community which will be one year old on March 17.
To live outdoors in a garden.
"A small house—a large garden—a few dear friends—and many books."
To work for and with each other.
Combining in purchase of supplies, in sale of products, and in the organization of a rounded and satisfying social life.
To have a little land and a living surely—with poultry—hothouse, floral and vegetable gardening—pigeons and rabbits.
We already have 160 little homes and a fine clubhouse built.
We are only 16 miles from the heart of this city—at the rim-rock base of the high mountains in the Vale of Monte Vista—2000 feet above sea level. Just such a spot as millionaires and Little Landers only can afford to occupy. A refuge and retreat—a little land and a living.
The double residence lots equal in area two of the regular forty-foot city lots, and total cost only $250. Colony farm lots (equaling eight such city lots) only $1000. Easy monthly payments. Homespun gravel roads and soft mountain water in abundance.
Morning lectures on subject, "Can I Make a Living in Los Angeles?" each week-day, 10 a.m.
Auto trips each week-day at 11:30 a.m., after the lecture. Fare $1.00 round trip.
HOUSE OF THE LITTLE LANDERS,
929 S. Figueroa st., Los Angeles.

FOR SALE—

EL SEGUNDO.

NEW INDUSTRIAL SUBURB
OF LOS ANGELES.
Location of the Second Standard Oil Pacific Coast Refinery. Population makes land values, and pay rolls makes the cities rich. Everything at EL SEGUNDO looks like money. If EL SEGUNDO isn't a city of 15,000 people in a few years, if EL SEGUNDO isn't the home of a dozen or more of other great enterprises besides Standard Oil in less time than that, if many and many lots at EL SEGUNDO don't sell for five and ten times present prices, in less time than it has taken this great United States to build the Panama Canal, then EL SEGUNDO will be the only Standard Oil city in this whole big United States that hasn't produced those very results!
Think it over! Lots and acres at extremely low prices and on terms.

FOR SALE—

WHEN YOU THINK OF HOME,

CONSIDER SANTA MONICA.

Its climate, proximity to the ocean and mountains, absence of disagreeable features of the city, yet the markets and shopping advantages are available over four fast trolley routes.

Even though your business is in Los Angeles, you suffer no inconvenience—only a forty-minute, exhilerating ride, costing 20c a day.

We're above the low fog and below the high. Come out, let us show you some choice sites, large, near car line and schools. The price is our strong point, on easy terms, too.

If you can't come during the week, phone us for an appointment any time.

PROVEN CITRUS LANDS.
NORTH WHITTIER HEIGHTS.
PLANTED OR UNPLANTED TRACTS OF 5, 10, 15 AND 20 ACRES AND UP.

If you are looking for orange, lemon, grapefruit, and avocado lands or young planted groves, you will be interested to know the many advantages North Whittier Heights has to offer.

The property lies on the slopes of the Whittier hills, 16 miles from Los Angeles, in point of distance by steam railroad and good road boulevards.

It has the air, drainage and foothill protection which assures a protection from damaging frosts and winds and the soil and water conditions of this property are absolutely as good as the best of any of the older districts of the State. As a scenic location for a suburban home, it is without a peer in all the southland and it is being sold to experienced citrus growers and nurserymen of the surrounding districts.

We are selling either unplanted lands or tracts planted to orange, lemon, grapefruit, walnut and avocado trees and on easy terms if desired. We will also contract to care for groves for non-resident purchasers.

We shall be pleased to have you call for, phone or write for full information and descriptive folder of this property and, if you are interested, to take you out by auto to see the property and district.

LARGE ACREAGE TRACTS. WE SPECIALIZE IN LARGE RANCHES.

$20 per acre—1260 acres, 40 acres in prunes, sold 45 tons last year, $6000. 75 acres good soil and plow land. Balance good pasture. About 15,000,000 ft. redwood and pine. Good terms.

$20 per acre—1000 acres. Splendid improvements, plenty of water for irrigation. All fenced. 50 acres in cultivation. 80 acres has been. Is in the Thermal belt. Several hundred acres is level land, rich alluvial soil.

$10 per acre—33,000 acres on R.R. and river, with water right for 20,000 acres, 8000 acres in alfalfa, fenced, very extensive improvements.

$6.50 per acre—30,000 acres, only four miles from rail and water transportation. 30,000 acres more of government land used for range. Has carried 10,000 head of sheep and 1000 head of cattle; also 2000 acres of patented land, with water rights, which is used as a summer range on account of the water controls a large additional territory. One of the very best ranges in the State, having living streams the entire year.

$15 per acre—12,000 acres, 1¼ miles from R.R. in Sacramento Valley. 1000 acres creek bottom land, about 3000 acres fair agricultural land, balance timber range. Irrigation: Very large rivers run through the land, from which 8000 acres can be irrigated. Improvements: 30 miles of fencing, with several sets of farming buildings. Power: High power extends across the tract. Climate: Unsurpassed. The tract is mostly surrounded by large fruit and alfalfa fields. Would make one of the best subdivisions in the State.

—SANTA CLARA VALLEY ORCHARDS—

$15,000—26½ acres, 4 miles from Santa Clara, 2 miles from Sunnyvale, in the very best part of the fruit section. Soil the best; plenty of water for irrigation. Solid prune orchard, full bearing, produces about $6000 per year. One of the very best orchards in Santa Clara county.

$56,500—56½ acres, 35 acres prunes, 10 acres walnuts, 9 acres in cots. Pumping plant, 60-h.p. motor. Splendid improvements. One of Santa Clara county's most productive orchards. Situated only about 3 miles from San Jose. Would exchange for good vacant land.

San Jose, Cal.

FOR SALE—

Do you want a home where you can make a good living and be independent? Where conditions are right for the successful growing of oranges and lemons? Where you can grow your own vegetables and all kinds of deciduous fruits? In other words, where you can grow anything you want to grow? A piece of property on which you can make a good living and pay for your land while your trees are growing? If you would, come into my office and let me show you our Richfield Acres. Plenty of water for irrigation purposes already piped to each 5-acre tract. The soil conditions are first-class in every particular. The climatic conditions are splendid; not enough frost to freeze the young, tender growth on young lemon and orange trees. The transportation and shipping facilities are taken care of by the main line of the Santa Fe, only 55 minutes from Los Angeles. Come in and make arrangements to see this property.

FOR SALE—
A WHOLE SQUARE MILE.

This wonderful property of 640 acres, consisting of a solid section in the richest and most productive part of Fresno county, close to the foothills, is a magnificent country estate, and when completely improved will produce from $50,000 to $100,000 a year. It is also splendidly adapted for subdivision, and, in our judgment, is one of the best real estate opportunities we have in the State. The improvements at present consist of 20 acres in full-bearing oranges, 40 acres in vineyard, 30 acres in peaches, 70 acres in alfalfa; all of the balance is good land; there is ample water, and the unusual price and terms make it really an opportunity for someone.

The price, $117.50 an acre, total $75,000; $15,000 in cash, balance can run long time, and with proper management can be paid for out of the products of the property.

Will consider some clear trade in Los Angeles up to $15,000 or $20,000, but the first payment of $15,000 in cash is necessary.

ORANGE AND LEMON GROVES—
For Sale, Exchange, Wanted.

FOR SALE—

SALE OF CHOICE

ORANGE GROVES.

An opportunity for you to double your money quickly. One-fifth cash, one-fifth second year, and the balance spread over the next four years.

We have been commissioned to make quick sale of a small number of choice tracts remaining in the possession of the Bloomington Improvement Co.

These are five, ten, fifteen and twenty-acre pieces, some being raw land and the rest excellent groves, with trees ranging from two to twelve years' growth.

Also some town lots.

Varieties run from Valencias, navels and Mediterranean Sweets to Tangerines, grape fruit and lemons, all in fine condition.

Absolutely no scale or pests. Ideal soil conditions save labor in cultivation and irrigation. Abundance of water at an average cost of $3.50 an acre per year.

No smudging was done during the severe frosts of a year ago, and no damage was suffered, except in spots that with ordinary precautions could have been easily protected. Trees are in splendid condition.

Buyers will not be handicapped by having to pay for residential improvements they may not want. The groves are free from this kind of improvements.

Fruit now on trees. Prices range from $300 per acre for raw land up to $2000 for twelve-year-old trees, all prices being very much under the market. Casual examination will show this. These are all choice pieces.

Bloomington is in the heart of the citrus district. There is every facility for successful operation. Land values must advance rapidly within the next few years.

The Bloomington orange, lemon and olive packing-houses are within a very short haul from any grove on the property, the longest haul not exceeding a mile.

Bloomington's great residential possibilities have also been slighted, due to the absence of electric car service. Within ten days electric cars will be operating from Riverside and San Bernardino to Bloomington, giving direct electric cars to Los Angeles.

On the Southern Pacific main line, it is only a little over two hours' ride by train, trolley or automobile from Los Angeles.

This is an opening that has not only been overlooked by expert operators, but that has not recently been brought to the attention of home-buyers. Similar properties in what, up to now, have been more accessible locations, readily sell FOR CASH at double these prices.

First comers will have choice of selection, which is some advantage, but all pieces should be sold quickly at these prices and terms.

Printed price list, map and description by mail upon request. Fill out coupon and mail promptly if you want a first choice. Or call at these offices.

CUT OUT AND MAIL.

NOW WATCH THE PRICE

OF ORANGES CLIMB.

As usual, the BULK of the orange crop of Southern California will bring prices this year, which, as usual, will make orange farming about as staple, good and profitable form of FARMING as you can find.

PLANT YOUR ORANGE GROVE THIS SPRING. Choose the best location, where oranges ripen to meet the best markets; find out where the sweetest, finest fruit is grown. Be sure you get good water rights, protected by decrees, delivered in solid concrete.

F O N T A N A

Is the place where orange groves are planted to order, in a splendid settlement, right soil, right conditions, surrounding a town, on boulevards, electric lines, railroads. We KNOW you cannot get land with equal advantages as cheap elsewhere. We BELIEVE you cannot get better land, better trees, better location ANYWHERE—FOR ANY PRICE.

Special facilities for planting and caring for trees for non-residents. Keep on earning money while your grove is growing to bearing age.

FOR SALE—
A FOOTHILL HOME AND ORANGE GROVE.
Do you want a beautiful foothill home, where the water and climatic conditions are about as near perfect as are to be found in California?

This place is about two miles northwest of Casa Verdugo, only 33 minutes' ride from the center of Los Angeles.

It consists of 14 acres, of which about 6 acres are in oranges, bearing heavily. About three acres in a building site that cannot be surpassed for beauty of location. Completely protected from the north winds and overlooking Glendale and the whole San Fernando Valley.

The two rights of pure mountain water with this place, piped in the house and all over the grove, is worth more money than will be required to buy the whole property. The water right in two large canyons in the vicinity, with tunnels and miles of water pipe. It also has a right to the use of all the water required by the grove from the water company which has its mains in front of the land.

It has a new modern bungalow of five good sized rooms, sleeping porch and large bathroom. It has a private gas plant, used for cooking and heating. Electric lights and telephone. Beautiful lawn and camphor shade trees.

This will make a perfect suburban home with an income from the fruit to support a family. The drive from the place to the city along the San Fernando boulevard, Los Feliz Road, Vermont avenue and Sunset boulevard is beautiful the entire distance, with one steam railroad to cross.

This is undoubtedly the best purchase in the vicinity of Glendale. The price is $25,000, including the crop. Terms can be made to suit the purchaser. See Mr. McINTOSH, with ROBERT MARSH & CO., 200 Marsh-Strong Bldg., Ninth, Spring and Main sts. Phone Home 10175 or Main 5045.

FOR EXCHANGE—ORANGE GROVES.

$900 PER ACRE.

This unusually interesting 5 and 8-year-old Valencia and navel grove, of more than 80 acres, will be segregated in 10-acre blocks if necessary.

The present crop and condition of the orchard will indicate what shape it is in. All I seek is your investigation.

There is an excellent water right, on high ground; is in a most favored orange-growing section.

Should normal conditions come around within one year, it is a safe gamble to predict for this grove $1500 an acre.

Small mortgage, and will trade any or all for city property, or vacant land, but values must be uninflated.

Sole Agent, CRICHTON SMITH,
201-2 Currier Bldg.

FOR SALE—ORANGE GROVES—
Buy your orange grove in Azusa, best soil, finest climate and an abundance of water at the lowest rate in Southern California; Azusa was not damaged by recent storm waters.

Investigate.

8½ acres, foothill grove, about 1-3 Valencias, large, healthy trees; 10-room house and large barn, this is close to the car line, and is an ideal location for a home.

10 acres, about ¾ Valencias, rest navels, from 4 to 7 years old; in good condition, $1000 per acre; about half down. This is a snap for some one.

We have groves of all descriptions, too numerous to mention, for sale and exchange. If you have L. A. property to trade in on an orange grove, give us a call.

LEE & THOMSON,
Phone 88. Azusa, Cal.

FOR SALE—

HOTELS, ROOMING HOUSES—
For Sale, Exchange, Lease, Wanted.

FOR SALE—HOTEL CLEARING $600 PER MONTH.

You will ask the question why does the owner want to sell this hotel, clearing $600 per month? The answer is on account of both sickness and death; the reason the house is a money-maker is because the hotel has never changed hands since it was opened. Also it has the best location in Los Angeles, at Central Park, which is the best. Rental is only $7 per room, and the building is strictly modern. Has steam heat, private baths and hot water, etc. We will stake our reputation on this place; owner would consider some exchange. This house is just as good in the summer as winter.

75-ROOM CLOSE-IN APARTMENT-HOUSE.
WILL EXCHANGE FOR REAL ESTATE.

This house has been furnished only six months and has made clear more than $300 per month every month; house is full and turning people away every day; will consider vacant or improved real estate and assume or take back a mortgage.

WILL GIVE YOU $1000 CASH.
IF YOU TAKE A LEASE ON THIS 60 ROOMS.

The owner of this building will absolutely give to you $1000 in cash, to pay on your furniture; not lend it to you, but make you a present of it. It is a brick building, located close in, and completed and ready to furnish. Will also give 30 days' free rental.

FOR LEASE—6TH AND GRAND—6TH AND GRAND
80 ROOMS—HOTEL—80 BATHS.

The contract is let for this four-story modern brick hotel, which is to be erected immediately on the above corner. We will give you gratis a large ground floor lobby, finished in tile, marble and hardwood, automatic passenger elevator; birch doors throughout, balance of woodwork white enameled. A little cash will handle this proposition. We are exclusive agents.

If you want any information regarding hotels and apartment-houses in this city why not call and see us; we are one firm of hotel brokers out of two in Los Angeles; the balance are real estate or business chance brokers. WE have been in the hotel and apartment-house brokerage exclusively for 7 years. Have five automobiles at your service.

A superb and unique suburban home. Absolutely there is not another such a home in Los Angeles or environs. It is within a 15-minute auto spin of First and Main, with perfect city conveniences as to streets, walks, phones, electricity, sewer, etc., and yet as typically rural as Rockefeller's home in the Pocantico Hills. It is new, neat as a pin, with garage, beautiful premises, scores of mature orange trees, and more than an acre of ground. The builder has duplicated this house in France and is now living there. It has a 3-year, 7 per cent. mortgage, and any Los Angeles or Southern California property worth $10,000 and clear will be accepted for the equity.

FOR EXCHANGE—

BROKERS, ATTENTION.

I have 180 acres of high-class land in best olive and orange district of California, surrounded by orange groves, adjoining limits of fine town; it is all that remains of a large tract that I have sold during the past year; the best evidence of its merits is shown by the fact that every person who inspected the property bought some of the land. The olive industry is having a boom in this vicinity, which is the very best location for that development.

In order to close partnership, owner will exchange for L. A. income; brokers having clients who want land, and who will submit fair propositions, are invited to call for further particulars. FRANK THORNBURG, 1027 Union Oil Bldg. F5402.

BUSINESS INVESTMENTS—

FOR SALE—I CAN SELL YOU AN INTEREST IN a very fine mercantile business, right here in the city, established 30 years ago. You can put in $20,000 to $30,000, which will pay about 10 per cent. per annum besides a fair salary, as you will be expected to come in and help push. The money you invest goes into the treasury of the concern. The company is not in debt but wishes to expand and needs money so rather sell stock than to borrow. Best of bank references. The president of the company will give you full particulars. If you are interested let me introduce you to him. It is not often one hears of anything like this, where you can get in without paying a bonus. W. H. BEMAN, 429 Douglas Bldg.

I HAVE AN OPTION ON 3000 ACRES OF IMPROVED Escondido Valley land near Escondido, California. Eight hundred acres in five year old eucalyptus; eight hundred acres of hay; plenty of water; camp house; five thousand dollars worth of farming implements; 20 head of horses; 90 water hydrants; $20,000 will secure all. It will pay for itself in one year. Investor can hold choicest 1000 acres and subdivide balance which will sell at $200 per acre. I can secure title of all at $25 per acre. This property is owned by Mexico mining man, who cannot manage same. This is an open book proposition. See FARGO, 956 3rd st., San Diego, Cal.

TO THOSE WEARY LOOKING AND FINDING nothing that seems sound, we say, consult us without expense. We have the very best of business openings. Can likely show you the kind and size business wanted, whether in Los Angeles or country town, either financial or manufacturing concerns. Also large or small stores. Write us or call afternoons.

BUSINESS INVESTMENTS—

DON'T TAKE A "FLYER" IN STOCK PROPOSITIONS when there are so many good and safe opportunities for investment in California. So many people ask this question each day, "Where can I put $1000 and make 20 per cent. to 50 per cent. interest and be absolutely safe?"
A few of us are forming a close syndicate to take over a proposition which will no doubt pay the above rate of interest with absolute safety. No chances, risk, salaries or expense. If you have a good reputation, state when and where I can see you. Address Y, box 368, TIMES BRANCH OFFICE.

PUT YOUR MONEY HERE—
AND MAKE 200 PER CENT.
I have the finest, the most attractive bunch of lots in the city of Los Angeles, and they are the ripest property for development that can be found anywhere. They are high-class, with all improvements in, including street work. One street paved. The location and view cannot be excelled. There is an opportunity for the right man to make 200 per cent. on his money. The total value of the lots is $80,000. It requires only $15,000 to take the property over. I can refer you as to the future outlook of this property to the very best real estate men in the city, with whom you may consult as to the opportunity offered. I know what I am talking about and mean business. If you have $15,000 and can exchange good references, we might work the proposition together. For further information address O, box 192, TIMES OFFICE.

WANTED—MONEY.

Why invest in mortgages and securities that are less profitable when you can make absolutely safe investments that will surely be much more profitable.

WE OFFER

A large business corner near in at a price less than any other property of this kind we are able to find. In fact, very little of such property is for sale.

A piece of acreage, 40, 80 or 120 acres, on high ground, near in, which can be sold off in lots at a large profit. A splendid opportunity for making a lot of money.

40 acres of suburban property which can be divided into smaller parcels and sold for country homes. Fine soil, railroad facilities and excellent location. Much lower price than any other property in that section.

Come in and see us and we will show you where and how you can make a safe and very profitable investment.

HARBOR ITEMS.

After discharging 700 tons of New York freight for Los Angeles and San Pedro merchants, the Luckenbach steamer Pleiades proceeded to San Francisco late tonight with balance of cargo. The Pleiades arrived unexpectedly last night from Balboa. Her dynamo being out of commission, the steamer was unable to make use of her wireless equipment.

Lumber carriers arriving today were the Coronado from Gray's Harbor with 800,000 feet, and Willamette and Yosemite from San Diego, both of which proceeded to Portland, via San Francisco, with passengers, after discharging balances of cargo for the McCormick Lumber Company.

The Standard Oil Company's tank steamer George Loomis completed discharge of a cargo of fuel oil here today and sailed for Ventura to load crude oil for the Richmond refinery. Another oil carrier leaving port today was the barge Nuuanu, in tow of the tug Defiance, with a full cargo of crude oil for the General Petroleum Company for San Francisco delivery.

STANDARD OIL MEN STRIKE.

Dissatisfaction With the Offerings of a Chinese Cook Causes Many to Quit Their Jobs.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TAFT, March 7.—One hundred and fifty helpers, caulkers and riveters employed by the Standard Oil Company in the erection of twenty-eight tanks on its million-barrel tank farm on section 16 are out on strike in sympathy with the tank builders employed by the company at the tank farm at Pond Station.

Humpy Frank Walker is at the head of the strikers. He claims that the men have no grievance against the Standard other than that the brothers at Pond Station were not given proper food by the Chinese cooks, whom they were compelled to pay $1 a day for board. The men are not organized, although preparations are being made to affiliate them with the Sheet Metal Workers.

A meeting is to be held in Bakersfield in a few days to effect an organization. Supt. Harring, in charge of the work for the Standard, states that the men must go to work by Tuesday or other men will be put to work in their places.

SAN JACINTO BRIEFS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN JACINTO, March 7.—The new owners of a large portion of the old Webster ranch are making extensive improvements, having had a large force of men employed during the greater part of the winter and spring.

The property in question lies about four miles west of San Jacinto and is directly tributary to this place.

The San Jacinto Lumber and Box Company is making plans for the coming summer's campaign at the big mill in the San Jacinto Mountains. The demand for orange boxes is again active and this year should prove one of the best the company has experienced. Lumbering is an important industry in the San Jacinto Mountains and one that means much to the business interests of San Jacinto.

M. L. Baisley, field superintendent of water development projects in the government Indian service, leaves this week with his well rig, for Arizona, where he will be engaged in water development work near Tucson. The Tucson project will probably require his services for a year or more. Elden Oliver will accompany Baisley and will be employed under him.

The little grocery store at Brownlands, the overflowed town at the lower end of the valley, is still doing business, although it is reported that travel to and from the store is in row boats. While the houses of the village were practically all surrounded by water, but two families were actually compelled to leave their homes. The depth of the water was from a foot to twenty inches.

Sincerity.

HEART-STIRRING WORDS FROM BRAVE CANDIDATE.

HERE is a candidate for Congress who has the courage of his convictions. His smashing condemnation of freaks, fads and boss-creating devices and his brave declarations of fair play, mark him as a man whose career is to be followed:

"I will be a candidate for the nomination for Congress at the September primaries in 1914 on the same ticket that I was a candidate at the last general election, to wit, the 'old-fashioned' Republican ticket," writes A. C. Shaw of Spokane, Wash., to the Spokane Chronicle.

"My platform, briefly stated, is this: Restoration—the country is sick to its stomach with reformation. What it needs is confidence—McKinley confidence—in our officials, officers, statesmen and courts; its people restored to that mental condition where investors, legitimate speculators and enterprising citizens believe that if they invest a dollar it will not be confiscated but reasonably rewarded for its assistance in returning prosperity to the nation and developing the best State in the Union; the country must have relief from the reforming, agitating, muckraking, investigating, patent medicine statesmen in office claiming to be contending for the 'dear people;' really fighting to hold on to their salary, out of office trying to break into the treasury; a rest from the self-labeled, self-building, terrorizing suspicionists, so-called Progressive remedies, through the attempted application of which capital seeking investments was intimidated, railroads stopped building, land speculators stopped buying; the only safe course for banks to pursue was to call in their loans and be extremely conservative in making others; the merchant bought only those things his customers needed and the customers bought only actual necessities; the unemployed and their families going hungry.

OPPOSED TO INITIATIVE.

"I am opposed to the initiative, the referendum, the recall of judges, State-wide prohibition; to following blindly the wishes of constituents, government ownership of railroads, telegraph and telephone companies or any interstate public utility; to the intimidating, destroying, useless investigating legislation which has served no useful purpose except to keep the self-labeled Progressives in the limelight, destroying confidence, intimidating capital and keeping the country and the business man on the verge of bankruptcy, the laborer wandering the streets looking for a job.

"I am in favor of granting to capitalists, corporations and to individual effort sufficient protection and remuneration to encourage them to invest their money in industrial enterprises which will furnish employment to the thousands now unemployed; also of such constructive legislation as will be an incentive for capital withdrawn and invested in Canada to return, for intimidated capital to come from its hiding place and construct railroads, manufacturing plants and industrial enterprises and to grant to the farmer a profit sufficient to induce him to cultivate the soil; of granting to railroads such rates as will enable them to pay to investors such an amount in dividends as will be an inducement for capital to invest therein in its building, enable it to properly equip, to extend its main lines and branches consistent with the growing demands of the country.

DOESN'T LIKE "BUSTING."

"The concentration of capital is indispensable to the development and growth of the country. I am therefore opposed to the smashing of so-called trusts and favor such governmental control of aggregated capital as will be consistent with the perpetuation of big business.

"The country was never more prosperous than when Roosevelt began his reign of terror; to him and to his followers must be given credit for the past seven years of financial depression. There can be no restoration of the country to normal conditions until there is a cessation of so-called Progressive Socialistic tendencies. The most dangerous element to American progress, the continuation of the fundamental principles of our government, is the man who never has, could not and would not succeed, whose only successful occupation is to tear down another successful man. To this class belongs the so-called, self-labeled Progressive."

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Investment Makes Three-Point Gain—General List Is Lifeless, Without Pronounced Tendency.

Until shortly before the close of the call the market on the Stock Exchange yesterday was very dull. Los Angeles Investment became lively in the last few minutes, with nearly 3000 shares traded in at 95 cents—a 3 point gain over the previous day. The oils were almost lifeless, and the tone was somewhat mixed. Unless some incentive in the line of an important development serves to stimulate activity, it is evident that the market is inclined quickly to get into a rut.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

One of the striking features of the past few weeks has been the amount of butter coming into Los Angeles from California points. Within a year the receipts have practically doubled and dealers are beginning to talk about exporting butter instead of importing it. One thing is positive and that is the decline that has been and that is to be expected in the amount of butter shipped in from the East for storage purposes. Last year there was a decided decrease in the cars coming from Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas and other middle western States. This spring a large quantity of local butter will be placed in the refrigerators in order to help supply the demand in the off season. The reason for the increase in butter lies with the increase of small farms and the greater interest in the dairy herds. The extension of farming is calling for a finished product rather than merely hay or grain and butter is one of the most likely products for good returns on the investment represented. Yesterday receipts of butter were 45,320 pounds. There was no change here while in the North there was a slight advance.

Eggs were steady and the call good. Only 604 cases were received and the deficit of local stock is still being made up with shipments from eastern territory. Cheese receipts were 3050 pounds. The call for northern fresh has been very light on a declining market. Yesterday the northern market dropped to 16 cents while the local one was very weak.

Potatoes continue weak at the end of the week. A number of declines were registered over the period. Oregon stock has dropped decidedly owing to an oversupply in that territory as figured at this time. Receipts were 2184 sacks yesterday. Onion arrivals were but 198 sacks. The demand was good.

All green vegetables are moving well with prices declining on the majority of varieties. Exceptions are celery, cauliflower, peppers and cucumbers. Fresh fruits are in heavy call and moving rapidly.

WHEAT PRICES DEPRESSED.

CROP REPORT TOO LATE TO BE OF SERVICE.

Bear Leaders in Evidence All Day on the Selling Side Who Expected Federal Estimates of Farm Reserves Would Exhibit a Comforting Surplus.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, March 7.—Unwarranted belief that the government figures on farm reserves would be much over the average had a good deal to do today with depressing the wheat market. The close was at ¼@⅜ to ½ under last night, the Washington report having arrived too late to be a help. Corn finished a sixteenth to ¼@⅜ down, oats off ⅛ to ¼@¼, and provisions unchanged to 5@7½ up. Wheat was pressed on the selling side nearly all day by the bear leaders, who were expecting that the Federal estimate of farm reserves would exhibit a comforting surplus. In corn, as in wheat, bearish guesses went wrong by overestimates of the government total on farm reserves. Reserves of oats turned out to be much heavier than looked for. As was the case in regard to other grain, however, the official figures were not available in time to be an influence. Accordingly, prices for oats were dominated by the action of corn. Scarcity of hogs today at western centers and forecasts of a diminished supply next week, made the provisions market firm. There was considerable speculative buying, including some by packers.

Business: Money, Stocks and Bonds—Trade—The Citrus Marke

Local Stock Market Activities

BY JNO. O. KNIGHT.

An easier tone marked the course of the week's trading, with a considerable lessening of activity in the more speculative issues. Stocks that usually can be relied upon to furnish plenty of interest when things are lively were less in evidence than during the latter part of January and early February, and the bulk of actual trading was carried on in the purely investment securities.

Demand for conservative, income-paying stocks and bonds, while possibly lacking some of the snap of a few weeks back, continues excellent, and only a scarcity of offerings at prevailing prices prevents a much larger volume of business. Buyers have followed the market up several points already and while the advance begins to show signs of losing some of its headway, brokers still are carrying large orders that remain to be filled at present bid quotations.

The Mexican situation is undoubtedly exerting something of a restraining influence on markets throughout the country. While armed intervention on part of the United States would very likely result in a sharp break in prices, a quick recovery may be looked for if the course of the market after outbreak of the Spanish-American War is to be taken as a precedent. In that instance the decline was very short-lived, and owing to stimulated trade activities incident to a state of war, prices made large gains covering an extended period.

Mortgage Guarantee stock figured somewhat actively in the week's trading at from $93 to $95. The better demand is due to a consolidation that is being effected with the Bond and Mortgage Insurance Company, with which an exchange of stock is to be made on a basis of par for par.

Buying of oil stocks continues an interesting feature of the New York market, which has otherwise been showing a somewhat reactionary tendency of late. After selling off ten or fifteen points a few days ago, Standard Oil of California has achieved a new high record of $341 a share, where it is showing an inclination to hold firm.

In connection with the controversy between the city and local power corporations, a statement has been issued to the effect that in so far as the Pacific Light and Power Corporation is affected, the outcome need not cause bondholders of that concern any particular solicitude. It seems that this company disposes of only about 10 or 11 per cent. of its product to private consumers within the city limits, the principal consumers being the local street railway corporations and outside communities in various parts of Southern California.

MUNICIPAL BONDS

Exempt from Federal Income Tax

We Own and Offer, Subject to Sale

Price to Yield

$100,000 ORANGE COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, 5s..4.62%
Assessed Valuation $41,887,235
Total Bonded Debt 1,457,000

Orange County has an area of approximately 795 square miles, which produces, it is claimed, a greater variety of valuable products than any other section of equal acreage in the world. It is the leading county in the State in the production of English walnuts, one of the leading counties in the production of oranges, and also noted for its output of celery, beans, sugar beets, apricots, alfalfa and grain. Excellent transportation facilities are afforded by the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe Railroads.

$50,000 GLENN COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT 6s 4.90%
Assessed Valuation $7,769,134
Total Bonded Debt including this issue 50,000

This high school district comprises a considerable portion of Glenn County, including the Town of Willows, the county seat, and four other school districts. Situated in the upper Sacramento Valley on the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad, the territory generally is of rich agricultural character.

$50,000 CITY OF REEDLEY, FRESNO COUNTY, 5¼s 5.00%

The City of Reedley is situated in the foothill district of Fresno County, about 24 miles southeast of the City of Fresno. It is served by the main lines of the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe, and surrounded by one of the oldest and best established irrigation sections of California, served by a ditch system and possessing in addition, cheap hydro-electric power for pumping sub-surface water. The most profitable crops at present consist of deciduous fruits, grapes, figs and olives. The leading citrus fruits are also successfully grown.

$60,000 TOWN OF SUNNYVALE, SANTA CLARA COUNTY, 5½s 5.00%

The Town of Sunnyvale is situated in the upper end of the highly productive Santa Clara Valley, about 38 miles south of San Francisco and 8 miles north of San Jose. In addition to important manufacturing industries, a large acreage is subject to intensive cultivation, producing cherries, peaches, prunes, apples, pears and vegetables, for which a ready market is afforded by the local canneries. Transportation facilities are afforded by the main Coast Line of the Southern Pacific Railroad.

New York Curb Stocks.

[Furnished by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, March 7.—Speculation on the curb was heavy at the opening. Most of the oils showed losses of 2 to 30 points. The market developed a steadier tone, however, and this was reflected in a substantial rally, some issues being carried above yesterday's close. Coppers and other mining issues were dull. Boston coppers were active at the start. Butte and Superior opened off a point but regained the loss in the first quarter of an hour.

Boston Copper Stocks.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchange, Bradbury Building, Los Angeles.]

BOSTON, March 7.—The market was more active and weaker in early trading. Later owing to good support there was a sharp rally. This did not hold, however, and stocks were pressed for sale toward the close. Slight losses were registered in the market as a whole. The bank statement was more unfavorable than expected. Sentiment is somewhat more pessimistic, due to St. Paul troubles.

New York Cotton Market.

[Furnished by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, March 7.—The cotton market failed to respond to favorable cables this morning and ruled weak and unsettled throughout the session. Closing prices were within a few points from the bottom of the day; 5 to 7 points net lower on old crop and 3 down on new. Yesterday's selling movement was renewed and offerings more general, coming principally from the big trade house and Wall street. Numerous stop orders were uncovered on the way down. The support was chiefly covering of shorts. New crop options were in fair demand.

GOLD

To the party or parties that have or can command the capital we can offer a property that will make you several million dollars on an investment of $250,000. We have reports from two very capable and honest engineers to back our figures and to those meaning business we will afford every facility for investigation. This is not a speculation. Property consists of 5000 acres of rich placer mining ground with proven values and valuable water rights, assuring an abundant and constant supply. Ground all easily worked, weather conditions ideal and plenty of cheap labor. Located in Arizona on main line railroad. If you could manufacture gold dollars for 10c each would you go into the business?

SAN FRANCISCO EXCHANGE.

Ophir Closes With Gain of Nine Points on Favorable Developments at Property—Rest Rather Quiet.

[Furnished by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—The only change in Goldfields was a one-point decline in Florence. Manhattans were unchanged, except Consolidated, which was up a point. Good news from the Ophir mine put the price of the stock up to 52. The close was at 47 and 49—a gain of 9 points. Consolidated Virginia gained 3, Sierra and Union 2 each. There were no important changes in Tonopahs—1 point up to 1 point down. In the outlying camps, Peak was offered at 40 and Nevada Hills was up 1 in the bid price.

BANKS' POSITION IMPROVED.

Gain in Deposits and Cash Reserve Is Revealed in Latest Report to Comptrollery of Currency.

A material gain in deposits and available cash, and a decline in loans and discounts is shown in the latest report made to the Comptroller of Currency by the national banks of this city. The report covers the condition of the banks as of March 4, and is favorable in evidencing the steady improvement in local conditions since the first of the year.

In the item of deposits a gain of over $864,000, as compared with January 13, is shown, while the available cash is greater by over $750,000. The decline in loans and discounts amounted to a little over $650,000. The available cash in the national banks is now only a little over $300,000 less than it was about a year ago. The position of the banks is stronger than it was two months ago.

Following is a comparison:

STOCK PRICES AT WIDE RANGE.

EFFECT OF LONDON SELLING CAUSES DEPRESSION.

St. Paul Is Center of Weakness on Account of News that Company Had Been Charged With Irregularities in Its Book Accounts. Bonds Irregular.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 7.—The stock market was unsettled today and prices covered an unusually wide range. At the opening the market was depressed by the influence of the sharp decline in the London market followed by active selling here for European accounts. St. Paul was the center of weakness, although it made a better showing today than during yesterday's decline, which followed the news that the company had been charged with irregularities in its book accounts. Its extreme loss today was three points and at the close half of this amount had been made up.

An item in the long list of developments operating against the railroad shares was New Haven's decidedly poor January report. There was a deficit of $889,000. The bank statement was the most unfavorable of recent weeks. Surplus fell off more than $9,000,000 and there was an actual cash loss of over $4,000,000. Bonds were irregular. Total sales, $1,765,000. United States 42 coupon advanced ½ and the 4s registered declined ⅜ on call on the week.

New York Stocks.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury building, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, March 7.—The Interstate Commerce Commission's report on the St. Paul, after careful analysis, did not appear as drastic as seemed to be the general impression at the close last night. The practices employed by the road were considered as typifying an old order of things, insofar as book-keeping methods among the railroads are concerned. The assertion of the commission to the effect that the St. Paul is a valuable property and the Puget Sound line is fulfilling all reasonable expectations did much toward stemming the tide of liquidation after the accumulation of selling orders over night from international sources had been executed during the first half-hour.

A fresh selling movement occurred in last half-hour of today's session with the "coalers" being conspicuous for their weakness. The coal roads are now being investigated by the commission and the fear that a report will be made in connection with same of a nature likely to be disturbing doubtless was responsible in great part for the selling. It is an open question whether or not the case of the eastern railroads in their petition for an advance in freight rates has been prejudiced by the St. Paul affair. Many are inclined to believe that it has, at least to an appreciable extent, and accordingly there was much scattered liquidation in stocks like New York Central and Baltimore and Ohio. The vast and critical importance of an early decision in the rate cases is generally realized and consequently much concern is now being expressed over the latest developments, as trade reports denote rather strongly that unless something is done which is likely to stimulate demands for labor and material, commercial and industrial lines will suffer further slackening.

SEEKS HER FATHER.

..Hidden Wway When Two Years Old, Girl Supposed Him Dead Until Mother Confesses on Deathbed.

If Miss Marie Ebert of South Bellingham, Wash., had an old will which she had found in one of her discarded toys, her predicament would be as melodramatic as any the good old playwright could furnish.

At it is, she is a poor young girl in the North, whose mother took her from her father at atender age, told her that the father had been killed in Alaska, and when the father inquired for the girl, told him that she had been killed in the San Francisco earthquake and fire. And on her death bed, the mother confessed that she had deceived both father and daughter. She died before she could tell where the father is, except that he is rich and in Los Angeles.

So Miss Martha Ebert, No. 1807 mill street, South Bellingham, has written to Chief of Police Sebastian in hope that the police department may be able to locate her lost father, Gus Ebert.

When last known, she wrote, her father was in Los Angeles, and was very prosperous, even rich. She believes that he is one of the moneyed men of the city, and as she is in straitened circumstances, financially, since her mother died, she is anxious for a reunion with the parent she always mourned as dead.

GOING ABROAD FOR NEW IDEAS.

TWO ANGELENO TEACHERS ARE GIVEN CHANCE OF LIFETIME.

Vocational and Continuation Schools of Europe to Be Studied in Several Months' Trip on Full Pay—Results to Be Disseminated Here—Leave of Absence.

The industrial and continuation schools of Munich, Germany, noted for their excellence, are to be studied by twenty-five American teachers. Those chosen from among the Los Angeles applicants by the United States Department of Education to represent this city, are C. A. Kunou, supervisor of manual training, and N. Hatherell, principal of Polytechnic Evening High School and instructor there of electricity in the day time. Both have been granted several months' leave of absence, on pay, to avail themselves of the privileges of study held out by the Munich municipal government.

Besides the general study of the vocational and continuation schools, and their relation to the city's life, according to instructions received by them, each individual will select a trade or trades most interesting to him, and make a special study of it, including economic conditions, the "master" methods followed in the industry, methods used in the schools, equipment, conditions surrounding apprentices, etc.

Photographs are to be taken, lantern slides made, and reports written for the benefit of the home schools represented by the members of the party. All work will be done under the personal direction of Director George Kerschensteiner and Assistant Inspector Dr. Schmied of Munich. The course will begin April 15 and continue to July 15.

Kunou will select woodwork and cabinet making as his special line of study in Munich, and Hatherell will study continuation schools.

After finishing the course at Munich, both men will travel through Europe, viewing educational conditions of various countries. Playgrounds and afternoon schools will be studied in Berlin, which is famous for these institutions; vocational work—especially textile work—will be observed in London, particularly in connection with that city's famous "neighborhood schools." The agricultural schools and school gardens of Denmark are famous, and these will also be visited.

In Sweden, folk-dancing and summer schools will be examined; and the marine schools of Norway, famed for their merchant marine school ships, on which the youths of the country are trained in navigation and seamanship, will be included in the itinerary. In France the teaching of ceramics, which has been carried far as a subject of education, will be investigated, with a view to bringing home some new ideas in this regard.

"Vocational training and continuation and evening schools are making big strides in our city," said Hatherell, "but we have yet much to learn from the old country in these regards."

Kunou has held his present position in this city for twenty years, having received his appointment during a tour of inspection of manual training schools of the country, on which he was sent out by the Connecticut government in 1894. At that time Kunou found Chicago to be the only city of the Middle West and West where sloyd was given in the schools. The next year Kunou established the work in this city.

ORANGE COVE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ORANGE COVE, March 7.—The Hume-Bennett Lumber Company, which owns the longest lumber flume in the world, extending from Hume, the lumber camp in the high Sierras, to Sanger in the valley, a distance of nearly fifty miles, and one of the largest manufacturers and dealers in lumber in California, has purchased a site in the new town of Orange Cove, Fresno county, to establish a headquarters for its extensive business. All freighting to the mills hereafter will be done from this point. This company has a monthly payroll of several hundred thousand dollars and its freighting business amounts to some thousands of tons. The company will begin business here within a few days.

COLTON BRIEFS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

COLTON, March 7.—Amethyst Beckley, the bright little 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Beckley, passed away yesterday at a San Bernardino hospital where she had been taken a few days ago in an effort to prolong her life. Since graduating last June from the eighth grade she had been in declining health. With her parents she came to Colton eight years ago from El Paso, Tex.

A playground for the boys and girls of the city has been established at the corner of Seventh and F streets, opposite the Woman's clubhouse, under the auspices of the Colton Sunday-school Athletic League. Electric lights have been placed around, tennis and basketball courts have been laid out and spaces marked for other sports.

F. E. Chaffee of the local High School faculty has resigned his position here for a more lucrative one with the Pasadena High School. J. E. Partridge of Los Angeles is to fill the vacancy.

Pointing Homeward.

AIMS TO FLY AS A VIKING.

Norseman Would Lead Again Across the Seas.

Spirit of Fearless Forebears In Angeleno's Breast.

Hydro-aeroplane Built Here Vehicle of Destiny.

To win new laurels for the Norsemen who visited America centuries before Columbus made good and who first attained the North Pole, Albert O. Paulson, a Norwegian inventor and aeroplane expert of this city, is perfecting plans for the first trans-Atlantic aeroplane flight, which he expects to make with a countryman in July.

His arrangements include the use of a 125-horse-power hydroplane made entirely in California, and the securing of the services of the best air pilot in the aviation corps of the Norwegian government.

In his efforts Paulson has the cooperation of members of the local chapter of the Sons of Norway who have named a committee of five, headed by President John Fisher, to assist him.

He proposes to sell 25,000 souvenir cards to the Norse people of this country at $1 each. With the $25,000 thus raised he purposes to secure his machine and pay the expenses of the journey. The cards will be in circulation the first of next month.

Dr. V. E. Arensen of Pasadena is now in Norway as Paulson's representative. Already a proposition has been made to the Aero Club of Christiania by which the plane used will be turned over to the government of Norway in return for the services of a pilot. Paulson intends to be the second man in the machine.

According to an itinerary now prepared, the start will be made from some point on the shores of the Great Lakes, thence down the St. Lawrence River and along the Canadian coast, across Davis Strait to Greenland, thence to Iceland, to the Faroe Islands, to the Shetland Islands, to Bergen, Norway, and along the coast to Christiania. The longest sea-leg of this journey will be the last, between the Shetland Islands and Bergen, a distance of 20? miles.

The route is chosen in part because it is that along which the Norsemen of old sailed their intrepid little craft and attained the shores of this continent, about the year 1000. The entire journey will be between 2300 and 2500 miles.

While Paulson has not made a final contract for an aeroplane, it will probably be built here. As one of the first members of the Aero Club of California he is in close touch with the most prominent flyers of the West. The plan he now announces, he has contemplated for the past three years.

THE POLITICAL WATCHTOWER

The "Progressive" scentlet mouthpieces in California are in the throes of despair over the registration returns. Their sanctified editors are suffering from an overdose of bichloride of blue funk over the overwhelming Republican lead. They are lying awake nights burning tallow dips trying to invent a "reason why" more Californians are not enrolling under the red bandanna emblem of their copyrighted brand of "reform." By the way, where are all the Christian soldiers? They surely aren't on the registration books of the State. "Then where are they?" tearfully queries the twinkling satellites of Mooseism. Each "Progressive" editor has his own answer to the pitiful registration record of the Johnson clique. "Progressives are registering as Republicans to betray the party," chants "Chattering Chet" Rowell of Fresno, who openly advocates the theft of the Republican party. "They are registering Republican out of sheer momentum of custom," says Johnson. "Thousands of 'Progressives' are registering Republican under a misapprehension," peep Rebater Earl's dull twin penny pads. Then the Oxpress and Tribune carefully refrain from printing the registration figures. Ouch! My, how those registration figures hurt. They hurt, because Gov. Johnson and his ringsters know full well that every man and woman registered as a Republican will vote against Hi Johnson, hi-taxes, hipocrisy and the hi-waymen who have this great State in their clutches.

The complete returns for the first nine weeks in the new Great Register are all that the most enthusiastic Republican could desire. Republicans are leading the "Progressives" over 60,000 in the State with about one-third of the State's total vote registered. Rather an impressive showing for a party that only a few weeks ago was pronounced "dead" by Rebater Earl, "Mush" Stimson and other equally eminent reformers who had done their utmost to kill it. At the time of the Presidential election in 1912 there were 987,368 names on the California Great Register. The new enrollment, it may be safely estimated, will be somewhat larger. If the Republicans continue to march to the polls at the same ratio, they will lead the would-be-destroyers nearly 200,000 in California. A fine showing for a "defunct, hopelessly dead party," Eh?

The "Progressives" have been exerting themselves to the utmost to make a showing of strength that should impress the floating vote. They started out with free lunches, pink teas, free tango lessons and ended up with the now famous Johnson-Eshleman "lecture tour" of the State at the people's expense to drive the wobbly "Progressives" out. The "Progressives" also devised that ingenious plan which included the official publication of the registration at the close of the first month and subsequently. They appear to have labored under the "sheer momentum of custom" that the Republican party in California was dead, and that the best way to prevent it from coming to life was to make an imposing display of Bull Moose registration at the beginning of the enrollment. And there is not the slightest reason to doubt that they fully expected the scheme would be brilliantly successful. But stalwart Republicans had not forgotten how they were disfranchised in 1912 by the renegades. They were resolved to show their strength. They have done so and have beaten the fakers fairly on a battleground of the latter's own choosing.

As predicted in this column six weeks ago the Democrats are now leading the "Progressives" in the daily registration and are rapidly climbing toward second position. Unbiased observers are of the opinion that the Bourbons will lead the "Progressives" by a goodly vote in the August primaries. The Bull Moosers are slumping badly. In fact ever since the Johnson-Eshleman troupe of boss-picked "backroomprimary" puppets started shooting about these parts lauding each other they have daily lost ground and the Republicans and Democrats have shown marked increases. In the past two days 1509 Republicans have registered in Los Angeles city and county to 680 Democrats and 559 "Progressives." Since January 2, when the new register opened, 62,150 Republicans have registered against 36,574 "Progressives" and 28,619 Democrats. The Socialists are fourth with 11,848, and the Prohibitionists fifth with 8206. The total registration for the county is 170,029. "Sheer momentum of custom." Tell that to Guy Eddie.

A strong rumor has it that if by any strange trick of fate Hiram Johnson should be re-elected Governor and John Eshleman Lieutenant-Governor, Johnson will hand over the Gubernatorial reins to Eshleman in 1916 and either run for United States Senator or the Presidency of these United States. Now mind you this is a six and seven-eighths rumor, but it listens like Hiram Johnson and his tricky pals. Surely some dazzling objective was dangled before Eshleman's eyes by his maker, Boss Lissner, to induce him to quit a soft $10,000 a year job as president of the Railroad Commission to take a flyer at "Limitation" Wallace's berth at $6000 per. Eshleman admits he is making a "sacrifice" for the dear people. All "Progressives" are very frank about that. They never do anything without making a sacrifice for the common folk. But aside from Eshleman's "sacrifice," why is he planning to give up a $10,000 job for a $6000 job? Of course he's merely planning, he hasn't any more chance of being elected than the orange and lemon growers of California have of getting back the money Rebater Earl grabbed from them with his pious hooks. Johnson wants to be President. There is no getting away from it. No, it isn't any joke — to Hiram. Don't you remember he nominated himself for that exalted place during the last session of the Legislature? Yep, Johnson has an idea that he is the only man fitted to be President. Roosevelt had the same idea, if you recollect; but he's hunting snipe down in South America now. Rebater Earl is booming Johnson daily in his twin pads for President. Just read between the lines of the Oxpress or Tribune, if you can find a policeman who can direct you to the rebater's office where the pewee peepers are given away with every liner inserted. Johnson wanted to run for Senator this year but the horde of "Progressive" pie biters and tax eaters wouldn't let him.

Now that Supervisor Butler has resigned on account of ill health, things are picking up in the Third Supervisoral District. Gov. Johnson has appointed Assemblyman Frank E. Woodley, who has offices next to Boss Lissner, to fill Butler's place. Woodley will line up with Norton and the board will probably stand two to three on all important county matters. Woodley's term will expire next December. He has already announced his candidacy. Former County Auditor Herbert G. Dow, a regular Republican, will oppose Woodley. Several other Republicans have been mentioned as prospective candidates. Dow has always stood loyally by the Grand Old Party and is well qualified for the place he seeks. Of course the Democrats will have a candidate.

By the way, the recall is after Norton. A recall petition containing about 8000 names, seeking the yanking out of the snorting saint, will be filed with County Registrar McAleer some time this week. Norton says he will fight it and will not resign as has been rumored for some time. Henry Wirsching, member of the Board of Public Utilities, has many friends who are after him to make the race against Norton. Several other well-known citizens are in the "mentioned" class. One thing is certain, Norton has a dandy scrap on his hands.

Superior Judge Gavin W. Craig, one of the strong and fearless jurists of California, has announced his candidacy for presiding judge of the District Court of Appeals. Many of the leading lawyers in the county have asked Judge Craig to make the race. He was near the head of the ticket when he ran for the Superior Court. Judge Conrey of the Appellate Court, via grace of Gov. Johnson, will also run. The Democrats will probably trot out a man.

United States Marshal Tom Walton of Fresno landed on the job yesterday. He was greeted by a score of lean and hungry Democrats hunting for deputyships. Walton is a six-footer and looks like a real, honest-to-goodness Shirtless Holmes. Walton succeeds Leo Youngworth, who got in the way of the "new freedom." Walton has ten neat berths at his disposal ranging from $115 to $150 per month. Um! um!

Edward White of Watsonville, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, challenges the statement of Gov. Johnson made in Los Angeles that the "Progressive" administration of the affairs of California has been an advantage to the people. White says that during the campaign he will take up Johnson's record in detail, but at this time he would point out one item subject to criticism—the State highway bond issue.

"Neither Gov. Johnson nor anyone connected with his administration," he says, can afford to defend the way the people's money has been wasted by the present Highway Commission. The people of California voted $18,000,000 for a good roads system. What have they got today? Many miles of highway that are already wearing out after a few months' use. More miles are being built of the character and certainly the present administration will be held responsible for the failure of the commission to meet the expectations of the people. The people will be paying for a system of roads built under "Progressive" auspices forty years after these roads have completely disappeared."

Mayor Rose will deliver an address on "True Republicanism" before the Woman's Republican League tomorrow at the league's headquarters in the Coulter building. A registration deputy will be on hand.

CARRIERS ARE MAKING PLANS.

Western Roads Spend Many Millions for Cars.

Restored Confidence Means Much New Mileage.

Ticket Agents Coming West to National Meeting.

Large equipment orders and the simultaneous announcement last week of important rail extensions for the coming summer indicate that western railroads are once more on the high-road to prosperity. As the common carriers, for obvious reasons, are always the first of large business interests to feel the effect of any impairment of financial confidence, and the last to recover, it is evident that the pendulum has once more swung to optimism.

The Santa Fe, a railroad that never buys without the money in hand or assured, last week asked bids on 1000 freight cars for 1914 delivery. This order supplements the order placed some months ago for 120 passenger cars. The Union Pacific has also placed an order for 5000 freight cars and will purchase 7000 more later. Altogether, the Santa Fe will spend $1,000,000 for new freight equipment and the Union Pacific, $12,000,000.

New mileage promised the West for the coming year is the construction of a 250-mile line by the Chicago and Northwestern to link Landor, Wyo., with Idaho Falls, and the building of seventy-five miles of branch line mileage by the Union Pacific in Wyoming and Utah.

A new line looming up in the East is the Kansas and Oklahoma Southern, which has taken over the assets of the Cherryvale, Oklahoma and Texas, and purposes to link Kansas City with El Paso, as well as construct much new mileage in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, and possibly Louisiana.

As El Paso now has the Southern Pacific and Rock Island and the Santa Fe recently opened up an important connection between this State and Texas, the coming of a new road promises some spirited competition for the handling of the products from the Southland to the East generally.

MEET AT CANYON.

TRAVELING DE LUXE.

One hundred and thirty men who will get distinguished and discriminating attention from the railroad companies will roll into Williams, Ariz., over the Santa Fe Wednesday in a palatial special train on their way to the Grand Canyon. These men are delegates to the annual meeting of the International Association of Ticket Agents, a small but select body of representatives of the important rail lines. Though they will not come further west than Williams, the railroads of the West are making preparations to see that the fact is kept constantly before them, that California is to have two expositions in 1915. The ticket men will arrive at the Canyon at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning and will get immediately down to business for a three day session. Following the meeting, their special will be routed East by way of Phoenix and the Southern Pacific.

Natural Gas Again.

Commissioners Thelen and Gordon of the State Railroad Commission took another "squint" yesterday at the natural gas delivered to the Long Beach Consolidated Gas Company at the limits of the beach city. At present the charge is 27½ cents, as against 37½ cents for the mixed product. City Attorney Kapp of Long Beach expressed the hope that the wholesale rate would be made low enough so that the city's consumers might get gas at 50 cents. It was brought out that the gas company's pipe line from here to the beach town cost $67,397. The hearing was preparatory to the refixing of gas rates by the city itself.

Allows Rate-Raise.

Because the Glendale and Eagle Rock Railway Company was losing money at the rate of $300 a month, the State Railroad Commission has granted it permission to discontinue the sale of twenty-ride commutation tickets between Broadway and Brand streets in Glendale and Central avenue in Eagle Rock and to substitute therefor a regular fare of 5 cents. Children under 18 years of age will be granted the same old rate. Under the commutation plan the company was practically granting a 2½-cent fare.

Shipping Plans.

Business men of New Orleans, Galveston and Port Arthur are organizing a steamship company to operate vessels between their ports and Los Angeles, other Pacific ports, and Alaska, following the opening of the Panama Canal, according to circulars issued by the Kansas City Southern Railroad. An extensive interchange business between Gulf and Pacific Coast ports is expected to be created by low water rates.

All Aboard Again.

All impediments to the reopening of the Salt Lake's line from here to San Pedro were removed yesterday and regular train serivce will be restored today. This line was cut in two February 18 by the washing out of both approaches to the bridge at Workman. In the interim, the Salt Lake has been offering service by detours over the Pacific Electric.

Speeds It Up.

Oil as a "speeder-up" of ocean crafts has been demonstrated by the steamer President of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company fleets. Previously to going on dock for transformation from a coal to an oil burner, the President had a speed rating of sixteen and one-half knots an hour. In its first two trips as an oil burner, the boat beat this rating consistently by two knots an hour and Capt. Paulson is confident that he will later get even better speed out of his boat.

Autos to Yosemite.

Information has been received by the railroad companies that the Yosemite Transportation Company is to begin the operation of automobile stages between El Portal and Yosemite April 1. This company formerly operated horse-drawn coaches between the two places.

GLIMPSES OF SAN FRANCISCO.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—It is quite a relief to know that the municipal buildings now in course of erection are being properly built. Mayor Rolph says so and he ought to know. He censures the officials who brought the charges of graft. He reports: "Until San Francisco can develop a class of public service that will place patriotism above politics and selfishness her welfare will never be certain and her greatness never be assured."

Within six months the County Hospital will be finished. Its completion has been delayed for a long time for a variety of reasons. Now Treasurer McDougald has sold the last of the bonds amounting to $300,000, and the Health Board will see that the city speedily has the benefit of the $2,000,000 structure.

In trying to recall Sheriff Eggers his divorced wife say "this will be a fight for principle and no spite work." After thirty-three years of marriage she has discovered that her former husband is unfit for his job. Eggers says: "She always had everything she asked from me. She got a divorce, division of property and $200 a month alimony. Now she wants my job, but I draw the line there." Married as well as single people will watch the outcome of this matter with interest.

A novel ground for divorce has been raised by Louis David Danzis, a railway employee. He alleges that it was extreme cruelty for his wife to say to him: "You are too little, you have a long nose and you are too round shouldered to make a good husband." It will be interesting to note what defense the lady makes to this serious charge.

The unemployed have at last left us for our good and for their good, even if it is not for the good of the country. They are bound for Washington and are buoyant with the hope of reaching their destination though they had but the price of transportation to Oakland. We kindly commend them to the tender mercies of the cities en route.

The Berkeley fly is in imminent danger. The Housewives' League of the University City is after him and hot with a vengeance. A systematic campaign of extermination has been planned. Our residents hope that the work will be thorough. If the pests are only wounded they may come over here to recuperate.

Dr. Burk, head of our Normal School, says that the high schools are teaching "drivel." He believes that more modern methods ought to obtain. For instance in learning the noted names of history pupils ought to be informed about distinguished people of our own times. They ought to know about Benjamin Harrison, Andrew Johnson, Father Junipero Serra, Nathan Hale, Admiral Dewey, Brigham Young, Pocahontas, Buffalo Bill, Jefferson Davis, Lafayette, Daniel Boone, Gifford Pinchot, Champ Clark and Peary. Without causing the savant to blush the names of Dr. Cook and Dr. Burk might be added.

A dancing lady named Tuttle says that she lived many years ago in Egypt and that she is going to wed Poet Sterling because he is the reincarnation of Dante. She believes that the soul of the Italian poet and that of the denizen of the desert have met and commingled. No fair-minded person would object to a clever dancer being reincarnated, but if George is going to be born again it is hoped that his vocabulary of descriptive adjectives will be limited.

"Heredity, Instinct and Environment" was the topic of a lecture by Prof. A. L. Kroeber of the department of anthropology of the University of California. He said: "Eugenics today has become a joke. To the long-haired men and the short-haired women it is serious enough, but no earnestness will ever find a short cut that will take the place of character and work." It is a free country and the worthy man has a right to ridicule eugenics, but he should not feel sore if others laugh at instead of with him.

BUY CANNERY SITE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PORTERVILLE, March 7.—Members of the Chamber of Commerce today closed an option for securing a site for the cannery of the Tulare County Fruit Growers' Association, four acres of property along the Southern Pacific railroad having been secured at an agreed price of $2000. The cannery is to be financed by the sale of $20,000 in bonds, of which half has been subscribed by the Porterville business men and half by the fruit growers. About 3000 tons of fruit has already been contracted for the first season's run.

LOOKING AHEAD FOR THE NEXT.

Large Task to Prepare for Annual Fashion Show.

Secrets of the Way Window Effects Are Built.

Great Crowds View Last of Spring Expositions.

BY OLIVE GRAY.

"They are beginning now to get ready for the fashion show!" I heard some one exclaim, twenty-four hours before the unveiling of the windows.

In reality, the big stores are beginning now, the day after the spring fashion show of 1914, to prepare for that of autumn, next. Some are already making plans, in fact, for the spring fashion show of 1915.

It takes months of careful planning to bring together the garments and the fabrics, the accessories and et ceteras to form the artistic scenes presented in an exhibition such as that recently witnessed on Broadway.

The foundation for a fashion show is laid when the head of the house calls together the heads of all departments and the buyers, for a conference with the head window-trimmer to decide upon plans and color schemes. In the larger stores this takes place at least six months before the date set for the united fashion show. In some instances plans are made even longer in advance, especially when, as is frequently true, many of the articles wanted are to be assembled from foreign countries.

In matters pertaining to a fashion show the head window trimmer is supreme. He is both playwright and producer, for it is upon the idea evolved by him that the entire exhibition is constructed. His brain is ever at work upon new settings, new methods of displaying goods, upon something which will prove more admirable than what he last time made manifest. He never sees a play, reads a magazine or takes a trip without bearing constantly in mind the requirements of his own art. For window decoration is, indeed, an art, and one requiring not alone the esthetic sense, but the utmost ingenuity to put into effect the plans evolved.

ENORMOUS TASK.

Did you ever give a thought as to the work involved in the presentation of such a window as the rural scene shown during last week's fashion show?

"How natural!" you may have observed; but—how was it possible to make it thus? Old rail fences do not grow in this vicinity. Grass and weeds are not picked up on Broadway. Cobblestones are not to be had freely, even where used as paving. As a matter of fact, eight or ten of the "window boys" made a trip into the country in an auto truck and took up the grass and weeds from an acre of ground—the store having purchased the grass-and-weed-roots rights to that amount of territory. Rocks were gathered in the country, as were the trees used in the rural scene, but that rail fence and the old pump and trough!

Here is the recipe for "putting up" such condiments of a fashion show: You have heard of "aging" wines and liquors by electricity, but how do you suppose they "age" pumps and fences? First, the fence, trough and pump are made just as though the farm needed new ones. Then they are burned into the crumbling semblance of such articles gnawed at by the tooth of time, and after this, the burned work is carefully rubbed away by "currying" with a wire brush and moss is forced to appear—or seem to do so—by means of paint laid on thinly and in some places merely splattered on.

The big beauteous blue birds shown by a Broadway store were not captured in the open field, as you may have thought, but first a clay model was moulded carefully, and then a mold was made and into this was poured a composition, which, hardening, became the winged creatures making their habitation amid the lovely merchandise which reproduced the tones of their own burnished plumage. That plumage, was, of course, caused to grow by means of paint.

In one instance where a peach orchard was required, the actual trees from an old orchard were purchased, and the branches thus secured were "forced" into bloom, not in a hothouse, but in an upper room of the big store where the busy fingers of twenty girls or more were at work for three weeks to bring those rosy blossoms into being. One such orchard was sold afterward to a beach amusement place and when en route the consignment was held up at the depot for inspection for scale. What oil-canvas artist ever received a compliment like this?

Many of the larger stores have ateliers devoted to the construction of the etceteras for use in fashion shows; but in smaller ones it is a problem where to locate the necromancers who create effects. Basements, galleries, screened-off corners, any spot not in constant use is set aside for the workshop of these magicians; for almost without exception every article used in the creation of window effects is produced in the house where it is shown.

PAINT AND MACHE.

Stone fountains and balustrades, massive seats and jardinieres often consist of papier mache painted over and coated with sand. The lovely Louis XVI screens and hat stands, as well as the drapery forms used during the past fashion show, were made, even to the caning, in the house where they were used. A Chinaman who knew the caning art was engaged to teach the window boys and for several days a "caning works" was in operation in the mystery-room from whence issue so many wonderful creations. The gilding on those "antique" French articles was of so unusually fine a shade that a professional painter and gilder visited the place after the window exhibition, to beg for the receipt which produced the wished-for effect.

In one large Broadway store where canaries usually sing throughout the many floors during an opening, it is the custom to purchase the birds by the dozens of dozens directly from the Harz Mountains of Germany. One boy is detailed during the stay of these birds in the store to do nothing but attend to the songsters; for each cage must daily be taken down and carried to a remote part of the house for cleansing and for feeding of the dependent little creatures.

HEAVY EXPENSE

To give an idea of the expense attendant upon the preparations for a fashion show would be almost impossible; but upon one occasion I heard a woman say, regarding a certain large Broadway store: "D'ye know, I understand that So-and-So's have spent over $500 on their windows this time!" I happened to know that this store had expended more than $40,000 upon that exhibition.

The matter of carrying out a one-color scheme for a fashion show requires great care and thought. After the meeting at which the color is adopted—and the adoption of a color requires a sense of divination as to what will be popular during the remotely advancing season—plans must be made to have every article of dress and the accessories in that particular shade. In many instances it becomes necessary to have such articles dyed or woven especially, and the assembling of this merchandise must be commenced at least six months beforehand.

From the hour of earliest conference when the head window man presents his ideas for consideration to the committee, up to the moment when the veils are withdrawn from the windows and the public views the wonders prepared for their admiring gaze, there is scarely a division of the store which is not drawn upon for assistance in the preparation.

COSMOPOLITAN.

Carpenters and artisans, those who wield electric lights, and even those who scrub and clean are as necessary to the completion of this spectacle as are the ones who go to far-off markets to purchase needed goods. These buyers carry away with them samples of wanted colors and throughout their trip have these colors always with them, in order to complete arrangements for the merchandise in sufficient quantity to carry out the plans.

In the actual preparation of the windows for the fashion show, the first operation is that of cleaning the plate glass and polishing the floors. If white carpeting is used, as is often the case as this shows to best advantage the costumes and merchandise, it is necessary after this is laid to don clean socks over the shoes whenever entering the windows to complete the work of decoration, since no mark must defile the snowy whiteness of the floor covering.

In the larger stores it takes about five days to get the windows in readiness, a few being cleared at a time for this work in order that the usual displays may be continued until the last possible hour; for not the least of the expense of a fashion show lies in the fact that the usual selling is interrupted. In smaller shops the windows are decorated but a few hours before the opening, for this very reason. This is why everything that it is possible to do in advance is done, so that the actual trimming of the great plate-glass exhibition rooms—for that is what the windows really are, may be executed with the utmost possible dispatch.

AWAY IN ADVANCE.

Fully a month in advance figurines are given baths, and if any are out of order they are taken to the surgeon of wax people for treatment. Wax figures are extremely fragile and also very costly, many running up into the hundreds of dollars in price, and they must be carefully preserved and skillfully rejuvenated. The ladies are given complexion treatment, such as additional carmination of the lips, brilliantine upon hair and lashes and possibly an additional blush is brought to their waxen cheeks for the coming fashion show.

I cannot say exactly what may bring a blush to the cheeks of waxen ladies; but possibly it may be the anticipation of the admiring glances which they know will be cast upon them during the forthcoming event, which is presumably to them as is the debutantes' ball, the most exclusive soiree dansant, and the longest-heralded reception all rolled into one.

That these beauteous ladies lose their heads completely over the Fashion Show is a well-known fact, for—one of the first operations, after their faces have been "masseused" and the "make-up" applied, is to behead them and take the heads to the hair-dressing parlors of the store which is their home, and there they receive the latest hair-dress appropriate to their individual style of beauty. And by the way, this especial style of beauty is a matter of consideration, too, when it comes to dressing, and sometimes a number of gowns are tried on before the one best suited to her wax ladyship is chosen.

In the meantime, feet go to the shoe department, hands are taken off and fitted with gloves, and in fact the assembling of the figurines for exhibition is quite like bringing together the articles for the Fashion Show. When at last each lady is properly hairdressed, gloved, shod and dressed, from lingerie out to corsage bouquet and lavalliere, all are shut within a close, dark room, where, enshrouded in linen sheets and with heads carefully wrapped in tissue paper, they await the summons to the fashion party. The posing of these figures in the windows is a distinctive art. One person in each establishment usually does this work, making a continuous study of attitude among real people in order to transfer them to their waxen proteges.

DRAPING OF FABRICS.

The draping of fabrics is another distinctive art, and the fingers which accomplish this work must be in constant training, as must be the eyes.

While, as a rule, the head window trimmer works out his plans many months beforehand, some there are who await an eleventh-hour inspiration. Such a one is he who, in a large upper-Broadway house, creates such elegant effects by means of the merchandise in stock almost entirely unaided by extraneous etceteras.

With an eye constantly alert for a handsome piece of furniture or a bit of bric-a-brac, this artist usually selects a central object, about which he groups the costumes and merchandise appropriate thereto. Transforming lace flouncing into draperies for the finish of a handsome room, making ribbons into rug borders or fine embroideries into the portieres which act as a background for some rich display of fashion's final whim, this window king works as one inspired, for hours before the opening.

A king, indeed, is the window trimmer, for weeks before the Fashion Show. He is supplicated by those in charge of every store department to use this article or that, to please employ some novel line of neckwear, some favorite item in lingerie, or an especial number in the way of parasols. Autocrat is he, for he will refuse to mar his picture by a jarring note, although taking pride in the employment of every article which happily embodies the season's latest mode.

All who have been so fortunate as to view the Los Angeles Fashion Show will agree that our city has an unusual number of high-class decorative artists who prepare this perfect treat for the delectation of visitors.

BRAINS OF SHOW.

The men around whose ideas are built the window scenes of the Fashion Show and to whose ability and resourcefulness the public is indebted for this visual feast are: Hamburger's, Percy Allen; Bullock's, Louis Kasanovich; Fifth Street Store, E. D. Wood; Myer Siegel, R. S. Liebold; Broadway Department Store, M. S. Hamlin; Hale's, William Brown; Lane's, H. Metzger; The New York Suit and Cloak House, W. L. Newcombe; The Ville de Paris, C. A. Kupfer; J. W. Robinson Company, J. M. Walters and Thomas McCabe; Coulter's, J. A. Jones; Blackstone's, Frank Hunter; Jacoby Brothers, Ben Hampton.

At the close of the Fashion Show last week, these window decorators held a banquet, for the purpose of becoming better acquainted. Whether they fed upon color schemes, and dined off drapery forms in place of plates, has not been disclosed, but if their table decorations were as beautiful as were their windows, during the United Fashion Show, it must have been an appetizing board around which they gathered.

ARGONAUT'S BIRTHDAY REVIVES MEMORIES.

ONE of the last half-dozen of the gold-rush pioneers of '49 and '50 has just celebrated his eighty-ninth birthday anniversary at Covina. Aaron L. Chamberlin, who, as a lad in his 20's, crossed the Laramie Plains to Salt Lake City in a prairie schooner and followed the Fremont trail over the mountains to Nevada City, is peacefully rounding out the golden afternoon of his life in a flower-embowered bungalow, and on the occasion of his birthday he was surrounded by five generations of the old Chamberlin stock, together with much of the population of the little citrus city which had come to shake the hand of this sturdy link with the rough-hewn history of early California.

Chamberlin reached Nevada City in 1850, after a journey of incredible hardships lasting over six months. He tells of buying a sack of flour weighing fifty pounds for $50 gold, at Truckee, at a time when himself and party were weak from long-continued hunger. His memory of that journey is as clear as a limpid pool after all these years. Chamberlin belongs to Mt. Mariah Lodge of Masons in San Francisco, and he has been informed by his lodge that he is the only living member who joined during the gold-rush days.

After staying in California for eighteen years he went to his old home in Philadelphia and became the eastern agent for the Sonoma Wine Company of California, making several trips around the Horn to San Francisco in the course of his life. But his last trip to California was made in a Pullman, and he says the land that claimed his young love of romance in the early days will be the place of his last days and his last resting place.

A charming celebration in Covina.

Aaron L. Chamberlin of Covina, who crossed the plains in 1850 to Nevada City, on his eighty-ninth birthday, surrounded by five generations.

Niland
—the Inevitable City

The history of town building in Imperial Valley is a history of money-making. Tremendous profits have been garnered by those who invested early in the towns of Calexico, Holtville, El Centro, Imperial and Brawley. And now the opportunity dawns again in NILAND—a townsite backed by many of the richest and most influential men in the Southwest—men who own and who are developing the 47,000 acres of rich Nile-land Farms surrounding Niland.

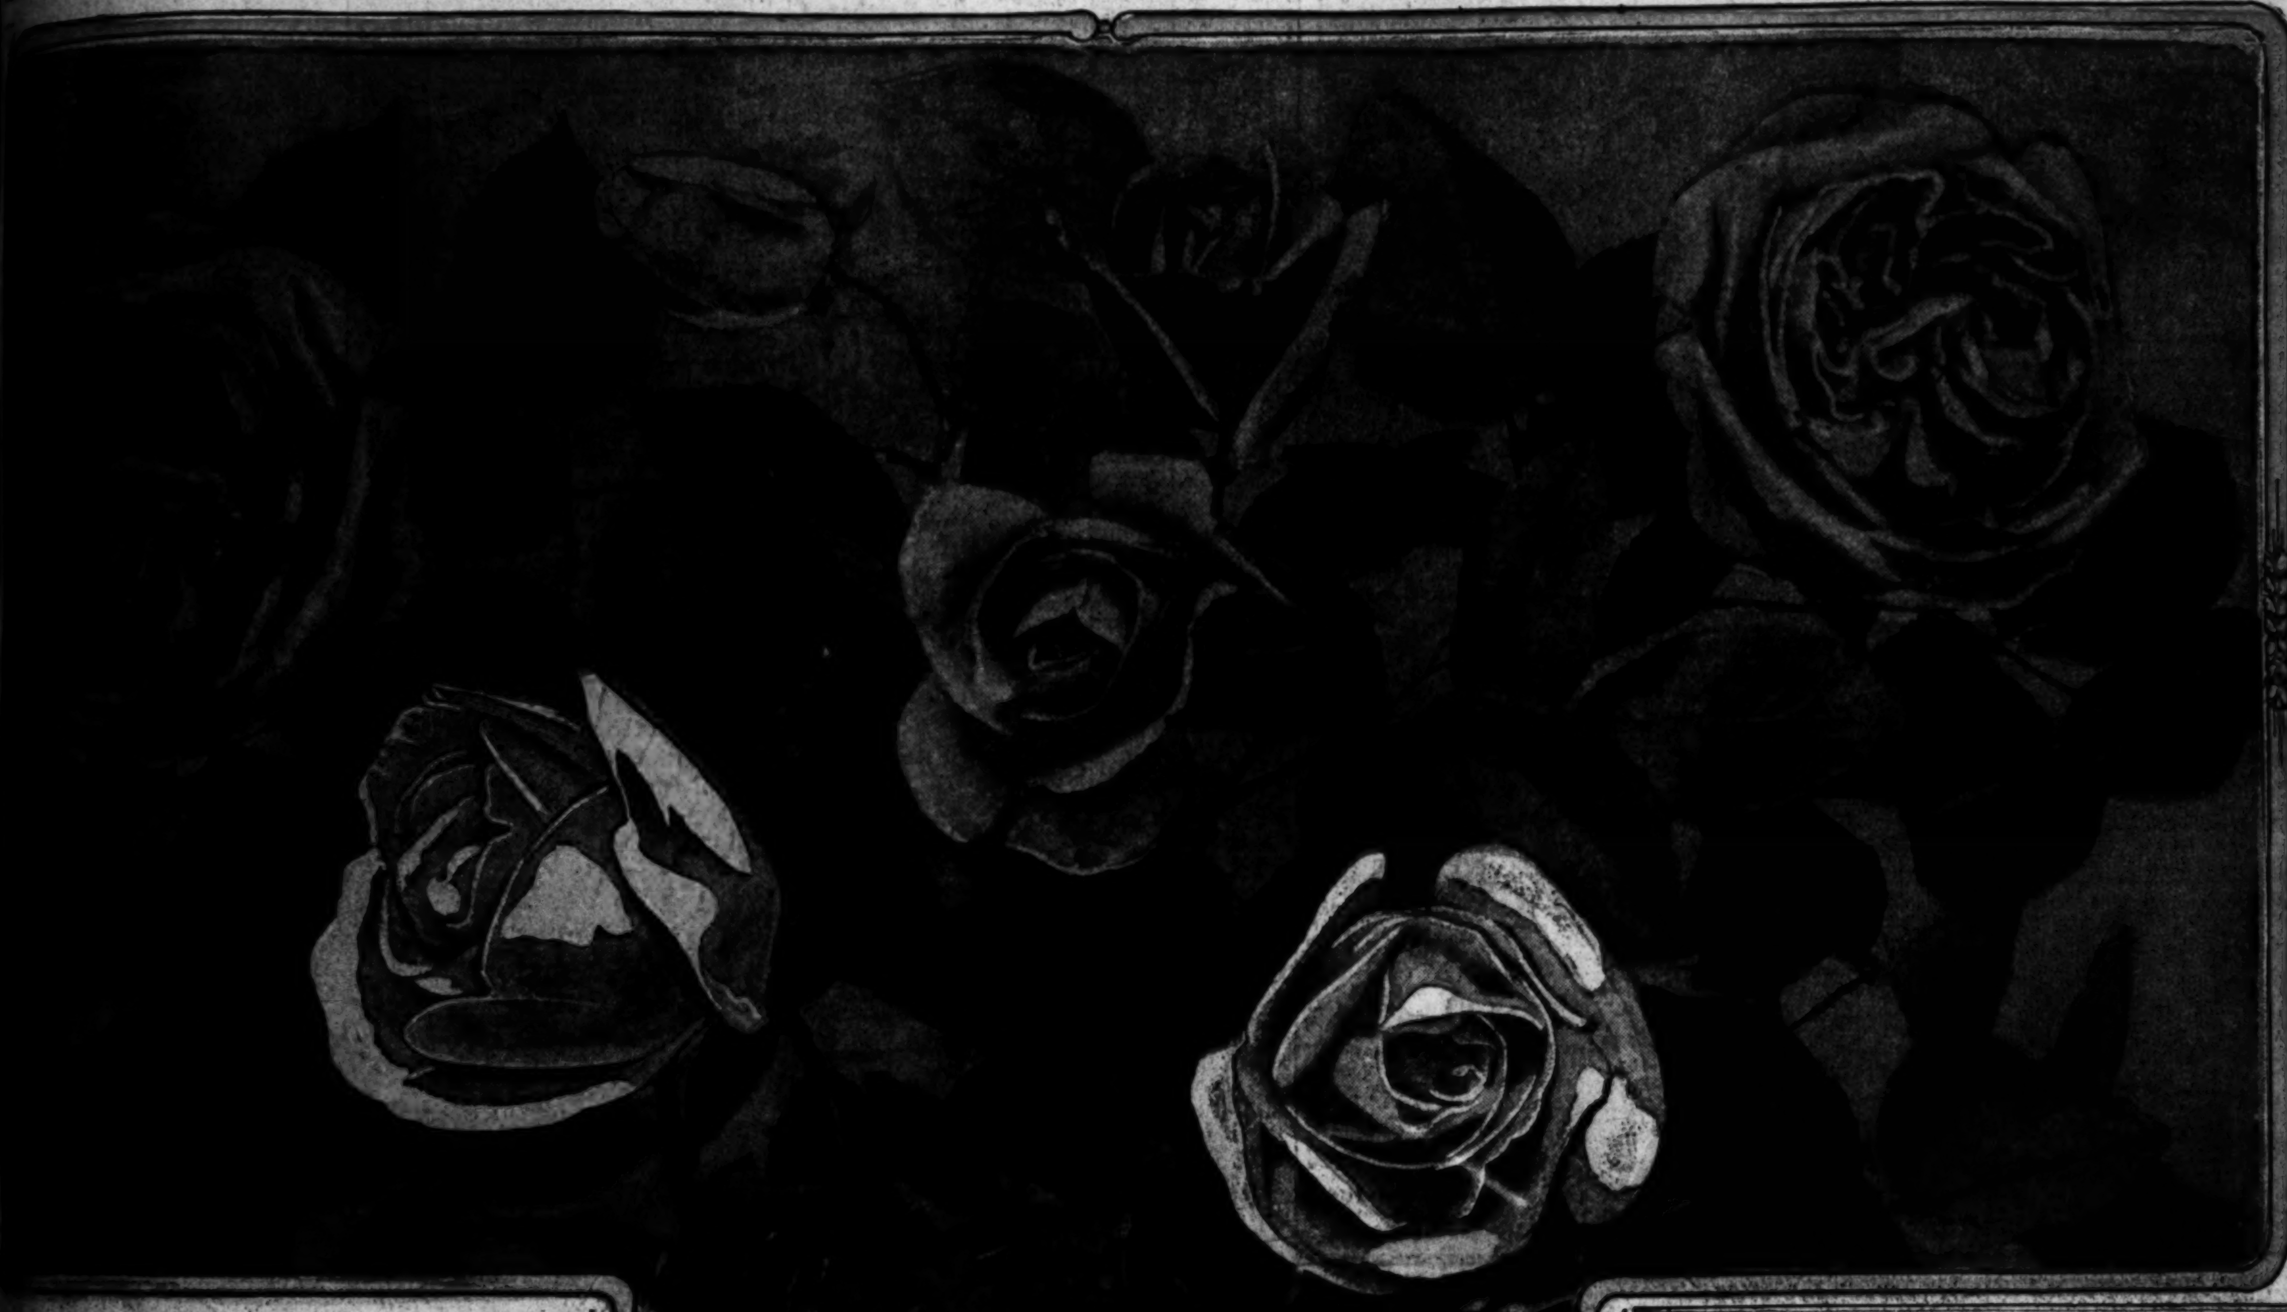
XXXIIIrd YEAR. SUNDAY MORNING, MARCH 8, 1914. THE LAND: For Free Soil and Free Men. For Free Shops and Free Workers.

NOW WATCH THE GLORIOUS ROSES BLOOM IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA!



For the World to See:

GOLDEN INCENTIVE TO GROW THE VERY BEST.

"The Times" to Give Liberal Cash Awards for Most Successful Amateur Productions of the Rose, Queen of Flowers—Free Contest, Open to All, Closes at Height of Next Year's Season.

THESE are the prizes to be awarded by The Times to amateur growers of Southern California who secure best results from their rose gardens.

First prize $200 in gold.
Second prize $75 in gold.
Third prize $50 in gold.
Fourth prize $25 in gold.
Fifth prize $25 worth of choice rose bushes.
Sixth prize $20 worth of choice rose bushes.
Seventh prize $15 worth of choice rose bushes.
Eighth prize $15 worth of choice rose bushes.
Ninth prize $10 worth of choice rose bushes.
Tenth prize $10 worth of choice rose bushes.

[illegible] opportunity and dis[illegible] the people of Los Angeles and of nearly every community in Southern California have begun with enthusiasm and earnest [illegible] to prepare for the coming of [illegible] of thousands of visitors next year.

They are beautifying their dooryards and gardens, arranging vines [illegible] plants, and above all, they are [illegible] roses. Probably never before [illegible] spot on earth were so many [illegible] set out in one year as are [illegible] planted in this city and vicinity. When all these bushes reach the blooming stage, under the beneficent [illegible] of the Southland's glorious [illegible], there will be presented for [illegible] in every direction an entrancing [illegible] of such magnificent blooms [illegible] Southern California, soil, sunshine and enterprise can produce. It will be a spectacle for easterners [illegible] about for months after they [illegible] home, and even European visitors, accustomed as they are to floriculture, will marvel at the advance in [illegible] propagation in this comparatively [illegible] region.

Representatives of chambers of commerce, city and county officials, [illegible] children, men and women in [illegible] and country homes, are preparing to contribute to the general scheme of adornment for exposition [illegible]. It will be a country beautiful [illegible] many lovely spots and of so [illegible] variety that the Southland's [illegible] will be hardly able to leave and [illegible] to the bleaker and less inviting environment to which they have [illegible] accustomed. A great many, no [illegible], will decide to remain permanently.

SETTING HIGH STANDARD.

With all these influences contributing to create a gargantuan floral fairyland, there will be a fit setting for the [illegible] central floral and plant exhibit which it is proposed to hold for ten days on a scale such as the world [illegible] never before seen.

[illegible] remarkable feature of the uni[illegible] rose planting is that almost everybody is selecting the most desirable varieties in recent introductions and novelties to supplement the best of the better known and tried varieties. Quality as well as quantity is being sought to make the individual rose displays so excellent that the general effect will be greatly enhanced.

The Times introduced and indorsed the plan of holding a great floral exhibit in 1915, and in aid of the general desire to produce more roses and more beautiful roses, is giving away many thousands of high-grade two-year-old bushes.

Recognizing and commending the widespread efforts to secure superlative excellence in rose propagation, The Times desires to supply a further incentive along this line, and now offers liberal awards to the amateur rose growers of Southern California who secure the best results.

OPEN TO ALL AMATEURS.

The contest is absolutely free and open to everybody in Southern California except commercial growers, nurserymen and persons directly connected with The Times. This is practically the only condition or restriction. To compete for the prizes it is not even necessary to be a subscriber to The Times. No entrance fee or other obligation is required. It is an offer made by The Times to encourage the thousands of amateur rose growers in Southern California in their laudable endeavor to make their homes and the community more beautiful, for the world to see next year, and for all time.

Entries should be made as early as possible on the form printed herewith, or otherwise, and will be accepted up to July 1 next. On that date the entry list will close. The awards will be made on some date in May of next year, which will be announced later, and in accordance with the verdict of a committee of competent disinterested experts, who will carefully inspect the rose gardens of the entrants.

ALL ON AN EQUAL BASIS.

The points that will be considered in making the awards will be announced by the committee of judges

Killarney, Ulrich Brunner and Rayon d'Or blossoms picked in Los Angeles yesterday and photographed by The Times. The gardener is Miss Pearl Moore, No. 2010 Santa Cruz street, planting a rose bush which she expects will produce fine blossoms in May. Many thousands of men and women throughout the Southland are engaged in the same happy work to produce a wealth of floral beauty to delight exposition-year visitors.

ENTRY BLANK FOR "THE TIMES" AMATEUR ROSE-GARDEN CONTEST

This form should be cut out, properly filled, and mailed as soon as possible:

The Times-Mirror Company,
Los Angeles, Cal.

I hereby enter as a contestant in The Times Amateur Rose Garden Contest. It is understood that there is no entrance fee nor any monetary obligation on my part. If for any reason I decide to withdraw as a contestant, I agree to notify the Rose Garden Editor of The Times before January 1, 1915.

Golden Incentive.

within a week or two. The Times will not dictate the manner of judging to the committee, but stipulates that all entrants shall be judged on an even basis, regardless of the size of the garden. While it is hardly likely that anyone ould seek to compete with less than twenty or twenty-five bushes, it should be clearly understood that the owner of a comparatively small rose garden in the corner of his back yard will have the same opportunity to win as the man who is able to plant 100 or more.

Ten prizes will be given. The first, $200 in gold; the second, $75 in gold; third, $50 in gold; fourth, $25 in gold; fifth, $25 worth of high-grade rose bushes; sixth, $20 worth of rose bushes; seventh and eighth, $15 worth of rose bushes; ninth and tenth, $10 worth of rose bushes.

TIME TO PREPARE NOW.

The time of making the awards is in the height of the blooming season, when the expositions are in full swing and a great host of visitors will be here. It is then that the Southland will be ready, smilingly and gloriously adorned to greet them. There is ample time to prepare for the 1915 spring flowering season. Rose bushes planted now will produce their first blooms in May or June of this year and will flower again this fall. Next spring they will be in the full and vigorous perfection that produces the large, magnificently tinted, highly scented blossoms characteristic of properly cultivated Southern California roses. Climbing bushes anywhere in the dooryard will receive consideration as well as bushes symmetrically planted in a garden.

The time is opportune. Every advantage of soil and climate is to be found throughout Southern California. The incentive is compelling, for now is the time for the citizens of the Southland to show the glories of their homes to all the world, as well as to receive substantial monetary rewards for winning excellence.

EAGLE ROCK ACTIVITIES.

The Edwards & Wildey Company reports sales in the Eagle Rock Valley as follows: To Frank A. and Estelle C. Ober of Glendora, 110x190 feet on Valley View avenue, in Campus Park, near the Occidental College building, $2500; L. M. Townsend, 100x122 feet on Glen Eyrie avenue, in the Douglas tract, $1000; G. Maitland Daniels, site in Honolulu tract, northeast corner Central and Colorado, adjoining the Eagle Rock Bank building, $1750; Emily V. Cooker of Nantucket, Mass., 50x135 feet on Sumner avenue, near Hill, in Occidental Annex, $600; W. H. Sadler, 100x180 feet, improved with a nine-room residence, in San Rafael Heights, $7000; Fanny Killian, 50x135 feet in Occidental Annex, on Sumner avenue, near Los Flores drive, $6000; Martha E. Peacock, 20x120 feet on Park avenue, near Central, in Eagle Rock Acres, $1000. Several of the buyers plan improvements.

MANY NEW HOMES.

Permits Taken Out for Large Number of Bungalows in Glendale. Plans Out for School Additions.

GLENDALE, March 7.—The February building permits amounted to $35,135. Those of January totalled $61,300. Among the permits just issued are the following: Milton Hesse, No. 473 West Second street, residence, $2000; J. A. Fairchild, No. 311 Central avenue, residence, $1000; W. C. Boyd, No. 1444 Salem street, dwelling, $2000; F. B. Bertrand, No. 1530 Milford street, dwelling, $1400; R. A. Sipple, No. 301 North Kenwood, dwelling, $1800; O. A. Fish, 1306 Hawthorne, four flats, $5000; L. A. Bryan, No. 1225 West Ninth street, dwelling, $2000; A. Ambrosini, No. 707 West Fifth street, residence, $1500; S. J. Stewart, West Fifth, house, $1000; W. J. Clendenning, Third and Orange streets, $2000; A. Cover, No. 1312 Chestnut street, dwelling, $3000; George Maitland, Geneva street, residence, $2000.

It is expected that work will start soon on the two new buildings of the Glendale High School, plans for which have been finished. The household arts building will be a two-story and basement structure 36x100 feet in size, with a central rear wing, 70x70 feet. It will contain the domestic science, art, household economics, music and commercial departments, with office, cafeteria, laundry, metal hammering-room and laundry. It is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy by the opening of next term.

RUSHING HOTEL WORK.

Modern Imperial Valley Hostelry to Be Completed and Ready for New Tenants in October.

EL CENTRO, March 7.—Work is being rushed on the handsome new Barbara Worth Hotel at this place, as the property is expected to be ready for the occupancy of Miller & Porter, the new tenants, on October 1. The contractors are now putting up the walls of the second story.

The hotel will be of fireproof construction, being of reinforced concrete, and will be thoroughly modern in every detail. It will contain about 125 rooms above the ground story given over to the lobby and to a number of mercantile establishments. Especial attention is being given to the ventilation facilities, every provision being made to keep the building in comfortable condition during the hot summer months prevailing in the Imperail Valley.

The lessees of the property are at present proprietors of the Hotel San Diego at San Diego, and are experienced hotel men. They are paying a reported total rental of close to $250,000 for a fifteen-year tenure of the Barbara Worth.

WEST END SALES.

The McCarthy Company reports the sale of a lot on Fedora street, between West Eighth and West Ninth streets, to a local investor, for $3500, and the sale to C. Tolle of a lot on Norton avenue, north of Temple street for $2000.

ANNOUNCE OPENING.

Campbell & Bentley, who are handling the development operations at Clifton-by-the-Sea, and who will have charge of the selling activities in that tract when the many improvements now under way have begun to take shape, announce that the formal opening of the property will take place the latter part of the present month. The golf course and other features of the shore subdivision are now being put into shape for use. The Martin residence, one of the most attractive of the places already built at Clifton-by the Sea, is to be remodeled at once into a golf and country club. The handsome place erecetd by H. E. Huntington when the property was first opened several years ago is now being converted into a cafe to be known as the "Seagull Inn." The tract comprises 1171 acres, lying along the shore line south of Redondo Beach and adjoining on the north the Palos Verdes ranch. H. E. Huntington and Walter S. Martin are the principal owners.

Last of Low-Priced Harbor Lands

THIS is land that won't wait—it is selling faster than any property in Southern California.

If you want to take advantage of the big profit-opportunities offered in harbor lands, snap up one of these bargains at once.

Not an acre of land so well-located for industrial purposes is to be had in entire harbor district, at prices that can compare with those at which large lots and half acres are offered at Harbor City.

Large lots only $350 up; half-acres, $700 up, and terms as easy as 10 per cent down and $10 a month.

Harbor City has every advantage to make it the future heart of the harbor industrial district.

You must see and investigate this property for yourself to really appreciate the remarkable opportunity offered you here.

Arrange to go down on one of our auto excursions any day this week. Make your reservations at once.

Get tickets and free encyclopedia of canal and harbor facts at Harbor City office. And don't fail to see the mammoth model of the Panama Canal and Los Angeles Harbor now shown free in Harbor City office.

PLAN ADDITION.

The James R. H. Wagner Company has practically decided upon the opening up of an annex to Inglewood Acres in the Hawthorne-Inglewood district. To this end an additional eighty acres adjoining this tract have been secured for subdivision and improvements, the deal, inclusive of improvements, being reported as totaling approximately $75,000. Eighty-five half-acre sites at Inglewood Acres have been sold in the last several weeks, according to the Wagner company. More than a hundred homes have been built in the same tract.

APPLY FOR GAS.

The Long Beach Gas Company on Wednesday made application to the Board of Supervisors of Orange county for a franchise to lay pipes and supply gas in the town of Seal Beach. The people of the shore place hope to have the service within a short time.

WANT SOME ACTION.

Delegation from South Coast Towns Asks Orange County to Condemn Rights of Way for Highways.

A delegation from the South Coast Improvement Association, representing the cities and towns of the south coast from Naples to Balboa, appeared before the Board of Highway Commissioners of Orange county last Wednesday and asked that the board start condemnation proceedings to secure rights of way for the projected Coast boulevard, to be constructed from Naples, where it will connect with the Los Angeles county system, down the coast to San Juan Capistrano.

The association has secured a number of rights of way, but in many instances is being hampered by the demands and stipulations of individual land owners.

The Highway Commission answered that it was heartily in accord with the purposes of the association, and was ready to entertain petitions for condemnation proceedings wherever necessary to secure rights of way for the boulevard. A petition has already been started for the condemnation of a strip forty feet wide on the north side of the Pacific Electric tracks, between Anaheim Landing and Huntington Beach.

ASK FOR ROAD BIDS.

The Board of Highway Commissioners of Orange county has asked for bids to construct that part of the Orange county good roads system extending from Naples, where it connects with the Los Angeles county good roads, through Seal Beach to Huntington Beach. It is expected that great progress will be made with these good roads, and with the Coast boulevard this season.

IN NEW LOCATION.

The Charles B. Mullaly Land and Loan Company has moved from the Van Nuys building to Nos. 508-9 Los Angeles Investment building, in view of the growing demand for lands and the increased scope of the company's business in that direction. Mullaly has decided that the entire efforts of the office will be devoted entirely to the sale of lands and in making loans.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

The Campbell-Bentley Company take pleasure in announcing that the formal opening of Cliffton-by-the-Sea will be held in the very near future.

Cliffton-by-the-Sea, California's ideal subdivision, is superbly situated on high bluffs overlooking the ocean, providing an unequalled marine and mountain view. Improved with hundred foot boulevards, wide sidewalks, sewers, curbs, water, gas, electricity and every modern convenience. Accessible by three car lines, with excellent service.

This beautiful subdivision will include the new Sea Gull Inn, the new Cliffton Country Club, with golf links, tennis courts, and polo grounds. There will also be bath houses and a new safety station for bathers on the most perfect beach in the West.

The sizes of lots range from 40 foot front to half acre pieces, at very reasonable prices, with terms to fit any purse.

Before the opening, our automobiles are at the service of any who desire to make a selection from these most choice lots. Campbell-Bentley Company, Exclusive Sales Agents, 820-822 Story Bldg. 60521; Main 7468.

KING AS LANDLORD.

The subject of housing is now foremost in the mind of King George of England, according to cable dispatches, says the Chicago Tribune. The King is interested in housing, however, not as the ruler of a nation, but as a landlord. One of the many estates from which His Majesty derives his revenue happens to be one of the worst slums in London. The King now proposes to raze the old buildings in his slum holdings, widen the narrow streets, and construct in their stead "substantial, commodious, and comely dwellings." In these new buildings he will give every attention, it is announced by the sanitary engineers carrying out his wishes, "to the mainstays of domestic life."

FOR WEST TWENTY-FIRST.

Local Contractor to Build Four-story Apartment House Just Off Main street—Modern Appointments.

Walter I. Wilson, a local contractor and builder, has completed plans for a four-story reinforced concrete apartment house to be erected by himself at No. 133 West Twenty-first street, just off Main street. The building will contain seventy-two rooms in two and three-room apartments, and will occupy a lot 40x100 feet in size. The improvement will cost about $30,000.

The front of the structure will be faced with glazed tile, the entrance and stairs being in marble. The building will have electric elevator service, hot and cold water, steam heat, roller couch beds and other modern conveniences. There will be a sun parlor on each floor.

Niland

-the "Inevitable City"-Gateway to

Imperial Valley

If you intend to go—make reservations at once!

Saturday, March 14th, will mark the most important event in the history of Southern California town openings.

On that date the birth of "Niland"—the inevitable city—the distributing center of the great North end of Imperial Valley—the coming metropolis of the 47,000-acre tract called Nile-land Farms—will be celebrated by thousands of people from all parts of the State.

On March 14th business and residence lots will be placed on sale for the first time.

If you intend to go, arrange for accommodation, at once—$12.00 gives you two days in the valley with all expenses paid—round trip on special train, sleeper and all meals.

Al Levy, the famous Los Angeles chef, will be in charge of the two big barbecues.

Niland is in the center of the most fertile farm and fruit section on the face of the earth. Niland will not grow haphazardly—its growth will be based upon a definite plan outlined by expert engineers.

Tremendous profits have been reaped by those who invested early in Calexico, Holtville, El Centro, Imperial and Brawley.

And now comes the greatest opportunity of all—NILAND—backed by many of the richest and most influential men in the Southwest—men who own and who are developing the 47,000 acres of rich Nile-land Farms surrounding NILAND.

HIGHWAY OPENED.

Santa Ana and Huntington Beach Linked by Paved Boulevard—Other Road Projects Taking Shape.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 7.—The present week saw the opening of the paved boulevard between Santa Ana and Huntington Beach. The opening of this road, so important to the development of the communities which it serves, was attended by no ceremonies, but scores of automobiles took advantage of the opportunity to visit the beach. At the rate at which work is progressing on the State highway between Santa Ana and Los Angeles, there is promise that there will be an all-paved route between Los Angeles and Huntington Beach inside of sixty days. The Talbert boulevard, another route between Huntington Beach and Santa Ana, is also nearing completion. This taps the rich beet, celery and bean country tributary to Huntington Beach.

Work has been started on the improvement of Westminster avenue, the road that leads due north from Huntington Beach. At the present time the county has graded about two miles. There will be several considerable cuts and fills. As soon as the grading is done, it is planned to gravel and oil the surface. Ultimately, the road will be paved and made a part of the Orange county highway system.

DEFENDS THE PLUMBER.

Trade Publication Gives "Devil His Due"—Would Confer "Order of Bath" on Much-Abused Trade.

[Modern Sanitation:] The Order of the Bath would have been dignified if it had been conferred on the various inventors of sanitary plumbing. Many persons who have made a great deal of noise in the world have done less good than those who lined the bath with porcelain, those who conceived the idea of knocking away the woodwork from the plumbing, those who first put in tiled walls and floors, those who cheapened and popularized the stationary bath and made it comfortable by laying on hot water, those who helped in various ways to make soap and water attractive.

Comic literature is full of jokes about the plumber. We do not undertake to defend all his delays and all his bills. But many a coat-of-arms commemorates services far less honorable and far less useful than those of the plumber.

Fashionable novels deride the wealthy soap-boiler and his efforts to get into good society, the society that knows almost as well as a butler that claret ought not to be iced. But soap has done a great deal more for civilization than the finest vintages.

It has been said the modern plumbing has done more for humanity than the railway. It would be difficult to strike the balance. But it is certain that civilization owes an enormous debt to the inventors and improvers of the railway, of modern farm machinery, of modern business methods, of modern devices for increasing the comfort of the home and lessening the labor of the housewife. The people who talk of this as "gross materialism" are talking nonsense.

TO SEPARATE BIDS.

Grading and Paving May Be Handled as Two Items in Future Street Improvement Work.

[Southwest Contractor:] Thinking that property owners will give less trouble, so far as protests are concerned, against supposedly too high prices for paving in some of the street contracts let by the Los Angeles Board of Public Works, the Council is passing a resolution to provide that in the future separate prices must be submitted by bidders on the grading and on the paving. Sometimes property owners think that paving is costing them more than it does others, not taking into consideration the fact that one street may have a greatly disproportionate amount of grading over another street. The Councilman who introduced the resolution thinks that where there is a large amount of grading to be done and when contractors submit one unit price covering both grading and paving, property owners have no means of knowing how much their paving is costing. Another Councilman, indorsing the resolution, declared that contractors have been in the habit of covering a multitude of sins in quoting prices on these items combined. Whatever these sins may be, it will probably make bidding safer for some of the competitors if the items are segregated and unit prices required on each, in which case there will be no excuse for any bidder to overlook a considerable piece of heavy grading.

BRITAIN AS BUILDER.

Government Constructing Close to Fifty Thousand Cottages in Ireland. Rent for Few Cents a Week.

[National Real Estate Journal:] The British government has built in Ireland up to the present year nearly 40,000 cottages for laborers with $4500 more in the process of construction. These cottages were built on loans amounting to nearly $400,000. In the county of Munster alone more than 10,000 cottages were built—modern cottages, too, each of which was surrounded by a one-half acre plot of land.

These are let to the laborers for from 24 cents to 36 cents per week or $18.72 annually. This does not quite pay the interest on the loans, but the balance is generally paid for out of the tax rates.

This idea is to encourage in every possible way the development and prosperity of those who are earning their livelihood from the soil, and to make good homes possible on the same theory that a lumber camp or a railroad contractor or the Panama Canal construction must first consider the housing and living conditions of the workers.

If the development continues at the present rate, there will be records of increased, improved and cultivated acreage in Ireland that will amaze even some of the growing and thriving States of the West. The experiment of the British government in Ireland is being watched with keen interest not only by other European nations, but far-sighted men in the United States who realize that the welfare of those who till the soil is of paramount importance.

BRENTWOOD PARK.

An attractive home is being designed for Samuel N. Bird, who has just purchased a lot on Lincoln drive, between Santa Vincente boulevard and Florida avenue in Brentwood Park. The frontage is 100 feet, looking toward the ocean, and the site has a depth of 224 feet. Another purchaser in the same property is J. R. McLean, a broker, who has bought a lot facing the Santa Monica mountains, and adjacent to the $20,000 Paulin residence. This site will be improved with a handsome home. The Braly-Janss Company was the seller in both instances.

ANGELES, Feb. 15.—Q.: tell what samples are. I gath them in little balls out of the in Nevada. It is strange, that I gathered them, that they have a very strange powder. is the stuff, anyway? W. B.

The "newer" mineralogists ulexite, but after all, it mineral hayesine, and in com "Boracic acid, 52.05; lime, soda, trace; chlorine, .94; sul acid, .53; water, 34.91, per respectively.

Silicates.

ANGELES, Feb. 15.—Q.: I two samples for test. W. M. W.

One of the samples was, orig a shell; now, in part, clay iron The other sample is a mixture silicate iron oxides microscopical yellow mica of pyrite.

Pebbles.

Feb. 16.—Q.: I always your "In the Earth" and "Rare column. In a separate please find sample from Ari near Chloride, taken out of a at 120-foot level. We know it gold, silver, copper, lead and but the assayer told us it con some mineral which he could with chemicals. Would you analyze the sample for us? I have been a subscriber and of The Times for years. If should be other values besides above-mentioned ones, will you tell us what they are? No as we know it takes time to testing. V. R.

Glad to get a line from you. nothing in a technical way to the sentence where it that the sample contains mineral which cannot be ob with chemicals. Such informa helps but little. Chemicals are in the fire assay, (dry meth in the wet method. particular sample before us is a variety of tetrahedrite, but the valuable "gray copper" mining boys in the hills. analyzed the sample with the result: Sulphur, 27 per copper, 21.2; lead, 3.3; antimony, 17.5; zinc, 11.5; arsenic, 9.5; iron, 6.5; with silica approximately 6, percentages as given. Not tested for gold or silver.

Fluorine Present.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17.—Q.: The sample I am sending today is from San Diego county. Will you please tell me what the blue crystals are? I find they burn, giving off a blue flame with a very little heat. I put some of them on cardboard and set it afire, and it burns, really giving a blue flame. E. C. G.

A.: Glad to hear from you. To a mineralogist, the sample is most interesting, and the crystals you refer to not only occur of blue color, but microscopical crystals of pink, white, yellow, scarlet-red, purple, gray and brown appear in the mass, and all of the crystals are those of fluorite. Traces of copper carbonate, and of copper oxide are in the mass, with trace of lead and 2.1 per cent. phosphoric acid. The blue flame you refer to is more of a bluish-green, and is probably from the copper and acid stated. Other matter in the mass is made up of silica, iron oxides, manganese dioxide, bronzite, and potash trace.

Two Minerals.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17.—Q.: An old desert rat would like to know what enclosed sample contains. Its weight indicates something more than quartz and country rock. Copper, nickel silicate, or barytes, is as near as I can get on a guess. J. G.

A.: Always glad to hear from the mining boys. Pretty good guess, in part. Epidote and chrysolite appears in the sample, and this matter is attached to a baryte-quartz mixture in which iron oxide (limonite) appears. Copper, a trace; nickel, absent. Not tested for gold.

Ankerite and Siderite.

TUCSON (Ariz.) Feb. 18.—Q.: Am sending you under separte cover two samples of rock from a locality within a few miles of Tucson. Will you please give test on samples? "SUBSCRIBER."

A.: Cheerfully. No. 1 is impure ankerite; impurities are: yellowish chrysolitic streaks, hematite, trace of copper oxide (erubescite,) turquoise a trace, copper silicate a trace, and azurite trace. No. 2 (darker in color than No. 1) is chiefly ankerite; iron carbonate (siderite) present.

Vanadium Absent.

WAGONER (Ariz.) Feb. 17.—Q.: I am sending you by this same mail a sample of mineral, and I would like to know if it contains vanadium? B. L. M.

A.: The sample is a mixture of iron oxides and iron sulphates, with low percentage phosphoric acid present.

Nodular Geyserite.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17.—Q.: Be kind enough to give these round white balls a test. G. W. K.

Doubtful Platinum Ore.

GOLD ROADS (Ariz.) Feb. 18.—Q.: I am enclosing samples of ore from near the Grand Canyon, Arizona. I am assured by local assayers that the rock contains platinum values, ranging from one-fourth of an ounce to one ounce platinum per ton ore. If so (?) is it native, or does it occur as a chloride or in combination with other metals? Should the sample show platinum values, please give approximate percentage. Could the values be recovered by leaching in a K.C.N. solution, provided that a suitable reagent was found for precipitation? I have samples of platinum ore from another place. Shall I take your time by forwarding sample? Thanking you for past favors, and wishing The Times every success. M. A. F.

A.: Glad to hear from you, and we thank you for your kindly geeting.

That Grand Canyon platinum ghost, like a certain other "spook," is apparently resurrected again, and "will not down."

Years ago the greatest scientists of Philadelphia reported to their "sassieties" that there were "wonderful amounts of platinum in the ores of Grand Canyon, Arizona," but their tests were of as much practical benefit as were the scientific (?) reports that the fake Cardiff Giant was at one time a man.

The sample you submit does not in any way resemble the "platinum ores" (?) of Grand Canyon, and the thumb specimen is too minute to test fully for the element.

A test for platinum is no ordinary chemical "stunt." To give you results on this special arrangements would have to be made on ten pounds of the ore, and while no charge would be made for the test you would be called upon to "pay the freight."

If you know that the sample you refer to carries platinum, we would like to have a sample of it for our mineral cabinet.

Ferruginous Quartz.

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 18.—Q.: I picked these specimens up in San Bernardino Mountains. Do they show any signs of valuable metals, or would they indicate valuable metals in that vicinity. Some pieces there were very heavy for size. W. C. S.

A.: Samples are named at the subheading, and they "indicate" gold at the locality. For gold values you are politely referred to reliable assayers. What about that "heavy-for-size" rock or mineral?

SALE OF CHOICE ORANGE GROVES

An opportunity for you to double your money quickly. One-fifth cash, one-fifth second year, and the balance spread over the next four years.

We have been commissioned to make quick sale of a small number of choice tracts remaining in the possession of the Bloomington Improvement Co.

These are five, ten, fifteen and twenty-acre pieces, some being raw land and the rest excellent groves, with trees ranging from two to twelve years' growth. Also, some town lots.

Varieties run from Valencias, Navels and Mediterranean Sweets to Tangerines, Grape Fruit and Lemons, all in fine condition.

Absolutely no scale or pests. Ideal soil conditions save labor in cultivation and irrigation. Abundance of water at an average cost of $8.50 an acre per year.

No smudging was done during the severe frosts of a year ago, and no damage was suffered, except in spots that with ordinary precautions could have been easily protected. Trees are in splendid condition.

Buyers will not be handicapped by having to pay for residential improvements they may not want. The groves are free from this kind of improvements.

Fruit now on trees. Prices range from $300 per acre for raw land up to $2000 for twelve-year-old trees, all prices being very much under the market. Casual examination will show this. These are all choice pieces.

Bloomington is in the heart of the citrus district. There is every facility for successful operation. Land values must advance rapidly within the next few years.

The Bloomington orange, lemon and olive packing houses are within a very short haul from any grove on the property, the longest haul not exceeding a mile.

Bloomington's great residential possibilities have also been slighted, due to the absence of electric car service. Within ten days electric cars will be operating from Riverside and San Bernardino to Bloomington, giving direct electric cars to Los Angeles.

On the Southern Pacific main line, it is only a little over two hours' ride by train, trolley or automobile from Los Angeles.

This is an opening that has not only been overlooked by expert operators, but that has not recently been brought to the attention of home buyers. Similar properties in what, up to now, have been more accessible locations, readily sell FOR CASH at double these prices.

First comers will have choice of selection, which is some advantage, but all pieces should be sold quickly at these prices and terms.

Printed price list, map and descriptions by mail upon request. Fill out coupon and mail promptly if you want a first choice. Or call at these offices.

THE LOCATION OF PATTERSON

is a very important feature for you to consider.

Situated right in the heart of the fertile San Joaquin Valley, the Patterson Irrigated Farms occupy a portion of the very best land in the whole valley.

The great San Joaquin River forms the eastern boundary—the land adjoining is the fertile bottom soil, averaging 30 feet deep.

Just 97 miles from Oakland and San Francisco, the frieght rates come wihtin the 100-mile classification — a money-saving feature.

The fast valley train of the Southern Pacific—the Owl—stops for passengers.

The quick express service, leaving in the evening, delivers dairy and other products to the market the same night.

The location of Patterson means added dollars to every Patterson farmer, yet you do not pay a premium for location.

We have some mighty interesting literature for you. Write for it today.

"OILFIELDS" TO BUILD "LINE."

Will Transport Oil to Plant at North Midway.

Record Company Well Gets Beyond Control.

Week's Activities in Kern County Fields.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

TAFT, March 6.—Work on a pipe line will be started within a few days by the American Oilfields Company. The line will be fourteen miles long and of 6-inch pipe. It will connect the American Oilfields Company's wells in the Midway division with its refinery at the main camp in the North Midway. The line will cost nearly $100,000 and will have capacity for about 15,000 to 20,000 barrels a day.

The oil produced on the Midland division is of 26 gravity, and is valuable for its gasoline and distillate content, but owing to lack of transportation connections with the company's topping plant it has not been refined in the past.

The Hale-McLeod Company is having trouble with its No. 12 well in the Midway district.

The Combined Oil Company will start work on a new well in the North Midway, the latter part of this month, and two more will be started shortly afterward.

The Security is another company that is planning considerable development work. Drilling was started on Wednesday on the No. 6 well. Contracts have been let for five other new derricks and the company expects to complete a new well every month for a half year.

The United Oil Company started drilling No. 27 well Wednesday.

No. 1 well of the St. Helens Petroleum Company in the Midway field came in Tuesday at noon with a flow of 1000 barrels of 28 gravity oil. Notwithstanding the heavy gas pressure the well was brought in under full control as a great flow was expected and proper precautions taken.

Because the well is 500 feet deeper than neighboring holes a few doubted that it could be made a paying proposition. Supt. Bailey's faith in the well, however, was not shaken, and he diligently continued drilling until the rich stratum was pierced.

The No. 3 well of the Record Oil Company in the North Midway tore away its fittings Wednesday at noon and all that day continued throwing high into the air a column of oil. The flow was estimated at 5000 barrels daily. The well came in Monday with a good flow of about 200 barrels, but was throttled at the time.

In spite of every preventive effort the flow of oil, carrying a heavy load of sand, soon cut oway the fittings. The oil is 28 gravity.

OUTLOOK FAVORABLE FOR FLOWING WELL.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BAKERSFIELD, March 6.—The new well of the State Consolidated Oil Company on section 26, 31-22, is doing 300 barrels daily of 17 gravity oil. There are indications that it may develop into a large flowing well like well No. 78 of the American Oilfields. The wells encountered the same formation; both are finished at 1000 feet and met with no water.

The American Oilfields well was a pumper for three months before it developed into one of the largest flowing producers in the field. There is a strong gas pressure in the State Consolidated well.

The Pyramid Oil Company, which has forty acres leased from the United, adjoining the State Consolidated on the north will move the rig erected for No. 12 well to the southwest corner of the lease and drill for the same sand.

The over-load coil for pumping motors on the West Side is apparently a success. The C.C.M.O. Company is now experimenting, and intends to equip 100 wells with motors if satisfied with the result. Most of the 350 wells pumping with electricity on the West Side have a no-voltage release, which throws out the switch when there is a dip in the power. It is then necessary for a man to make the circuit of the wells and throw on the switches again.

The no-voltage releases were installed in the first place because many motors burned out following a power dip. The power dips lasted only two seconds in many cases. The over-load coil does not throw off the power when there is no voltage, but shuts off the motor when there is an overload.

Field Notes.

Wells Nos. 11 and 32 of the Mascot Oil Company on section 25, 22-23, are to be cleaned out with a hope of increasing the production.

Well No. 3 of the General Petroleum of the Essex lease is being cemented.

The R. E. Graham Oil Company, section 25, 32-23, will drill in about a week.

The North American Oil Company, operating on section 16, 32-24, is installing a second electric motor for pumping three wells on the lease.

Work has begun on the six-mile gas pipe line between Taft and the Buena Vista Hills.

Well No. 2 of the Miocene Oil Company, on section 32, 12-23, will be sent down into the gusher sand that supplies the Obispo well.

The Hazelton Crude Oil Company has purchased the outfit of the old Cheeseborough Oil Company and is hauling it to section 17, 11-23, where well No. 1 is located. The No. 1 well has not been finished yet and water still causes trouble, but the indications in the locality are so good that the company will immediately begin on well No. 2.

Do You Know What George Randolph Chester Says About Ears

He maintains that an ear lacking a well developed lower lobe shows degeneracy. This isn't a "Get-Rich-Quick-Wallingford" ad., but a legitimate proposition. Mr. Investor, I want your ear for a minute provided the lower lobe is well developed.

I have 1720 acres ripe for subdivision, one of the very few large tracts still available for subdivision in all the Fresno district. You may not believe this, but it is true. Intensively cultivated small farms join this tract. Branch of the S.P. passes land. Spur track through the center of tract affording townsite and packing-house locations. This land is level, at present grain farmed, and is particularly adapted to the growing of citrus and deciduous trees and the table grape.

Do you realize, Mr. Investor, the possibilities of the canning industry once the canal with its cheap ocean freights is open? Already the canneries are making long time contracts at profitable prices, with the growers of cling peaches, and this land is the home of the cling peach.

CONTROLS BIG OUTPUT HERE.

SHELL COMBINE HAS STRONGHOLD IN CALIFORNIA.

Little Has So Far Been Accomplished Toward Its Development, Although Combine Could Produce More Than 4,000,000 Barrels of Oil a Year.

Despite the fact that it has done very little in the line of development, the Royal Dutch-Shell combine already has one of its principal strongholds in oil in California. The combine controls over 4,000,000 barrels of production here annually, as shown by a recent statement in one of the leading foreign papers. This amount is greater than that controlled in any but the East Indies and the Russian fields. In the former the combine has been producing for many years.

The output of the Royal Dutch-Shell combine in the East Indies totals nearly 10,750,000 barrels a year, while in Russia the combine's production is about 7,250,000 a year. The output in Oklahoma is but little less than 1,000,000 barrels per annum, while until recently the Mexican product has been very small. Now, however, owing to the bringing in of the great gusher on the La Corona Petroleum Company's Panuco tract, the combine's output has been increased many times over. La Corona is a subsidiary of the Royal Dutch-Shell combine.

In California the pipe line project of the Royal Dutch-Shell has apparently been dropped for the time being. The company is spending a great deal of money building a tank farm at Coalinga, and has just acquired property in Midway on which to build another tank farm. The former will be used in storing oil from the company's own properties, while the latter will be used to store the product purchased from the General Petroleum Company under contract some months ago. Only a small amount of petroleum has been delivered on this contract, which calls for an aggregate of 2,500,000 barrels.

CLIMBING SKYWARD.

Latest Oil Well Derricks Nearly Four Times Higher Than Original Structure of Col. Drake.

[Standard Oil Bulletin:] The derrick over the first oil well—Col. Drake's, drilled in Pennsylvania in 1859—was thirty-four feet high, and as might be guessed, it was a rather diminutive affair compared with the rigs that have followed it.

The derrick of the early nineties went eighty-four feet skyward. That type is still common throughout the California oil fields, but it looks a little under-sized if situated among the 106-foot derricks that have come with the rotary.

If the type of derrick which was contracted for the other day, to be erected on the Maricopa Flat, becomes popular, the 106-footer will in turn come to be regarded as undersized. According to newspaper report, this last word in derricks is to be 130 feet high.

It seems that the American Oil Fields Company, for whom this derrick will be built, figures it might as well handle six joints of casing, or drill pipe, as the case might be, instead of four.

A paper published in the interests of the oil industry informs its readers that with this 130-foot derrick it will be possible to handle six stands of pipe at a time. In the words of Rex Beach, that will be "going some."

Labor and Capital Must Co-operate.

Speaking at the University of Cincinnati the other night A. Parker Nevin, general counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, urged co-operation between employer and employed as the only sure means of industrial peace. He spoke of the Industrial Workers of the World (as led by Idaho Haywood) as denying the right of any established national authority, denying the emblem of the nation, its flag, its gospel and even denying God.

"The movement of syndicalism (or I.W.W.'ism,) is a denial, general, comprehensive and dynamic," he said. "Its quality of liberty is the liberty from which all limitations are removed. It is an angry sea surging against established bulkheads of society. It is utterly repugnant to Americanism; sneers at socialism and smiles at anarchy with benevolent approval. Lawlessness is its law." And he continued:

"The position of the workingman in his relation to his employer is better and happier now than it has ever been in the history of our commercial civilization.

"Many employers now realize that if they had been more anxious to gain the confidence of their employees the labor agitator would be out of a steady job. The closer employer and employee get to each other, the further the salaried walking delegate disappears down the street.

Show me a factory or a plant where contentment reigns and I will show you that the human element between workingman and employer is in working accord. You can't treat men, born in the image of God, as mere instruments of production or units of cost. The moment the human side in industry is excluded life becomes mechanical. When life is mechanical the soul is dead. Soulless industry is profanation."

British Wages and Conditions.

The following figures from the British Board of Trade Labor Gazette (government authority,) show the rise and fall of British wages for the past twenty years:

Years of rising wages—	Weekly increase.
1896-1900	$3,181,527
1906-1907	1,260,423
1910-1913	1,717,874
Total increase	$5,100,824

Years of falling wages—	Weekly decrease.
1894-1895	$355,254
1901-1905	1,114,428
1908-1909	622,912
Total decrease	$2,092,584

It will thus be seen that the net increase in wages in the two decades was $3,017,220.

During 1913, 1,730,872 workers received a net wages increase of $807,566 per week, while 36,135 suffered a loss of $8594 per week. The coal-mining industry accounted for more than one-half of the total increase of wages, and the next most important groups were the building, engineering, shipbuilding and textile industries.

Returns relating to about 900,000 members of trade-unions show that the mean percentage of members unemployed at the end of each month in 1913 was 2.1, compared with 3.2 per cent. in 1912 (2.4 omitting the months affected by the coal strike,) 3 per cent. in 1911, 4.7 in 1910 and 7.7 in 1909.

Electric Railway Wages Increased.

Wages have been raised (March 1) by the Oregon Electric and United Railways to the following:

Passenger conductors	$165 to $202.50 month
Brakemen	$92.50 to $106 month
Freight conductors, through	$4.24 for 10 hours
Brakemen, through	$2.90 for 10 hours
Freight conductors, local	$4.64 for 10 hours
Brakemen, local	$3.10 for 10 hours
Work train conductors	$4.85 for 10 hours
Brakemen	$2.96 for 10 hours
Yard service conductors	$4.00 for 10 hours
Yard service brakemen	$3.70 for 10 hours

All these figures are substantial increases over the old rates, benefiting 125 men.

Big Store to Share Profits.

A comprehensive profit and ownership sharing plan which is to benefit all employees of Kaufmann Department Stores, Inc., of Pittsburgh, Pa., was announced recently. Edgar J. Kaufmann has assumed responsibility with the directors of the corporation for a gift of $1,000,000 of common stock to be used in putting the profit-sharing plan into immediate operation.

FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND LOAFERS ARE EN ROUTE.

[Editorial.]

"General" Coxey, who obtained his brigadier's stars as "general" of the army of hen-roost robbers in 1894, announces that on his sixtieth birthday, which unhappy event will occur on April 16, next, he will duplicate his march of twenty years ago, when he marshalled his non-industrial forces and led them from Ohio to Washington. He will start from his home at Masillon, O., where he predicts that 500,000 will rendevous from all parts of the country.

These 500,000 soldiers will "relieve the economic conditions"—of these parts of the country from which they will depart. Their absence from the Pacific Coast will be precious to its good citizens. When they take their leave they will "take from us nothing that we would more willingly part withal." It is announced that 5000 are preparing to go from San Francisco. It may be predicted that the railroad officials will relieve them of many miles of weary walking by winking at their forcible occupation of empty box cars for a few hundred miles in an eastern direction. We shall miss those who go from Los Angeles—miss them from the bread line, the county jail and the audiences of the soap-box orators. But our loss will be Massillon's gain. Massillon, according to the last census, has a population of 13,879. A temporary addition of 500,000 I.W.W.'s may, to an extent, strain her hospitality, diminish her food supplies and, in some places, exhaust the energy of her bulldogs. But she will be more than compensated for the cost of inconvenience by the luster that will enwreath the brow of her Coxey.

Like all great military leaders, "General" Coxey does not worry himself about the final results of his campaign. When asked what would be the outcome of his expedition, he smiled a cheerful smile and replied—according to press dispatches:

"What am I going to do with them when I get them there? Why let the government take care of them, of course. Uncle Sam is responsible for their being out of work, not I."

The reply of "General" Coxey was, as the Boston girl said of Niagara Falls, "neat, simple, comprehensive and sufficient." The spectacle of Uncle Sam feeding and sheltering 500,000 refugees from labor will be edifying to the nations.

Labor's Unrest.

STRIKES AND STRIKERS OF THIS UNEASY WORLD.

OUT of the 225,000 miners in the coal fields of Southern France 40,000 have struck in response to the call of their leaders for a general strike as a protest against the elimination by the Senate of some clauses of the underground workers' pension bill.

Labor unrest is very serious at Budapest, Hungary. Thirty thousand unemployed men and women are parading and rioting. Food and coal wagons are being plundered. All windows along the routes are smashed in sheer wantonness and other property injured and destroyed. This reads very much like an I.W.W. ebullition. Drawn swords are being used by the police and many arrests made. Riots here of this kind would delight the hearts of I.W.W. Haywood, Ettor, Miss Flynn and company.

The dozen strike leaders whom the government of the Union of South Africa got rid of during the recent general strike there by the simple expedient of hustling them aboard the steamship Umgeni and deporting them to England, have arrived at London after being landed against their will. As soon as they were sent away the totally unnecessary Socialist-Syndicalist strike utterly collapsed., It would be a good thing for all of us, particularly decent American labor, union and otherwise, if about fifty of our trouble-making, violence-creating labor and strike agitators could be as easily sent abroad. We could well spare Haywood, Ettor, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, Giovannitti, Darrow, Gompers, Harriman and some others whose names and acts will recur to the reader.

The government indemnity bill, drawn to defend the Union of South Africa from lawsuits as a result of the wise proclamation of martial law in the recent strike, has passed and is now law.

King George raised the wages of the laborers on his farms in Norfolk county, England, to sixteen shillings a week and granted Saturday half-holiday. Now the laborers working for the tenant farmers on the royal estate at Sandringham have struck for the same things, the tenant farmers having refused to give them, though advised to do so by the King.

Very little has been heard of James Larkin, the leader of the collapsed Dublin strike, since the failure, utter failure, of his "fiery-cross" mission to the English trade-unionists, who ignored him and his "to-hell-with-wages-contracts" methods.

Tom Mann, the leader of so many English failed strike movements, whose recent mission to the United States to absorb some of union labor's wages money was not a success, is on his way to South Africa to organize fresh labor agitation in the attempt to start another general strike there. He will not succeed, as the government of South Africa knows just how to get rid of pestilent strike agitators—that is, deport them out of the country.

Chicago women social workers are foolishly getting themselves arrested for making themselves prominent in the picketing of restaurants by striking waitresses. These latter are trying to force recognition of their union by employers. They won't get it.

Great Britain had 1462 labor disputes in 1913, being more than double the average of the preceding twenty years. Here is the record by trades of workers involved and working days' wages lost:

Trades—	Workers involved.	Days' wages lost.
Textiles	93,019	1,996,800
General dispute (Dublin)	21,000	1,780,000
Metal trades	68,863	1,608,200
Coal mining	200,736	1,825,100
Transport	83,429	1,217,000
Engineering	56,286	1,207,000
Building	39,693	814,600
Quarrying	10,626	255,300
Clothing	14,970	174,000
Shipbuilding	25,577	144,800
Other trades	63,055	972,000
Totals	677,254	11,491,000

At an average wage of only $1.50 per day per worker here is a total wages loss by strikes in one year of $17,236,500. The number of workers involved in these disputes was about twice the average for the same period (twenty years,) while the aggregate duration in working days (11,491,000) of all disputes was greater than in any year except 1893, 1898 and 1912, in each of which years a coal strike was in progress. The principal contribution to Great Britain's strikes in 1913 was that of the metal workers in the Midlands, which began in April and ended in July, aggregating about 1,400,000 working days, and the strike at Dublin, which up to December 31 aggregated 1,780,000 working days. Most of the disputes were for increased wages. The greater number were settled by compromise. The figures and facts here quoted are those of the British government Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The Marseilles (France) strike of marine engineers is serious and many steamers are tied up. In one day seventeen steamships were unable to leave port and some sailings are postponed indefinitely. The demand is for increased wages, first refused by the big company—the Messageries Maritimes.

Buffalo (N. Y.) electricians are figuring on a strike for more pay. Employers offer $3.75 a day from May, 1914, to May, 1915, and after that $4 a day. The union demands a raise to $4 a day from May, 1914. There are 500 members in the local union. The Gould Coupler plant strikers at Depew (near Buffalo, N. Y.) refused to listen to I.W.W. harangues and drove the two organizers out of their meeting and out of town, after overtaking and beating one of them. The strike is serious, only the office force being now at work. The demand is for a nine-hour day and a closed shop. The company fixed February 26 as the date for the strikers to return or lose their jobs, but the notice was ignored and the strike is still on. The company has had a pay roll of $25,000 to $30,000 a week, all of which is being lost to the strikers. That is practically $6000 for each working day. The president, Mr. Gould, declares that the unions have been handling him in a high-handed manner and unionized his plant. Evidently that union tyranny became unbearable and was resented—hence the strike. An arrest was made for carrying concealed weapons, whereupon twenty armed men, falsely parading as State labor deputies, hurriedly left Depew.

British strikes have cost the strikers $84,741,000 lost wages in the past ten years, besides a vast sum spent in strike pay by the unions out of saved-up wages money, $13,209,000 more wages was secured by the strikers, leaving a net loss to labor of $71,531,000, or over $7,000,000 a year. Did the strikes pay? Spending $84,000,000 to get $13,000,000 can hardly be called a paying proposition.

After several days of severe turmoil the Portugal railway strike—that of men belonging to the revolutionary section of the Socialist party—seems to have blown over. Tracks were destroyed in many places and bridges blown up. It was certainly "hot and heavy" while it lasted.

Four hundred laborers are on strike at the Guggenheim smelter at Ruston, near Tacoma. The strike began last December, when they were notified of a ten-hour instead of a nine-hour day, without any increase of wages. That seems unfair to the men and was so.

One thousand trunkmakers at St. Louis, men and women, threaten a general strike unless the employers recognize their new union, which is affiliated with the Industrial Workers (Wreckers) of the World. Employers must resist this.

A threatened strike of drivers employed by the British Motor-Cab Company has been averted, the men being granted their demands, mainly a question of on how much petrol to the twenty miles the employers would guarantee the cab to run. It was fixed at twenty miles (instead of eighteen) to the gallon of petrol. The drivers have to buy the petrol they use of the company.

England is threatened with another national coal strike. The surface men want their wages increased. Owners offer to make it three shillings a day for all between the ages of 21 and 65, but the union leaders consider the offer inadequate. The offer certainly does seem small—practically only 75 cents a day.

The very serious London building trades strike (or lockout) is still on, without any apparent prospect of settlement. Conferences are resulting in nothing.

The Herefordshire (Eng.) school teachers strike is getting worse. It begins to look like a "test case."

Rioting and disorder still attend the strike of the chair-makers at High Wycombe, Eng. The police have been stoned and loads of factory property seized and destroyed. Non-union workers are being assaulted by the strikers, when not escorted to their homes by mounted police.

Seven thousand men, employed at the various Tyne shipyards will strike for more wages in a few days, if they have not already done so as this is being written. They are riveters belonging to the Boilermakers' Society. Their present piecework prices of work were drawn up twenty years ago and are out of date, conditions and cost of living being now very different.

Australian wharf laborers are on a "lazy" strike. They are only working from 8 to 5, and refuse to work overtime, no matter how many ships are waiting to load and start, says a cable from Melbourne. The wharf congestion is causing loss and much inconvenience.

The district superintendents of the New York State Schools want their salaries increased to at least $2000 a year with an allowance of $500 a year for expenses. The reasonable request ought to be granted.

A Pressing Question.

TIME TO END INDIFFERENCE.

OPPOSE THE DEMAND FOR CLASS LEGISLATION.

The Enactment of Such Laws Is Not Only Wrong but Out of Harmony with the Letter and Spirit of the Federal Constitution and Dangerous to the People.

[John Kirby, Jr., in American Industries:] In these days of the demagogue and the self-seeker it cannot be too strongly urged that "the education of the people is the safety of the State." Every fair-minded and intelligent citizen should embrace every opportunity to bear a part in enlightening the public as to the sinister influences which are at work undermining their government and mortgaging their future. The pernicious activities of the labor lobbies in our Federal and State legislative bodies evidence the absolute necessity of counteracting agencies, and this fact cannot be too generally known. Every available means should be employed to arouse the people from their deadly indifference to a keen appreciation of the blighting forces that are everywhere at work against their best interests.

During the riotous street car strike in St. Louis, in the year 1900 or 1901, the president of the American Federation of Labor publicly declared that within ten years organized labor would absolutely control the commerce and industries of this country. As means to this end Congress and the various State legislatures have for many years been besieged by an insidious and persistent labor lobby, with headquarters at Washington, seeking to enact such vicious legislation as a law prohibiting equity courts issuing injunctions in labor disputes; release of organized labor from the operations of the Sherman anti-trust law; trial by jury for contempt of court in cases of labor controversies, and other pernicious legislation to exempt that particular class of citizens from the operation of laws to which all other classes of citizens are amenable.

No sane person who believes in the theory of equality before the law will deny that such discriminating legislation is not only wrong, but absolutely malicious and out of harmony with the letter and spirit of the Federal Constitution, dangerous to the peace and happiness of our people and promotive of sedition and anarchy. In its logical sequence it would prove as harmful to those whom its proponents allege it will benefit as it would and must be to any and all other classes. Such legislation would be antagonistic to orderly government. It would open the gates of security and protection for the American Federation of Labor and the Industrial Workers of the World, to pass through and pursue their acts of destruction and violence, free from the interference of laws which now hold these militant organizations in check.

Whatever may be the pretense for demanding such class legislation, its only purpose is to remove interference by the courts with the firmly established practice of a certain type of organized labor to enforce its demands against employers and independent work people by means of violence and the boycott, and in this manner establish and protect a powerful and dangerous labor trust machine. It is worse than folly to assign any other reason for the demand. It is a sad commentary on this nation that its Congress should even permit legislation of this vicious character to receive consideration at its hands. And yet it is a fact that for many years such class measures have received serious and extended consideration, at enormous expense to the country and at the sacrifice of measures to which attention of Congress should be given.

There can be no misunderstanding what the effect of such legislation would be, and that its purpose is to legalize violence and the boycott in carrying out the purposes of criminal unionism. This was made clear by ex-President Taft in the reasons he gave for vetoing the Sundry Civil Appropriations Bill, which was re-enacted by the present Congress, and signed by President Wilson, with an apology for performing this official act, but which he has been openly charged with having previously indorsed. That the policy of the administration is in accord with the letter and spirit of the obnoxious rider to the sundry civil bill is evidenced by the following press report which is self-explanatory:

"Charleston (W. Va.) Nov. 18.—The cases of President John P. White and other national and district leaders of the mine workers under indictment for conspiracy in restraint of trade were continued in Federal Court here today. None of the defendants appeared when the cases were called. It was reported that the continuance was the result of private advices from the Department of Justice to the effect that prosecution of the charges would not be countenanced. The District Attorney declined to comment upon the report."

The passage and signing of this measure, with its obnoxious provision that no part of the money appropriated for use of the Department of Justice in prosecuting violators of the Sherman law should be used to prosecute farmers and labor trusts, is a removal of one of the corner-stones of our government and opens the door to the ultimate destruction of the institutions which have grown up under it; for they cannot long endure when one class of citizens are privileged to commit acts and depredations which if committed by other classes would be criminal and punishable by imprisonment. No self-respecting people will permanently tolerate such injustice, and the political party that stands sponsor for it will sooner or later meet its doom. Enact laws making those who declare strikes personally responsible for damage resulting therefrom through unlawful acts of the strikers or their sympathizers, and the strike problem will solve itself. We cannot hope to destroy anarchy by legislating it onward.

The man who trifles with the fundamental principle of industrial freedom and uses it as an agency for the accomplishment of his own selfish ends is an enemy of democratic government, undeserving of the benefits offered by our form of government, and should seek his residence in a land where justice is not the controlling principle of government.

If equality of opportunity is to be preserved, which the signing of the sundry civil bill conspicuously demonstrates a willingness to barter away; if our free institutions are to remain intact—then must the people who realize the significance of these things awake from their lethargy and sound the loud timbrel in protest against any and every attempt to destroy the principles upon which our governmental institutions are based.

Servant Problem.

MADE ILL HUNTING COOKS; URGES LAW TO HOLD THEM

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ANNAPOLIS (Md.) March 7.—Employment of forty cooks within a year caused a matron of Baltimore to succumb to nervous prostration after vainly trying to cope with the servant problem, according to a member of the delegation from the Daughters of the American Revolution, which appeared before the Senate Judiciary Committee to urge the passage of a bill to compel domestic servants to register and enter into enforcible contracts with housekeepers.

The bill probably will be amended to apply only to Baltimore City on account of the impracticability of compelling domestics to travel to the county seats to register.

UNIONIST POSTMASTER.

President of National Letter Carriers' Association Selected for Brooklyn by President Wilson.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 6.—William E. Kelly of New York, president of the National Letter Carriers' Association, has been selected by President Wilson and Postmaster-General Burleson to be postmaster at Brooklyn, N. Y. He was indorsed, it is said, by all Democratic factions.

Federal Statute.

MAY COMPEL ARBITRATION OF ALL MINING DISPUTES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DENVER (Colo.) March 7.—A compulsory arbitration law for the settlement of disputes between coal operators and their employees, as one of the recommendations of the Federal Strike Investigation Committee, was foreshadowed by questions put to E. L. Doyle, secretary and treasurer of District 15, United Mine Workers of America, by Representative Howard Sutherland of West Virginia.

In the examination of Doyle, Sutherland questioned the witness closely on the subject of arbitration, his questions indicating that he would urge the enactment of a Federal statute similar to the Canadian "dispute act," which includes mining among the industries in which controversies between labor and capital must be submitted to boards of mediation.

The method is similar to that provided in the amended Erdman Act for the settlement of disputes between railroads and their employees.

They Certainly Are.

ARE LABOR UNIONS "TRUSTS?"

AS MUCH SO AS ARE EMPLOYERS' ASSOCIATIONS.

Sherman Law Is a Revival of the Old Common Law of England, and if Labor Unions Are Made Exempt from Its Operations So Also Must Be Employers' Associations.

[Boston Advertiser:] The question of amendments to the Sherman anti-trust act is beginning to grow serious in the estimation of the members of President Wilson's Cabinet.

Under strict construction of the terms of the Sherman act, it appears that the Supreme Court is likely to hold, if the question ever comes before it, that a strike of unions in any industry which does an interstate business, is a conspiracy or illegal combination in restraint of interstate trade or commerce. There seems to be pretty general agreement on that point, among attorneys who have studied this phase of the industrial situation. It is evident that the administration is reluctant to force this issue to the fore, but it looks as if the administration were reluctant, too, to go on record as demanding that labor unions, alone, shall be exempt from the provisions of the law.

President Wilson, it may be recalled, put himself on record last year, as opposed to the view that labor unions should be held as exempt from the operation of the Sherman act, simply and solely because of political reasons. When Congress passed the sundry civil appropriations bill with a special clause to the effect that none of the money therein appropriated should be used in the prosecution of labor unions, President Wilson stated emphatically that the only reason he was willing to allow that provision to pass, without his veto, was that other funds are available for such prosecutions, whenever they should become necessary. Otherwise, he explained, he should have refused to allow the bill to become a law. It is not likely, then, that he will approve of any bill to exempt labor unions, alone, from the law's application.

Yet, as the law stands, it may prove a very serious menace to the ordinary operations of labor unions in the larger industries of the country. It is beyond any question that the unions cannot declare a boycott, in any big industry, without falling foul of the Sherman act. A boycott is, in its very nature, just such a conspiracy in restraint of interstate trade and commerce as the act has declared to be absolutely illegal. More than this, the best authorities on the Sherman act have come to practically unanimous agreement on the assertion that any strike which seriously restricts the output of any industry, doing an interstate business is in its very essence a violation of the Sherman act. It is an agreement having as its avowed and principal purpose the restraint of interstate trade.

In order to comprehend this more clearly, it must be held in mind that the Sherman Act was not, essentially, a new principle of law. It was merely a plain affirmation of a very old law—the old "common law" inherited from England. That has been affirmed, specifically, by the Supreme Court, in the oil and tobacco cases, and the court has shown very plainly that its decisions, under the Sherman Act, will follow the lines of the common-law principles, centuries old. Under the common law, strikes were always illegal, as conspiracies to injure the employer and to force him to grant by duress or "restraint" what he would not grant of his own free will. The common law has been replaced in most States by statutes which remove the old limitations of the common law. But no such exemption has yet been made in the Sherman Act. On its face, that act makes a widespread strike illegal.

But how can the act be changed, so as to authorize strikes as legal, without an exhibition of class legislation, wholly? President Wilson has repeatedly put himself on record against such legislation. He has made it plain that, in his own judgment, Congress should not legislate so as to give to any one class of citizens rights, privileges or immunities which are denied to all other classes of citizens. If the labor unions are to be exempt from the operations of the Sherman Act, why must not employers' associations also be exempt? If a boycott in any form is to be made legal, does it not necessarily follow that black lists also must be made legal, as well? If the unions are to have the right to refuse to allow men to work in an industry, how can Congress refuse to the trusts the right to say whom they shall employ, or even to what jobbers they may sell their product?

The moment Congress begins to annul the Sherman Act in the cases of any one class of citizens now within the scope and jurisdiction of the act, who can say where the line can logically be drawn? As it stands, the Sherman Act applies to any class which, under the old rules of the common law, would have been subject to the act. Once begin to break down the act in any of its existing provisions, and where shall the discrimination stop, without exposing Congress to the just charge of open and avowed favoritism? If the Sherman Act is not to apply to all who combine or conspire in restraint of interstate trade or commerce, but only to specific classes of those who restrain trade, must it not become class legislation, pure and simple?

The labor unions aim at absolute monopoly of labor in certain lines of industries. The oil trust aimed at a monopoly of the oil business. If one is absolutely wrong, can the other be absolutely right? That is a problem which has already proved to be disturbing and disconcerting to the members of President Wilson's Cabinet. Its logical solution is not easy.

ENEMIES OF THE COUNTRY.

Leaders of Laborers Who Make Such Demands on Employers That They Cannot Be Accepted.

[Goodwin's Weekly:] The Outlook discusses the strike in the copper region of Michigan. The Outlook declares that "the question at the bottom of the conflict is whether labor has or has not the right to organize."

We do not believe that is true. All fair men approve of labor unions. We suspect that they have existed in the copper region of Michigan for thirty or more years.

As we understand the matter, the trouble is not because of labor unions, but because the leaders of the unions there demand recognition in a way which the mining company cannot accept. We are quite sure that were the skilled mechanics who put the Outlook in form every week to combine and make a similar demand upon the proprietors, those proprietors would reject and refuse to even consider it, for by what they call recognition they mean that they would virtually take charge of the works, drive out all who did not belong to their union, keep incompetent men employed if they but belonged to the union, and, in short, take charge.

The trouble is an old one, and we believe came from one source.

It originated in Montana. A delegation from the union called on Marcus Daly, who had created the great Anaconda company and was employing thousands of men at generous wages. Daly listened to their demands and told the delegation they would not be considered. Then a strike was threatened.

To this Daly replied that he was paying the highest wages paid anywhere for like work, paying all that the company could afford to, and moreover that he was boss and did not propose to surrender his place. But he added that this is a free country, that to strike was the privilege of workingmen at all times when they felt they were not receiving justice; that personally he wished them well, and that if they did strike a good many of their families would soon be in need, and when that happened, if they would come to him he would help them all he could.

They did not strike, but some of them tramped off into the Coeur d'Alene country in Idaho, and some to Colorado. We know what they did in both States.

Their leader then was a murderous scoundrel, but he a little later made a strike in a mine, sold out for a little fortune and then his interest in the union suddenly evaporated and he retired to private life.

Two men were in charge in Denver when Gov. Steunenberg of Idaho was assassinated and one of the two was tried for inciting the assassination, but was cleared because the main witness against him was the assassin. The man tried went to New England and led the riotous striking there last year. The other, we understand, has been active in the Calumet-Hecla strike.

Wherever these men make their demands the same results follow, whether in Idaho, Colorado, New England, Michigan, for what they are seeking no American company of self-respectful men will ever accede to for a holy minute.

A steamship line under the name of the United Steamship Company of Galveston, Tex., has been established with a regular monthly freight and passenger service from Galveston to New Orleans, Port-au-Prince, Cuba and Jamaica. All the steamers are chartered. The principal incoming cargoes for Port-au-Prince will consist of flour and lumber.

In the Event of War with Mexico, Will the "Great White Way" Cast Off Its Tinsel and Glare and Become Again the Scene of the Stirring Events that Marked the Opening of the Civil Strife?

SHOULD the United States and Mexico clash what would become of the tinsel and the glare of the "Great White Way" in New York?

This question was warmly discussed recently by three visitors to the metropolis. It was the man from the Pacific coast who propounded the question. The man from Wisconsin, somewhat of a sceptic, was of the opinion that the average New Yorker, living his provincial life, would probably not be aware that anything of moment was transpiring beyond the Hudson River. The man from Michigan, while sympathizing with his neighbor from across Lake Michigan, was inclined to think that in the event of war with Mexico there would be a repetition of the stirring scenes during the early days of the civil war, when Broadway forgot itself and gave its soldiers a send off that shook "little old New York" from the Battery to Harlem.

It is idle to speculate on what Broadway would do should the relations between Mexico and the United States become strained to the snapping point. Basing the assertion on past events, it is more or less likely that, for a brief spell at any rate, the sights that now attract travellers from one end of the country to the other, sights that practically every man, woman and child in the United States is familiar with from personal experience or from photographs, would fade from view and the great thoroughfare would resound to the tread of soldiers and the cheers of the multitudes.

Already speculations are rife in the Gotham press as to how quickly the State militia might be mobilized in case the United States should intervene in Mexico. It is stated that 15,000 men would be under arms within twenty-four hours after the call "To arms!"

New York is the only State in the Union that has a complete division in the army of the United States. In the event of the breaking out of hostilities between the Yankees and the Mexicans Broadway would witness the unique sight of a whole division of volunteers leaving for the front. And, at that, there would still be from 5,000 to 10,000 men encamped in the various armories ready to follow at a moment's notice. It is thought by astute showmen that this array of fighting men would attract to Broadway patriotic citizens from all parts of the Union who would never for a moment think of travelling across the continent to participate in its artificial life.

As this war would be against a common enemy it is probable that the enthusiasm would be even more pronounced than in the sixties, when men were setting forth to shoot their brothers. There would, at any rate, be no repetition of the riots and hangings that marked the strife of the middle of the nineteenth century.

It was a remarkable combination of events that made those days of April, 1861, undying history in old Broadway, in New York State, in the nation. Fort Sumter had fallen and Major Anderson, who defended it, was en route to New York by water. War was declared and a call issued by President Lincoln for 75,000 men. Upon the Seventh regiment of New York fell the distinction of being ordered to Washington.

While the Seventh was preparing to depart Major Anderson arrived in New York aboard the government steamer Baltic, and the throngs that had gathered in lower Broadway to witness the passing of the Sixth Massachusetts, 800 strong, on its way to Washington gave the weary hero of Fort Sumter a rousing reception as he passed up Broadway.

The departure of the Seventh regiment brought out a crowd that for size and patriotism has perhaps never since been equalled.

If there could be any doubt of the feeling of that vast throng, the waving of banners from roofs and windows, flags fixed to horses' heads, stuck in the hats and caps of men and bonnets of women, and even pinned to babies in arms, the spots of color, which gleamed from many a badge on patriotic bosoms, and, above all, the quiet, subdued, solemn air that pervaded

Where to go and how to go today.

Strong lines show passable roads. Dotted lines show roads closed or in course of construction. Crosses mark bridges washed out which make motoring impossible. This map was drawn from a report of the Automobile Club of Southern California engineering department, made yesterday. The Franklin car, driven by Engineer O. K. Parker of the Auto Club, is shown on a tour of inspection.

The Facts.

RELIABLE REPORTS ON CONDITION OF THE ROADS.

The Automobile Club Sends Out a Franklin Car and Collects Data Showing Where the Roads and Bridges Are Impassable—Nearly Every Town Can Be Reached by Automobile.

BY AL G. WADDELL.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA motorists are more interested in road conditions at this time than any other subject. Notwithstanding the damage done to the highways by the recent storms, there are still many routes open to the automobile and practically every town in the southern part of the State may be reached by machines.

Many reports have been brought in regarding the condition of roads; but the report of O. K. Parker, engineer of the Automobile Club of Southern California, is accepted as official.

Several hundred phone calls came into the club headquarters yesterday regarding road conditions covering territory from Phoenix to San Francisco. Ever since the rains several road experts of the Auto Club have been kept busy giving information over the phone, and explaining routes at the club's headquarters on South Olive street. The men employed by the automobile body have been on the roads day and night, sending in the latest details regarding the various routes.

All roads running to Santa Monica, Ocean Park, Venice and Del Rey are in excellent condition. There is a bridge out on the Inglewood connection. This road joins Washington boulevard to the Redondo road, just below the town of Inglewood.

The Redondo road, Harbor boulevard and Wilmington-Redondo road are in good condition. At the end of the Wilmington-San Pedro road, better known as Harbor boulevard, there is a bad stretch of road, but there is an auto club arrow sign directing machines to the right over a temporary road into San Pedro over the hill.

Long Beach boulevard is blocked. There is a bridge over the Los Angeles River out and it will be about two weeks before this route will be repaired, according to the foreman of the construction corps.

There is a bridge out on the Compton-Clearwater road and another out of commission on the connection between the Clearwater-Long Beach road and Long Beach boulevard near the aviation field.

The Anaheim-Long Beach road to Santa Ana is blocked while in course of construction, as is also the Ontario and Riverside diagonal road.

There is a bridge out between Downey and Norwalk and another wrecked bridge on the telegraph road near Santa Fe Springs. On the Vernon-Downey road there are three bridges which are impassable.

The Whittier boulevard is closed for about two weeks. The Rio Hondo bridge is out, but a foot bridge has been constructed.

The coast road to San Diego is blocked north of Oceanside, but the inland route is open. There are a few stretches of rough going along this route, but most any car can make the run in fast time.

The El Monte bridge is out on the valley road and there is but one way to get out to Pomona, Riverside and San Bernardino. That is over the Foothill boulevard. The best route to Riverside from Pomona is over the Pomona-Riverside road through Wineville and Chino. Euclid avenue, out of Ontario, is in good condition and this is a good cut-off from Ontario to the Pomona-Riverside road.

A bridge is out on the San Diego inland route near Temecula, but cars are able to get through the wash.

Between Covina and Glendora a bridge is out, but the Azusa road is in excellent condition.

The San Fernando road is reported in good condition, but there is a bridge out on Los Feliz avenue between Hollywood and Glendale.

A route to Bakersfield is open by way of Saugus, Mint Canyon. The San Francisquito, Boquet and Soledad Canyon routes are impassable.

There will be no travel over the Ventura-Santa Barbara road for at least three weeks, according to the engineers. The Santa Paula route is the only road open to Ventura. The road is bad between Fillmore and Santa Paula, but passable.

It is possible to go to El Rio over the Simi Valley route, where the Southern Pacific freights machines across the railroad bridge on a flat car once a day, making a charge of $2.50 for each machine, passengers carried free of charge with their machines.

The reports from Arizona and the Northern California roads have not come in officially as yet, but are expected within another day or two.

Signs marking danger spots and blocked roads have been put up by the auto club all over Southern California, and the best temporary routes are marked with the club's arrow signs.

Stopping the runaway Auburn.

W. J. Burt hit on a novel automobile stunt during the big races when he turned an Auburn loose near the road to Santa Monica. The car was running in a circle, but more than one hundred people ran to stop it during one day. Here is a race to stop the car at Culver City in which an athletic young lady beat a bunch of male would-be rescuers.

Live Stunt.

MOTOR CAR IS TURNED LOOSE.

Driverless Machine Makes a Decided Hit.

W. J. Burt Watches the Fun from Ambush.

Race Crowds Run to Stop Moving Auburn.

A novel demonstration of the Auburn car was staged by the W. J. Burt Motor Car Company during the Vanderbilt cup and Grand Prize races. No "stunt" put on by an automobile concern in Southern California for a long time has attracted as much attention.

On Thursday, the day of the Vanderbilt event, a new Auburn was taken to Culver City, where a space was roped off and the car started running in a circle at about seven miles an hour, without a driver. The car ran all day and hundreds of people driving down the boulevard decided that the car was running away.

W. J. Burt was in ambush a few hundred yards away. From his station he watched the fun. Autoists would stop their machines and run to catch the runaway car. Some would climb the fence and others would race across the car tracks. Women were among the would-be rescuers of the car, also.

A large percentage of the automobiles driven down the boulevard either to or from the races, stopped or slowed down when the Auburn was seen slowly moving without a pilot on the branch road a short distance away.

The car was started at 6 o'clock in the morning and kept running without a driver until after sundown. The total mileage for the day was sixty-eight miles.

This "stunt" proved such an attraction that it was repeated on Saturday, the day of the Grand Prize race. Two cars were taken out the second day. One was located in a rented lot on Wilshire boulevard, and the other was started in a circle at Culver City.

W. J. Burt enjoyed a lot of sport both days. When those who went to the assistance of the supposed derelict car found that it was an act staged by a live automobile man, the joke was on them and they didn't have long to wait for some one to come along and fall for the same ruse.

SHUT OFF THE GAS.

Practically every car nowadays is provided with a stop cock in the gasoline line, though many drivers have to hunt for it quite a while before discovering it. It is just as important to know where this is and be able to turn it off quickly in case of need as it is to know how to operate the emergency brake lever. When the carburetor gets on fire, the first thing to do is to shut off the gasoline, and do it quickly. Precious seconds lost in hunting for the cock are known to have resulted in the loss of the car. It is a good plan to shut off the gasoline every night, just to become familiar with the operation of the shut-off cock. This will also save a large quantity of gasoline that might otherwise be lost through evaporation.

They Like It.

TWO NEW RACERS FOR INDIANAPOLIS EVENT.

TWO new Stutz racing cars are to make their first appearance at Indianapolis, May 30, with Earl Cooper and Gil Anderson driving.

Harry Stutz, president and general manager of the Stutz concern, left for the East the day after the Grand Prize race. He was accompanied by Gil Anderson and they went direct to the Wisconsin Motor Company's factory, where they will remain until the motors which are to go in the new racers, are completed.

Gil Anderson is to personally supervise the construction of the cars which were designed by Harry Stutz.

The Stutz cars which appeared in the Vanderbilt and Grand Prize races will be relegated to the ranks of second raters. These cars were built for the last Indianapolis races and after being raced for a year, they are to give place to later models, built on improved lines.

The Stutz No. 3, was shipped east and is to be used in minor races there. Cooper's No. 8 is to remain here and be entered in the minor league speed events held on the Coast. Cooper is expected to drive this car in the Bakersfield races, next month.

The company is making every effort to put a pair of winning cars on the Speedway at Indianapolis. Walter M. Brown, the local Stutz distributor, says that he is not discouraged by the defeat of the Stutz team in the Vanderbilt and Grand Prize races.

"We are in the racing game stronger than ever before and we are in the racing game to stay as long as Stutz cars are built. We had hard luck if you want to call it that; but we are not discouraged and now that some of the others have started winning, we will have to work all the harder to put out a winning team.

"I am going to Indianapolis and will be in the pits. If we lose there, which I don't think we will, we will go all the stronger. Earl will go back to Indianapolis about May 1 and have plenty of time to work his car out. Until then we are going to keep him busy here."

The How of It.

MYSTERY OF STARTING SYSTEM IS EXPLAINED.

ROSCOE ANTHONY of the local Regal agency, took upon himself the task of explaining how self-starters work, for the benefit of a crowd of motorists, last Thursday evening.

The Rushmore electric starting system, which is used on the Simplex, Mercer, Fiat and Lancia cars, as well as the Regal, was the starter with which young Anthony is familiar, and he claims that it is simple in operation as well as in construction.

A generator to produce the electricity, a battery to store the power and a starting motor, which turns the flywheel until the engine is operating on its own power, are the three pieces of the starter's anatomy. The generator also supplies the electricity for the lights of the car.

When the battery is to be charged, the generator is switched on and is operated by a chain drive from a shaft, which is in motion while the car's motor is running.

When the starting pedal is applied, the armature shaft starts revolving. A pinion located at the end of the armature shaft of the starting motor, is brought in mesh with the gear on the flywheel, when the revolving armature shaft moves endwise.

The starter turns the flywheel over at the rate of 100 revolutions a minute and as soon as the first explosion occurs in the engine, the flywheel revolves at increased speed. This automatically disconnects the starting motor and draws the armature shaft out of mesh with the flywheel gear.

President's Visit.

EASTERN MANUFACTURER STAYS TO SEE SIGHTS.

JOHN N. WILLYS, president of the Willys-Overland Company and head of the factory where 45,000 Overland cars are being built this year, is in Los Angeles for his first visit.

There is so much of interest here he cannot see it all in a day and expects to remain thirty-one days and to take in all the sights on this initial visit.

It was at the Vanderbilt cup race that President Willys appeared to advantage. Wearing the light suit which he could not wear in Toledo because of the snow and ice, the Overland man occupied a box with John W. Leavitt and Mrs. Leavitt of San Francisco and A. D. Plughoff, also of the same place.

It was indeed a novel experience for the Toledo manufacturer. That he was impressed goes without saying. He showed it during the races. When that duel between Ralph de Palma and Barney Oldfield was at its height, not only President Willys, but John W. Leavitt and Mrs. Willys and Mrs. Leavitt entered into the spirit of that fight. The women waved handkerchiefs and urged the drivers on.

Boyish in appearance, and for that matter not very old in years, John N. Willys is intense and eager for all that life holds for a man. There, with 100,000 people from all parts of this southern country at Santa Monica, the Overland man was given his first taste of the western spirit.

John W. Leavitt is one of our greatest California distributors. He ranks with Charles Howard as one of our biggest dealers. Now, with President Willys and John W. Leavitt in conference for another month, it is easy to see that there are possibilities we cannot even hint at. It means the Overland is to enter the field this year with an even stronger bid for popularity.

While Mr. and Mrs. Willys are here they will be entertained royally. They are to leave here the early part of April, in time for Mr. Willys to take up the spring work at the big factory. He will look over the western market carefully before leaving.

Makes Good.

NEW VELIE MAN IS NOW ON JOB.

COLYEAR CLOSES WITH FACTORY AS LOCAL DISTRIBUTER.

Plans to Handle Entire Line of Touring Cars and Completes Plans for Marketing the Trucks, Which Are to Be Shown to the Public in a Unique Manner This Year.

Curtis Colyear, who made a marked success with the Gramm truck, is the new agent for the Velie. The deal was closed early in the week, while A. H. Rose, salesmanager of the factory, was in Los Angeles. Max Oleson, who is also a member of the staff at the factory, becomes California representative for the Velie people.

After a thorough test of the new 1914 Velie, Colyear decided to close with the factory representatives and he will handle, not only the touring car, but the entire truck line. The factory intends to bear down especially hard on its commercial cars this year.

P. A. Renton was formerly agent for the Velie. The cars are to be housed in a garage on West Pico street and Colyear has already started on a wide campaign.

"This line looks so good to me," said Colyear yesterday, "that I intend to devote a large part of my time to building up a real agency. It is my purpose to increase my sales force to such proportions that the public is certain to receive the utmost consideration from my men.

"Just to show my friends what faith I have in this car I have closed with the factory people to represent them in Southern California, and I expect to sell 200 cars this year. The Velie line this year is so pleasing to me that I expect to be one of the high-rank sales agents when this season is closed in spite of the fact that I am getting a late start.

"No apologies are necessary for the Velie, and I'm going to introduce the line of commercial cars to the trade in such a manner that the business man cannot afford to overlook them."

WAVERLEY VETERAN.

At the last Indianapolis automobile show, an ancient Waverley electric was exhibited. Four cars of the same model as the Waverley, which was shown at Indianapolis last month, were entered in the New York electrical show in 1899.

Contrasted with cars of the same class and price, the upkeep cost of the KisselKar ably low. Its good looks go deeper than the surface. It has a built-in reliability endurance and reserve resistance at every point of wear. The KisselKar is not the smartest looking cars on the road, but it has the qualities that contribute to and low cost of upkeep.

KISSELKAR

The KisselKar 40 "Four" at $2000 is without question the best "Four" value on the market.

The KisselKar 48 "Six" at $2500 is the handsomest and most successful light "Six"—and the most fully equipped.

The KisselKar 60 "Six" at $3300 is unsurpassed at any price—a true "gentleman's car" in every sense of the term.

Eureka.

PHOENIX RACE WINNER LOCATED SPEEDY PATH.

RALPH HAMLIN, agent for the Franklin, is claimed to be the man who first found the Santa Monica Road Race course.

In company with Henry Keller, one of the directors of the Automobile Club of Southern California, the eight miles of roadway was selected for that first 1909 Santa Monica Road Race, which was won by Harris Hanshue in an Apperson.

The history of that course is interesting. While we cannot say that Ralph Hamlin or Henry Keeler had any idea that it would be a world beater, they both knew it was a fast speedway.

That year the Automobile Dealers' Association was in the racing game. It was determined to conduct a big race meet and Leon T. Shettler, William R. Ruess and Ralph Hamlin were selected as members of a committee to conduct such a race. Shettler was chairman and, of course, manager of the race, and the duty of selecting a course was placed on the shoulders of that committee. Then was begun a unique quest, which embraced every angle and corner of Los Angeles county.

One place after another was looked over and passed up. There are many miles of good roads in Southern California and many miles of natural highway in Los Angeles county.

Finally it became an elimination contest with only two courses in the running. One was a speedway of about twelve miles in the San Fernando Valley and the other a course on the line between Los Angeles and Orange counties, some distance from Los Angeles.

While the committee was in deadlock regarding the choice of a course, Hamlin and Keller had occasion to do a little gumshoeing on their own account. With one of the air-cooled cars stripped for a fast run these two enthusiasts almost stumbled onto the Santa Monica road race course. Henry Keller knew of the roadway that embraced Ocean avenue, Nevada avenue and the Palisades. He proposed that Hamlin drive around the roads in an effort to see how fast they were.

The Franklin was in racing that year. Hamlin had won two big track events, a 100-mile and a fifty-mile race. His car was fast, but to his great surprise he found that a real speedway had been located. He at once turned in his report to the committee, but found that while he had been working so hard to choose the course that now is famous the other two members of the committee had not been idle.

The San Fernando course seemed the one great speedway that was suitable for the coming race.

A comparison of the two courses was made. Both were good, but the development of the San Fernando was not in progress at that time and the dealers selected the Santa Monica course.

The race was held and a world stock-car record was established.

Now with the possible ruling which may be made at Santa Monica, this course may be closed to racing. If it is there is still the San Fernando course, where the 1915 races could be held, and where another opportunity would be given to break the record of 78.72 miles an hour established by Teddy Tetzlaff in the Fiat on the Santa Monica course selected in the early part of 1909 for that first great race.

RICKENBACHER AND DUSENBERG BACK TO FACTORY.

Des Moines Concern to Have Three Cars in Speedway Event at Indianapolis on Memorial Day. Ralph Mulford, Baron Rickenbacher, J. F. Quinn the Men.

Baron Rickenbacher and A. F. Dusenberg who came out from the Mason factory at De Moines, Iowa, with ten Mason specials, which appeared in the Vanderbilt and Grand Prize races, left for the eastern factory Thursday afternoon.

Three Mason cars are to appear in the Indianapolis race, Memorial Day. Three new motors are being built under the supervision of F. S. Dusenberg. The cars which appeared here are to be rebuilt and equipped with new motors.

The third Mason is now in course of construction at the De Moines factory.

Richenbacher is to drive the same car at Indianapolis that he piloted in the Grand Prize.

Ralph Mulford is to drive the new car which will be out of the factory early in April. Mulford drove for the Mason people at Milwaukee two years ago and is thoroughly familiar with the Mason car.

J. F. Quinn of this city is to go East in April to join the Mason corps and will drive the car which Carlson drove into third place in the Vanderbilt.

Pennsylvania is the only State that sets a maximum on the width of the vehicle. In that State 100 inches must not be exceeded.

The Power
Is Here

"This power here in the Partin-Palmer "38" is the reason that it is the most popular and talked of motor car that has come to Southern California."

The long life of any car depends to a large extent upon the power in the engine under the hood.

The "other construction" of the car, however, must be correct and in proportion to the volume of power.

Many cars that have too much power and not being built right, tear themselves to pieces.

Only the best of materials should enter into modern motor car construction to produce a good car.

Partin-Palmer "38" is a new car that is built right. It has a powerful Mason motor.

In the Partin-Palmer "38" the "other construction" is correct. It is standardized.

Standardized Construction means the best vital parts that the master brains of motor car builders can produce.

You'll find them all in the Partin-Palmer "38," which you can buy here in Los Angeles, fully equipped for

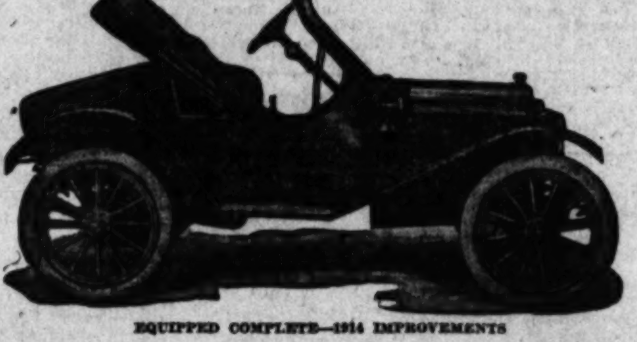
Cars, Like Men, Are Known By the Company They Keep

The METZ "22" is probably the least-known car in the repair shops—and this speaks volumes in few words. It is so practical in design and so compact in construction that it easily over-rides the bumps and the road-wear that send other cars to the repair man. Confirmation of this claim is supplied generously by the result of the recent Glidden Tour, which was a clean sweep for the METZ.



EQUIPPED COMPLETE—1914 IMPROVEMENTS

METZ "22"--$530 LOS ANGELES

THE GEARLESS CAR—No Clutch to Slip, No Gears to Strip

In addition to being the lowest priced car on the market, the METZ "22" is the most economical in operation and upkeep. It will travel from 28 to 32 miles on one gallon of gasoline, 100 miles on one pint of lubricating oil and from 10,000 to 12,000 miles on a single set of tires.

The METZ team of three regular stock cars was the only team in this year's Glidden Tour, from Minneapolis to Glacier National Park, Mont., to hold a perfect score, without additional allowance of time extension of any kind, for the entire eight days of the contest.

The METZ "22" is a fully guaranteed car, with standard equipment, including 4-cylinder 22½-h.p. water-cooled motor, Bosch magneto, 30-inch artillery wheels, best quality Goodrich clincher tires, etc., etc., complete—no "extras." It makes from five to fifty miles per hour on the high speed, and its gearless transmission does away entirely with gear troubles.

RACERS WEAR EMBLEMS ON RADIATOR KNOBS.

"THESE racing drivers must all belong to the same club," said a spectator at the Grand Prize race, pointing to the little round emblem on Barney Oldfield's radiator cap.

"That's the 'now don't guess' club," remarked one of the wise ones. "We all belong except Johnny Marquis," said Harry Grant, "he can't use a motormeter because his overflow pipe goes through his radiator cap."

With that, the innocent spectator was ushered around the side of the car and initiated into the working side of the instrument.

"It works like this," explained the driver. "You see it's a thermometer that can be read from the seat while you are driving. If the motor is running right and has plenty of oil and water, it shows normal temperature.

"If anything starts to go wrong with the water or oil circulation, a motor has fever same as you do, when you are out of order on the inside. A loose pet, a radiator leak, lack of oil, a broken fan belt, all cause motor fever.

"You know the answer if you don't stop when the motormeter signals danger. We all use them not only on our racers, but on our touring cars."

The inventor of the motormeter is Harrison H. Boyce of New York. Appreciating the enormous field for a device which would reveal the condition of the cooling system while the car was in motion, the inventor began experimenting with floating devices to reveal the water height in the radiator.

The weakness of such an instrument proved to be the fact that it told only how the water flow was. Boyce finally discovered that the less water there was in the radiator, the greater the heat became. He also found that lack of lubrication, a broken fan belt or water pump, all caused abnormal radiator heat.

Therefore, by the use of a brightly magnified thermometer, he had an instrument that gave evidence of these difficulties and also told of low water.

The racing drivers were quick to seize on the advantage to be obtained from the use of this instrument and since its introduction at Indianapolis, where it made its debut on Goux's winning Peugeot, it has been used on the winning cars at Elgin, Brighton Beach, Los Angeles and the foreign Grand Prize. It is now used as a part of the regular equipment by several manufacturers of touring cars, including the Mercer, Pilot and Henderson "Six."

California claims a share in the development of the motormeter. George H. Townsend, a former Los Angeles resident, worked on the development of the instrument and is now president of the company.

Mr. Townsend came out from New York to witness the Vanderbilt and Grand Prize races and incidentally placed the agency for California for the motormeter with Halliwell Company of this city.

Only South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas do not allow some form of exemption to tourists. In Texas this can hardly be called an objection because the registration fee is only 50 cents.

TOO MUCH SPEED KILLS [illegible] MOTORS AND DR[illegible]

Racing Pilots Find It Hard to Judge [illegible] When the Engine Is Cut Off — Vanderbilt [illegible] Grand Prize Events Bring Out World's [illegible] Heady Mechanicians.

BY THE MECHANIC.

VIOLENT speed was the cause for 75 per cent. of the cars going out in the Vanderbilt Cup and Grand Prize races.

The course at Santa Monica was so fast and that continual grind, up Wilshire and down the Palisades, proved too much for even the most perfected motors on the course.

In some cases, too much speed caused the motors to fail. In other cases, the cars showed too much speed for the drivers. After traveling at the rate of 110 miles an hour on the straightaways, the pilots could not realize the speed they were hitting off as they went into the turns anl even some of the veterans, overran the turns and were compelled to take advantage of the open street and back up to "death curve."

One of the mechanics, after traveling at the rate of 110 miles an hour, started to get out with the car traveling at fifty miles an hour, thinking the car was merely crawling after a tire had blown out.

The driver called his attention to the speedometer. The mechanic turned pale and sat back in his seat, letting his jack fall on the floor of the car. When the car did come to a stop, it was all the driver could do to get him out.

This inability to judge speed is the cause of many wrecks. After making great speed, for several miles, and shutting off and coasting at the rate of about eighty miles an hour without a sound from the engine, the driver has to fight his own judgment and say to himself, "This is too fast for the turn."

A large percentage of the cars went out with burnt out connecting rod bearings. This gives evidence of the fact that the mechanic was so interested in the race that he neglected to pump oil. TALLY TAKES NEW PLEASURE MOTOR.

T. L. Tally, who is well known in Los Angeles as a veteran moving picture exhibitor, purchased a new Locomobile, during the last part of last week. At least the car was delivered at that time, although it had been ordered several weeks before.

The motion picture man has been an enthusiastic motorist for several years, and has covered practically every well-traveled road in Southern California, in cars owned in the past; but more extensive tours have been planned for the Tally family in the new Locomobile "Light Six."

A special deputation is to be sent to Rome to present to the Pope the electric motor car which has been purchased for him with funds raised by Chicago Catholics.

CARLSON TO DRIVE IN INDIANAPOLIS CLASSIC.

Winner of Third Place in Vanderbilt Cup Race Accepts Offer from Manager of Maxwell Racing Team to Pilot Car Built by Ray Harroun, Which Is to Show Great Speed.

BY AL G. WADDELL.

Bill Carlson, driver of the Mason No. 10, which finished third in the Vanderbilt cup race, is to drive at Indianapolis. He intends taking Dominic Basso of this city east with him to officiate as mechanician in the Memorial Day classic.

The car which Carlson is to drive is one of the Maxwell specials, which are now being built by Ray Harroun. Three Maxwell cars are to appear on the Indianapolis speedway April 15, at which time Carlson is to be there to start working with the machine which he is to drive in the 500-mile event.

Ray Harroun, winner of the Indianapolis race in 1911, is not only a driver, but is considered one of the greatest designers of racing cars in America, and the cars which he is building for the Maxwell company are now in the last stages of construction.

Officials of the company are anxiously awaiting the first speed trials. Harroun has promised that the cars will turn a lap on the Indianapolis speedway, a distance of two and one-half miles, in 1m. 37s., electrically timed.

This is one second faster than any 450-cubic-inch car has ever turned the track. A car to make this speed, which is at the rate of ninety-four miles an hour, must be capable of showing from 112 to 116 miles an hour on the straightaways of the course.

E. A. Moross, former manager of Bob Burman, is to manage the Maxwell team during the 1914 campaign. Moross engineered the deal to get the Mason cars here for the Vanderbilt and Grand Prize races.

When Carlson finished third in the Vanderbilt, defeating Earl Cooper and other great drivers, Moross wired him terms, offering him the wheel of one of the Maxwell cars for the Memorial Day race.

These terms were accepted, and Carlson will leave for the eastern factory the first week in April.

Joe Dawson, winner of the 500-mile race in 1912, is to pilot another one of the Maxwells, according to word received by Carlson.

The third driver has not been named, but it is claimed that offers have been made to Barney Oldfield. The old veteran of the racing game refuses to make any statement regarding the matter, but he has definitely stated that he would appear in the $50,000 sweepstakes.

The head of the Savage Tire Company of San Diego was in Los Angeles yesterday, and conferred with Carlson in regard to his using the California-made tires in the Indianapolis race. The Savage people were well pleased with the showing made by their product on Carlson's Mason in the Vanderbilt cup race, which averaged 73.07 miles an hour for the 294 miles without a change.

The Los Angeles driver says that Savage tires will make as good a showing on the brick surface at Indianapolis as they did at Santa Monica.

The team manager has left the selection of tires to the drivers, and Carlson has not made up his mind on what brand he will use at this early date.

SCARRED VETERAN.

The Stutz racer No. 2, which won second place in the El Paso-to-Phoenix race, arrived in Los Angeles last week, having come overland from El Paso, and claiming the honor of being the first car driven over the inland route from San Diego since the washouts. The car was driven by Bill Jenkins, and when the rains came on, he was tied up at San Diego, and did not get through until after the Vanderbilt and Grand Prize races, which he intended to witness.

W. H. Carlson, Jr.,

The Los Angeles boy, who has been nominated to drive a Maxwell car in the 500-mile race at Indianapolis Memorial Day.

In Arizona all cyclecars must pay the regular State tax for motor vehicles, and not that provided for motorcycles.

Now after the shouting is all over let's go back to the Vanderbilt Race and consider the record of the the only stock car in the bunch. Competing against the very best, especially built racing cars of the world, it was one of the five out of sixteen that finished.

This ought to give you something worth while to think about before you buy a car. The Touraine has shown again that it is built right—and will give the right kind of service. We'll sell you a car right out of stock that will duplicate the performance in the Vanderbilt.

BROADWAY, EIGHTH AND HILL STREETS

To FORD Owners

—There are gathered here all GOOD accessories for these famous little cars. Some of them are made to make Fords perform better, some to make Fords look better and others to give more comfort to those who ride in Fords.

—Many of these accessories, perhaps you do not know about. It will, indeed, prove worth your while to drive down tomorrow and acquaint yourself with the many Ford items which are here in this popular auto supply store.

—Drive up to our Hill Street entrance. You may leave your car standing here indefinitely as Eighth and Hill is not within the restricted district.

FORD.

Buy Ford Casings Here

—Fresh first-quality tires, 30x3 at $10.20—30x3½ at $13.70. Buy your favorite brand of tires here for less than elsewhere.

—There are a dozen or so reasons why you should buy tires at Hamburger's—principally because we buy in small quantities in order that every tire going to our customers shall be absolutely fresh.

FORD.

Save on Tire Reliners

—Four ply reliners, 30x3 at $1.95—30x3½ at $2.35. Cemented inside so that they will stick to your old casings.

—You'll be surprised at the extra mileage you'll get out of your old tires as well as at the dollars saved.

FORD.

Electric Tail Lamps, $1

—In one piece and with both white and ruby lens to conform with the city ordinance.

—Less expensive to operate than oil and a whole lot more satisfactory. Buy them here at this moderate price tomorrow.

FORD.

Socket Wrench Sets, $3.40

—They have been selling ordinarily at $4.00—special tomorrow at $3.40.

—With extension bar, ratchet wrench and Universal joint. You'll need no other socket wrenches for these cover all burs on a Ford car. Complete with tool roll, $3.40.

FORD

Electric Lighting Outfits

Ground to Lamp Bracket Post Push Button Switch

—Complete; ready to attach to car; everything necessary—$3.95.

—Genuine silvered reflectors with Ediswan sockets. Ford owners who are not equipped with these outfits should see them tomorrow. They will save money for you.

FORD

New "Fogg" Horns $5

—The newest horn for Ford exhaust.

—A powerful warning signal with a melodious tone. You'll have no trouble keeping the road clear with one of these horns. Complete with cut-out and can be instantly attached.

Weed Chains for Fords

—The only chain that will successfully prevent skidding on wet pavements or muddy roads.

—The Ford sizes are priced at $5.00 and will wear indefintely.

FORD.

Zeroline Oil, 5 Gals. $2.50

—Light or medium grade oil in 5-gallon cans. More lubrication for less money, if you use Zeroline.

—The popularity of this oil speaks for itself. Just remember, however, that Hamburger's have plenty of Zeroline always ready for you.

FORD.

Master Vibrators, $7.50

—Pfanstiehl —No vibrator sells at so moderate a price; none is so efficient.

—Many an autoist has blessed this master vibrator as a power to make a smooth running engine.

FORD.

Safety Steering Device, $4.50

—To prevent accidents. To make driving over rough roads easy. To eliminate the wear and tear on the steering arm. To take up all lost motion.

—Such is the function of this little pilot. One day's use is worth the purchase price.

FORD.

Gas Savers Here at $2.00

—They will save you 25% on your gasoline bills. Besides, it will make your car "Pick-up" quicker and give you more speed on hills.

—Attached above the manifold it will not jar loose as other gas savers do.

Two Tires in One!

This is what the "Nobby Tread" Tire practically is—Two wear-resisting Tires in One

The big, thick, tough rubber "Nobs" that prevent skidding, are made on a big, thick, extra strong additional strip.

Then this heavy strip is welded by hand and vulcanized on to an extra heavy, extra strong tire.

You have got to wear out the big, thick, tough "Nobs" of rubber before you even start to wear out the extra strong tire underneath.

Then comes the great big difference in the quantity and the quality of the rubber and of the fabric that is used in "Nobby Treads."

An unusually large amount of rubber and fabric is used in "Nobby Treads," and —only the very toughest and the best rubber, and —only the strongest, especially selected fabric.

Then don't forget this fact,

—rubber quality can differ and fabric quality can differ just as much as the quality of leather can differ.

These are the reasons for the history making mileage records of "Nobby Tread" anti-skid Tires during the past four years, and based upon these mileage records we recently announced that are now sold under our regular warranty—perfect workmanship and material—BUT any adjustments are on a basis of

"Nobby Tread" Tires

5,000 Miles

The unusual wear-resisting quality

—the quantity of rubber
—the quantity of fabric
—the method of construction

all have been rigidly maintained in "Nobby Tread" anti-skid tires,

—and maintained regardless of cost,
—and maintained regardless of price competition.

"Nobby Tread" Tires are REAL anti-skid tires, and mile for mile, dollar for dollar, they are by far the most economical tires.

FROM THE FACTORIES.

HARRY R. RADFORD, manager of the Cartercar Company, pronounces 1914 "the greatest show season on record." Practical buying on a scale above all other seasons marked the series of auto exhibitions just closed.

Motors for 3500 Economy cyclecars have just been ordered by the International Cyclecar Company of the Spacke Machine Company of Indianapolis. These motors are the De Luxe, of V-shaped, two-cylinder type, of fifteen horse power.

Euclid cyclecars are to compete in all contests of this year, according to the announcement of E. A. Schau of the manufacturing company. The Cameron, an immediate predecessor of the Euclid, competed in upward of one hundred events, with many notable victories to its credit.

One-fifth of a cent a mile is figured as the cost of tires on a cyclecar, based on Michilen's data, for a mileage of 16,000 per set, by W. H. McIntyre, president of the Imp Cyclecar Company. Car and passenger weighing 900 pounds total, cost in tire wear but one-eighth as much as an 1800-pound car, says the expert.

The action of the Society of American Engineers in advocating the limiting of solid tires for motor trucks and fire apparatus to diameters of thirty-six and forty inches is supported by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company as a wise economic measure.

LOOKING BACKWARD.

"There is no question but the first automobile was built in 1784 by William Murdock, a Scotchman, a friend, associate and assistant of Watts," said President W. H. McIntyre of the Imp Cyclecar Company of Auburn, Ind. "Murdock invented many features of the steam engine. He built the first oscillating engine and produced a high-pressure engine for use as a tractor. This was the first known type of automobile, and it was in 1784 that he produced this model. He discovered and found mechanisms to utilize high-pressure air and the vacuum. The rudiments of the air brake and the pneumatic gun may be found in his list of inventions. He is better known to history, however, as the inventor of the process to utilize coal gas as an illuminant and fuel. This Edison of the sixteenth century lived to be 85 years old, and sixty-nine years of that time was devoted to the betterment of mankind, during which time he invented means to distil coal gas and means to store pipe and burn it under pressure."

Hurrah for the Irish!

KELLY METAL TO BE USED IN AUTOMOBILE FACTORIES.

Los Angeles Inventor, a Retired Transport Engineer, Discovers the Long-Sought Secret of Fusing Lead and Copper — Bearings Exceed in Hardness Every Other Known Material.

LOS ANGELES is likely to supply the whole world with a new bearing metal calculated to revolutionize certain phases of the automobile industry. The discovery of a Los Angeles man has solved the problem of the last weak spot in the mechanical construction of the automobile and the motor truck by finding metal bearings that will not wear out.

This is the belief of William Kelly, inventor of the Kelly's Metal, George H. Townsend, president of the Motormeter Company of New York, Wat Moreland, head of the local Moreland motor truck factory, and Ralph de Palma, driver of the Mercedes car which won the Vanderbilt cup race and finished fourth in the Grand Prize.

De Palma has taken two sets of bearings made of Kelly's Metal to Germany with him to go on his new Mercedes, which he intends to drive at Indianapolis and in the foreign Grand Prize.

While in the East on his last trip, Moreland, who has a contract with the inventor as general distributor of the metal, made a series of experiments and demonstrations before the members of the Society of Automobile Engineers. The organization was then in session at Chicago and the experts were so favorably impressed with the Los Angeles product and its possibilities that it was adopted as standard equipment for bearings at once. Moreland closed contracts with the Wisconsin, Waukesha, Allis-Chalmers and Wichita Falls motor companies and with the Model Gas Engine Company.

LONG A SECRET.

Mechanical engineers says that the world has been waiting for such a metal for many years. Little progress has been made in bearing metals since the days of the Pyramids. The same bronze used today is in the British Museum, having been taken from the ruins of ancient Egypt.

It fell to a practical man instead of a chemist, to make the discovery.

Kelly is a retired chief engineer of the United States transport service. He experienced great difficulties with bearing metals while in the transport service and at sea years ago. Even at that time, he was working on his metal which he believed would some day eliminate bearing troubles.

After he was retired from the government service, Kelly located in Los Angeles.

In the beginning, his idea was to find a process for tempering gold and copper.

"It was very discouraging," he says. "I worked for months with a chemist. Every Saturday night I went home from the workshop completely discouraged. But I came back Monday morning and went on with it. One day I was sitting on a box outside the shop and the idea suddenly popped into my head. It came to me that no chemical need be added, but that lead and copper could be blended by a natural method.

"After I first thought of it, I never had a doubt that it would not work.

"I had a hard time getting any one to try it. Finally a machine shop foreman said I might put some bearings in a lathe he had used. The revolutions of the lathe were so great that he had never been able to find but one metal that would last more than two hours. This was a bronze that lasted two days. He put in Kelly metal bearings and they lasted two years without wearing.

"One peculiar fact that we discovered after using the new metal was that oil is not so necessary as with other metals. To this fact Ralph owes his victory in the Vanderbilt cup race. When he installed the Kelly metal bearings, I told him not to worry if he ran out of oil, so he took my word for it and ran nine laps after he had signaled for oil."

The metal is a composition of lead and copper. It is theoretically wrong, according to chemical engineers, and the great secret which Kelly will guard with patents, is the Kelly process by which he makes his baffling formula work out in a wonderful metal.

By this same process, Kelly is able to stiffen pure aluminum until it will not bend, yet may be whittled with a knife like wood.

Shortly after making his discovery, Kelly was in San Francisco, and while there met one of the greatest chemical engineers in the country. They talked on smelting for a time and Kelly was at his best. Finally, the chemist asked: "Are you a chemist?"

When informed that Kelly was not a chemist and had learned all he knew about chemistry out of a second-hand book, he had bought many years ago, the engineer became more interested than ever.

"Are you not a college man?" he asked.

"No, I never went to college," said Kelly, "I went to sea."

He then showed a sample of his metal. He also told what it was composed of, with the exception of the Kelly part of it, which is the one great secret.

"Your smelting theories are absolutely correct," announced the chemist, "but you have upset every chemical theory in this metal. How did you get it?"

"Simply because I didn't know a d—n thing about the laws of chemistry and was not afraid of getting my head blown off. I went after what I wanted and I found it," smiled the old marine engineer.

Dogs of Every Description Shown at School Exhibition—Blue Ribbons Distributed.

English bulls, brindle bulls, toy brindles, Chihuahuas, dachshunds, pointers, trick dogs, fox terriers and "just dogs," opened their mouths and lifted their feet in competition for blue and white ribbon prizes awarded by Dr. Edwards, supervisor of nature study in the public schools, at the Hoover-street school yesterday.

Other schools are holding exhibits under the auspices of the nature-study department this week, and the dog days in the schools have arrived.

Early in the morning the dogs began to arrive at the Hoover school, fifty in all. They were left outside by their young masters and the melancholy wail of a bewildered little pup mingled with the powerful bark of a huge mastiff.

"A love for and knowledge of domestic animals is inculcated by these exhibits," said Dr. Edwards, "and to my mind no boy or girl should be without a pet."

A nature-study lesson was held following the awarding of ribbons, and dog lore was gone into deeply, with the object lessons at hand.

FREDDIE WELSH BELT MAGNATE.

Freddie Welsh owns two belts that are worth $1000 each. One is the belt he won when he whipped Hughie Meegan for the Australian title, while the other one he holds as an emblem of the English title. The Australian cessfully defend it three times. Welsh will have to defend his England title once more before he can keep that belt. In order to own the Lord Lonsdale belt, a champion must successfully defend it three times. Welsh has already won twice while fighting in defense of this belt and has only one more year to battle before it will become his personal property. If no one challenges his right to the title during the year it will become his by default.

GREAT DRIVERS COMING.

Encouraged by his success at the last 500-mile race at Indianapolis, Jules Goux has entered with his team-mate, Boillot, for the 1914 event, and in addition to this, Chassagne Guyot, one of his near rivals, and Christaens, also of great repute abroad, have all entered. There is, therefore, good promise that the 500-mile race next Memorial Day will have the pick of the European drivers as well as of American. It is stated that Pilette, Nazarro, Bablot and Duray are almost certain to enter, now that Boillot, Goux, Chassagne and Guyot have been secured for the big contest. Boillot is regarded as the best driver in Europe by many, and his coming to this country with Goux and the others will insure a record-breaking race. He has won the French Grand Prix twice in succession, being crowded only by his team-mate, Goux. Chassagne is hardly less in value in the eyes of the French. He holds the world's hour record of 107 miles, 1672 yards, made at the Brooklands track in England, which was better than the preceding record made by Goux a short time previously by over a mile.

GERMANS LOSING.

The increase of German exports of motor vehicles, including motorcycles, from 1911 to 1912, amounted in monetary values to 56 per cent. That this rate of increase has been much reduced from 1912 to 1913 and, in fact, would have dropped below zero but for the increased export of German motor trucks and delivery wagons is ascribed mainly to a world-wide financial depression, taking effect in matters of luxury first; but in some of the markets competition from other exporting countries has been a factor at least equally decisive.

SPUN BY BASEBALL CAMP FIRES.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

"THIS back-to-the-minors stuff isn't what it used to be," remarked Frank Dillon the other night down at San Bernardino. "There was a time when this command contained in a blue envelope was calculated to freeze a big leaguer.

"I guess Hughes, White and Powell will be able to enjoy life out here about as much as they did in the American League. Why, a ball player doesn't know when he is well off when he has a chance to play on the Coast, and turns it down.

"Of course there was a time when there was no joy in being tagged for the minors, but it is nothing to kick about today.

"They have luxuries in the big minors today that were unknown in the majors a little more than a decade ago. When I was with Brooklyn, the players didn't know what a club trainer looked like. After the game we used plenty of water to remove the grime, applied the pain balm and court plaster as best we could and let it go at that."

Wallow in Luxury.

These reminiscences of the grizzly veteran emphasize the change for the better which has taken place in the course of baseball evolution.

A few years ago when a player was ordered back to the minors it was a sentence to round out his days in an environment of ramshackle parks, stuffy clubhouses and third-rate grease joints.

Today the players in the three big minors loll in greater luxury than was known in the National and American a few years ago.

Take the Venice clubhouse at Washington Park. Not only is it equipped with every possible convenience, but it is furnished as finely as a well-ordered residence; piano, rugs, and all the other stuff.

This is believed to be the only baseball massage emporium in the world with a "baby grand" attachment, although billiard tables are not unknown as clubhouse attachments.

And still they talk about the terrible "enslavement" of the baseball player.

Litschi's Proud Record.

Lou Litschi was very proud of his record up to last season. Never before in his whole life had he played with a club that finished worse than one-two.

He started his illustrious career by winning the pennant for Worcester in 1907, and at the finish the club had shaken all rivals by seventeen games. In 1908 he aided and abetted the Harrisburg club into second place, the team missing the rag by two games. Lancaster enjoyed his services in 1909 and 1910, winning the pennant the first year and finishing in the runner-up position the second.

The 1909 race was a torrid affair, the pennant hinging on the last game. Litschi modestly admits that he saved the day for his team, meaning the last day, with a one-handed catch that drove the entire population of Lancaster into temporary insanity.

Bridgeport knew him in 1911, and as a result came within one game of copping the cheesecloth. The following year, Litschi came West to grow up with the Venice team, and the Tigers finished a rip-snorting second, Oakland beating them out by a young and tender eyelash.

Last season Litschi's proud record was dented when the Tigers gravitated to third place, but no disgrace attached to the performance. Lou swears to do his durndest to put the Tigers back in the one-two division before next October.

Caught Three Off First.

"This fellow Walter Slagle has one of the best moves to first base that I have ever observed," remarked Jack Ryan. "One day the Indianapolis club was playing in St. Paul, and Walter was on the hill for the Indians.

"A couple of the Saints singled, but were caught off first base flat-footed.

"Pete O'Brien followed with a hit that landed him at first. 'You big slow-ball bum, I've got a ten spot that says you won't find me snoozing,' he yelled. Before he had time to shut his mouth Slagle whirled. There was a flash as the ball shot to first, and O'Brien was a dead bird."

Ad Goes Through Equivalent of Fourteen Full Rounds, in Addition to Road Work, Evincing Speed that Surprises Even Stable Mates. Expect $40,000 House.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MILWAUKEE, March 7.—If Ad Wolgast suffered by the Friday vacation he did not show it today, when he did the hardest training he has done since early in the days of his championship. He put in two hours on the road, and this afternoon in training quarters put in the equivalent of fourteen rounds, boxing two of his stable mates and in work at the bag and shadow boxing.

He first took on Angelo Izzo and fought three full-length rounds, but was not even breathing hard at the finish. Then he went right into seven three-minute periods at shadow and other light work, and wound up the afternoon with four three-minute rounds against Freddie Andrews.

Andrews was badly punished, though he was fighting his best and Wolgast was working both mitts faster than he has ever been seen to since he was a prelim fighter. He brought his weight down to 135 by the afternoon work, but said he would not try to keep down to that figure until Wednesday.

Milwaukee promoters for the big fight are being besieged with bids for tickets, and it is confidently expected that the house the night of the fight will total about 10,000 people, while the gate will amount to $40,000. These figures are based on the present demand.

Out-of-town fans will begin to arrive on Sunday, especially from many points throughout the West, where the bugs are planning to make a week of it.

Imperfect Piston Rings Will Give You Engine Trouble All Summer
Don't neglect to give them attention when your automobile or motor boat is being overhauled. That's the time to rectify their faults—not in mid-season.
Piston rings are most important factors in a gasoline motor of any type. Any defect in them reduces power efficiency at once and causes fuel waste. Are your piston rings of the usual one-piece type? Then their unsealed openings allow constant gas leakage and make proper compression impossible. You will find in addition that they wear out quickly, fit badly and have unequal bearing, thus increasing power waste. Take them out and put in
LEAK-PROOF PISTON RINGS
If you want to end all trouble over poor compression, ensure full and sustained power supply and put every drop of fuel to work. You are paying more right along using ordinary piston rings than it would cost you to install the LEAK-PROOF RINGS once. They will give you:
FULL MOTOR POWER—Because being two-piece they have no unsealed openings. The halves being interlocking and concentric and having opposing points of expansion, tension on the cylinder wall is always uniform.
MINIMUM CARBONIZATION—Because surplus oil cannot get up into the combustion chamber.
SERVICE—Because they are made of special Processed Gray Iron of wonderful toughness, that never loses its elasticity and will outlast the motor.
STRENGTH—Because of construction on the angle-iron principle which gives them the greatest strength.
OPERATING ECONOMY—Because they make every drop of fuel count and save waste of lubricating oil.
MAINTENANCE ECONOMY—Because they do not wear or mar the roundness of the cylinder.
MADE IN ANY SIZE
From 1 inch to 100 inches in diameter to fit any engine, pump or compressor. They are easily adjusted. (3)

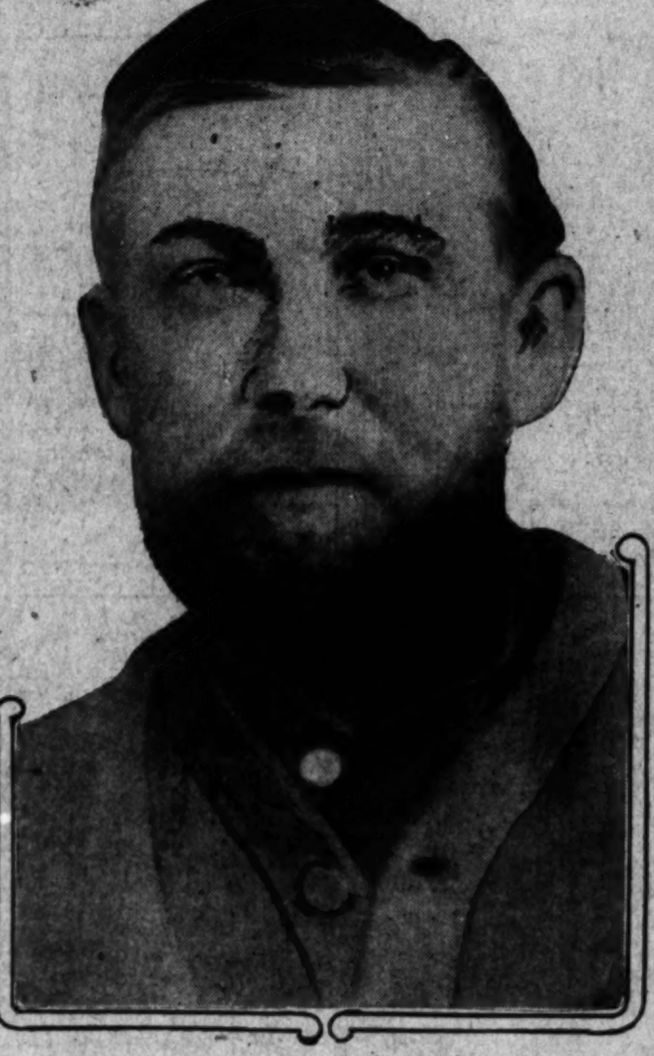
Guess Who and Get the Prize!



Farmer or bandit, which?

Neither one. He is a ball player, and the whisker attachment is genuine, having been sprouted in the past four months. Possibly you may have seen the party in question. If not, you may be able to single him out in the crowd this season, for he has already been signed by a Coast League club. Who in the world can this mysterious party be? He once played ball in the East, but was not wearing whiskers at the time. The first person successfully penetrating these whiskers to the dark secret underneath, will be given two tickets to the opening Coast League game in this city. Old-Time Finish.

TIGERS HAMMER OUT VICTORY IN EIGHT

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

THE venerable Mr. Sullivan sent a flock of sore arms to the front about the middle of the game yesterday, and the things that Hogan's men did to them represent much violence, a strong finish and a 7 to 6 triumph for the Tigers.

Guy Harris White, better known as "Doc" in the concrete nomenclature of the diamond, bared his celebrated south soupbone for the first time since arriving in Los Angeles. "Doc" resorted to the labor-saving system of letting his backers do the work, but the burden proved more than they could bear, and when the M.D. retired at the end of the fifth, the Sox had piled up a lead that look as big as the Federal Building, the way things were standing.

To be exast, they had paddled out four runs.

PROUGH IS GOOD.

In this unhappy interim, the Tigers had been unable to solve the peculiar slants of Prough, except in the fifth when Elliott's double and Leard's single developed into a run. Prough has a habit of reaching straight up with his right hand, as thought to drop the ball on the batter's head. This system had us all worried.

In the seventh, Sullivan began experimenting with Clarence Smith and Clarence spilled the limas. Rogge, his arm in a sling, then went in and did a little spilling himself.

Hogan pitched Roger E. Edmondson from the sixth to the eighth, inclusive, and Roger E. was tortured for a brace of runs.

SEE WHO'S HERE.

"Cack" Henley was placed in full view for the first time in the ninth inning. "Cack" was given the greatest ovation ever accorded a bricklayer in Los Angeles. This made him feel so good that he sent the Sox weeping to the bench as fast as they approached him.

Two singles failed to net the Sox any results in the first inning. Ed Walsh walked to the plate and smashed a White winder safely to left just for old time's sake. Sheehan duplicated the blow, and things looked squally when Schreiber laid down a sacrifice. All ended well when Blackburne and Halstein hit the ball into the air instead of on a level.

Mayer doubled in the second with two down, and Prough poked him across with a single to left.

REIGN OF TERROR.

The third was a thing of horror. Schreiber knocked the ball so far over Kane's head that it didn't look any bigger than a soup bean. It was a perfectly good triple. Blackburne, Halstein and Barbour broke through with a blast of singles, and three runs were over before you could bat an eye. After that the Goofs behaved as gentlemen for three innings.

The Tigers began to take some interest in the proceedings along about the fifth. Rowdy Elliott shook the right field bleachers with a line double. When "Rowdy" reached second he was breathing so hard that you could see his gills wiggle. After oxygen had been administered, Leard scored him with a manly single to center.

HOWDEE, CLARENCE.

Capt. Bayless spoke cordially to C. Smith in the sixth, and then hit a single to center when Clarence wasn't looking. Kane crashed another over third. Right at this point, Barbour pulled off the stellar stunt of the day, when he rubbed his wishbone up against the railing and picked McArdle's foul out of the left field bleachers.

This angered Litschi and he sent a spiteful blow through Barbour, harshly barking [illegible] Bayless scored, and [illegible] blissfully coaching at third [illegible] allowed Kane to overrun [illegible] Johnny was unable to [illegible] in time to save himself.

Edmondson's single, [illegible] overthrow of first, a [illegible] that proved to be the [illegible] all crowned by Dick Bayless's [illegible] moth triple, produced [illegible] lies in the seventh and [illegible] crowd.

Thus Venice veered into [illegible] two runs to the bad, and [illegible] ed to win. When McArdle [illegible] chi singled it was plain that [illegible] gers were out to offset this [illegible] cy. These acts also convinced [illegible] van that Smith was not up [illegible] and the Birmingham man [illegible] ceremoniously bounced. [illegible] got into the game just in [illegible] Kid Agnew to slap him for [illegible] Hosp scored on this and [illegible] to third. Hogan sent [illegible] hit for Edmondson. Paul [illegible] Hap's mischievous instructions [illegible] letter, and bunted. Rogge [illegible] ly pained by this change of [illegible] He picked up the ball, and [illegible] bating the matter at some [illegible] threw to first, but too late [illegible] complish his purpose. This [illegible] bases, and Carlisle [illegible] across with the tying run. [illegible] livered the winning one [illegible] long fly to Wolfgang.

FOOTBALL PAYS HARVARD COLLEGE ATHLETIC BI

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BOSTON, March 7.—Sports and athletics at Harvard last year cost the university $125,000 and netted a profit of $30,000 toward this year's expenses, according to the annual financial report of the Harvard Athletic Association.

Big Day Today.

RIVERS STARTS TRAINING WELSH SHOWS OLD SP

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

JOE RIVERS started off as usual with his training yesterday afternoon, but only boxed three rounds with Len Lauder and did a little rope work and shadow boxing. He intends to make a big day of it today, and will box with several men.

Babe Picato boxed with Charlie Dalton and is showing up in great form and Dalton was there himself. The local fans are pulling for Babe, and are anxious that he make good as a main eventer.

Ketchell is just as anxious, as he intends to stay on the Coast as long as he can make good.

Babe appears to be much cleverer than Ketchell, but the eastern boy looks like a tough proposition and is very rugged and strong. He is also much more aggressive than Picato has shown himself to be up to the present time, but his recent victory over Frankie Gage may have given him a lot more confidence.

Joe Walling, who is to meet Dalton in the semi-windup, has made more of an impression with the fans than Ketchell on account of his speed and cleverness. He is a rangy fellow and stands up to his work well, and this is the style that always makes a hit.

Freddy Welsh worked better than Friday, in fact, he seems to make a decided improvement in his condition every day he trains. TEAM MATCH AT MIDWICK.

and after all that strenuous golf, by the winning of new Armstrong went over to the Country Club at 2 p.m. to his team against the Los men.

The Midwick team won 4 points to 3—which effectually relegates the Los Angeles team to the outer pale.

Jack Jevne, the Los Angeles captain, was defeated by E. R. Williams 2 up and 1. E. S. Armstrong accounted for R. D. Lapham, even after a previous thirty-six holes, and maintained his championship prestige. A. W. Brand defeated E. H. Seaver 5 and 4, and C. W. Graves defeated Arthur Braly 3 and 2.

The Los Angeles men to win their matches were Norman Macbeth, who defeated Robert Hunter 2 and 1; Judge Frederickson, who defeated J. V. Ellot 9 up and 8, and Frank H. Edwards, who defeated Hickson 2 up and 1.

The Judge's win was the most emphatic and remarkable, and it is good to see that he is thoroughly back in his old form. They do say he was playing an irresistible game, right down the middle of the course, with a glittering series of 4's and nothing higher.

Today the San Gabriel team goes to the Midwick for their league match.

BADGER GAME AT TRAINING CAMP.

MURPHY WINNER BY SLAYING ONLY BEAST IN CAPTIVITY.

In Practice Game Regulars Beat Ponies, but Zacher Is Injured and May Not Play Against White Sox. Team Goes to Oakland to Remain Over Sunday.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.] PLEASANTON, March 7. — No spring training siege is quite complete without the customary badger fight. It is really one of the essential features at all baseball camps.

The big event took place last night under the usual precautions existing for such events, two distinct performances being rendered. On the first occasion Ramey, as custodian of the badger, gained a lukewarm decision over the dog. Murphy being absent and bewailing his ill-fortune, a specially-arranged programme in his honor was put forth. Preliminaries over with, Murphy grasped the rope and on signal jerked forth the inoffensive badger from under the box, reducing him hors du combat against a brick partition forty feet due west, thus closing the evening entertainment by destroying the only badger available.

The warm-up game between the ponies and the regulars resulted in a 6-to-2 victory for the big club, Devlin carrying the boys along for a six-inning contest.

There is a possibility that Zacher will not be the middle gardener in tomorrow's White Sox game. In today's practice both legs suffered strained ligaments, and it may be necessary to place Middleton in center, with Coy or Kaylor in right. The club left Pleasanton for Oakland at 5:45 p.m. tonight and will return to camp Sunday evening for the final three days' practice.

Cartercar

What "Gearless" really means to You—

Before you buy a car, stop one minute and consider whether or not you want to take a chance with a car that has ten or twelve complicated gears that are liable to strip in any emergency.

And why take such a chance when you can get the Cartercar without gears and at the same time secure better service. Notice, we said BETTER service. The Cartercar will actually climb hills and travel roadways where the ordinary gear car is helpless. Unlimited speeds—no clutch—one lever control—much, very much easier to drive.

Now these are strong statements—but if you are doubtful we have a car ready for you any minute—and we'll prove everything we say. Six splendid models to choose from. A phone call would save time.

Five Bars and a Cross Tie—The Safety First Symbol
The Tread that makes the Brake Effective

Next time you buy a non-skid tire look at the tire itself and be sure it's a Goodrich Safety Tread.

You can tell it by the "Safety First" design shown above—five bars and a crosstie.

You can see the imprint of Safety Treads everywhere, showing how the thick, tough bars and crosstie make a Safety First roadway for the car.

The thick, tough Goodrich fingers dig down and grip—they help stop the skid—they make the brake effective.

Goodrich Safety Tread Tires

not only set the standard of tire value, but maintain it as well

Goodrich worth is not a claim, it is a condition, protected, re-inforced, sound and sure. The face value of Goodrich Tires is guaranteed by the service and quality put in them by the makers, and by the security owners have that they are buying the best tires made.

The quality of Goodrich Tires today is the standard by which all high grade tires are judged. This is because they represent the perfection of tire-making and tire-knowledge—which gives Goodrich Tires their leadership.

Here are the prices for the best tires ever produced in the Goodrich factory!

DUEL TO DARK FOR NET HONORS

Griffin and Mace to Resume at Later Date.

Doubles Championship Won by Griffin and Young.

Ladies' Matches Are Still to Be Decided.

BY WILLIAM M. HENRY.

Some folks are crazy and some folks are insane,
Some folks don't know when to come out of the rain,
Yet, when it's so hot that it blisters your eyes,
Some folks will play tennis and claim they are wise.

The shades of night were falling fast over the Huntington tennis courts when two sweltering young men, their garments soaked with honest perspiration, gasped out the information that they would complete their match for the championship and cup at a later date.

For about two solid hours Peck Griffin and Winnie Mace faced each other on courts blistering under foot and battled to the limit of their efforts, and finally at 6 o'clock the match had to be called, with Griffin in the lead two sets to one.

The match was as hot as the weather. In order to get themselves properly into the atmosphere of the occasion, Griffin and Mace had each indulged in something like four other matches previously, and this had its effect, especially on Mace, who had been forced to exert himself in every match.

Mace started out like a champion and startled the gallery by snatching the first set by a 6-2 score. The play of Mace was really remarkable while his strength lasted. Instead of the happy-go-lucky dashing play that made him famous before his visit East, Mace played an even, conservative, safe game that looked good for first honors until his pep gave out.

In the second and third sets Griffin's strength overcame Mace's nicely-placed shooting, and the Northerner found that he could run the fast-fading Winnie to death by accurate placement in the corners. The result was a 6-2 and a 6-3 set in favor of Griffin before nightfall and the call of the dining-room broke up the proceedings.

From the way Mace was playing in the first set he has a good chance of coming back with the aid of a little rest, and keeping the Huntington-Maryland trophy in the Southland.

Preceding the Griffin-Mace imbroglio the finals of the men's doubles was played off between the Griffin-Young and Freeman-Mace combinations. The score of 6-0, 6-0, in favor of Griffin and Young, speaks far more eloquently than mere words. Freeman and Mace were never in it.

The remaining events, ladies' singles and doubles and mixed doubles, were undecided at a late hour last night and will be played off some time this week. Miss Sutton is much in evidence in both of the ladies' events as she seems to have the family weakness for silverware. She is paired with Gerald Young in the mixed doubles and is liable to carry home enough plate to start a store.

FORCES GATHER FOR CAMPAIGN.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA MOTOR MEN MOBILIZE.

Lord's Guests Travel Through Detroit Automobile Factory While at Saturday Banquet Given in Honor of District Agents and Officials Who Are in Los Angeles.

The Maxwell agents of Southern California were mobilized at the Alexandria yesterday and Charles F. Redden, sales manager for the Maxwell Motor Company, outlined the coming season's campaign.

A banquet was tendered by T. A. and H. A. Lord of the Lord Motor Car Company in honor of the eastern factory man. T. J. Toner, Coast representative, was also present, and gave an interesting talk on automobile subjects.

After the dinner, the guests were taken through the Maxwell factory. A projecting machine was set up and scenes were exhibited, showing in detail the manufacture of the Maxwell car, officers performing their duties and the cars being turned out at the rate of 100 a day and shipped from Detroit.

Covers were laid for twenty-nine Southern California agents. Twelve members of the sales force of the Lord Motor Car Company were present, in addition to Redden and Toner.

Among the guests were J. M. Bradford of Rialto, F. T. Elwell, Bert Morehouse, George E. Morrison of San Diego, F. J. Purdy, John Frost of Etiwanda, C. R. Young of Covina, Connie Miles, R. H. Compton, Frank Vegely of Santa Ana, E. Wait, E. L. Zimmerman, C. L. Johnson of San Luis Obispo, T. J. Toner, T. A. Lord, H. A. Lord, Charles F. Redden of Detroit, E. A. Lord and Harry A. Kevins of Santa Monica.

RACES BY BOYS IN CYCLE CARS.

Hurray for the kids! The future Ralph de Palmas and Barney Oldfields are going to have their own little Vanderbilt race March 21 at Culver City. The race is for a silver cup and cash prizes, which has attracted some twenty-five or thirty boys under 17 years of age into the race.

The racing cars will not be Fiats or Mercers, but small cars built mostly by the kids and all under ten horse power. Old motorcycle engines and cycle engines surrounded by unique bodies will make up the racers in this "Junior Vanderbild" affair that promises to be more exciting than the big races at Santa Monica last week.

YOUNG CARLSON LIES VERY ILL.

Dick Carlson, brother of Bill Carlson, the racing driver, is at the California Hospital in a very critical condition. He was operated on by Drs. M. L. and Clarence Moore and P. G. White last Monday for appendicitis.

So critical was his condition that the medical men were unable to close the incision and Friday a second operation was necessary on account of an internal rupture. He withstood the operation well and his friends have every hope of his speedy recovery; but he is still in great danger and every precaution is being taken by the physicians in charge of the case.

Young Carlson is well known here, having engaged in the automobile business, handling high-grade cars exclusively.

ANGEL HEADS AT CAMP HOPE.

BERRY AND WEBER ANXIOUS TO SEE FIRST GAME OF YEAR.

Wolters, Meek, Allen and Moore Still to Be Heard From—Calvo, Cuban Speedist, Makes Hit in Workout—Urbita Opposing Team Today.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN BERNARDINO, March 7.—All the big guns of the Los Angeles club arrived here tonight to watch the first actual game of the season that the 1914 pennant chasers will open tomorrow afternoon against the Urbita Stars, habitues of the resort the Angels have invaded.

"Hen" Berry and Secretary Weber, accompanied by their wives, were out at the grounds to see the boys go through their antics and agonies.

One Jacinto Del Calvo, the young Cuban speedist, was out for routine, and sprang into popularity at once. He is only a mite of a boy, 21 years of age, but from the showing today, Pop Dillon says he will make Maggert, Ellis and Harper hustle for outer stations.

Calvo comes direct from Havana. Last year he was with the Washington club, which grabbed him from Atlanta. The dusky boy has recovered from a fracture of the left arm, injured in the eighty-ninth game at Atlanta. He has a great whip and all the players cautioned him repeatedly about using it too hard the first day.

Calvo hopes to land, for he has a "girl in Havana" whom he expects to wed next year if he does well on the Coast.

There are four players yet to appear at Camp Hope. Harry Wolters will show up about March 18, Harry Meek is expected Monday, while Bill Allen and Charley Moore are lost and yet to be heard from.

Dillon will start Ryan, McKenry and Waldschmidt, the local recruit, in the game today against the Stars, with Brooks catching. McCreery hurls for Urbita and Nelson catches. Kitty Brashear will umpire.

BENNY HENDERSON SAYS HE'LL BE GOOD

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—The San Francisco baseball club is prepared to give pitcher Benny Henderson another chance. Henderson disappeared mysteriously from the training camp at Boyes Springs last week.

Wednesday evening Henderson bobbed up in Oakland and got into communication with Harry Walton, secretary of the club. He was profuse in apologies, promising that if offered another chance he would stick to the straight and narrow path for all time. In view of Henderson's promise and his value as a pitcher, Manager Howard has decided to give him another trial.

MILLER WINS CHAMPIONSHIP.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) March 7.—Walter Miller won from Al Hatch tonight in 11m. sharp wrestling for the worlds welterweight championship. A head lock severely injured Hatch, —who was placed under a doctor's care.

WELSH AND WELLS.

Matt Wells is after another match with Freddie Welsh, and Freddie says he will get it in more ways than one. Wells took a good beating from Welsh for the English title, but wants another chance at it in June. If satisfactory arrangements can be made by the National Sporting Club of London, the match is sure to go through.

GOLF CLUBS ADMITTED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 7.—As a result of an Executive Committee mail vote returned this week, nine more clubs, including the Presidio Golf Club of San Francisco, were admitted to membership in the United States Golf Association, it was announced tonight. There are now 354 clubs in the association.

HAL CHASE JOINS.

OAKLAND, March 7.—Hal Chase, first baseman for the White Sox, joined his comrades here today, and will get into the line-up this afternoon against the San Francisco club. Chase has been playing winter ball in San Jose and is in good condition.

DOOMING DOBBIN.

Automobiles are twice as safe as horses, according to Coroner Peter M. Hoffman, of Chicago. He has had a study made of automobile and other accidents on the city streets, which shows that the proportion of horse vehicle accidents per 5,000,000 miles traveled is more than twice that of the automobile accidents. The Coroner's figures show that during the four years from 1910 to 1914 horse vehicles caused 6047 accidents, and automobiles 5784. Considering that the average horse covers twelve miles a day and the automobile forty-two, the average number of accidents per 5,000,000 miles traveled figures out at 26.55 in the case of the horse vehicles and 12.6 for the automobiles. The Coroner estimates the number of horse vehicles at 65,118, and automobiles at 37,406.

"Sixes" vs. "Fours"

DURING the past few weeks big newspaper space has been used for the purpose of defending the high-priced four-cylinder car. We are not surprised. Any four-cylinder car selling for more than $1800 certainly needs defense.

Whenever a tight shoe pinches, the wearer makes a wry face. And high-priced, four-cylinder shoes are pinching a number of feet pretty hard this season.

Let us examine the real situation of "Six" vs. "four."

Three years ago there were eleven builders of "Sixes" in the United States. Last year twenty-five companies produced "Sixes." In 1914 thirty-seven of the forty-two leading manufacturers of motor cars build "Sixes."

Can such development be due to a fad or whim, as the builders of high-priced "fours" say?

High Priced Car Builders Found the "Six" Superior

Seven years ago the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Company built "fours" only—"fours" that were above reproach. Six years ago they added "Sixes" because the "Six" was demanded by those who wanted the utmost in a motor car. For five years the Pierce-Arrow has been building "Sixes" only. Not because the Pierce-Arrow "four" was not good, but because the "Six" was proved better.

For years the Packard Motor Car Company built only "fours." Today Packard cars are built in "Sixes" exclusively. Not because the Packard "four" was not good; for there were no better "fours." But because Packard engineers and Packard owners found the "Six" mechanically superior to the "four"—and the Packard Company had the courage to build the car which was proved best.

The Peerless Company abandoned "fours" for "Sixes" exclusively, because those who paid Peerless prices demanded the superior smoothness, flexibility, and silence of the "Six."

Seven years ago the Winton Company predicted the growth and popularity of the "Six." Since 1908 Winton cars have been built in "Sixes" only, because Winton found the "Six" superior to the "four."

Public Demand Forced the Development of the "Six"

The admitted mechanical superiority of the "Six" over the "four" and the demand for this superiority on the part of those who are willing to pay any price for motor car luxury, forced these builders of high-priced cars into the six-cylinder field.

Practically all successful builders of "fours," such as Locomobile, Packard, Pierce-Arrow, Stevens-Duryea, Winton, Peerless, Buick, Hudson, Oldsmobile, Marmon, White, Studebaker, and Oakland have been forced into the six-cylinder field.

None of these companies changed their designs or spent thousands and thousands of dollars for new machinery and to market new types of cars just to satisfy a whim.

Through sheer merit the "Six" has conquered. Practically every well-known company this year building a car of $1250 or over, except one, builds "Sixes."

Is it possible that all of these admittedly successful companies are wrong? Isn't it logical to suppose that the majority is right?

Is it reasonable to suppose that the one company which dissents should be right against such overwhelming evidence?

Pretty nearly all present owners of "Sixes" have at some time been owners of "fours." Ask them which is the better car—"Six" or "four." Did you ever know of a driver of a "Six" to go back to a "four" of equal price?

Drivers of "Sixes" will tell you that there is something inherent in a "Six" that makes it better than a "four," just as there is something inherent in a thoroughbred that makes him better than a horse of common blood.

Outside of the companies that have overpriced "fours" to sell, the little talk there is against the "Six" comes from people who never rode in a "Six." To all such we say—ride 50 or 100 miles in any good "Six," not only the Chalmers, but any good "Six." Until you have made such a test reserve judgment. We have no doubt of your judgment if you will only take the ride.

Don't Buy a Near "Six" When You Can Get a Real "Six"

The best known builder of high-priced "fours" this year admits the superiority of the "Six" by using a mechanism which it is claimed will give to the "four" some of the recognized superior qualities of the "Six." How consistent of those with "fours" to sell, to decry "Sixes" in one breath and in the next tell you they have a device that makes a "Six" of their car—nearly! The superiority of a "Six" over a "four" exists in the motor—and can be obtained only through the motor. It can't be obtained through the transmission or rear axle.

The last resort of the four-cylinder advocate is that the "four" is more economical than the "Six."

Positively, it is not.

It costs less to drive a Chalmers Master "Six" 5000 or 20,000 miles, than to drive a "four" of equal size and power the same distance. We have had in the Chalmers factory every well known "four" of $1800 or over. We have run them side by side with the Chalmers "Sixes" and here is what we have learned:

Because of its steady, uninterrupted flow of power the "Six" is easier on tires and easier on every moving part than a "four."

The most prominent "four" in the same price class as the Chalmers "Six" has less power and weighs more. In the Chalmers the labor of moving that weight is divided among six cylinders; in the "four" each cylinder does more work because of the greater weight carried by four cylinders. Don't you see that in the "four" each cylinder must be doing more work all the time?

In other words, the four-cylinder motor is forced to work at full capacity more of the time than the "Six." It is always working harder than the "Six"—and that means shorter life.

"But a 'Six' burns more gasoline," say four-cylinder builders.

Again we say, that is not true

For any considerable distance the Chalmers Master "Six" can be run on as little gasoline as any "four" of equal motor displacement and with equal car size. This is not merely an advertising claim. We have proved this by actual tests.

Power and Performance Considered, "Six" is More Economical Than "Four"

The fallacious statement that the "Six" burns more gasoline than a "four" originated in the fact that in the past four-cylinder cars were compared with six-cylinder cars of nearly twice as much power. Compared on an equal footing, as to power and car size, the economy argument is all in favor of the "Six."

While six-cylinder builders are working toward greater fuel economy all the time, builders of "fours" are going the other way. The Chalmers Master "Six," for instance, has only a 4-inch bore and a 5½-inch stroke. A few years ago six-cylinder cars of equal power had bores of 4¾-inch to 6-inch. In the Chalmers Master "Light Six," which sells for $1800, the motor is even smaller—only 3½-inch bore. Yet this motor has developed 53 h. p. All engineers admit that small bore and long stroke make for greater fuel economy. So builders of "Sixes" are at least on the righ track.

Four-cylinder designers, on the other hand, are forced constantly to increase the size of their motors to get enough power adequately to handle cars of increasingly greater weight.

The high-priced "four" grows each season to be more extravagant in fuel; while the well built "Six" becomes more economical.

A leading builder of high priced "fours" is now announcing through the newspapers that he "has no intention of building a 'Six.'" We believe this would be a welcome announcement to a great many intending buyers who had already finally made up their minds to buy a "Six" and had, perhaps, been wondering whether this particular manufacturer would build one.

Now they have only to pick out the best "Six." They need no longer hesitate, anticipating that this particular builder may produce a "Six." Such statements of policy do much to clarify the public understanding of the motor car situation.

Chalmers Policy is to Build Best Cars Possible at Chalmers Prices

As in the past, our policy shall always be to build the most efficient, most up-to-date quality cars to sell at medium prices. We shall change the design of Chalmers cars whenever adherence to that policy shall make changes necessary.

We are proud of the changes we have made in Chalmers cars. For all progress is change. To keep pace with the advance of science it is necessary to change. Every change we have ever made has given our customers higher value, more comfort, greater safety and more beauty in Chalmers cars.

We always build the best cars human ingenuity, painstaking workmanship, and fine materials can produce to sell at Chalmers prices. We introduce new and good things as they are discovered, and proved worth while.

It is in pursuance of this policy of advancement that having proved the "Six" superior to the "four" we are concentrating the production of Chalmers factory on "Sixes."

We predict that within two years all cars selling above $1500 will be "Sixes." Even those who now decry the "Six" will be building "Sixes" within two years or building a "four" at a great reduction from their present prices.

Cars selling above $1500 belong to the six-cylinder field as much as the cars selling below $1000 belong to the four-cylinder field.

It is just as impossible to stop the trend toward six-cylinder cars as it would be to dam the Niagara Falls. One builder of "fours" in the $2000 class claims more sales for his car than all makes of "Sixes" combined. This is positively exaggeration. There are being sold today three times as many "Sixes" as "fours" at $1500 or over. Crying against the "Six" won't stop it—it only increases the desire for an investigation and a comparison of the relative merits of "fours" and "Sixes." That is all that we as manufacturers of "Sixes" ask.

When You Buy a "Six" You Get the Newest Style and Best Investment

Why sink money in a car already out of style and bound to become more so each day? When you buy a "Six" you buy on a rising market. When you buy a "four" you buy on a declining market.

Our proposition is simple. We say, ride in "fours" and ride in "Sixes." Ask your friends who have "Sixes" if they would go back to "fours." We are sure you will want a "Six" after making such a test.

And having reached that conclusion we ask you to then take the Chalmers Road Test. After that we are sure your purchase will be a Chalmers Master "Six." We invite comparison, with even the highest priced cars.

Any Chalmers dealer will give you the Chalmers Standard Road Test. It is proof positive of every claim we make. Judged by the measure of this rigid test, we know that no car within $500 of the Chalmers price can even approach the Master "Six" in power, quietness, absence of vibration, flexibility, comfort, beauty, convenience and luxury.

That is a sweeping claim. But it will cost you nothing to prove to yourself that we are right. Don't buy any car until you have done yourself and us the justice of investigating the Chalmers Master "Six."

STANFORD BEATS SANTA CLARA.

MISSIONITES' MOUND MAN IS WHANGED OUT OF BOX.

Soccer Team Plays Saturday Against California for Williamson Trophy—Basket Game Next for Intercollegiate Supremacy—Hahn Wins at Tennis.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, March 5.—Stanford's nine downed the ball tossers of Santa Clara here yesterday by the score of 9 to 5. In the first three innings the Cardinals batted Whelan out of the box and sent eight men across the plate. The visitors managed to get in one run during the third, but it looked like easy money for Stanford until the last frame, when Santa Clara threatened with three hits and registered four runs.

Halm and Hayes were the twirlers for Stanford, while Whelan and Stewart held the box for the Missionites. Tramutola, who got a three-bagger, was the only batsman to connect for more than two bases, Terry and Ramage each hauling in one of the two-bag variety.

The line-ups follow:

Stanford will again meet the Missionites on Saturday on the field in Santa Clara.

The Southern California alumni will on the same day play Presley's all-stars on the Cardinal diamond.

Stanford's soccer team will line up against California on the local field next Saturday in the last intercollegiate match of the season. This game is the deciding one of the series being played for the Williamson trophy, a cup offered by C. Y. Williamson of the Barbarian Club of San Francisco, to the team winning the majority of ten games. As there have been four Cardinal victories, two for the Blue and Gold and two ties, a win for Stanford or a tie will bring the trophy into the permanent possession of Stanford.

Butcher is suffering from a slight injury to his knee, but Trainer Maloney hopes to have him at his position on Saturday.

Tomorrow evening the Cardinal basketball team will clash with California in the first game of the series for intercollegiate supremacy. The game is a league match, and will decide the holder of second honors, as the contesting teams are tied for second place. This is the only game of the series that is a league match. Stanford will now have an opportunity of avenging its defeat of last year at the hands of California, when it lost the first intercollegiate series by two successive defeats, 22 to 14 and 22 to 13.

Stanford's players have experienced a very successful season, having met but one setback, a 24-to-20 defeat at the hands of the St. Mary's five, the league champions. The team is composed practically of veterans of last year's five. They will line up as follows:

A. E. Worthy (captain) of Santa Ana and J. R. Davis of Pomona, forwards; Earl Dutton of Los Angeles, center; I. E. Farrar of Corona and L. R. Reynolds, guards.

W. B. Blodgett of Huntington Beach, who has played with the five throughout the season, will be unable to take his place at forward on account of Saturday's soccer game. Davis is taking his place.

H. L. Hahn of Pasadena defeated Capt. Sloss in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2, 6-0, in the final match of the second tryout tennis tournament, yesterday afternoon. By virtue of his victory, Hahn becomes one of the five men who will contest for places on the intercollegiate team after the preliminaries have been completed.

Two hundred track men received the surprise of their lives Tuesday evening when they reported at the trackhouse according to the order of Coach Campbell and Capt. McKee. It had been rumored about that something was going to "drop." Instead of the fulfillment of these dire threats, they found themselves guests at a banquet.

Red lanterns were lighted over tables which were set for 200. Faithful Sam, major-domo of the athletic field, in the position of chef, had prepared a meal of barbecued beef, beans, salad, chocolate, hot rolls and oranges.

After the banquet, Jimmy Patten of Los Angeles gave a number of Scotch selections; Sam entertained with appropriate songs, and a programme was rendered by the Mandolin Club and a quartette. Informal talks were given by Dr. Frank Angell, Prof. D. E. Folsom, Coach E. P. Campbell and Capt. McKee.

OH, JOY!

For the purpose of making a thorough investigation of the possibilities of alcohol as an automobile fuel, the Alcohol Fuel Committee of the Imperial Motor Transport Council has at length been organized in England and is about to commence its large undertaking. The committee is the outgrowth of the decision of the Imperial Motor Transport Conference of last July that the comparative isolation of Great Britain from its liquid fuel supplies could be broken only by the introduction of alcohol on a large scale. The committee taking up the work is representative not only of practically all organized bodies connected with the automobile industry in the United Kingdom, but has government support as well.

GLOBE ROLLERS SWAP AUTOMOBILE YARNS

TWO TRAVELERS who have made the automobile famous in many places met in Los Angeles last week, when Joseph Drake and J. W. Thompson got together to relate their motoring experiences in many lands and many climes.

Thompson came here to witness the Vanderbilt cup and Grand Prix races. Drake drew in on the last leg of his second around-the-world tour.

Drake, who is vice-president of the Hupp Motor Car Company, first won fame as a globe-girdling motorist when he went around the world in a Hupmobile two years ago. On that trip he visited every country in Europe, toured in Asia and Africa extensively, and piloted his little car into the remote parts of China and the Orient. Not content with this, he came home and "saw America last," but saw it more thoroughly than most of his countrymen.

Now, Drake is completing his second trip, commenced some months ago. Leaving the factory at Detroit in a new Hupmobile "32" touring car, he drove to New York on his tour. Shipping across to England, he toured Europe and parts of Asia. He then penetrated Darkest Africa on a trip that took him from the Mediterranean to the Cape.

Then, Australia and India were delved into, following which the Hupmobile was forced over the most difficult of China's so-called highways. Japan and New Zealand followed, and now Drake is on his way home to the Hupp factory at Detroit.

The Thompson schedule, while fully as extensive as that of Drake, was by no means as regular.

Three years ago Thompson, who is now manager of the big Tevis estates in the Santa Cruz Mountains, toured England, Switzerland, Italy. The following exploring the ruins used a Hupmobile

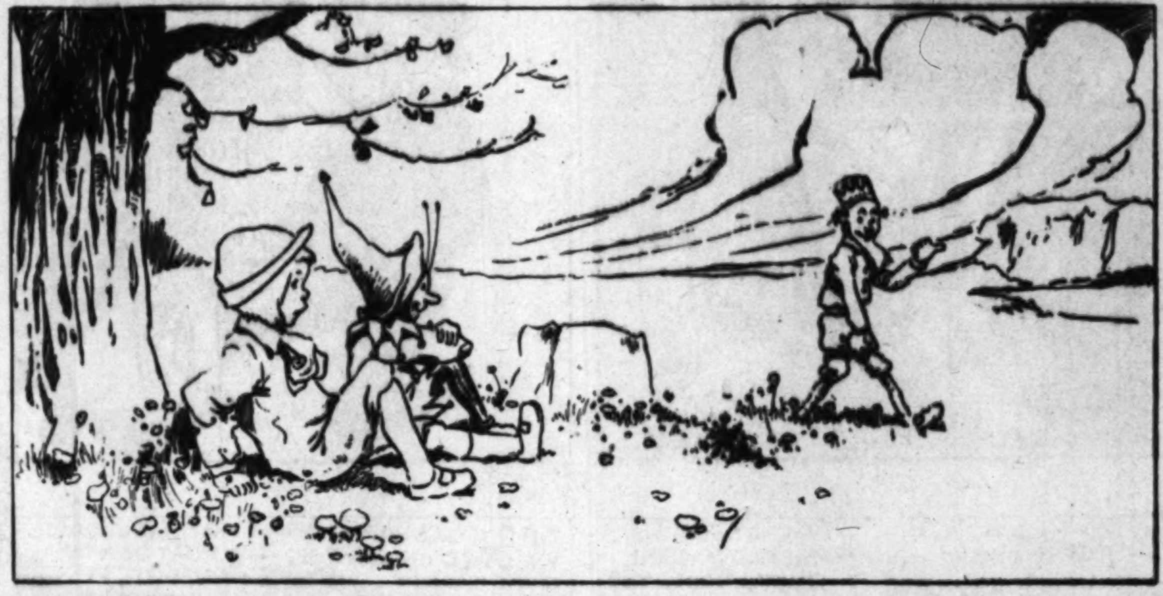
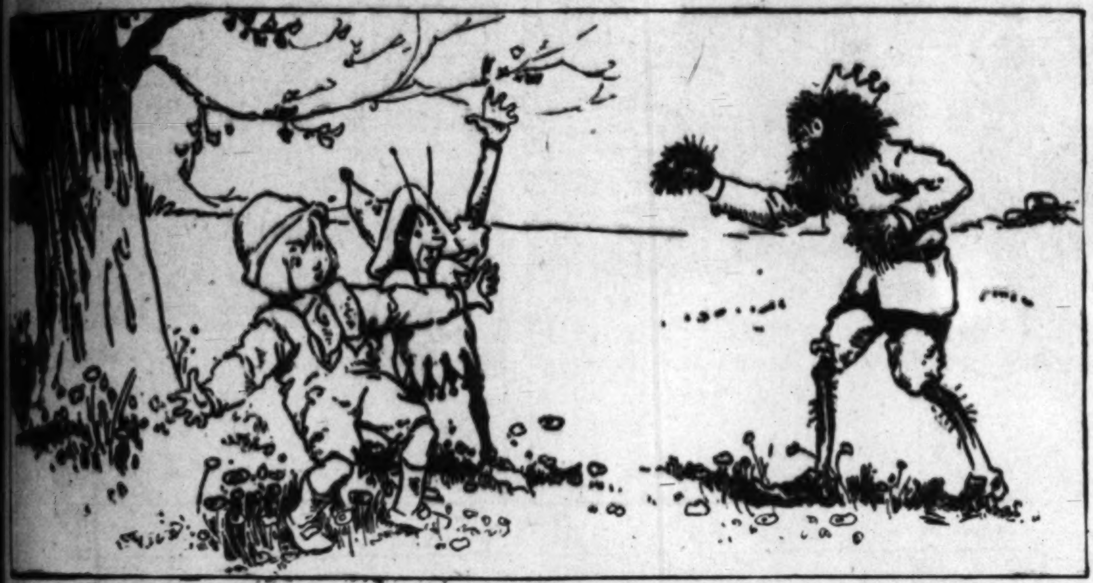
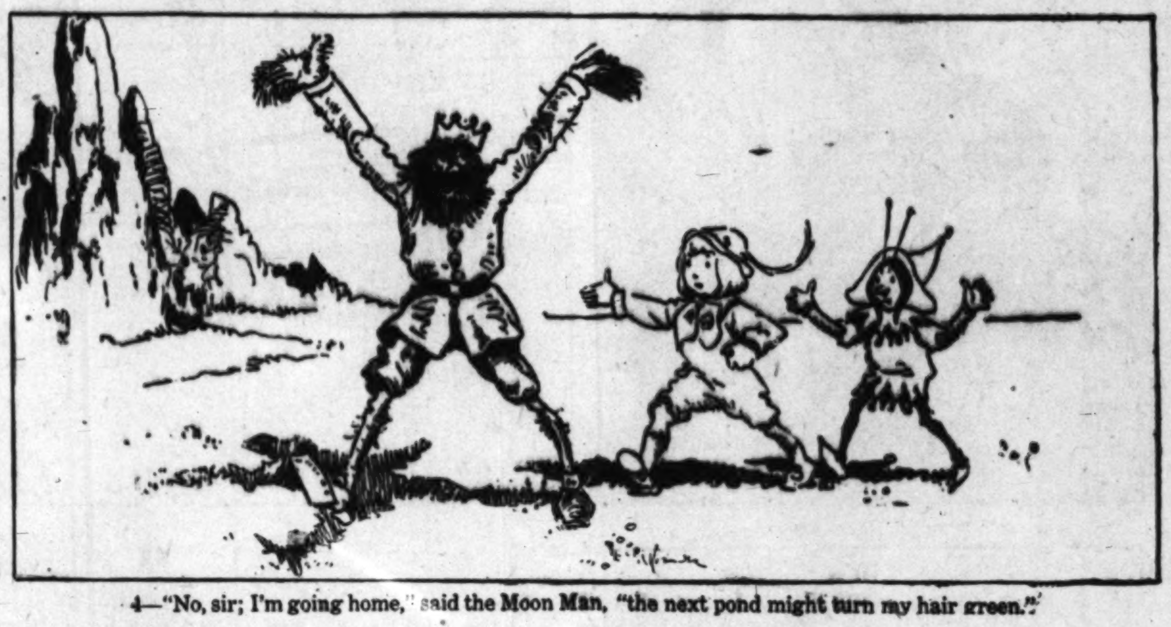
1—"I believe," said the Moon Man, "that I will go over to that pond and wash my face and hands."



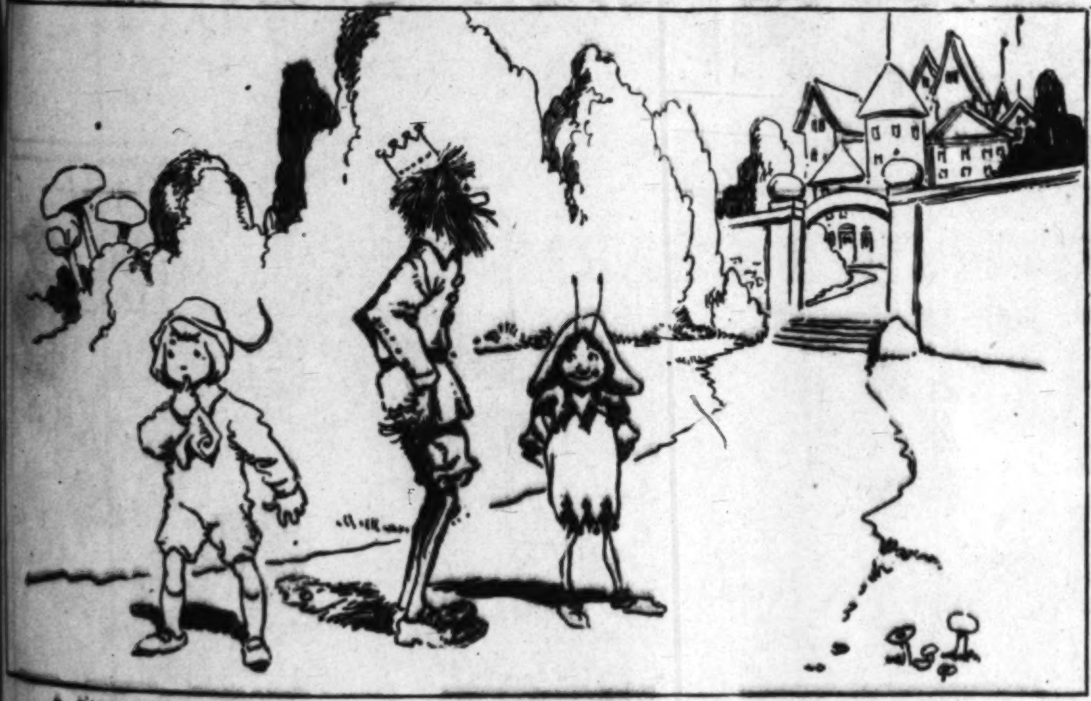
2—"Better come along," said the Moon Man, as he started away from Dickie and Mr. Twee Deedle.



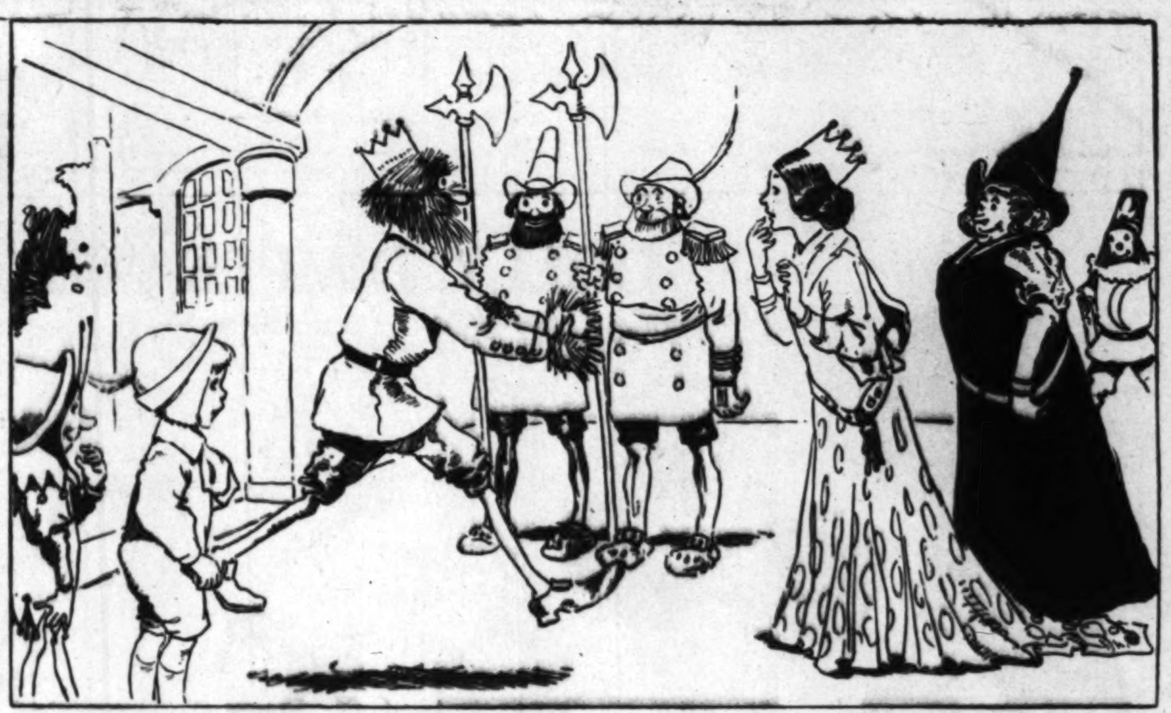
3—When he returned his face and hands were covered with long, red hair. "It grew wherever the water touched me," he said. "It must be a hair tonic pond," said Dickie. "Let's look for a pond that will take the hair off."



4—"No, sir; I'm going home," said the Moon Man, "the next pond might turn my hair green."



5—Suddenly they came upon the Moon Man's Castle. "We must have been walking in a circle," said Mr. Twee Deedle.



6—The Moon Man's wife was glad to see him, but was much surprised at his appearance. She sent him to the barber.

7—When the Moon Man had made his toilet he called everybody to the throne and told them about his adventures.

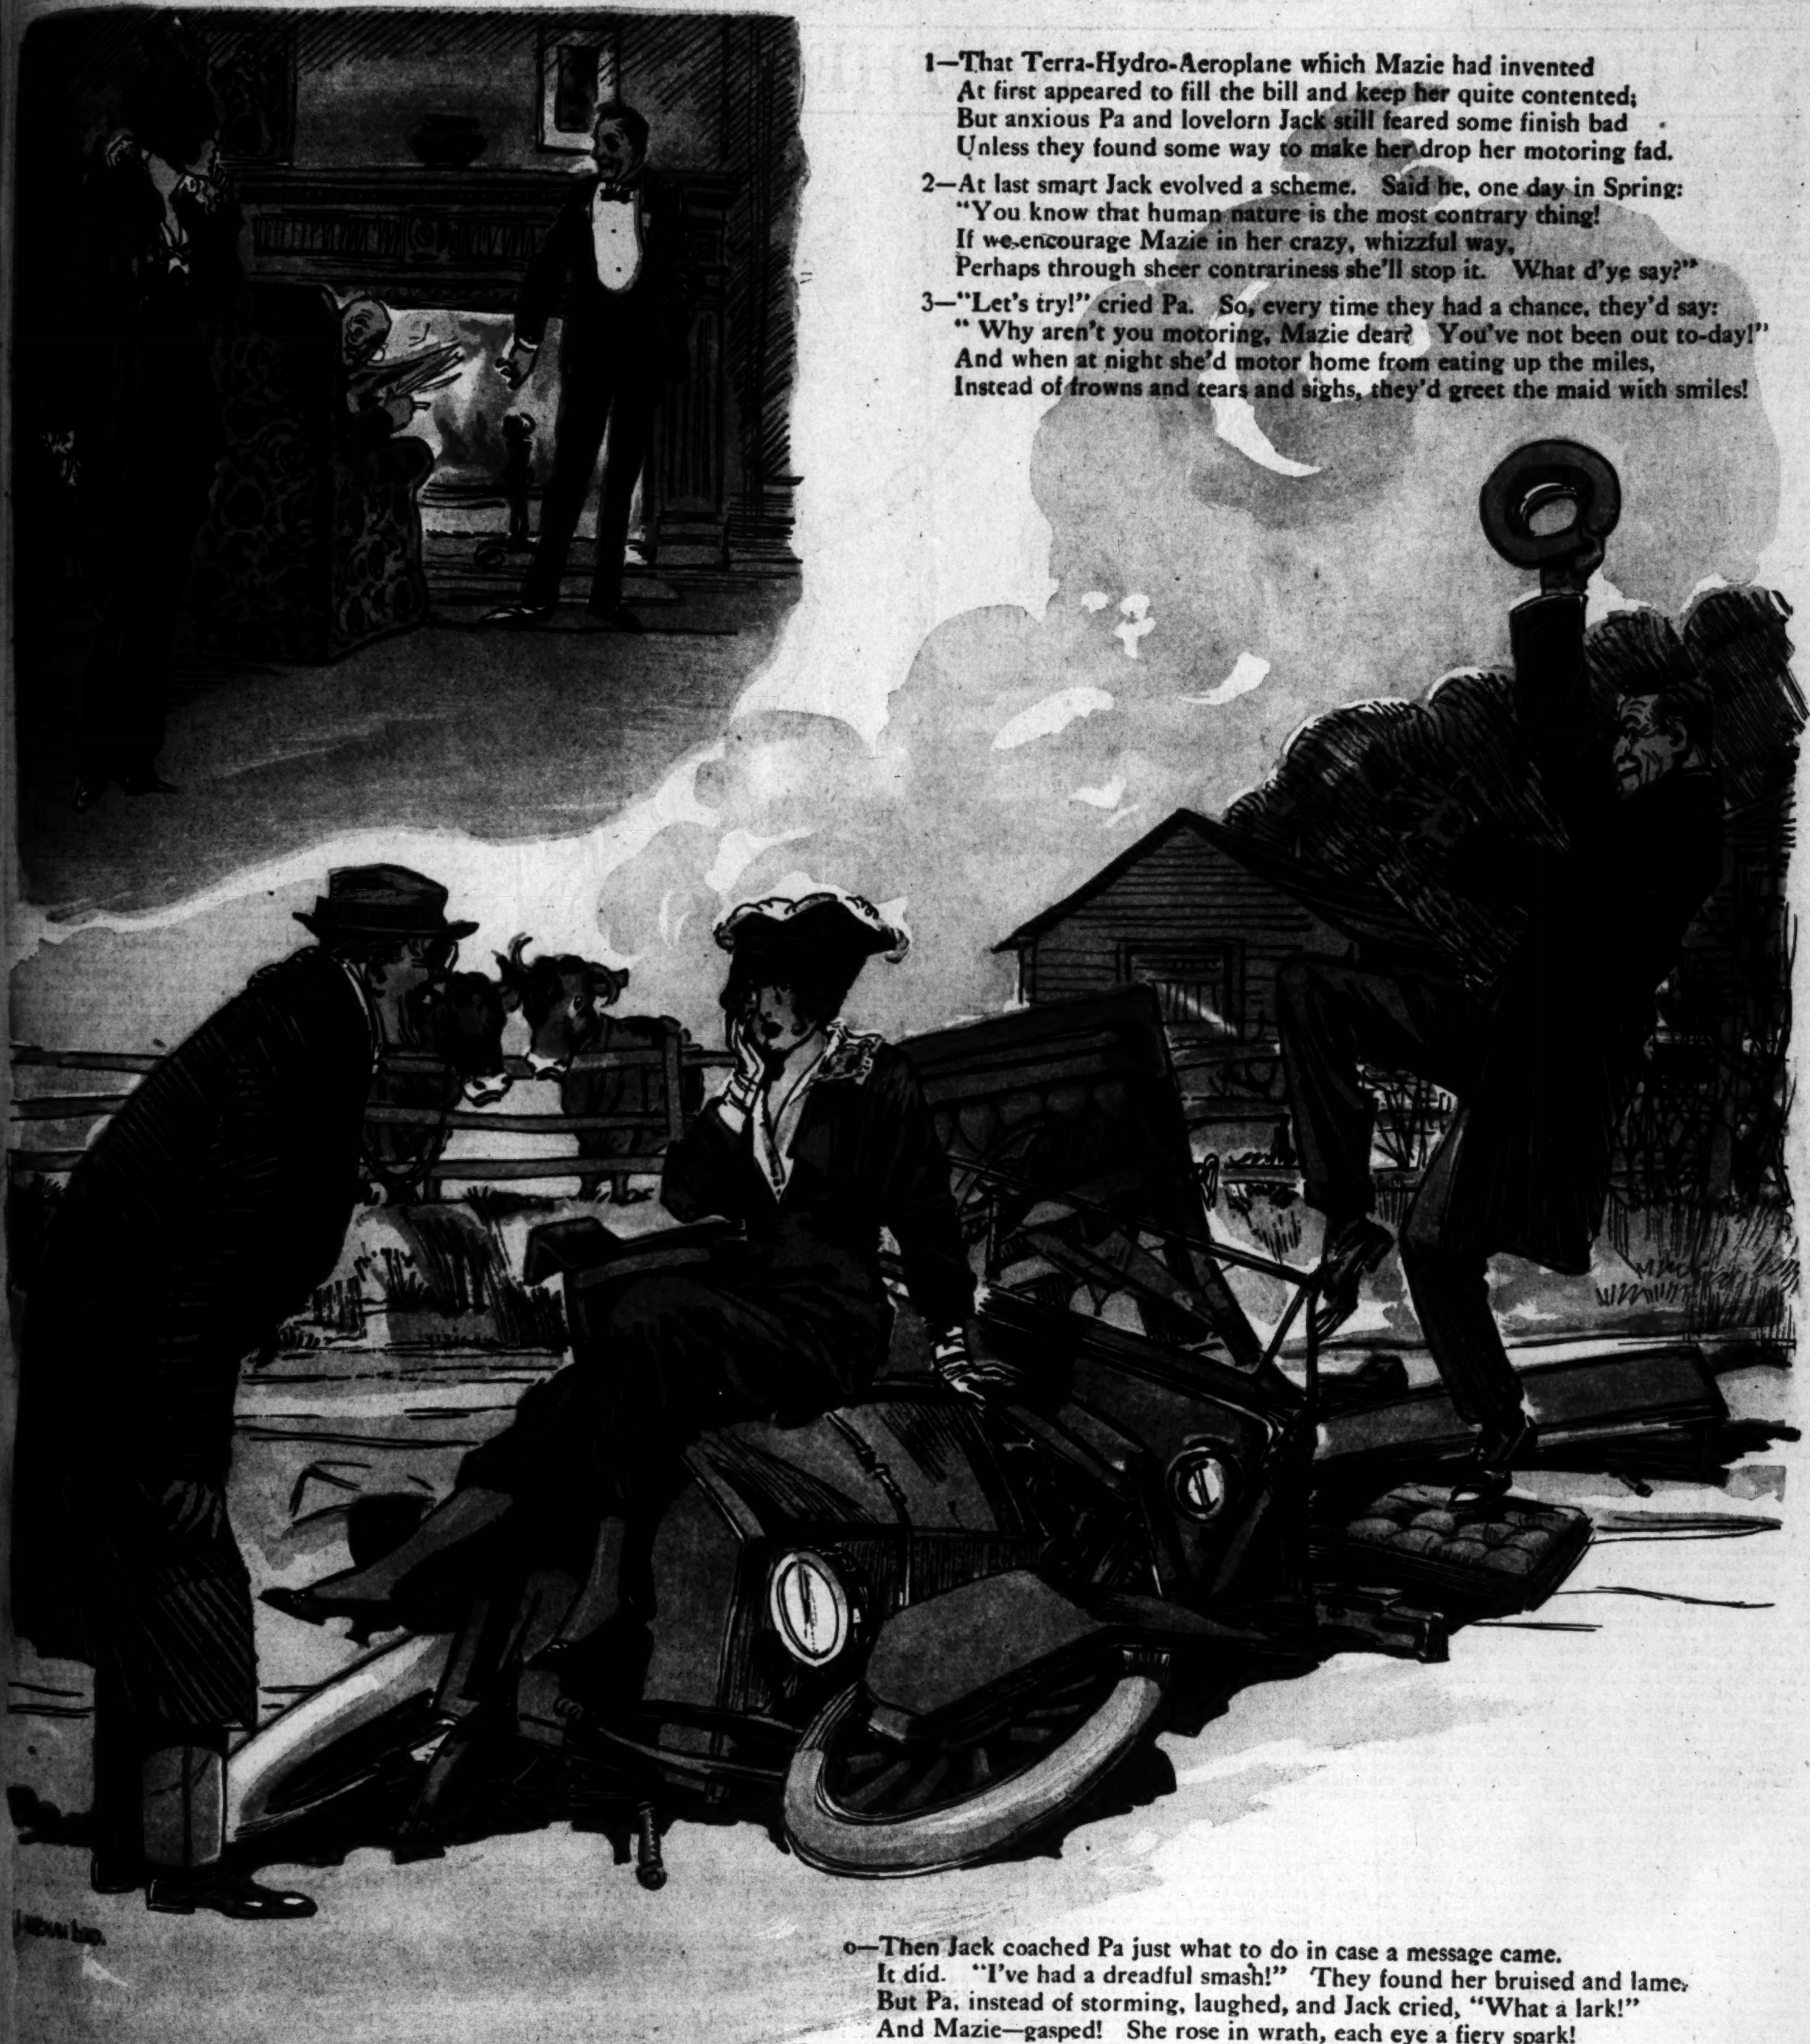
MAZIE THE MOTOR MAID

Verses by Paul West ⊠ Illustrations by J. Norman Lynd



1—That Terra-Hydro-Aeroplane which Mazie had invented
At first appeared to fill the bill and keep her quite contented;
But anxious Pa and lovelorn Jack still feared some finish bad
Unless they found some way to make her drop her motoring fad.

2—At last smart Jack evolved a scheme. Said he, one day in Spring:
"You know that human nature is the most contrary thing!
If we encourage Mazie in her crazy, whizzful way,
Perhaps through sheer contrariness she'll stop it. What d'ye say?"

3—"Let's try!" cried Pa. So, every time they had a chance, they'd say:
"Why aren't you motoring, Mazie dear? You've not been out to-day!"
And when at night she'd motor home from eating up the miles,
Instead of frowns and tears and sighs, they'd greet the maid with smiles!

4—At first 'twas fine; but in a while her spins began to pall.
No storms from Pa, no prayers from Jack—this was no fun at all!
"Good!" chuckled Pa. But Jack said: "Wait! She's not yet cured by far!
Buy her to-day the biggest, swiftest, costliest motor car!"

5—Pa did so, blindly, wondering. His daughter looked at it.
Jack watched and grinned to notice she was not enthused a bit;
But off she went to try it out. "Now wait!" cried Jack. "We'll see!"
"All right," said Pa, "though what it means is not so plain to me!"

6—Then Jack coached Pa just what to do in case a message came.
It did. "I've had a dreadful smash!" They found her bruised and lame.
But Pa, instead of storming, laughed, and Jack cried, "What a lark!"
And Mazie—gasped! She rose in wrath, each eye a fiery spark!

7—"I see!" she cried. "You two don't care! Cold, cruel, heartless men!
If I should break my neck you'd laugh. That ends it! Ne'er again!"
And, flopping down, her face she hid with such a burst of tears
That Pa and Jack each other hugged, and gave three hearty cheers!

8—At dinner at Delmonico's, where happy Jack was host,
Fair Mazie learned their scheme, but rose, and gave this merry toast:
"Here's to your foxy, clever trick! With speeding now I'm done!
FOR WHAT'S THE FUN OF SCORCHING IF IT DON'T SCARE ANY ONE?"

COMMON SENSE in the HOME

EDITED by MARION HARLAND

IRRATIONAL STYLES AND THE CONSERVATIVE WOMAN

"I WOULD like to talk to you and some of the Cornerites about an experience I had the other day. It was connected with a new skirt that was too tight around the bottom.

"Now I want it to be understood in the first place that I am not 'a high-flier after fashion, like dear Mrs. Boffin, and I always try to avoid extremes. But this was a plain little dark blue serge which I bought ready made to wear when I go shopping and all that sort of thing. I had had it fitted at the shop, but I had never tried to walk in it until this time I am talking about. It was one afternoon when I had to go downtown on business, in something of a hurry, so I slipped into my new one piece frock and started out.

"My first near mishap was when I tried to run for a car. I am quick in my motions, so when I saw my car coming I started at a rush—which was immediately stopped. My new skirt caught me about my ankles like a cord and it was only by accident that I didn't fall flat on my face. For a minute I turned perfectly sick. I was in two minds to go back and change my dress, but I had only just about time to keep my appointment, so I went ahead. Of course, I missed that car, but I got on the next one and by pulling up my skirt almost to my knees I managed to climb on the step. Getting out was less trouble.

"If I were to tell you how many times that afternoon I was scared stiff and sick by the fear of a fall I would fill all the space in the Corner. I never thought before that I took long steps, but that afternoon I felt as though I were in the habit of walking in seven league boots. Now and then I would forget that I must toddle and would try to step out, only to be brought up—literally with a round turn.

"On my way home I stopped at the shop and told the woman who had fitted my frock that she must send for it the next day and open the skirt at the bottom and put in a fan or a plait or something to give me more space. She assured me the skirt was really much wider than many that are sold, but I told her that made no difference.

"The question I want to put to you and the other Cornerites in this connection is what you think of the present fashions and what we people who don't wish to follow them are going to do about it. It is much cheaper and more convenient in every way for me to get some of my frocks ready made, but they are all so extreme that I hate to be seen in them. Yet there don't seem to be any others. What experience have the rest of you had and how do you get along about ready made clothes? It may not seem important perhaps, but it means a lot of bother and worry to some of us. J. K. B."

Why Do They Wear Them?

This letter reminds me of the remark I heard a woman make on the suffrage question a couple of years ago. "The thing that I can't make out," she said, "is how women are going to run the politics of the country while an anxious nation which is yearning to be saved by women's votes has to wait until the men of the family hook the new voters' frocks up the back!"

Something of the same sort occurs to me in another connection. When I see the girls who stand behind the counters and who work in factories and in other ways toil for their living going about their duties in shirt waists which button up behind I wonder how much of the little time they have in the morning goes in contorted efforts to fasten their waists or if all who wear them are lucky enough to have relatives or friends or domestics at home to do the buttoning or hooking.

"Why do they wear them?" I asked a friend one day. "It does seem to me as if the workers of the world, especially those who have to rise early and be at their posts directly on time, should have a garb into which they can slip quickly and easily. Why will they insist on having frocks that fasten in the back?"

"They can't help it," she replied. "Practically every shirt waist on sale buttons or hooks behind and the women who have not time to make their own clothes or money to pay for having them made must buy what they can get. I don't believe they like the bothersome things any better than you do, but they can't find anything else."

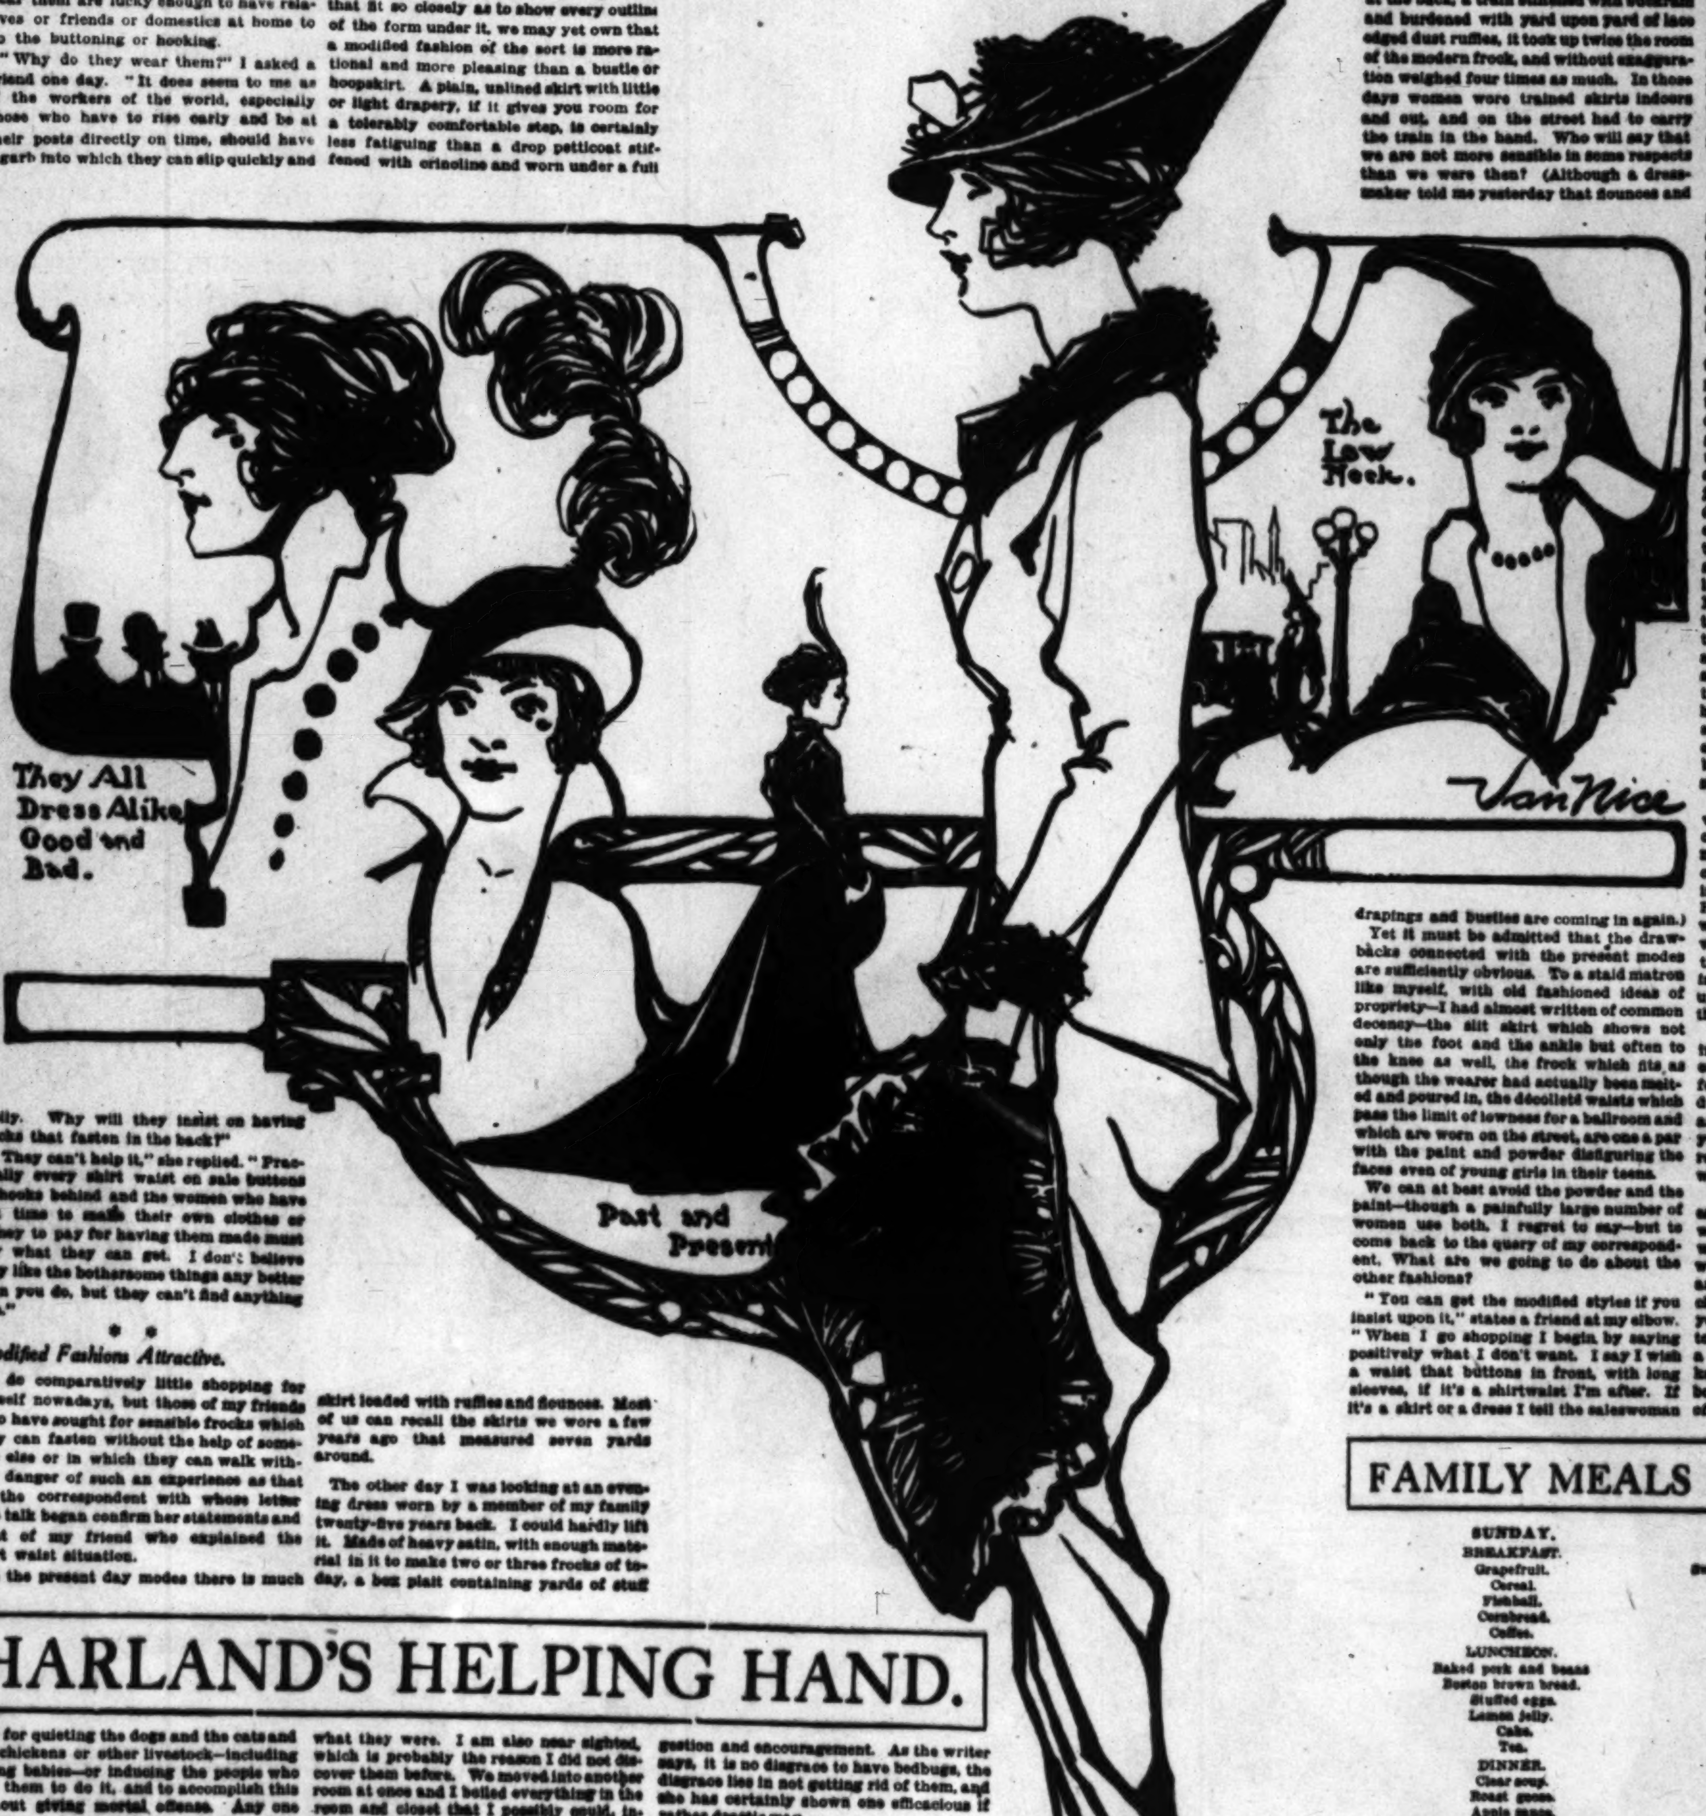
Modified Fashions Attractive.

I do comparatively little shopping for myself nowadays, but those of my friends who have sought for sensible frocks which they can fasten without the help of some one else or in which they can walk without danger of such an experience as that of the correspondent with whose letter this talk began confirm her statements and that of my friend who explained the shirt waist situation.

In the present day modes there is much that is attractive. Without admiring frocks that fit so closely as to show every outline of the form under it, we may yet own that a modified fashion of the sort is more rational and more pleasing than a bustle or hoopskirt. A plain, unlined skirt with little or light drapery, if it gives you room for a tolerably comfortable step, is certainly less fatiguing than a drop petticoat stiffened with crinoline and worn under a full skirt loaded with ruffles and flounces. Most of us can recall the skirts we wore a few years ago that measured seven yards around.

The other day I was looking at an evening dress worn by a member of my family twenty-five years back. I could hardly lift it. Made of heavy satin, with enough material in it to make two or three frocks of today, a box plait containing yards of stuff at the back, a train stiffened with buckram and burdened with yard upon yard of lace edged dust ruffles, it took up twice the room of the modern frock, and without exaggeration weighed four times as much. In those days women wore trained skirts indoors and out, and on the street had to carry the train in the hand. Who will say that we are not more sensible in some respects than we were then? (Although a dressmaker told me yesterday that flounces and drapings and bustles are coming in again.)



They All Dress Alike, Good and Bad.
Past and Present
The Low Neck.
Van Nice

Yet it must be admitted that the drawbacks connected with the present modes are sufficiently obvious. To a staid matron like myself, with old fashioned ideas of propriety—I had almost written of common decency—the slit skirt which shows not only the foot and the ankle but often to the knee as well, the frock which fits as though the wearer had actually been melted and poured in, the décolleté waists which pass the limit of lowness for a ballroom and which are worn on the street, are one a par with the paint and powder disfiguring the faces even of young girls in their teens.

We can at best avoid the powder and the paint—though a painfully large number of women use both, I regret to say—but to come back to the query of my correspondent. What are we going to do about the other fashions?

"You can get the modified styles if you insist upon it," states a friend at my elbow. "When I go shopping I begin by saying positively what I don't want. I say I wish a waist that buttons in front, with long sleeves, if it's a shirtwaist I'm after. If it's a skirt or a dress I tell the saleswoman that I will have something ness to it or nothing at all. really firm you can almost something that is not extreme. it is more trouble and that have to trot about from one other, but in the end you what you want or something it."

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND.

"I WAS much interested in your comment on common neighborhood nuisances, and would like to tell of some of my own experiences. Two years ago I had a nervous breakdown, caused by living in a flat with people occupying the flat above who seemed to sleep all day and carouse all night. We decided to move into a cottage, and found one which we thought would be quiet. The landlord owned the adjoining cottage also, which happened to be vacant as well, and we told him we would rent one of the houses, providing he would be careful to rent the other to decent people. He promised to do so, and phoned us one day that he had rented the cottage next door to a relative of his own, and that we should have agreeable neighbors. They moved in and brought with them a lot of chickens and a large dog. The dog they penned up in the yard, and he yelped and barked all day. The roosters began to crow about 2 a. m. and banished sleep for the rest of the night. The weather was hot, but we closed our windows, hoping to shut out the noise. We stuffed our ears with cotton. We took our pillows into the front hall and tried to get some sleep lying on the floor. But the noise of those roosters (they were only a few feet from the house) penetrated to the farthest corner. We finally appealed to our neighbors to muzzle the roosters and to try to keep the dog quiet, but to no avail, and as a last resort we told our landlord we should move if the nuisance was not abated. He ordered them to move their chickens to the back end of the lot and to get rid of the dog. This they flatly refused to do, and we found we had only succeeded in rousing their ire and had to stand a great deal of abuse from them. Some other neighbors and our friends urged us to poison the dog, but I could not bring myself to do this, as I felt the poor dog was not to blame. If I had gone to them threatening and blustering I could hardly have expected consideration, but I almost went down on my knees to them, as I had not the strength to tear up and move again. But we had to go. Mrs. J. F. B."

I do not apologize for printing so long a letter as this, for I think it extremely interesting reading. Now there are two sets of persons from whom I would like to hear on this matter. One consists of the inventive geniuses who can suggest some way for quieting the dogs and the cats and the chickens or other livestock—including crying babies—or inducing the people who own them to do it, and to accomplish this without giving mortal offense. Any one who can make a practical suggestion along these lines should win the rank of a benefactor. The other class I wish to hear from is made up of those who keep the nuisances and apparently are not annoyed by them. What are their explanations for refusing to keep their dogs and chickens and children quiet? By what system have they trained themselves that they either do not hear the racket themselves or are not disturbed by it? I pause for reply—for a number of replies, I hope. This topic is of interest to all of us from one standpoint or another.

Rubbed with Olive Oil.

"I have just read in the Corner of the mother who wants a chair for the little girl who has had infantile paralysis. I do not know of a chair, but I do know that a woman cured her little girl, who could not walk, by rubbing her limbs night and morning with olive oil. Don't use alcohol, for it does more harm than good. I hope the mother will try this remedy, and while sending this I shall offer a little prayer for the child. A Mother."

We do not give prescriptions or mention the names of medicines in the Corner, but the olive oil is another thing. It may not cure the paralysis, but the friction and the oil are pretty sure to do good. Oil baths are often given for weakness, and the massage is excellent in most circumstances. Whatever the result, I am sure the other mother will be grateful for the prayer put up for the child by the writer of the letter which gives this friendly suggestion.

Drastic Bedbug Treatment.

"I have read the different remedies others have used for bedbugs and would like to tell a little of my experience with the pests. My husband travels a good deal and I suppose brought them home in his clothes. I was gone for some time one summer and after my return home found our bed and closet full of them. I had never seen any before and did not know at first what they were. I am also near sighted, which is probably the reason I did not discover them before. We moved into another room at once and I boiled everything in the room and closet that I possibly could, including the curtains. We put the mattress on the side porch and saturated it with gasoline. We poured it on one side until it ran through on the other and then left it there until it had all evaporated. Everything else in the room was treated in the same way. I took a large tin can (a wash boiler would do) and filled it about one-third full of gasoline and put the things I couldn't boil or burn in that for about half an hour at a time, wringing out one lot and putting in another. Quilts, pillows, and everything were treated, either to boiling or gasoline. The rug was pounded and gone over with cloths dripping with gasoline. We took the bed, which was an iron one, apart and run gasoline through all the iron parts, soaked the casters in a can of gasoline, and after I felt it was thoroughly disinfected I gave all but the brass parts a coat of white enamel. We gave the springs several treatments of boiling water and when dry, several of gasoline, and finally a coat of varnish. We turned gasoline behind all the casings and in every crack, and painted the floors. There was absolutely nothing in the room that we didn't give attention to. This was in September and the next spring we found three on the floor one day and one on the outside of the bed. They were all the same size and looked as if they might have just hatched, and were probably some eggs we had missed. I haven't seen any since and it has been two years. Strange to say, they hadn't got into any of the other rooms. Gasoline, like kerosene, will kill the live bugs as well as the nits if it comes in direct contact with them, and it also cleans instead of ruining things. It soon evaporates if treated to plenty of fresh air, but, of course, must be used where there is no fire. It is no disgrace to get bedbugs, but is a disgrace to keep them. "L. A. W. S."

This was certainly vigorous treatment, but it was worth while if it exterminated the bugs, as it seems to have done. At this season of the year, when the housekeeper knows the time is not far distant when she must be on the lookout for vermin of all sorts, a letter such as this may give suggestion and encouragement. As the writer says, it is no disgrace to have bedbugs, the disgrace lies in not getting rid of them, and she has certainly shown one efficacious if rather drastic way.

"Horrible Luck" Making Bread.

"I do wish you would give me a recipe for making bread. I have the most horrible luck with it and I would be most grateful if you would tell me how to make enough dough for one compressed yeast cake. I think that makes four or five loaves. I know it is not the temperature which is wrong with my bread, for I get that all right, but in the way I make up the dough. "Mrs. J. D. W."

Many recipes have been given in the Corner for making bread and I rather hesitate to take space to give another. However, in compliance with this anguished request I supply one which I can vouch for as good if the directions are closely followed. Sift two quarts of good bread flour into a bowl with a half teaspoon of salt and a teaspoon of white sugar. Heat a pint of milk almost to scalding with a heaping teaspoon of butter; add to this a pint of boiling water and let the mixture become lukewarm before pouring it into a hole made in the sifted flour. Before turning this in add to the lukewarm milk and water another half cup of tepid water in which has been dissolved half a yeast cake, rubbing this smooth until it all is blended with the water. Work all together until you have a soft dough, then turn out on a board and knead hard for ten minutes. Set to rise in a bread bowl with a perforated cover or throw a light cloth over it. It should stand in a warm place for six hours and by this time should have risen to twice its original bulk. Divide it into three equal parts, knead each for five minutes, and put into a well greased pan, cover with a cloth, let rise an hour in a warm place before you put it in the oven. Make sure your fire is even and steady, so that you will not have to shake the grate or put on coal while the bread is in the oven. Test the heat of this by putting a handful of flour on a pan set at the back of the oven before you put in your bread. In five or six minutes it should be lightly colored and show that the oven is in a condition for bread. When the bread has risen to the edge of the pan, lay a sheet of brown paper over the top that the crust may not form too quickly, and fifteen minutes before you take out the bread remove the paper and let the loaf brown. A loaf containing about a quart of flour requires an hour to cook and the oven door should not be opened wide or slammed shut while the bread is baking. I have given the quantity of flour used with half a yeast cake, because it is better to experiment with a small quantity, but you need have no trouble in doubling the proportions throughout. I wish you all success, and if you are faithful to the recipe and careful in the rising and baking, I think you need not fear further "horrible luck."

Dyed Sweater Grew Larger.

"Recently I purchased a red sweater and, not liking its color, I dyed it a darker shade at home. I hung it up to dry on a coat hanger outside, and later found it was about seven inches longer than it had been formerly. What can I do to regain the first length? Can you possibly answer in next Sunday's paper? L. J."

The only suggestion I can make is to wet the garment again and then put it to dry on a board wide enough to stretch it from one side to the other, and thus take up the length it has gained. This may not be a successful treatment, but it is the best I can offer. Has any Cornerite a better remedy? I am sorry it was impossible to reply to your letter with the promptness you ask, but the copy for publication is always turned in some time ahead of its appearance, and in addition to this the letters have to take their turn.

For the INDUSTRIOUS NEEDLEWOMAN

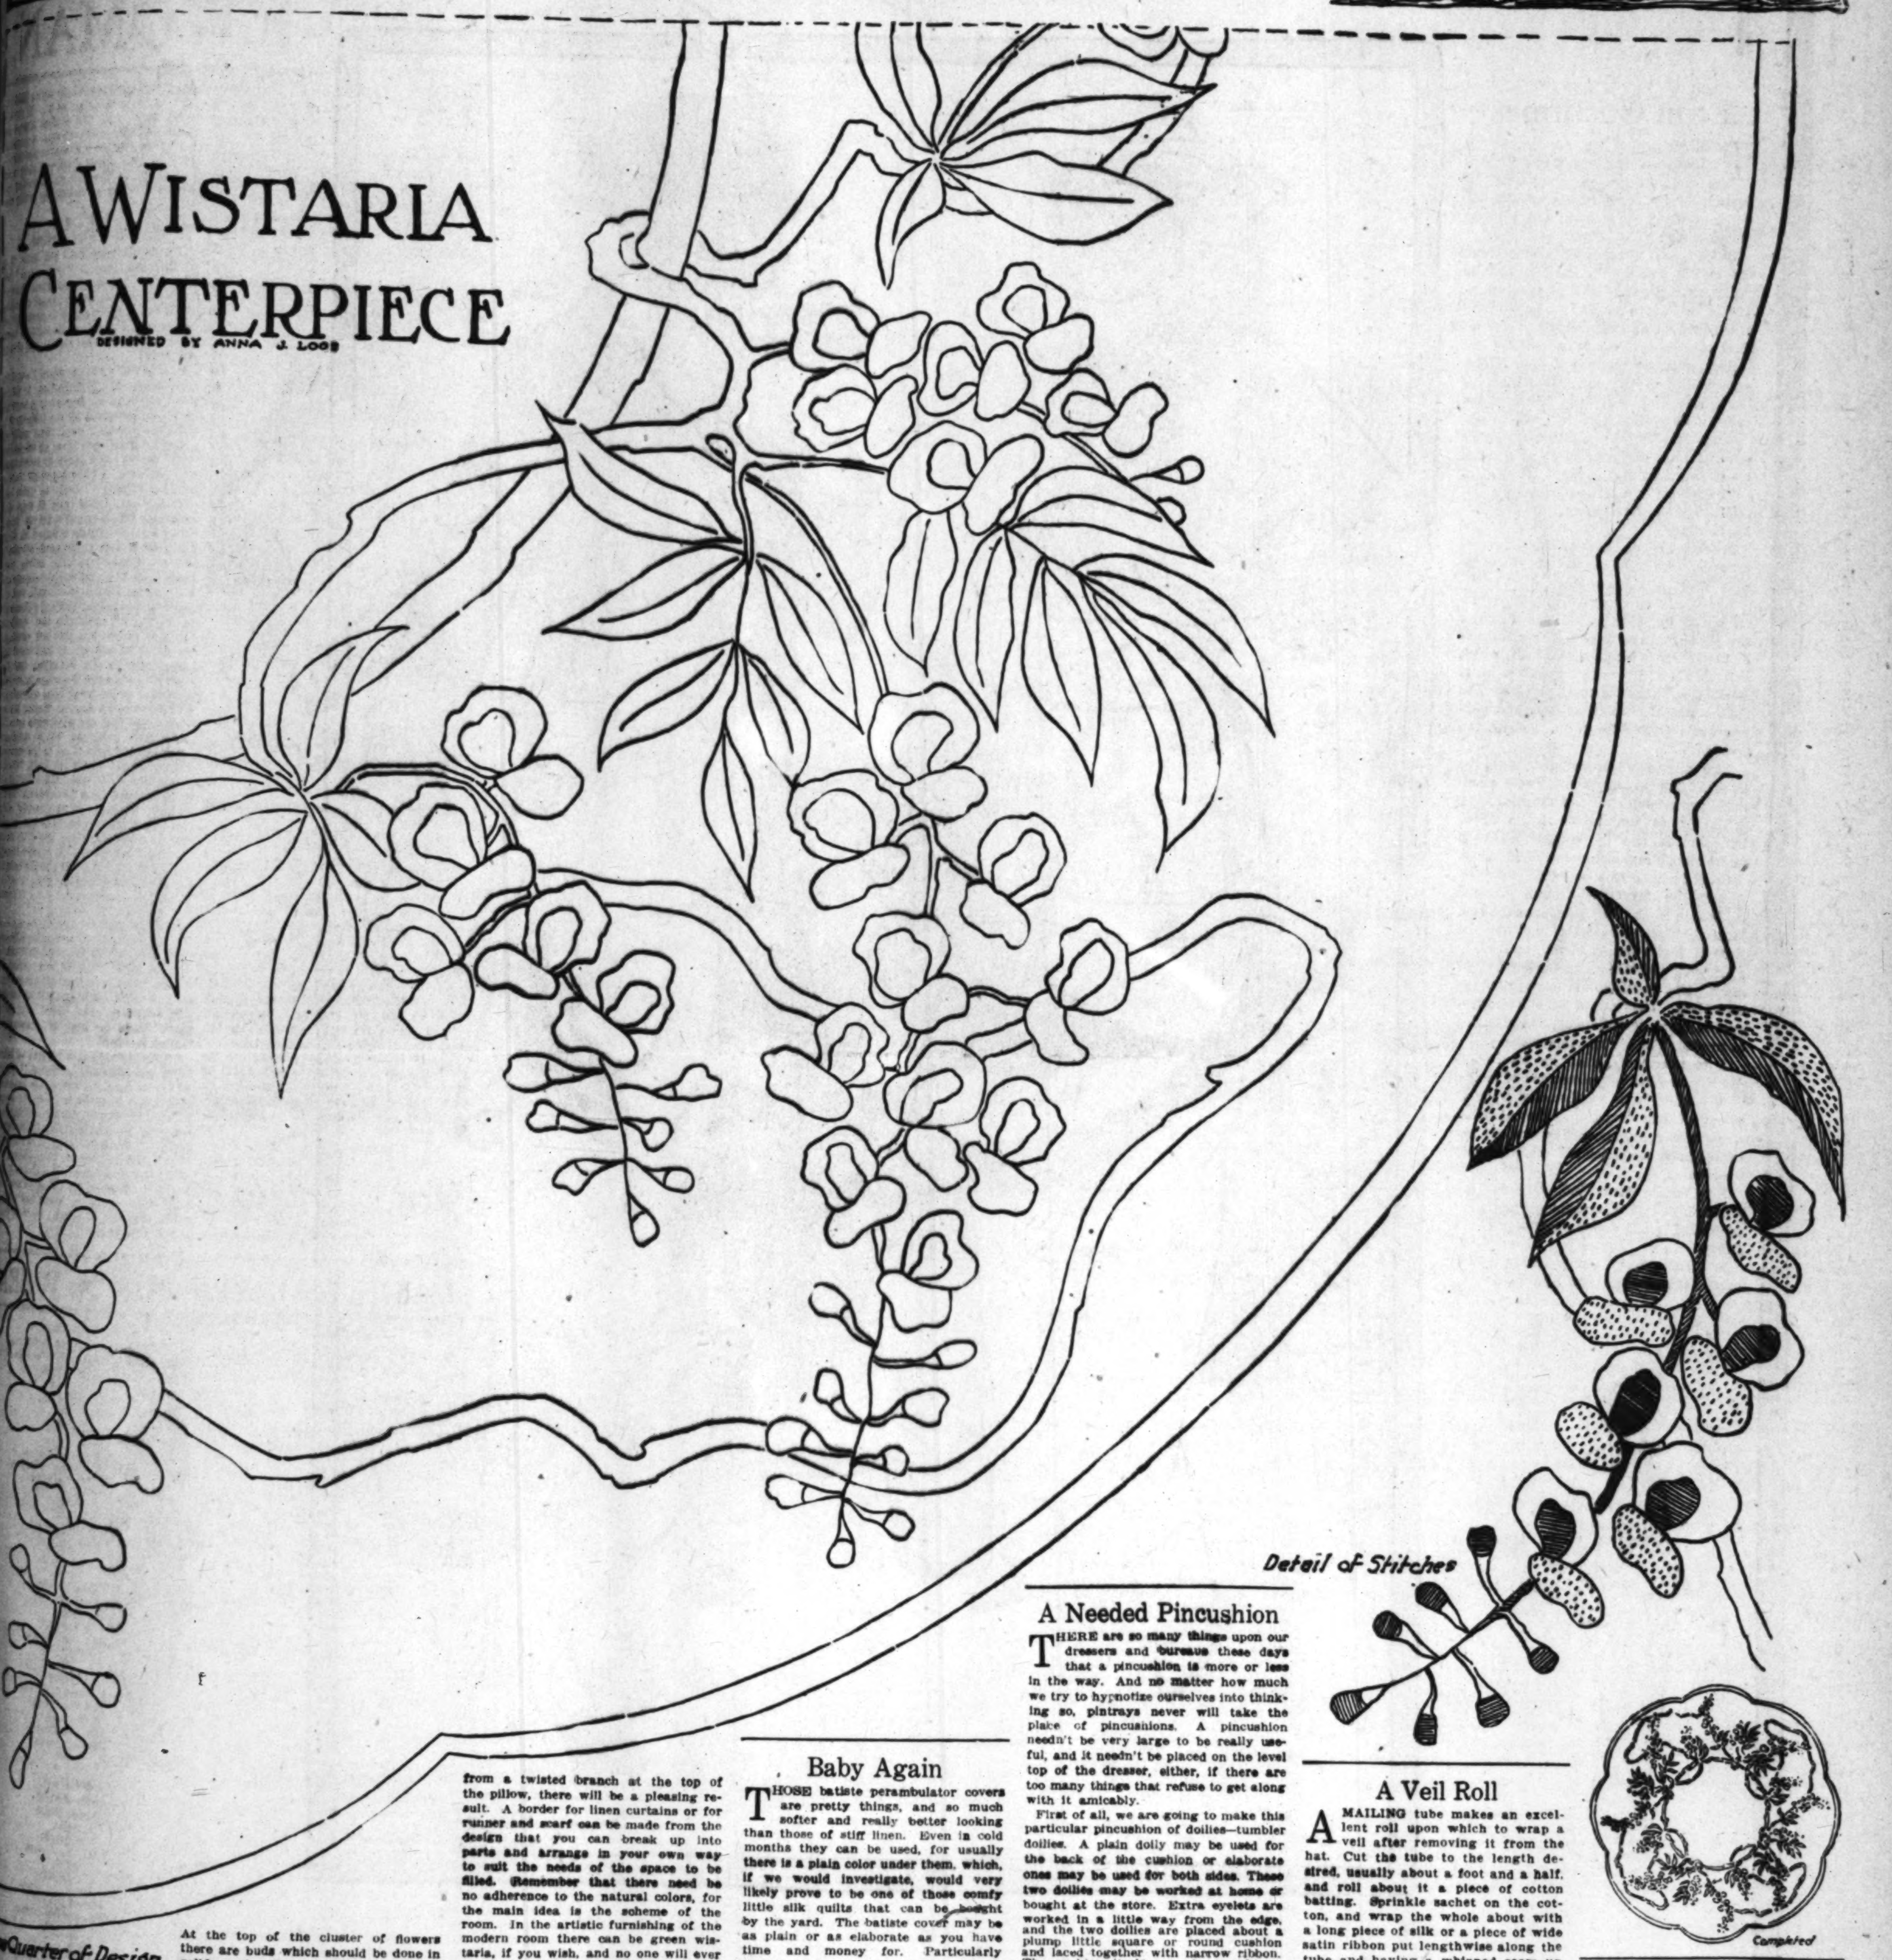
A WISTARIA CENTERPIECE

DESIGNED BY ANNA J. LOOS



One Quarter of Design

[illegible] the land of the embroiderers [illegible] a centerpiece today that [illegible] bring the beauty of the wistaria into your home and will [illegible] much pleasure while working [illegible] quarter of the design is shown, [illegible] had the detail of stitches [illegible] that you will know how to [illegible] the attractive design.

[illegible] at a glance that a great [illegible] consists of outline work [illegible] by contrast with the solid [illegible] is used in the center of each [illegible] seed stitches fill out the rest [illegible] design, and before you [illegible] you will have finished a [illegible] of the centerpiece and be ready [illegible] with the rest. Trace the design [illegible] weight linen and select [illegible] floss for the working. [illegible] always good; two shades of [illegible] wistaria color are also effective [illegible] if you like colored embroidery [illegible] work nowhere shows [illegible] advantage than in wistaria.

[illegible] centers of the flowers lengthwise [illegible] in over-and-over stitch [illegible] as shown in the detail [illegible] outer rim of the petal [illegible] and the adjoining one is [illegible] stitches, which are tiny [illegible] done in parallel rows. [illegible] stem stitches, which [illegible] darning stitches, done [illegible] the lines of a thick stem.

At the top of the cluster of flowers there are buds which should be done in solid work after outlining the stems from the main branch.

When you work the leaves there is no need of padding if you like contrast of flat and raised work. The long leaves can be done quickly by solid stitches that slant in toward the midrib, as pictured. On the other side there are the popular seed stitches filling the half after you have outlined the leaf on the edge.

Stemstitch for the twining stem that connects the motifs will complete the design that will sound an unusual note in the decorative idea of your home.

Pad the large scallops with darning cotton, or in the way that I have suggested many times. Use several strands of cotton, holding this as you hold couching thread, with the left hand, and curving as you work around the edge. Buttonhole over this improvised padding, and in this way finish your work. Of course you can add lace to the edge, and in these shallow curves there will be experienced little difficulty in adjusting the lace to the linen.

Let me call your attention to the adaptability of this design to other pieces. By changing the curve of the stem between the motifs, you can make a centerpiece much larger than this. Then you can separate the motifs and arrange in a new order that will give an entirely different effect.

One cluster of flowers will afford decoration for a pillow top; and if three of these motifs are arranged so as to drop from a twisted branch at the top of the pillow, there will be a pleasing result. A border for linen curtains or for runner and scarf can be made from the design that you can break up into parts and arrange in your own way to suit the needs of the space to be filled. Remember that there need be no adherence to the natural colors, for the main idea is the scheme of the room. In the artistic furnishing of the modern room there can be green wistaria, if you wish, and no one will ever call you to task.

Try this graceful flower and prove to yourself and all onlookers that it is one of the most attractive designs in the field of embroidery.

A Corsage Bouquet

THEY are expensive little things sometimes, aren't they? Beg pardon? Oh, corsage bouquets! Every posy bunch seems to be marked down to somewhere around the ninety-eights but the one we select. But there's the old millinery box at home that we never thought of, just longing for a chance to help us out. There is not only a possibility but a probability that a nicer corsage bouquet is lurking in the corner of your box than you could think of touching in the millinery or artificial flower department. Pick out the tiny flowers, such as forget-me-nots, tiny rosebuds, daisies, buttercups, ragged robins, or any small flower whose color will not clash in a group. If you have any of those little silk apples, or glazed cherries, or, in fact, any small fruit or even vegetables, that have been so popular for hat trimming, you may combine them in a corsage bouquet. The fruit and vegetables, however, must not be combined with flowers. Some green leaves will surely be found in the millinery box with which to offset the bouquet.

Baby Again

THOSE batiste perambulator covers are pretty things, and so much softer and really better looking than those of stiff linen. Even in cold months they can be used, for usually there is a plain color under them, which, if we would investigate, would very likely prove to be one of those comfy little silk quilts that can be bought by the yard. The batiste cover may be as plain or as elaborate as you have time and money for. Particularly pretty, and not requiring overmuch handwork, are those made with lace medallion inserts and edged about the outside with valenciennes or some other fine lace. Batiste, of course, will stand very few heavy laces. You may, if you wish, hemstitch the outer edges of the cover, but hemstitching on fine material that must be frequently washed does wear out so soon that one's labor seems to have gone for naught. A plain hem made with the tiniest little hemming stitches with a lace edge whipped to it, and then possibly a white briarstitching (not in silk, for that turns yellow), makes a very dainty cover. Insert one rather large medallion in the center of the cover and briarstitch about it, and, if you wish, four other medallions, one in each corner. Very vivid pink or blue bows on any of baby's belongings are never in good taste, but a pink or blue bow in palest shade, not too large, and well placed, will add to the attractiveness of the cover.

How to Transfer

PLACE a sheet of impression carbon paper between your fabric and the newspaper design, the latter on top. With a sharp pencil or a glass-pointed pen go over the outline. The design will be transferred to the material and will last until worked.

A Needed Pincushion

THERE are so many things upon our dressers and bureaus these days that a pincushion is more or less in the way. And no matter how much we try to hypnotize ourselves into thinking so, pintrays never will take the place of pincushions. A pincushion needn't be very large to be really useful, and it needn't be placed on the level top of the dresser, either, if there are too many things that refuse to get along with it amicably.

First of all, we are going to make this particular pincushion of doilies—tumbler doilies. A plain doily may be used for the back of the cushion or elaborate ones may be used for both sides. These two doilies may be worked at home or bought at the store. Extra eyelets are worked in a little way from the edge, and the two doilies are placed about a plump little square or round cushion and laced together with narrow ribbon. The cushion itself may be bought or made. In either case, make sure that it is a good one, with a filling that will not rust your pins or cause them to have dulled points. Never use cotton wadding for a pincushion. Lamb's wool is preferable, as there is an oil in it that keeps both pins and needles from rusting. Emery, too, will keep pins and needles bright and shining. The little bought cushion may have to be covered with a material of the same color as the ribbon used to lace doilies together, but sometimes small silk or satin cushions in any color can be bought. If the cushion is made at home, first cover it with strong unbleached muslin and then put the colored material over the muslin.

When the cushion is finished, a long ribbon loop is placed at one corner (if the cushion is square, or at any one point if the cushion is round), and a small bow is placed at the top of the loop to finish it off. Sometimes a bow or rosette is placed at the corner of the cushion to cover the joining of the loop with the cushion. One must keep in mind, however, that the cushion must not be so ornate that it cannot be easily taken apart and laundered. The long loop is then swung on to one of the uprights at the side of the large dresser mirror. It is thus out of the way and yet very convenient when dressing or undressing to either offer or receive pins. It is possible, of course, to use both sides, but it is really best to use but the one. In this latter way the smooth side of the cushion may be kept against the upright, whereas, were it filled with pins there would be almost a certainty of very seriously scratching the wood of the dresser.

A Veil Roll

A MAILING tube makes an excellent roll upon which to wrap a veil after removing it from the hat. Cut the tube to the length desired, usually about a foot and a half, and roll about it a piece of cotton batting. Sprinkle sachet on the cotton, and wrap the whole about with a long piece of silk or a piece of wide satin ribbon put lengthwise along the tube and having a whipped seam up one side. The ends may be pinked or fringed and tied close to the ends of the tube, or they may be turned over the ends of the tube and neatly stitched. After the veil is removed from the hat, stretch it out and roll it evenly over the padded tube. If the ends are inclined to wrinkle, they may be straightened out by pinning the edges fast to the cotton-padded tube. In a few hours the veil should appear like new.

A Clever Device

CAPTURE the next old and discarded broom before some tidy soul consigns it to the ash heap, and saw off its whole length of handle. Divide the handle into six-inch pieces with that same saw. No, don't put them in the woodpile. They are to serve a higher purpose than kindlings. All the ribbons of your friends, relatives and self are to be wound about them.

Odds and ends of silk can be beautifully utilized in this way. Cover the ends of the little wooden cylinders with large disks of the ribbon drawn down over the ends and tied tightly and smoothly with thread. A larger piece of silk is wound about the cylinder. If raw at the edges, it is neatly turned in. The silk is then neatly whipped into a seam and to the silk-covered ends to keep it from slipping off. Such a chopped-off broomstick so covered makes a good foundation on which to wind ribbons so that if left overnight they will look as though smoothly ironed.

Daisies and Pink

IT'S all about a kimono, daisies and pink, a very pretty kimono indeed. Usually, when we think of any pale color being embroidered with daisies, blue or pale green first comes to mind, rarely pink. Perhaps there is some half-conscious idea that the yellow centers of the daisies will clash with pink, but they won't if the pink is sufficiently pale. Cut the very pale crepe de chine (we will presume it is crepe de chine, than which nothing is prettier) over an ordinary kimono pattern, finishing it off with not too wide bias bands of the material, just as in those kimonos where the bias folds are of a contrasting color. Now stamp, or have stamped, large daisies, about an inch and a half across, one after the other, about an inch apart, about the neck, down the entire front and about the three-quarter sleeves of the kimono. There is to be no foliage and even no stems. The white petals are to be done in silk floss and in satin stitch. The centers of the daisies are to be done in yellow twist-silk and French knotted. The French knots may be well spread, or they may be very close together. If you have time, it is well to make the knots very close. The closer they are the more nearly they resemble the centers of the real flowers. This daisied kimono is really very beautiful and just a little different from anything seen. Remember that both the yellow and pink must be very pale shades.

IN THE GLASS of FASHION

Eton Costumes

THE return of the eton jacket has been widely heralded and the new costumes strongly emphasize this feature. Its phases are as varied as the winds of March, as you will notice by the models shown on this page.

Since this is a season of combinations, the eton costume with the flat bow in front is developed of chiffon and taffeta. The jacket savors more of the bolero than of the eton, being extremely short and almost sleeveless. Taffeta is used for the jacket, and the sleeves of the chiffon underbodice extend far below those of the bolero. Double frills of lace form the cuffs. The bolero opens in front to disclose a vest of lace, and an extremely broad chiffon girdle bridges the gap between the skirt and jacket.

The former is a fascinating alliance of taffeta and chiffon arranged in alternating tiers.

A smart little hat of hemp straw trimmed with taffeta completes the stunning effect of this costume.

The charming model with the buckles trimming the eton jacket demonstrates the possibilities of taffeta. The fullness of the jacket is confined by a belt, which extends from the sides across the back. Below this hangs the short peplum. The sleeves are of the bishop type and narrow cords gather the fullness about the wrists.

Two circular flounces contribute the bouffant line to the skirt. These gradually grow longer toward the back.

The hat is reminiscent of the alpine hat, and is smartly ornamented with moire ribbon and a fantaisie of plumage.

Corded silk is the material chosen to fashion the attractive costume with the obi bow in front. The peplum of the eton jacket is slashed over the hips and the skirt is drawn tightly about the feet.

Large flat buttons trim the costume of serge. The short eton is finished with a broad belt. The tunic of the skirt crosses over in front, and the sides are extended to produce the pegtop silhouette.

A modified version of the bustle appears in the handsome costume of moire. The pointed back of the eton extends over the bustle drapery. A hat of milan straw with a bowl-shaped crown and upturned brim completes this modish street costume.

The double tunic individualizes the eton suit of taffeta, and the pegtop is exaggerated by the puffed upper tier of the skirt.

This collection of eton costumes epitomizes the best of the spring fashions.
